FOREWORD

The German Palatines, who came to America late in the seventeenth century and early in the eighteenth century, need no modern apologist. Their record is written in the pre-natal history of the American Republic. It is a record which compels admiration. Industry and thrift, religiousness and patriotism, hardihood and adaptability, are written upon its every page. Dr. Sanford Cobb, in his "Story of the Palatines An Episode in Colonial History," has told, in wholesome fashion, the tale of the New York Palatines, who were settled, first, in 1708-10, on the Hudson River. He has graphically described their pioneer settlements in the "Schoharie Country" and in the Mohawk Valley. He has also written the story of the exodus from "Schoharie" to Pennsylvania of the large companies of Palatines who, in 1723 and 1728, under the leadership of Conrad Weiser, Jr., and Captain Hartman Vindecker (Windecker), passed down the Susquehanna River and settled permanently on the Swatara and Tulpehocken, tributaries of the Susquehanna. The Honorable Samuel W. Pennypacker, noted jurist, eminent historian and Governor of Pennsylvania, performed a similar service for the Palatines who settled early in Pennsylvania, many of whose children moved over the line into New Jersey.

Impartial students of American history gladly concede that the German Palatine was a valuable element in the American "Melting Pot." He was loyal to the government of the country which adopted him, and his children and grandchildren were also loyal to the newly-born Republic, in the War of the American Revolution. There were, it is true, some Tories who were descendants of German Palatines. The nefarious Windecker, who ruthlessly murdered Lieutenant Elijah Shoemaker, at Wyoming, Pa., July 3, 1778, was, without any doubt, a member of the Windecker family of Tryon, now Montgomery Co., N. Y. But it should be noted that a number of the members of this same family were among the bravest and most devoted defenders of the very cause in which Lieutenant Shoemaker lost his life. Sims, the Montgomery Co. historian, in his "Frontiersmen of New York," recites a similar story in his reference to the Countryman family, (Family No. 471—Countryman). Many of these Palatine families were thus divided, just exactly as families of English, Irish, Scottish, and Welsh origin were divided. Perhaps the best possible answer to the query "Was the Palatine stock loyal to the American Republic in the Revolution of 1776?" may be discovered as a result of a close, diligent and critical comparison of the family names appearing on the "Muster Rolls of Soldiers of the Revolution," as they appear in the "Pennsylvania Archives," the "New York Archives," and also in "New York in the Revolution," with the family names appearing in the New York and Pennsylvania volumes of the Federal Census of 1790. Such a study will convince the most skeptical that no single element in America was more wholeheartedly loyal to the cause of American liberty than the descendants of the Palatines. The Militia Lists of Tryon Co., N. Y.,—doubtless the most frightfully desolated region on the American Continent in the War of the Revolution—read almost like passenger lists of incoming German ships. And the same thing is true of the Militia Lists of Northampton, Bucks, Berks, and Montgomery Counties, in Pennsylvania.

The economic value of the German Palatine has not always been recognized and duly appreciated. The settling of the Palatines on the Hudson River was, essentially, an economic enterprise. It was a failure as such because it was wholly impracticable. Attempts to "Gather grapes from thorns" always have resulted in failure. The failure on the banks of the Hudson was not due to any lack of ability or adaptability on the part of the Palatines, who were expected to "Be employed in the making of terpetine, rozzin, tarr and pitch," for the whole transaction was foredoomed to failure, because involving the presumption that Naval Stores could be produced in places where the natural conditions forbade." (Cobb, Story of the Palatines, pp. 116-17.) The great yearning of the Palatine was for land he might call his own—for land upon which he could build his humble home and establish his family. This secured he could, as his subsequent history abundantly proves, "Work out his own salvation."

The early Palatine immigrants to America are, almost invariably, described as "poor." In the early official records of the Colony of New York they are sometimes referred to as "Poor Germans," and sometimes as "Poor Palatines." And there is every reason to believe that, in so far as the phrase expresses the idea of poverty in a financial sense, they were poor indeed. The lands of their fathers had been ravaged again and again. Their homes had been destroyed, their cities burned, their growing crops plundered. They were poor like Belgian and French peasants are poor in this year of Grace, A. D. 1918. And, without any doubt, their poverty had arisen from similar causes. Their poverty was not self-inflicted. They were neither lazy nor shiftless. They were not poor in the sense that they lacked either ability or adaptability to make their own way in life if a fair opportunity might be found for them. In fact it is very doubtful whether any other nation in Europe contributed to the stream of immigration flowing into America, from about 1690 to 1730 a better qualified type of immigrant than the German Palatine. From May 5, 1709, to June 11, 1709, there arrived at St. Catharine and Walworth, in England, 6,520 Palatines. The company consisted of 1,278 men, 1,234 wives, 89 widows, 384 men not married, 106 women not married, 379 sons over 14 years of age, 1,143 daughters over 14 years of age, 598 sons under 14 years of age, and 1,309 daughters under 14 years of age. Thousands of these Palatines were sent by the British government as colonists to various British possessions and most of them, undoubtedly, finally reached America. In volumes 40 and 41 of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record there is published a list of these Palatines, furnishing the names of the men to the number of 1,638, details concerning their families, together with their individual "professions." From this list the writer has carefully compiled the following table of "professions," as an effective reply to the question, "Was the German Palatine of about 1710 A. D. a valuable element, considering him from an economic viewpoint, in the pioneer settlement of America?"

Among the husbandmen and vine dressers, enumerated above, the following other trades were also represented: Carpenters 11, cooper 1, clothier 1, gardener 1, hunter 2, joiner 1, mason 1, shoemaker 1, tailor 2, tanner 1, tobacco planter 1, linen and cloth weaver 1.

One striking feature of this table which commands attention is the remarkable idea presented of a company of 6,720 men, women, and children, of whom 1,662 were men, 1,638 of whose names appear with their "professions;" and among the whole company only two men listed as LABORERS.

Michael Schumacher, a native of the Dukedom of Zweibrucken, belonged to a generation of Palatines later than those sent to America by the British government in 1708-10, having been born about 1715.* His wife, Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher, was a descendant of some of the earliest and best known of the Palatine immigrants to Pennsylvania. (See Family No. 1). Many of their children and later descendants were intermarried with representatives of the early New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey Palatines. In Hunterdon, later Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J., in Northampton, Northumberland, now Columbia Co., and in Luzerne Co., Pa., as well as in Tryon, now Montgomery Co., N. Y., various descendants of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher established their homes. Each of these famous old counties was an American "Melting Pot" in which the blood of the Palatine became fused with the blood of other European nations. Into them flowed rich streams of Scottish, English, Dutch, Irish, and French origin.

*A Michael Schumacher, 24 years of age, not married, a cooper by trade, is named among the Palatines who arrived in England from Rotterdam in 1709.

Hither came many hardy New Englanders, with sturdy men and women from the earlier settled portions of New York and Pennsylvania, to man the frontier of the new Western civilization. In these grand old counties, each originally an Empire in extent, the children of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher lived, reared their families and died. The natural result has followed. The descendants of Michael Schumacher are products of the American "Melting Pot." And in every generation his descendants have been loyal Americans.

To tell the story of this unpretentious Palatine, Michael Schumacher, to trace the various generations descended from him, to record something pertaining to each of them, so far as the information necessary to the making of such a record might be found available, to gather, arrange, and publish, for permanent preservation, a record of his whole family was the task assigned to the writer, a number of years ago, by Mr. Jacob I. Shoemaker of Wyoming, Pa. To him alone the members of this family are indebted for all the service this family history may render them.

While gathering the Shoemaker data, published for the first time in this book, the writer endeavored to assemble material for comprehensive sketches of the families allied with the Shoemaker family through marriage, and there may be found, in connection with the history of the various Shoemaker families, sketches of hundreds of other families, only a very few of which have been published hitherto.

It will be observed that practically all the information pertaining to the history of the Shoemaker family has been derived from original sources. The same thing is true with reference to the greater portion of the other families. The writer has endeavored to acknowledge the source of information in every instance when the information has been derived either from a published work or a manuscript. In another part of this work there may be found the Bibliography, having every authority cited numbered. In the text reference to published works, official records, manuscripts, etc., will usually be found thus: Bib. 25 referring to authority No. 25 in the Bibliography.

The writer has chosen to number the families descended from Michael Schumacher, the numbers running consecutively through the families of the oldest children of each generation. And this is the key to the internal index. "Family No. 24" appearing anywhere in the text of the book, apart from its regular order, will intimate that in connection with the history of Family No. 24 there appears matter of interest in connection with the history of the family in the text of the sketch of which the reference to Family No. 24 is found. In the same manner sketches of related families and other matters of interest to two or more Shoemaker families may be located instantly. Thus: "(Family No. 1, Scheimer)," appearing anywhere in the book means that a sketch of the Scheimer family may be found in connection with the history of Family No. 1.

The writer gratefully acknowledges his indebtedness to hundreds of very patient correspondents, scattered all over the United States. The Detroit, Mich., City Public Library has afforded him unlimited privileges of study and research. The Wyoming Historical and Geological Society, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and its lamented custodian, the Rev. Dr. Horace E. Hayden; the State Libraries at Albany, N. Y.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Trenton, N. J., and Lansing, Mich., all placed their best resources within reach of the writer. Courteous officials and custodians of records in more than fifty county court houses made available for this work a wealth of information not to be found elsewhere. He found in Mr. Heller, the American flag manufacturer of Easton, Pa., a sympathetic friend who placed before him his whole store of invaluable records pertaining to the history of the early churches of Easton, Pa., and vicinity. The writer has, naturally, drawn very freely upon the writings of Oscar Jewel Harvey, Esq., of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. His personal good-will and kindly courtesy, together with his mastery of the intricacies of Wyoming Valley, Pa., history, have placed the writer in a situation where he feels and acknowledges, gratefully, an indebtedness of service he can never repay.

MICHAEL SCHUMACHER

MICHAEL SCHUMACHER—FAMILY NO. 1

Michael Schumacher was born in the Dukedom of Zweibrucken, Germany, about 1715. The name of his birthplace appears in the Bible record of his grandson, Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., whose family Bible, in which the records appear, is now in the possession of Mr. William Coleman of Dundee, Mich. (Family No. 65.) The reference to Michael Shoemaker is as follows: "I, Jacob Shoemaker, was born on the twenty-ninth day of September, 1773, in Forks Township, in the County of Northampton, and State of Pennsylvania. My father's name was Jacob Shoemaker and his father's name was Michael Shoemaker, who was born in the Dukedom of Zweibrucken, in Germany.

It appears to be highly probable that he was the Michael Schumacher who came to America on the ship Samuel, Hugh Percy, Master, which sailed from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, and arrived in Philadelphia Aug. 30, 1737. His name and signature, presuming that he came on the Samuel, appear on the list of Male Passengers who, on that date, took the usual Oath of Allegiance to the British Crown. This list may be found in the offices of the Custodian of Public Records in the Pennsylvania State Library at Harrisburg.

Michael Schumacher was married, about 1742, to Mary Catharine, born about 1722, died in 1812, Aed. 89 years, 11 months and 20 days, daughter of Jacob and Margaret (Papen) Scheimer, of Germantown, Pa., (see Scheimer and Papen families later), and settled in Durham Township, Bucks Co., now Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa.

On the 2d day of Nov., 1743, there was issued to Michael Schumacher, by the Proprietaries of Pennsylvania, a warrant for 100 acres of land, described as adjoining Adam Boyer's land, between Lehigh and Durham, in Bucks Co. The consideration named in the warrant is fifteen pounds, ten shillings, current money of this Province, for 100 acres, and the yearly quit-rent of one-half penny, sterling, for every acre thereof. The warrant is addressed to William Parsons, Surveyor-General, and is signed by George Thomas. Feb. 28, 1745, he secured a warrant for twenty-five acres adjoining his other land and John Shoemaker, situated near Durham.

It appears probable to the writer that John Shoemaker was a relative of Michael Schumacher, perhaps his father or brother. Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher named one of their sons John. He was born Aug. 21, 1746, and was baptised July 7, 1747. John and Elizabeth Shoemaker were his God-parents. Diligent search of Northampton Co. records, however, failed to reveal any further reference to this John Shoemaker.

The survey on these warrants was made Sept. 14, 1745, by John Luken, and the tracts were found to contain 137½ acres, with the usual allowance for roads, etc., viz., 6 per cent. The land is described in the Return of the Survey as a "Certain tract of land called Orphan's Portion." The patent on these lands was issued to Mary Catharine Shoemaker and Jacob Shoemaker, "In trust for the use and purposes mentioned and contained in the Testament and last Will of Michael Shoemaker, deceased." The patent describes the farm as a certain tract of land called Orphan's Portion, situate formerly in Durham* Township, Bucks Co., now Williams Township, Northampton Co., and is signed James Irvine, V. P. This patent was issued on the 28th day of April, 1785, by the Supreme Executive Council of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The farm granted by the Proprietaries to Michael Schumacher was sit-

*Durham Township, one of the earliest settled and one of the most famous townships of Bucks Co., Pa., probably owed its fame, chiefly, to the early location and development of the Durham furnaces. These were situated on Durham Creek about one and one-half miles above the point where the creek flows into the Delaware River, and were built, in 1727, by a company of fourteen persons among whom were Anthony Morris, William Allen, Joseph Turner, and James Logan, Secretary for the Penns. The furnace was about 36 feet square and about 30 feet high and was in blast in the spring of 1728. In November of that year James Logan shipped three tons of pig iron from this furnace to England. From the beginning of the enterprise pig iron was made to be converted into bar iron. As early as 1741 stoves were cast in large quantities and during the War of the American Revolution large quantities of cannon balls and other munitions of war were supplied to the Continental Army by Durham furnace. Three early forges on Durham Creek, all located below the furnace, together with other forges on both sides of the Delaware River were supplied with pig iron from this furnace. (See Battle's History of Buck's Co., Pa.)

The important Indian Treaty which led to the notorious "Walking Purchase" was begun in Durham.

A second Durham enterprise served to spread the name and the fame of this township over half of the American Continent. Durham was the birthplace of the Durham Boat idea. These boats were first designed and built by Robert Durham, manager of the furnace. The story of the utilization of his idea has never been adequately told. It can only be touched upon very lightly here. The Durham Boat was undoubtedly one of the most useful devices employed in transportation in the pioneer history of Pennsylvania and certain sections of the Middle West. It appears that wherever rivers were shallow Durham Boats succeeded canoes and carried the water traffic of the pioneers. So they plied the waters of the Delaware, the Lehigh, and the Susquehanna in Eastern Pennsylvania. Many of them were used on the Ohio as well as on the Fox River in Wisconsin, and other rivers. One man, John Penn Arndt, born at Durham Cove, Pa., carried the idea overland to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and established an extensive industry there, building Durham boats on the River Commons—now one of the most beautiful city portals boasted by any city in America. Later, about 1823, he carried the idea with him to Wisconsin and introduced the boats as carriers on the Fox River. Nearly half way across the continent the Durham Boat idea was carried and utilized. Propelled by man power—the men walking on a wide board which extended the entire length of the boat and using long poles to push them through the water—these boats were the forerunners of the horse drawn canal boats which later traversed the natural and artificial waterways of the country. Their value to the trade of their day is incalculable. They also served a patriotic purpose when they transported Washington and his troops across the Delaware, at a time of great stress, in the War of the American Revolution. They are said to have been about 20 feet long and were manned by five men, including one at the helm. Traveling against the current they were capable of making about 25 miles per day. They were built to carry from 125 to 150 barrels of flour.

Williams Township was formed from Durham in 1750 and when Northampton Co. was erected in 1752 Williams Township became its most southern township, while Durham became the most northern township in Bucks Co. In 1750 Williams Township is said to have had a population of 200. In 1758 a "Horse and Wagon Census" of Northampton Co. was taken and the returns of the Constables who took the census may be found in Series five of the Pennsylvania Archives. In Williams Township the following men were returned, by Adam Reiser, Constable, as residents of the township and owners of horses or wagons:

THE MICHAEL SCHUMACHER FARM

uated on the Delaware River, a short distance from what is now Raubville, Pa., and some three or four miles down the river from the present city of Easton, Pa. It appears that he was one of the earliest settlers in that vicinity. It is said that the grant made to Michael Schumacher was the first grant made of lands lying in the "Orphan's Portion." The first house in Easton is said to have been built in 1737. The survey for the town of Easton was begun May 9, 1750. Eleven families lived there in 1752. The settlement of Bethlehem was begun in 1742. All of which suggests the name of Michael Schumacher as that of one of the pioneer settlers in that section of Bucks, later Northampton Co., Pa.

At the time he settled there the days and nights were filled with portents of peril. War with France was proclaimed in Pennsylvania June 18, 1744, and all the inhabitants were enjoined to provide themselves with firelocks, bayonets and cartouch boxes, with powder and balls. In 1742 a treaty, which had been made between the Proprietaries and the Six Nations, went into effect. One of the provisions of this treaty bound the Six Nations (Indians) to expel the Delaware (Indians) from the "Forks of the Delaware." Captain Jacob Arndt (Family No. 1339—Arndt), in command at Fort Allen, reported that, prior to December, 1757, 114 men, women, and children had been slain by Indians in Northampton Co. and 52 had been taken captive. (Bib. 1, 24, 22.) These brief references are sufficient to illustrate some of the conditions under which the family of Michael Schumacher was established on American soil.

The farm of Michael Schumacher remained in the possession of the family until 1808. After his decease his sons, Conrad and Isaac, bought the interest of the other heirs, April 27, 1785. About eight years later, Aug. 19, 1793, Isaac bought the interest of Conrad, and about fifteen years later, April 11, 1808, Isaac Schumacher sold the homestead to Benjamin Jones and John Lacy. In 1811 George Ihrie bought it and in the same year sold part of it to Jacob and Peter Lantz, Jr. From them the title passed to Christian Hutter, who sold it to John Brader in 1839. In 1845 David Zeller bought this portion of the Michael Schumacher farm, and it is still owned by his descendants. The other part of the farm became the property of Colonel Peter Ihrie, who, in 1851, sold it to John Brown, and from the executors of his estate the title passed to Robert Shoemaker Brown, vice president and general manager of the Genuine Bangor Slate Company, of Easton, Pa., who is now deceased. Robert Shoemaker Brown made of the property a beautiful summer home and at the time the writer visited the farm it was supporting 67 head of mature cattle, a large number of young cattle, ten horses, 400 hens and about 1,400 young chickens.

It is evident, that there were two houses on the farm when the will of Michael Schumacher was made in 1780, (see will later), and it is probable that his son, Isaac, occupied one of them. No trace of either original house now remains on the farm.

Michael Schumacher was a weaver by trade, and doubtless combined his trade with the work of a farmer. He describes himself, in his will, as a weaver, while in other documents, pertaining to his estate, he is described as a yeoman. To how great an extent he engaged in weaving cannot now be determined. One of his sons, Abraham, followed the same trade. In the report of his son, Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Schumacher, published in the Pennsylvania Archives, the following item appears under date of May 27, 1779, in a list of purchases of supplies for the militia: "Michael Schumacher, one blanket, £1, 2s, 6d." Probably the only public office he held was that of Constable. In Rupp's History of Northampton Co., Pa., there is published a copy of the court record referring to his appointment, as follows:

"At a Court of Record of our Lord the King, held at Easton, for the County of Northampton, the third day of October, in the 26th year of our Sovereign Lord—George the II—by the grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, Ireland, etc., A. D. 1752, before Thomas Craig, Daniel Brodhead, Hugh Wilson, James Martin, Aaron Depue, and John Vanetta, Esqs., of our Lord the King, the peace in said county to keep, etc., by commission dated June 9, 1752, Michael Schumacher was made Constable for Williamston."

In the list of taxables, subject to the Proprietary Tax, in 1772, published in the Pennsylvania Archives, Third Series, Vol. 19, the following are named for the higher amounts in the assessments: George Roup, £10, 12s (Family No. 947—Raub); Andrew Roup, £7, 14s; Michael Schumacher, £7, 8s; Leonard Roup, £6, 9s; Peter Sehler (Seiler), £4, 1s, 4d, (Family No. 3-Seiler); Nicholas Lantz, £3, 16s, (Family No. 925-Lantz). In 1780, the year of the death of Michael Schumacher, the name of his widow appears on the list of taxables of Northampton Co. with a valuation fixed at £898.

The writer is not able to determine, positively, whether Michael Schumacher was of the Lutheran faith or was a member of the Reformed Church. At least two of his children were baptised with the rites of the Lutheran Church. His grandson, Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., born in 1773, wrote in his family Bible record, after naming his father, Jacob, and his Grandfather Michael, "All the above named were all instructed and baptised in the German Reformed religion, in which they were faithful followers."

On a side hill of the farm now owned by Mr. Zeller, which was formerly a part of the Michael Schumacher farm, there is an old cemetery in which the bodies of fifty or more persons have been buried. A few years ago a number of plain stones, marking the last resting places of many pioneer settlers of William Township, were still in place. Many members of the Lantz family were buried there. And, under the friendly shade of tall cedar trees mingling with that of the wildwood, Michael Schumacher, his wife Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher, and some of their children, without any doubt, there sleep the last long sleep.

The will of Michael Schumacher was made May 17, 1780, and was sealed and delivered in the presence of Henry Bierson and Peter Seiler. It was written in German and the original may be found in the office of the Register of Wills of Northampton Co., Pa. Translated it reads as follows:

"In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost: I, Michael Shoemaker, of Williams Township, in the County of Northampton, and State of Pennsylvania, weaver, am sick and weak of body but of perfect understanding. Thanks be to God who put me in mind to make my last Will and Testament as follows:

"I give and recommend my soul to God who gave it and my body to the earth to be buried in Christian order by my executors, and as to my estate, with which God has been pleased to bless me with in this life, I do order and dispose of in the following order and form, viz.:

"First, to Mary Catherine, my beloved wife, the sum of six hundred pounds in Loan Office Certificate, and all my household goods, and one cow, the one-fourth part of all the growth on the place of grain, hay, fruit, hemp, flax. Also I give unto my first-born son, Jacob, five pounds for the hand, out of my personal estate:

"Item, I give to my well born sons, Jacob, Peter, Conrad, Isaac, and Abraham, each one hundred pounds, good and current money in gold or silver. Also I give my daughters, Margaret and Elizabeth, fifty pounds good and current money in gold or silver, in part of which Margaret hath received thirty pounds, out of my real and personal estate, and my first born son, Jacob, hath thereof one hundred pounds, and Peter hath received one hundred and eighty-eight pounds, he must also pay eighty-eight pounds into my estate.

"My wife, Mary Catharine, hath the fourth part of all so long as she liveth and hath the liberty to live in the house wherein I now dwell so long as she lives or in the other if she sees fit. And if the land is sold then my wife Mary Catharine, shall have the fourth part of all my movable and immovables.

"Also shall this be my last Will and Testament and no other. Witness my hand and seal the 17th May in the year of our Lord, 1780.

(Signed)

Michael Shumacher, (Seal)"

Mrs. Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher and Jacob Schumacher were appointed Administrators of the estate.

The widow of Michael Schumacher survived him about 32 years. She died in Williams Township in 1812. The record of her death appears in the record of the earliest Lutheran Church in Easton, Pa. It reads:

"The aged Mrs. Schumacher was buried this year, Aed. 89 years, 11 months and 20 days."

The children of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher were:

1. JACOB, born about 1744, died Oct. 5, 1810.
2. JOHN, born Aug. 21, 1746, baptised July 7, 1747.
3. PETER, born about 1749, was deceased in 1813.
4. CONRAD, born Sept. 22, 1751, died in Sept., 1832.

5. ISAAC, born about 1753, died Sept. 8, 1829.
6. MARGARET, born Jan. 22, 1757, died Oct. 11, 1839.
7. ABRAHAM, born June 10, 1758, died July 2, 1845.
8. ELIZABETH, born Aug. 15, 1764, died March 20, 1835.

Of the children of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher, Jacob settled in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa. John probably died early. He is not named in his father's will. He was baptised according to the rites of the Lutheran Church and John and Elizabeth Schumacher were his sponsors. His baptism is recorded in the "Church Book of the Congregation on the Delaware River belonging to the Lutheran Religion:" Peter settled first in Bethlehem Township, Northampton Co., and later removed to Oxford Township, Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J.; Conrad settled in Greenwich Township, Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J. Isaac settled first on the Michael Schumacher farm and later removed to New Troy, now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa.; Margaret was married to Baltzer Carpenter, and they settled, lived and died in Greenwich Township, Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J.; Abraham settled first in Oxford Township, Sussex Co., N. J., and later removed to Hemlock Township, Northumberland, now Columbia Co., Pa. Elizabeth was married to Ludwig Knauss, Jr., and, in 1785, lived in Tinicum Township, Bucks Co., Pa., later removing to Williams Township, where she died.

THE SCHEIMER FAMILY *

Jacob Scheimer, who is said to have come to America between 1700 and 1710, from Gersheim, Rheinpfalz, Bayern, Germany, was born about 1679. He was a resident of Germantown, Pa., in 1722, and his name appears on a list of subscribers, who pledged themselves to contribute funds to meet the expense of building a stone wall in front of "Ax's burying ground," on the Main street, at the upper end of Germantown. It also appears on a petition of 1725 praying that the boundaries of Skippack and Perkiomen Townships be confirmed. He was naturalized in 1730 and, prior to 1734, paid quit-rent on 100 acres of land in Skippack, Philadelphia Co., Pa. After 1736 he removed to the vicinity of Reddington, Pa., for many years called Shimertown, and located on a farm situated on the Lehigh River, then known as the "West Branch of the Delaware." April 27, 1740, he bought from David Potts the 110 acre farm which has remained until the present time in the possession of his descendants. He and his family were members of the Lutheran Church. His will was made in Lower Saucon Township, Northampton Co., Pa., was probated Oct. 5, 1757, and is filed in the Register's office in Philadelphia. It names his son-in-law, Michael Schumacher, and his beloved friend, Anthony Lerch, "Trustees of this my will." He also appointed his wife, Elizabeth (second wife), and his sons, Jacob and Conrad, executrix and executors. The will names his wife and thirteen children. He died Sept. 17, 1757, and is buried in the old Saucon burying ground. His widow, Elizabeth, was living April 11, 1768.

The first wife of Jacob Scheimer was Margaret, living in 1730, daughter of Heivert and Elizabeth (Rittenhouse) Papen, of Germantown, Pa. (See Rittenhouse-Papen families later.) Their children were:

THE PAPEN FAMILY

Heivert (Howard) Papen, who was born about 1655, came to America and settled in Germantown, Pa., in 1685. He owned 300 acres of land on the east side of Main Street and adjoining lands of his father-in-law, William Rittenheysen (Rittenhouse). In 1689 he built a house on the northeast corner of Main and Johnson streets, which remained standing until 1884. He was chosen a "committeeman" of Germantown, May 31, 1691, and was so named in the Charter of Incorporation then granted. (Bib. 234.) He was a member of the Mennonite Church and, in 1701, on account of conscientious scruples declined to serve as Burgess of Germantown. He was married to Elizabeth, daughter of William Rittenhausen (Rittenhouse). She was deceased in 1728. His will was made Jan. 30, 1708, and he died in that year. The children of Heivert and Elizabeth (Rittenhausen) Papen were: 1, Styntie (Christian), a spinster, living in 1728; 2, Mary, married to Gerhard Brownback (Brumbach), living in Vincent Township, Chester Co., Pa., March 5, 1728; 3, Gaertrude, married to Benjamin Howell, July 18, 1721, was deceased in 1728; 4, Margaret, married to Jacob Scheimer, (See above); 5, Elizabeth, deceased in 1728.

THE RITTENHOUSE FAMILY*

I, Heinrich Rittershausen, who was born in Minden, in the Palatinate of the Rhine about 1500, had a son II, Balthaser, who had a son III, Conradi, born Sept. 25, 1560, who had a son IV, George, born in 1595, whose son V, George Rittenhausen, was married to Maria Hagershoff.

VI, William, son of George, Jr., and Maria (Hagershoff) Rittinghausen, was born near Muhlheim in the principality of Broich, between the River Rhine and Westphalia, in 1644. His mother, sister and brother resided there in 1644. William Rittinghausen removed to Amsterdam and, June 23, 1678, took the following Oath of Allegiance as a citizen of Amsterdam:

"You do swear that you will be a good and true citizen of this city and be subject to the Burgomasters and rulers, and take part in watches, in openings and other protections and burdens of the city: and that you will apprise them of any threatening danger of which you may be informed: and that you will by advice and act further its welfare to the utmost of your powers: and that you will perform and omit all that a good citizen should perform and omit. So truly may God Almighty help us." The Certificate of Citizenship granted to him bears his signature, "William Ruddinghuysen von Mulheim, paper maker."

In the year 1688 William Rittenhouse came to Germantown, Pa., with his two sons, Nicholas (Claus, Klaas) and Gerhard (Gerritt), and his daughter, Elizabeth, who was married to Heivert Papen. His forefathers had long carried on the business of paper makers at Arnheim, Germany, and, on the ninth day of the twelfth month, called February, in 1690, he entered into an agreement with Samuel Carpenter for 20 acres of land in Roxbury township, Philadelphia Co., Pa., for the purpose of erecting a paper mill there. This mill, the first paper mill in America, was built immediately on the Wissahicken Creek.

William Rittenhouse was a minister of the Mennonite Church and was the first Bishop of that church in America, an office in which he was succeeded by his son, Claus (Nicholas). He died in 1708, aged 64 years, and is buried in the Mennonite Church Yard, above Herman street, in Germantown, Pa.

VII, (1) Nicholas, son of William Rittenhouse, was born June 15, 1666, and died in 1734. He was married to Wilhelmina, daughter of Garrett Hendricks and Zytian DeWees, of Germantown, Pa., (See Family No. 1254, Dewees) and their children were: William, Henry, Matthias, Psyche, Mary, Catharine, and Susannah.

VII, (2), Gerritt, son of William Rinttenhouse, was born in 1674 and died in 1742-3. He was married to Miss Revacomb, and two of their children were William and Peter.

VII, (3), Elizabeth, daughter of William Rittenhouse, came to America, with her father. About 1690 she was married to Heivert Papen, and became the mother of five daughters, named in the sketch of the Papen family, above.

*"Origin and History of the Rittenhouse Family," by Daniel K. Cassell, Rittenhouse Memorial Association, 1893.

JACOB

LIEUTENANT COLONEL JACOB SCHUMACHER—FAMILIES NOS. 2—(1)

Jacob, son of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher, was born in Williams Township, now Northampton Co., Pa., in 1744. He was married (1) about 1769, to Elizabeth, born Aug. 6, 1745, died July 4, 1797 (Arndt Cemetery, near Easton, Pa.), daughter of Major Jacob and Elizabeth (Geiger) Arndt. (Family No. 1339—Arndt.) They settled in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., where, May 2, 1771, he bought from John and Elizabeth Bussenburger, of Amwell, Hunterdon Co., N. J., 176 acres of land, described as on the "Lehickon (Bushkill) Creek, which falls into Delaware River." This tract of land had been sold, Aug. 30, 1739, by John and Thomas Pearce to William Allen, who, with his wife, Margaret, sold it, May 14, 1741, to Daniel Worms, from whom John Bussenburger bought it, in August, 1748. Soon after his purchase of this land Jacob Schumacher began the operation of a fulling mill on the premises, which received an extensive patronage from Northampton Co., Pa., and also from Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J. He also owned and operated a plaster mill on the same property.

Prior to and during the War of the American Revolution Jacob Schumacher was among the foremost patriots of Northampton Co. In 1776 he was a member of the Northampton County Committee of Safety and Dec. 19, 1776, was a member of the standing committee. Abraham Berlin, Anthony Lattimore, Jeremiah Trexler, Anthony Moore, Timothy Reed, and Robert Traill (Family No. 622—Traill) were also members of the Standing Committee. (Bib.—28.) March 13, 1777, the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, created the Board of War, and on the 17th of that month the Legislature passed the Military Law, by which the administration of the military affairs of the several counties in the state was placed in the hands of a lieutenant and sub-lieutenants in each county. These officers were authorized to hold courts, to classify and district the Militia, to organize the Militia into companies and regiments, to hold elections for officers, to call out the classes, to find substitutes in case of delinquents, collect fines and turn them over to the State Treasurer, together with a thousand duties which the emergencies of the times rendered necessary. (Bib.—29.)

On the 21st day of March, 1777, the Supreme Executive Council appointed John Weitzel to serve as lieutenant and Jacob Schumacher to serve as sub-lieutenant for Northampton Co. The first of these appointments carried with it the rank of colonel and the latter carried the rank of lieutenant colonel. A number of the letters of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Schumacher are preserved in the Pennsylvania Colonial Records, and his reports, in detail, described as Reports of Colonel Jacob Schumacher, may be found in the Pennsylvania Archives. From these reports it appears that he made purchases, occasionally, for the Continental Army, as well as for the Northampton County Militia. June 25, 1778, he paid to Captain John Arndt (Family No. 1339—Arndt), Commissioner of Purchases, £1,200, and Aug. 14, 1778, he paid to David Deshler, another Commissioner of Purchases, £1,500. May 27, 1779, he paid Michael Schumacher £1, 2s, 6d for a blanket. He served as sub-lieutenant of Northampton Co. until 1780. His reports for the three years, 1777, 1778, and 1779, show receipts of £1,172 12s, and 3d from fines collected from members of the Second, Fourth, and Fifth Battalions, for non-attendance upon days of exercise, and receipts of £9,033 17s, 9d from fines imposed, in the same period, for non-performance of military duty. The fines imposed upon the Fifth Battalion, in the fall of 1779, amounted to £783, 17s, and the amount received from sundry persons, from fines for non-performance of military duty, at the same time, was £2,225.

In 1772 Jacob Schumacher's Proprietary Tax was £2, and in 1780 he was assessed at £1,110. In 1788 he was assessed as owning 176 acres of land, 4 horses, and 4 head of horned cattle. His tax in that year was £1, 9s, 10d. Feb. 28, 1785, he bought from Major Jacob Arndt, his father-in-law, 378 acres of land, being part of the Livingston Patent in the town of Canajoharie, Montgomery Co., N. Y. He was a member of the Reformed Church of Easton, Pa., was elected Deacon on the 2nd day of April, 1779, and was an Elder in 1782. He was appointed, with his mother, an administrator of the estate of his father, Michael Schumacher, and also served as administrator and executor of will, in connection with the settlement of a number of other Northampton Co. estates, including that of his father-in-law, Major Jacob Arndt. His first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher, died in Forks Township, July 4, 1797. Her grave is beside those of her parents, Major Jacob and Elizabeth (Geiger) Arndt, in Arndt Cemetery, near Easton, Pa. He was married (2) Sept. 29, 1797, to Elizabeth Eberhard, born Aug. 6, 1745, died Aug. 30, 1823, (Arndt Cemetery).

The will of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Schumacher was made Oct. 14, 1804, and was probated at Easton, Pa., October 16, 1810. In his will he provided that his wife, Elizabeth, should have: "The choice of two of my beds, with all the shedings (sheetings?) belonging thereto, my two chist and drawers, my taple (table?), the clock in my room, the stove in my room, all the books she brought with her, the choice of three other of my books, the choice of all my pewter and kitchen utensils, as she may choose, two waching tops (washing tubs?), her choice one cow of my stock, her choice which is to be kept by my son, John, as his own cows, twelve bushels of rye, four bushels of good wheat, four bushels of buckwheat, four bushels of Indian corn, one hundred and twenty-five pounds of pork, sixty pounds of bief, yearly and every year during her natural life or widowhood. One-fourth part of the garden, the privileges in the kitchen and seller, six corts of good firewood—two to be hickory, to be delivered to the door. Three hundred pounds is to be kept on interest during her natural life for the support of my widow, whereof she is to draw the interest yearly. In case my widow should be inclined to Merry again she is to give two hundred pounds in money and is to leave all her possessions in the house. My said wife, Elizabeth, is to live in the same house where in I live, the privilege in the orchard for as many apples as she shall want for her own use—one barrel of cider." He gave his 176 acre farm in Forks Township to his son John, conditioned upon the payment of £200 to each of John's six sisters. To his son Jacob he gave 196 acres, and to his son Abraham he gave 219 acres of the lands he had bought in Montgomery Co., N. Y., from Major Jacob Arndt. He died Oct. 7, 1810, and is buried in Arndt Cemetery, near Easton, Pa. His grave is not marked. The will of his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth (Eberhard) Schumacher, provided that she should be buried beside her husband, Jacob Schumacher. Her grave is marked in Arndt Cemetery and stands near the long line of Arndt graves in Arndt Cemetery. Doubtless the grave of Colonel Schumacher is close beside that of his second wife.

The children of Lieutenant Colonel and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher were:

- 1, MARGARETHA, born Nov. 5, 1771, died Feb. 10, 1849.
- 2, JACOB, JR., born Sept. 29, 1773, died Dec. 23, 1829.
- 3, JOHN, born Sept. 29, 1773, died Sept. 4, 1859.
- 4, ELIZABETH, born Sept. 29, 1775, died May 4, 1864.
- 5, SUSANNAH, born Aug. 2, 1777, died April 16, 1856.
- 6, ABRAHAM, born Dec. 10, 1779, died Nov. 18, 1824.
- 7, ANNA MARIA, born July 20, 1782, died before 1827.

- 9, SARAH, born March 31, 1787, died Oct. 25, 1818.

MARGARET (SCHUMACHER) SEILER; FAMILIES NOS. 3—(2)

Margaret, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher, was born in Forks township, Northampton Co., Pa., Nov. 5, 1771, and was married, March 16, 1793, by the Rev. Christian Ludwig Becker of the Reformed Church of Easton, Pa., to Peter, born Jan. 15, 1770, died March 18, 1809, son of Frederick and Dorothy Seiler, of Bethlehem, Northampton Co., Pa. (Seiler family later.) Peter Seiler learned the trade of a miller and, about 1806–7, he removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa. In the latter year he bought 100 acres of land in what was then Pittston Township. His farm included part of Lot No. 2 and the whole of Lot No. 3, bounded by the Susquehanna River, and was situated in the first division of Pittston lots near the Wilkes-Barre-Pittston line. The locality where Peter Seiler settled soon became known as "Seiler's (Saylor's) Corners"—a name still in vogue among the older residents. Peter Seiler entered the employ of his wife's cousin, Samuel Shoemaker, at New Troy, now West Wyoming, Pa., and became the miller in the Shoemaker—formerly Carpenter—grist mill. March 16, 1809, while attempting to cross the Susquehanna River on the ice, on his way to or from his place of employment, he was drowned. John Penn Arndt of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was appointed administrator of his estate. The family burial plot was formerly in the Cooper Cemetery, opposite Wyoming, Pa. Many years ago the bodies of Peter Seiler and his wife and those of a number of their children, were removed to Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler remained on the farm until Feb. 14, 1828, when her son, Samuel, bought the interest of the other heirs in the property. In 1811-12-13-14 she was licensed as an inn keeper. With her family she later became interested in the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which held services in the "Red School House," which stood near Saylor's Corners. The Plainsville Society of that church was organized in 1834. In 1844 the "Brick Church" was built and among the contributors to the building fund were Mrs. Margaret Saylor, her sons, Samuel Saylor and Benjamin Saylor, and her son-in-law, Philo Bower. Mrs. Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Catharine (Saylor) Bower, in New Troy, now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., Feb. 10, 1849. The children of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler were: 1, Mary Ann, born in 1794, died May 26, 1811; 2, Elizabeth, born in 1795, died Feb. 27, 1825; 3, Susan, born March 5, 1796, died Nov. 30, 1849; Ann Maria, born Sept. 12, 1797, died Dec. 22, 1879; 5, Samuel, born July 17, 1799, died April 13, 1859; 6, Jacob, born Feb. 20, 1801, died June 19, 1877; 7, Dianna, born and baptised Jan. 31, 1803, died early; 8, Charles, born in 1805, not married, died in Missouri, in 1850; 9, Benjamin, born Jan. 9, 1807, died Oct. 21, 1882; 10, Catharine, born May 7, 1808, died May 18, 1851.

THE SEILER FAMILY—SEYLER—SAILOR—SAYLOR

Lieutenant Colonel Johan Peter Seiler* was born in Germany, September 26, 1721. It is thought, by some competent authorities, that he settled first in Greenwich Township, now Warren Co., N. J. He was, however, a resident of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., for a number of years prior to the War of the American Revolution, and, in that war, he served as lieutenant colonel of the First Battalion of Northampton County Militia, under the command of Colonel George Hubner. His name appears on the list of taxpayers in Williams Township. He was widely known as a highly skilled and eminently successful physician. Mr. Heller, the Easton, Pa., writer, has written a highly appreciative sketch of his career. He was the founder of the famous family of Doctors Saylor and his methods of treatment have been handed down, in the family, through several generations. One of his descendants still continues the practice established by Dr. Johan Peter Seiler.

*A Peter Seyler came to America on the ship Johnson, David Crockett, Master, sailing from Rotterdam. He qualified at Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 19, 1732. It appears probable that he may have been the Peter Seiler referred to in the following church record quotations, whose wife's name was Eva. In the records of the earliest Lutheran Church of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., there are the following references to early Seiler families identified with that church: 1, Johannes Conrad, son of Peter and Eva Seiler, born Nov. 22, 1742, was baptised Feb. 3, 1743, John Conrad and Anna Barbara Vogelmann, sponsors; 2, Anna Catharine, daughter of Peter and Eva Barbara Seiler, was born or baptised June 21, 1750; 3, John Peter and Catharine Seiler were sponsors, May 13, 1749, for John Peter, son of Peter and Anna Margaret Rieser, who was born April 15, 1749; 4, Peter and Anna Margaret Seiler had a daughter Elizabeth, born March 15, 1750, baptised April 1, 1750, for whom Jacob and Elizabeth Maurer were sponsors; and a daughter, Anna Maria, born Jan. 11, 1752, baptised Feb. 9, 1752, for whom Peter and Maria Moelick (Family No. 1531—Melick) were sponsors; 5, John Michael, son of Peter and Anna Barbara Seiler, was born March 4, 1755, and was baptised April 20, 1755; 6, Peter Seiler and Catharine Hess were sponsors, April 22, 1753, for Peter, son of Peter and Anna Maria Moelick, who was born April 2, 1753.

Johan Peter Seiler was married to Anna Margaret Maurer, who was born Jan. 19, 1726, and died July 23, 1810. Her maiden name appears on her very old gravestone in Raub Cemetery, Raubsville, Northampton Co., Pa., "born Maurerin." His will was made Jan. 6, 1803, and was probated at Easton, Pa., Jan. 20, 1803. In his will he provided that £300 should be invested for the support of his wife and conveyed to each of his ten children a farm. He provided, in his will, that in the event any of his children should be dissatisfied, "The child occupying such land shall make choice of one reputable man, the majority of my children shall make choice of another reputable man, and the two men so chosen shall make choice of a third man, which three men so chosen shall proceed to make a valuation of the land so occupied by said child," etc. The old patriot evidently had a good working knowledge of the value, as well as of the methods of arbitration. He died Jan. 8, 1803, "After an illness of 14 days," so recorded in the Lutheran Church record. He is buried in Raub Cemetery, at Raubsville, Pa. His headstone inscribed in German, declares he had 4 sons and 6 daughters, 63 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren, and 2 great-great-grandchildren. Near the graves of Johan Peter and Anna Margaret (Maurer) Seiler is that of Anna Maria Seilerin, daughter of Peter and Margaret.

The children of Lieutenant Colonel Johan Peter and Anna Margaret (Maurer) Seiler, all of whom, with the exception of Anna Maria, who probably died early, are named in his will, were: 1, Frederick, see later; 2, Elizabeth, born March 15, 1750, baptised April 1, 1750, Jacob and Elizabeth Maurer sponsors, married to _____, deceased in 1803, leaving children; 3, Anna Maria, born Jan. 11, 1752, baptised Feb. 9, 1752, Peter and Maria Moelick, sponsors, died April 18, 1842, married to George Heinrich Klinehans, born Jan. 25, 1744, died June 27, 1801, lived in Williams Township, and buried in Raub Cemetery. She was probably a second daughter of Johan Peter Seiler, who was named Anna Maria; 4, Johannes Daniel, born Dec. 13, 1753, died Oct. 18, 1806, served as private in Captain John Arndt's company of Colonel Baxter's Battalion of Northampton County Militia, and took part in the battle of Long Island. His wife's name was Maria Eva _____, and they lived, at the time of his death, in Hunterdon Co., N. J. Some of the children of Daniel and Maria Eva Seiler were: (1), Abraham, born Nov. 1, 1778, died July 16, 1855; (2), Anna Maria, born April 15, 1780, baptised May 24, 1780; (3), Elizabeth, born Dec. 26, 1781, married April 9, 1805, to George William Raub (Family No. 947—Raub), born Dec., 1778, died April 16, 1852; (4), Sarah, born Feb. 22, 1783, baptised April 13, 1783; (5), Catharine, born Jan. 5, 1785, baptised Feb. 10, 1785; (6), probably John, born 1786, died April 2, 1842, married to Mary Bougher, born near Easton, Pa., in 1788, died May 9, 1857, John Seiler removed to Lansing, N. Y., and in 1827 was a member of the New York Assembly in the State Legislature. See "Landmarks of Tompkins Co., N. Y.;" (7), Margaret, born Sept. 19, 1790, baptised Oct. 21, 1790; (8), George Heinrich, born March 21, 1795, baptised May 3, 1795; 6, Jacob, married Feb. 11, 1789, to Margaret, born July 13, 1772, died Aug. 2, 1829, daughter of Andrew and Maria Magdalena Raub (Family No. 947—Raub), lived in Alexandria Township, Hunterdon Co., N. J., in 1810; 7, Catharine; 8, Susannah; 9, Feronica, married to Martin Raub; 10, Dr. Peter, Jr., born May 26, 1770, died May 14, 1862. (See later.)

II, (1), Frederick, son of Lieutenant Colonel Johan Peter and Anna Margaret (Maurer) Seiler, served as a private in Captain George Nolf's company, Northampton County Militia, in the Revolution, and was a member of the company June 5, 1780. This company was organized in Middle Bethlehem Township, where Frederick Seiler lived. The name of his wife was Dorothy _____. In 1780 he was assessed in Bethlehem at £360, and his Federal assessment in 1788 was 17 shillings and 9 pence on 145 acres of land, 3 horses, and 2 horned cattle. His will, in which, following the example of his father, he gave a farm to each of his eleven children, was made April 1, 1818, and was probated at Easton, Pa., Oct. 6, 1826. It names his wife, Dorothy, and the following children: 1, Peter, born Jan. 15, 1770, died March 16, 1809, married to Margaret, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher (Family No. 2); 2, Adam, married to Anna Maria, born July 20, 1782, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher (See Family No. 493); 3, Abraham, born Dec. 11, 1781, died Nov. 23, 1842, married April 2, 1809, to Eve Arner (or Aaur); 4, Frederick, Jr., married to Susannah, son Adam, born April 15, 1812, baptised Sept. 24, 1812; 5, Isaac, married to Margaret _____, living in Montgomery Co., N. Y., in 1815, when their daughter Dolly, born Oct. 29, 1817, was baptised Jan. 4, 1818, at the Geisenburg Church, Lutheran, at Hallsville, N. Y. Their son, Isaac, Jr., born May 7, 1820, was baptised there June 25, 1820, Adam and Maria (Schumacher) Seiler serving as sponsors, and their daughter Anny, born Oct. 10, 1822, was baptised June 8, 1823, Daniel Seiler and Elizabeth Brunner, sponsors. Christian Brunner and Anna, his wife, were sponsors for Isaac Seiler's daughter, Dolly; 6, Jacob, born March 7, 1793, baptised April 23, 1793, was married to Mary _____, (probably Mary Paulus) May 11, 1814. His will, made at Bethlehem, Pa., Aug. 6, 1864, probated at Easton, Pa., Feb. 11, 1865, names his wife Mary, son Samuel, daughter Catharine and son George, deceased; 8, Sarah, married to George Dech; 9, Elizabeth, married to Peter Kocher, June 21, 1807; 10, Catharine, married to Henry Buss; 11, Margaret, married May 7, 1815, to Peter Hess. Abraham Seiler and Frederick Seiler, Jr., of Bethlehem Township, Pa., were named executors.

II, (10), Peter, Jr., son of Lieutenant Colonel Johan Peter and Anna Margaret (Maurer) Seiler, was born May 26, 1770, and was married to Anna Margaret, born Jan. 19, 1770, died March 29, 1856, daughter of John George Laubach (Family No. 585—Laubach). Peter Seiler, Jr., succeeded his father as a physician and was very widely known. He died May 14, 1862, and is buried in Raub Cemetery, Raubsville, Pa. Some of the children of Dr. Peter, Jr., and Anna Margaret (Laubach) Seiler were: 1, John David, born June 13, 1795, baptised June 21, 1795, Peter and Anna Margaret Seiler sponsors. He was married May 12, 1818, to Mary Osburn and died Jan. 24, 1881; 2, Catharine, born May 18, 1799, died Oct. 6, 1893, married Sept. 28, 1819, to William, son of Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland, of Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., (See Swetland family later); 3, Isaac, born July 9, 1801, died May 12, 1842; 4, Abraham, born July 2, 1803, died Feb. 18, 1844; 5, Rosanna, born April 12, 1805, baptised June 16, 1805, died Feb. 3, 1888, married, Dec. 18, 1822, to John Carpenter, (Raub Cemetery); 6, Anna Margaret, born May 16, 1807, died Jan. 25, 1893, married to William Stocker, born March 12, 1783, died Feb. 4, 1877, lived near Orange, Luzerne Co., Pa., and buried in the Eaton Cemetery there; 7, Dr. John Peter, third, born Jan. 18, 1809, died Aug. 22, 1868, not married, was a physician, (Raub Cemetery); 8, Anna Maria, born June 17, 1811, baptised May 26, 1811; 9, John, born May 16, 1817, baptised Dec. 30, 1817.

THE SWETLAND FAMILY—SWEETLAND

William and Peter Swetland, residents of Connecticut, were early members of the Susquehanna Company, of Hartford, Conn., and their names appear as grantees on the Indian Deed of July, 1754, conveying lands, in northeastern Pennsylvania, then claimed as of Connecticut jurisdiction, to that company, by various Indian Chiefs. (See Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.) A William Swetland was, according to Dr. Miner (Bib. 4) one of the Proprietors of the Town of Charlestown on the West Branch of the Susquehanna River, in the Susquehanna Purchase, which was destroyed by the Pennsylvania authorities.

II, Luke, son of William Swetland, perhaps William named above, was born in Lebanon, now New London Co., Conn., July 26, 1729, and was married April 1, 1762, to Hannah Tiffany, born April 8, 1738. He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in July, 1772, at which time he also became the owner of a right in the Susquehanna Company (Bib. 1, pp. 757, 1084). According to Mr. Harvey he was allotted lands in Kingston Township, then described and known officially as Kingston District. March 1, 1774, he was elected "Tithing Man," presumably for Kingston. His name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Kingston District in 1776, 1777, and 1778. He served as private in the First Independent Company, commanded by Captain Robert Durkee, in the Connecticut Continental Line in the War of the American Revolution, from Sept., 1776, until Jan. 8, 1778, when he was discharged and returned to his family at Wyoming. His name appears on the Muster Roll of the Detachment of the 24th Connecticut Regiment of Militia, commanded by Colonel Zebulon Butler, on duty at Wyoming, after June 28, 1778, and before Oct. 1, 1778. He served one month and fifteen days, and without doubt took part in the Battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. Following the flight of the survivors from Wyoming he returned to the Wyoming Valley, Aug. 4, 1778, a member of Colonel Butler's Detachment of the 24th Connecticut Militia, and, Aug. 25, 1778, with Joseph Blanchard, (Family No. 3—Blanchard), was captured by Indians near Nanticoke Falls, in Newport Township. They were taken as prisoners to "Appletown," a Seneca village, near Seneca Lake, N. Y. (Bib. 1, p. 1084.) Early in Sept., 1779, he escaped and, reaching the advance guard of army of General Sullivan, he accompanied the army back to Wilkes-Barre, and from thence hurried to his family at Kent, Conn.

Following the Battle of Wyoming, piloted by her fifteen-year-old son, Belding Swetland, Mrs. Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland and her children had returned to Kent, and there Luke Swetland remained with his family until 1786-7. June 15, 1787, he described himself as of Kent in the State of Connecticut, when, for £40, Pennsylvania money, he sold to Abraham Smith of Luzerne Co., Pa., 50 acres, Lot No. 6, First Division of Newport Township, describing it as part of the one-half right he purchased of Nathan Kingsley, and said Kingsley of William Adam, and Adam of (Captain) Rezen Geer, the right having come from Samuel Avery. He had returned to the Wyoming Valley before Aug. 21, 1788. In the June Session of the Court of Quarter Sessions, at Wilkes-Barre, Samuel Allen, Rufus Lawrence, Hezekiah Roberts, William Reynolds, James Bidlack and Cornelius Atherton were appointed road viewers for Plymouth Township, and employed Luke Swetland as surveyor. Their report, made Aug. 21, 1788, naming "Old Mr. Reynolds" and "Captain Badlock" among the viewers, was approved by the September Sessions. One of the roads through Plymouth, then laid out, began "At the highway that runs from the River between Kingston and Plymouth," and the survey names the following land marks: "7 rods north from the southeast corner of the First House Lot in the upper tier." "A little over the Dry Creek." "Mr. Hokomb's house." "A road that goes by Dr. Oliver Bigelow's." "Lower Meadow Gate, at the lower tier of House Lots." "Lower Gate." "Mr. Dod's."

Luke Swetland had bought, July 4, 1774, from Nathan Kingsley of Westmoreland, on the Susquehanna River, for £50, one-half of a Proprietor's Right in the Susquehanna Purchase and one right of land in Newport (see above). John Peirce (or Pierce) and Jonathan Lee signed the deed as witnesses. Feb. 14, 1776, Job Yale of Wallingford, Conn., (New Haven Co.), deeded to Luke Swetland certain lands in Plymouth District. "In consideration of settling, keeping, and doing the duties required by the Committee of Settlers, from the 21st day of July, 1774, which Luke Swetland hath well and truly performed to my full satisfaction, I therefore give, grant, bargain, sell and convey and confirm unto said Luke Swetland one-half of House Lot No. 1 (9?), upper tier of House Lots in the District of Plymouth, as also half of the other highlands or uplands which now doth, or did, or ought to belong to me." Eliakim Hitchcock and Samuel Beach were witnesses. One of his Newport lots Luke Swetland sold, in 1787, as noted above. June 22, 1792, he executed a deed, naming a love and affection consideration, in which he conveyed to his son, Joseph Swetland, title to Lot 4, 100 acres, Newport Second Division. Aug. 28, 1793, Luke and Hannah Swetland and Samuel and Marcy (Otis) Ross-Allen, sold to Jose Lineberger, Lot 31, Third Division, Plymouth, and Feb. 12, 1795, Luke Swetland bought from Samuel Allen one-half of Lot No. 33, First Division of Plymouth. Oct. 27, 1797, Luke Swetland sold to Dr. Oliver Bigelow the southern half of House Lot No. 9, of the upper tier of House Lots in Plymouth, describing it as the same lot he bought of Job Yale, who was the original Proprietor. Dr. Oliver Bigelow apparently lived on House Lot No. 9 as early as Aug. 21, 1778. June 29, 1789, Luke Swetland bought from Peleg and Margaret Comstock (Family No. 1021—Comstock) one-half of Back Lot No. 9, Third Division, Kingston, 13 rods wide. The writer believes this is the first recorded purchase of lands made by Luke Swetland in Kingston Township that appears in the present Luzerne Co. records. He also believes that there is not to be found any traces in those records of the passing from Luke Swetland of any title to lands in Kingston prior to the date of this Comstock-Swetland deed. It is apparent that in 1776, 1777, and 1778 he was a resident of Kingston District. But the writer has not had access to any records that even suggest that Luke Swetland lived in Kingston Township from the time of the Battle of Wyoming until about or after 1789. The writer believes his home was in Plymouth Township during that period.

On the 29th day of June, 1795, Luke Swetland and his son, Joseph Swetland, sold this Comstock Lot to James Atherton, Jr. (Family No. 992—Atherton.) July 10, 1795, Joseph, Belding and Artemas Swetland entered into an agreement under the terms of which Belding Swetland, for a consideration of £26, and Artemas Swetland, for a consideration of £80, conveyed to their brother, Joseph Swetland, their heirship in the property of their father, Luke Swetland.

Nov. 18, 1796, Luke Swetland bought from William Slocum, Sheriff, Back Lot No. 29, Third Division of Lots in Kingston, and also Meadow Lot No. 5, Second Division, Kingston. Back Lot No. 29, Third Division, Kingston, was part of the estate of Daniel Finch, who was killed in the Battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. (Family No. 14—Finch.) It was sold, by Samuel Finch, administrator of the estate of Daniel Finch, July 4, 1791, to Benjamin Carpenter, who apparently sold it to Joseph (or Josiah) Hazard, from whom it was sold by the sheriff. Meadow Lot No. 5, Second Division, was part of the estate of John Perkins and was sold, by Benjamin Carpenter, administrator, to Samuel Finch; June 20, 1791, who apparently sold it to Joseph Hazard. The property was sold to Luke Swetland on a writ of Aug. 19, 1796, in the suit of Benjamin Carpenter vs. Josiah (or Joseph) Hazard. Luke Swetland apparently removed to this property in 1796-7. It has since been known as the Swetland Homestead. The title to the heirship of Belding, Joseph and Artemas Swetland, in the property of their father, Luke Swetland, was bought from Joseph Swetland, by his brother, Belding Swetland, and, Aug. 31, 1803, Luke Swetland executed a document in which he ratified the bargains of his sons and agreed "That the right and title of Heirship of the three brothers, viz., Belding, Joseph and Artemas, are by these presents confirmed unto Belding Swetland and his heirs forever." It appears that these were the only surviving children of Luke and Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland in 1803.

Luke Swetland was a proprietor in Kingston Township in 1790 and was present, with his sons, Joseph and Artemas, the latter a single freeman, at a Town Meeting held at the house of Philip Myers, Dec. 18, 1790, in Kingston. He was assessed in Kingston in 1792. For a few years before his death he was a pensioner of the Federal Government. His name was placed on the Rolls, Oct. 15, 1819, with an annual allowance of $96.00, from April 27, 1818, for services rendered in the War of the American Revolution, his service having been performed in the Connecticut Continental Line. Mrs. Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland died Jan. 8, 1809, aged 70 years and 9 months. Luke Swetland died Jan. 30, 1823, aged 93 years, 6 months, 4 days. With many of their descendants they are buried in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery. On the Swetland plot in that cemetery may also be found the grave of the widow Elizabeth Bryant, who died Dec. 8, 1827, aged 82 years and 2 months. The children of Luke and Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland were: 1, Belding, born Jan. 14, 1763, died July 22, 1816; 2, Joseph, born in 1767, died June 22, 1821; 3, Artemas, born about 1769; 4, Eli, born March, 1771, died Sept. 6, 1777; 5, William, probably born about 1773, living in Kingston Township in 1800 (Bib. 1), probably died before 1803; 6, Seth, born March, 1775, died Sept. 1, 1777; 7, John, born March, 1777, died Sept. 3, 1777.

III, (1), Belding, son of Luke and Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland, was born Jan. 14, 1763, and came, with his parents, to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1772. He was in Forty Fort at the time of the Battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and after the surrender of the Fort piloted his mother and her children back to Connecticut. He was married, about 1787, to Sally, born about 1773, died Dec. 18, 1815, aged 42 years, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Ebenezer and Elizabeth (Fairbanks) Gay. (Family No. 50—Gay.) Belding Swetland was of Sharon, Litchfield Co., Conn., Aug. 6, 1793, when he bought from Esther Follett (Family No. 988—Follett), of Coventry, Tolland Co., Conn., one-half of Lot No. 14, Third Division of Kingston Township, on which Anning Owen then lived. June 4, 1794, he sold this land to Anning Owen. Sept. 5, 1793, he bought from John P., and Naomi Schott of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Lot No. 37, in Putnam Township, described as a "Right of Land known as Secord's Island," containing 300 acres. This land he sold, March 11, 1800, to John Rosenkrans of Kingston Township. (Family No. 946—Rosenkrans.) Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland removed from Sharon, Conn., to the Wyoming Valley and finally established their home on the Luke Swetland homestead. He was appointed and served as Supervisor of Kingston in 1803. In 1811 he was assessed a blacksmith. April 3, 1815, Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland deeded the Luke Swetland homestead to their son, William Swetland, for a consideration of $1,600.00. Mrs. Sally (Gay) Swetland died Dec. 18, 1815. Belding Swetland died July 22, 1816. They are buried in Forty Fort Cemetery, at Forty Fort, Luzerne Co., Pa. Their children were: 1, William, born June 26, 1789, died Sept. 27, 1864 (See later); 2, Eli, born Oct. 10, 1791, died Sept. 27, 1850 (See later); 3, Ebenezer, born May 15, 1793, died Dec. 13, 1838, had a son, William C. Catharine Swetland, widow of Ebenezer Swetland, was married (2) to Lyman Wetherbee of Scranton, Pa.; 4, Eleazer, born Dec. 31, 1796, died Feb. 6, 1878, was married to Betsey, daughter of William Honeywell; 5, Henry; 6, Uriah, born Sept. 29, 1800, died April 24, 1888 (Eatonville, Pa., Cemetery), married to Elizabeth Shales, born March 27, 1804, died April 8, 1877 (Family No. 1216—Shales), whose daughter and only child, Matilda, was married Nov. 25, 1842, to Captain James Bird, son of Samuel and Sarah (Bird) Harding. (Family No. 992—Harding, No. 1217—Bird.) He was born July 15, 1816, and died Jan. 4, 1899, (Eatonville, Pa., Cemetery); 7, Hiram, born Oct. 14, 1802, died Nov. 25, 1836, married to Jane, born 1812, died April 22, 1833, daughter of Rev. IV, (1), William, son of Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland, was born June 26, 1789, in Sharon, Litchfield Co., Conn., and, about 1794, came with his parents to the Wyoming Valley. In 1814 he was returned as a clerk in the Kingston Township Census of Taxables. In 1815 he entered into partnership with Elias Hoyt and engaged in general merchandising in a store he built on the Swetland Homestead, which he bought, April 3, 1815, from his father. In 1823 he sold his stock of goods to David Baldwin (Family No. 996), and, in 1830, he was a partner of David Baldwin in the same business. The latter was succeeded in the partnership, about 1834, by Payne Pettebone, the new firm doing business as William Swetland and Co. He was Post Master of New Troy, (Wyoming) Pa., at least from 1827 to 1846, excepting a portion of the time his store was occupied by David Baldwin, who was assessed as Post Master in 1830. He served his Township on the Committee of Freeholders in 1819—20—23—24 and in 1827, as Town Clerk in 1823, as Overseer of the Poor in 1827, and as Treasurer in 1835. From 1828 to 1831 he served as one of the County Commissioners of Luzerne Co., and, in 1836, was a member of the Constitutional Convention of Pennsylvania. He was one of the organizers of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad Company and served as Treasurer and President of the Board of Managers. He was President of the first bank organized in Pittston, Pa., now the First National Bank. (Bib. 1.)

William Swetland was identified with some of the early industrial and manufacturing enterprises of Kingston Township. He was for about one year a partner of Samuel Shoemaker and with him, in 1813, established the first Carding Machine and the first Fulling Mill on the Shoemaker property at what is now West Wyoming, Pa. (See Family No. 948.) In Sept., 1823, he was associated with his brother, Uriah Swetland, in the operation of the Bedford-Sturdevant-Breese Fulling Mill in Kingston Township. In 1835 he bought the lands and Grist Mill, also the distillery, of Uriah Swetland, at what has long been known as "Phillip's Mills," and built a new Grist Mill on the property. This property he exchanged with Comer Phillips (Family No. 1009—Phillips), of Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., for lands in that Township. In 1839 William Swetland and Company operated the Jonathan Mooer's foundry on what is now Eighth street in West Wyoming, Pa., and specialized in all kinds of mill castings, machinery parts, ploughs, coal and cook stoves, grates, andirons, large kettles, and hollow ware. They also operated the Plaster Mill on the same property. In 1840 he was a partner of Philo Bower in the Bower Tannery. Throughout his business career he bought and sold real estate.

In 1849 William Swetland became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Troy Corners, now Wyoming, Pa., and in 1851 was a member of the Board of Trustees. He became one of the most active and influential members of this church and one of the leading Methodists of the Wyoming Valley. For many years he was a Trustee of Wyoming Seminary and he built Swetland Hall. (See sketch Methodist Episcopal Church and sketch Wyoming Seminary, Family No. 987.)

William Swetland was married, at Easton, Pa., Sept. 28, 1819, to Catharine, born May 18, 1799, died Oct. 6, 1893, daughter of Dr. Peter and Margaret (Laubach) Seiler, of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa. Their children were: 1, Caroline M., born Oct. 17, 1820, died Oct. 6, 1893, married Oct. 3, 1837, to Payne, son of Payne and Sally (Tuttle) Pettebone. (Family No. 989—Polen, No. 988—Gardner); 4, Margaret A., born March 16, 1836, died March 27, 1860, married to William H. Brown (Bib. 1). William Swetland died Sept. 27, 1864. Mrs. Catharine (Seiler) Swetland died Oct. 6, 1893. They are buried in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery.

IV, (2), Eli, son of Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland, was born Oct. 10, 1791, and died Sept. 27, 1850. He was married to Margaret, born July, 1795, died Feb. 26, 1873, daughter of John and Rebecca (Montanye) Bird, and their children were (order of birth uncertain): 1, Charles, born April 6, 1813, not married, died April 23, 1887; 2, infant, died April 6, 1815; 3, Betsey C., born July 18, 1815, died Sept. 12, 1882, married to Elisha H. III, (2), Joseph, son of Luke and Hannah (Tiffany) Swetland, was born in 1767, and died June 22, 1820. He was assessed in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792. June 22, 1792, his father deeded to him Lot 4, Newport Township, and June 20, 1794, he sold this lot to John Barnum of Kent, Conn. July 10, 1795, he bought the heirship of his brothers in the property of their father and, previous to Aug. 31, 1803, he sold it to his brother, Belding. May 7, 1794, he bought from Leonard Devens of Plymouth Township, an equal one-half of a certain piece of land called "White's Point," situated on two sides of Toby's Creek and bounded on one side by Island Creek and on the other by Lot 2, Plymouth, formerly the property of William White.* Aug. 8, 1801, he bought from Thomas Dyer, Jr., Back Lot No. 30, Kingston, adjoining, on the southwest the Luke Swetland homestead, and which had been deeded, Oct. 5, 1797, by Thomas Dyer, Sr., to his son, Thomas Dyer, Jr. This lot was later owned and occupied by Colonel Erastus Hill, and is referred to by Dr. Miner in his "Wyoming." Part of it is now occupied by the Payne Pettebone residence. He bought, from Jacob Bedford, part of Lot 34, Third Division of Kingston, formerly owned by Alexander Swartwood, and, May 13, 1800, sold one acre of it to George Brown, a Kingston blacksmith. March 11, 1800, he bought from John Rosenkrantz ten acres of Lot 34, Kingston, extending from what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, to Abraham's Creek. He also bought, at the same time, from John Rosenkrantz, about 170 acres of Lot 35, Third Division, Kingston. For about two years Joseph Swetland lived in what was later known, for many years, as the Captain Samuel Breese house on Lot No. 34, which stood on part of the lot now owned by the heirs of the late James M. Schooley. April 7, 1802, he sold this property, together with his holdings in Lot 35, to Captain Samuel Breese. (Family No. 989—Breese.) On the same day he bought from Captain Breese 20 acres of Lot 8, Second Division, Kingston, and 6 acres of Third Division Lot No. 23.

Joseph Swetland bought from Benjamin Dorrance and George Cahoon, March 16, 1812, Lots 21 and 22 of the Fourth Division of lots in Kingston. These lots had been sold, April 22, 1803, by Joel Lucas to William Trux, a Justice of the Peace in Kingston, in 1809. (Family No. 946—Buck.) William Trux built a grist mill and a saw mill, at what is now Trucksville, Pa., on one of these lots, before 1811. Daniel Swetland, a son of Joseph Swetland, operated this Trux grist mill and saw mill in 1814. Sept. 27, 1814, Joseph Swetland sold lots 21 and 22, Fourth Division, Kingston, to Jacob Rice of Knowlton, Sussex Co., N. J. (Family No. 1016—Rice.) April 9, 1813, he bought from Peter and Catharine Babb, 22 acres of Lot 13, Third Division, Kingston. This was also a grist mill property, with a coal bed reservation owned by *William White was an early settler of Plymouth District and his name appears on the Westmoreland tax lists for Plymouth, in 1776-7-8. According to Orphan's Court proceedings of May 26, 1795, he had then been deceased many years and was survived by his widow, Elizabeth, and the following children: 1, Ephraim; 2, Patience, married to Robert Harris, living at Stafford, Tolland Co., Conn., March 16, 1793; 3, Timothy, of Morrison, Hampshire Co., Mass., March 16, 1793; when, with Robert and Patience (White) Harris, they sold to Thomas Jackson their interest in the real estate of their honored father, William White, late of Plymouth; 4, William, Jr.; 5, Benjamin.

Adam Shafer. It had been sold as a mill seat by Adam Shafer to Zachariah Hartsough, Jan. 15, 1795. This property was situated in what was long known as "Mill Hollow," "Hartsough Hollow" (Hartsuff Hollow). Joseph and Clarissa Swetland sold it to Jacob Holgate and William Hicks, Nov. 29, 1817. Holgate and Hicks were both of Germantown, Pa. The consideration named in the deed is $5,000. There was also a distillery on the property and the deed, Swetland to Holgate and Hicks, carried the following reservation: "Excepting and reserving to Adam Shafer, for his use, the one-half of a coal bed, and the privilege of repairing and erecting anew the mill dam at the place where it now stands, and the privilege of carrying water in manner and form as at present." This portion of Lot 13 is further described in the deed as "The same tract of land on which Swetland now resides and on which his grist mill and distillery are erected." May 15, 1813, Stephen Hollister, a clothier by trade, and for a number of years a Justice of the Peace in Kingston, and his wife, Niece, sold to Joseph Swetland and his son-in-law, James Hughes, for $1,000.00, part of Lot 15, Third Division, Kingston, adjoining Lot 16. This was a fulling mill property and was probably the same piece of land sold, by Zachariah Hartsouff, May 14, 1798, to Stephen Hollister, who, in 1801, was assessed as the owner of a fulling mill. The Hollister deed reserved "142 perches of land hitherto conveyed to John Bowman and on which John Bowman resides, together with the privilege of conveying the water as the same is at present conveyed, by flume or race, to the trip hammer of the said Bowman, when such water shall not be required by Swetland and Hughes." June 11, 1813, Joseph Swetland and James Hughes announced in the Gleaner that a wool carding machine will commence the first of June at the mill formerly owned by Spencer and Hollister, with constant attendance by Daniel D. Spencer and Philo C. Curtis. The fulling mill property was sold, April 28, 1817, by Joseph and Clarasy Swetland to George Royal, William Royal, and Reuben Holgate, for $2,000.00. The land conveyed is described as 17 acres of Lots 14 and 15, Third Division, Kingston. Joseph Swetland also owned 90 acres of the northwest end of Lot 3, Fourth Division, Kingston, and the water rights on Lot 4. These he sold to Holgate and Hicks. He bought Lot No. 7, of the Fourth Division, from the heirs of Benjamin Smith, June 13, 1814, and, in 1818, he sold it to James Hughes. Sept. 5, 1818, he bought from Ebenezer, Jr., and Betsey (Woodward) Gay, of Windham Township, 179 acres of land on the Susquehanna River, near Mehoopany, now Wyoming Co., Pa. This farm adjoined lands of Thaddeus Prentice, who, with his wife, Keziah, on the fifth day of April, 1819, sold to him 150 acres of land, also on the Susquehanna River and adjoining lands of George Griest. About 1818-19 Joseph Swetland and his family removed from the Wyoming Valley to the vicinity of Mehoopany. He died there, in the prime of life, June 22, 1820. He is buried in a private cemetery on what is known as the Hahn farm, on Griest Flats, below Mehoopany. Loice, born Sept. 18, 1777, died May 7, 1850, wife of George Griest, and a number of other persons are buried on the same private plot.

Joseph Swetland was married (1) to Salome Hall, born about 1769, died in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Aug. 12, 1814, aged 45 years. He was married (2) Dec. 11, 1814, by Charles Chapman, Esq., to Clarissa, daughter of Amos and Abigail (Williams) Seward* of Huntington Valley, Pa. The will of Joseph Swetland, made in Windham Township, in 1820, was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 23, 1821. It names his wife, Clarissa, and provided for the support of the "Widow Hall." It also named the following children, the order of whose birth is not known to the writer: 1, Artemas, married to Eunice ————; daughter, Julia Ann, born April 22, 1832, died Feb. 28, 1835, (Union Hill Cemetery, Mehoopany, Pa.); 2, Daniel, born 1787, married to Lucy, daughter of Nathanael and Lucy (Gallup) Gates (Family No. 1324—Gates-Gallup); 3, Polly; 4, Hannah, born May 8, 1793, died April 1, 1892, married Feb. 25, 1813, to James Hughes, born Oct. 12, 1780, died Feb. 23, 1870, doubtless son of Hugh Hughes, of Sussex Co., N. SUSAN (SAYLOR) THOMSON, FAMILIES NOS. 5—(3)

Susan, daughter of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, born in Forks township, Northampton Co., Pa., May 5, 1796, removed with her parents to Pittston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., about 1807, and was married, at Plainsville, Pa., March 5, 1816, to David, born at Bethlehem, Litchfield Co., Conn., March 20, 1794, son of Samuel and Mary (Richards) Thomson (see Thomson-Richards families later). David Thomson came to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., with his widowed mother and her family, in Feb., 1801. Soon after their marriage David and Susan (Saylor) Thomson established their home in what is now Nanticoke, Pa. There he engaged in mercantile pursuits and also became a pioneer in the business of mining and shipping coal. In 1830 he was appointed Post Master for Nanticoke and kept the Post Office at his residence. In 1838, associated with Daniel Stiles, he built a store on the site later occupied by the Washington Lee Banking house, (Bib. 56) where the Post Office was kept for many years. He was, for many years, a leading citizen of Nanticoke, but later in life bought a farm at Hunlock Creek, Luzerne Co., where he was engaged in farming for a number of years.

Early in life David Thomson identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church and he became a zealous follower of that faith. He and his wife, Susan (Saylor) Thomson, were members of the original class organized at Nanticoke. The Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Wilkes-Barre was organized from the Wyoming Circuit Sept. 16, 1830, when the Rev. Charles Nash was the preacher in charge and Robert Miner and Comfort Carey were the exhorters. The charge included appointments at Plains, and in Hanover. The stewards were, Gilbert Barnes, Sharp D. Lewis, Ziba Bennet, Robert Miner and David Thomson. The class leaders were Gilbert Barnes, Robert Miner, Thomas Brown, Lorenzo Ruggles, David Thomson and Samuel Gaskill. In 1823 Thomas Borbridge, David Thomson, Darius Williams, Jacob Rice, Comfort Carey, Gilbert Barnes and Myron B. Helme were trustees of Wyoming Circuit of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who bought from George and Sarah Lane a lot in "New Street," Wilkes-Barre, as a site for a house for the circuit preacher. (Bib. 96.)

Mrs. Susan (Saylor) Thomson died Nov. 30, 1849, and is buried in the Hunlock Creek Cemetery. David Thomson was married (2) to Mrs. Mary (Lynn) Lynn, born in Saucon Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Feb. 28, 1808, died Jan. 29, 1888. At the time of her marriage to David Thomson she was the widow of Jesse Lynn, (born Sept. 9, 1806, died April 30, 1847). His father, David Thomson, was one of the pioneers in the development of the anthracite coal mining and shipping enterprises at Nanticoke. He continued boating on the canal until 1853, when he became superintendent of the shipping department for Washington Lee and Company, extensive coal operators at Nanticoke. He remained in their employ until he removed to Sullivan Co., Pa. In the spring of 1856 he bought what is known as Maple Grove farm in Cherry Township, near Dushore, Sullivan Co., Pa., where he continued farming for twelve years. When coal was discovered in the Bernice field by Myron W. Williams, a famous hunter and fisherman, he imparted his information to members of the Jackson family of which the wife of James Thomson was a member. According to the Tax Lists for 1806 Paul Keeler sold his lands to Hezekiah Smith and removed from the township. His will was made in Exeter, Luzerne Co., Pa., Nov. 5, 1812, and was probated, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 6, 1813. It names his wife, Sarah, and the following children: (1), Anna; (2), Asa; (3), William; (4), Nancy; (5), Lucy; (6), Sally, probably born June 28, 1785, died Feb. 6, 1856, married to Nathaniel Fitch, born Feb. 12, 1782, died Sept. 14, 1839, (Fitch Cemetery, Falls, Pa.); (7), Clarissa; (8), Abbey; (9), Fanny; (10), Patty or Polly. ANN MARIA (SEILER) GARDNER, FAMILIES NOS. 14—(3)

Thomas Pomp of the First Reformed Church at Easton, Pa. Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher served as sponsors, at the baptism. About 1807 she removed, with her parents, to what is now Plains Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and was married there, about 1822, to Jesse, Jr., born in 1799, died Dec. 5, 1867, son of Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner. (See Gardner and Carpenter families later.) Soon after their marriage Jesse and Ann Maria (Seiler) Gardner removed to what was then Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and, before 1828, settled in Carbondale—the Pioneer City of Northeastern Pennsylvania. He became one of the early merchants of that thriving town and was assessed

*Samuel Sterling and his wife, Mary Sterling, were living in Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., as early as 1796, and apparently lived, at that time, in the vicinity of what is now Falls, Wyoming Co., Pa. He was assessed in Exeter Township in 1802 and in the same year his son, Josiah, a Post Rider, was also assessed there. Some of the children of Samuel and Mary Sterling were: 1, Isaac; 2, Josiah; 3, Daniel, born July 8, 1776, died Aug. 25, 1839, married (1) to Betsey Jones, of Buttermilk Falls, Pa., probably a daughter of Benjamin Jones, (Family No. 1328—Jones) who died with her infant child. He was married (2) Nov. 11, 1800, by Lawrence Myers, Esq., of Kingston, Luzerne Co., Pa., to Sally, daughter of James and Sarah (Smith) Sutton. (Family No. 43—Smith—Sutton.) He was married (3) before Jan. 8, 1829, to Rachael Brooks; 4, Eliza; 5, Polly; 6, Denton, drowned in March, 1796; 7, Lewis, drowned in March, 1796—both boys buried in Roberts Cemetery, near Falls, Pa.; 8, Eleanor, born May 11, 1785, died June 21, 1808, (Roberts Cemetery), married in Oct., 1803, to William Keeler (see above, also sketch of Dr. William Keeler Flatt) (Family No. 1230); 9, Ellen; 10, Samuel, Jr.; 11, John, born Dec. 8, 1793, married in 1813 to Sarah, daughter of Benjamin and Margaret (Henshaw) Overfield (Family No. 995—Overfield); 12, Harriet, married June 2, 1812, to Nicholas, son of Paul, Jr., and Elizabeth (DePui) Overfield, of Meshoppen, Pa. (Order of birth not known to writer.)

as a "Flour Merchant" there in 1836-7. In 1838 he was assessed as a member of the firm of Gardner and Thompson, Flour Merchants. In 1843 he owned a tannery there and was also assessed as a tanner. In 1846 he owned a woolen factory and was assessed as a clothier. In 1849-50-51 he was one of the principal owners of improved real estate in Carbondale. Among his holdings, which were assessed, were: a store, the "Big Store," Jones and Watt store, Thomson and Stott store, Johnson's store, Sherwood's store, Dr. A. P. Gardner's store, Foster store, tannery, factory, cabinet shop, the "Old Brewery," a saw mill, and 200 acres of land, and, also, a number of houses and lots. About 1834 he bought extensive tracts of unseated lands in Providence Township, part of which he sold in 1835 to John Gardner of Warwick, Orange Co., N. Y., and Schuyler Besteder, of New York City. (See Gardner family and Besteder later.) He owned the corner at Main and Seventh streets, Carbondale, Pa., where for many years, "Nealon's Hall" has stood, and this was probably the site of his store. He also owned the corner at Church and Seventh streets, where, doubtless, his home was situated. Before April 13, 1852, Jesse Gardner sold most of his real estate in Carbondale, and, on that date, he assigned the rest of his property to Dwight N. Lathrop, Esq. With his wife he later removed to Whitesville, Allegheny Co., N. Y., where he died Dec. 5, 1867. He was buried at Monticello, Iowa. His widow, still affectionately remembered (1918), lived for a number of years with her son, George P. Gardner. She died at the home of her other son, David Gardner, at Monticello, Iowa., Dec. 22, 1879, and is buried there.

Jesse and Ann Maria (Seiler) Gardner were members of the earliest Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Carbondale, Pa. Other members of this pioneer class were: James Birdsall, Wanton Hill, Stephen Marsh, Jesse Clark, Addison Clark, Henry B. Jadwin, Sr., and Vene Lee, about 1828. The First Methodist Episcopal Church was built there in 1832, and Oct. 16, 1839, at a meeting held for that purpose, Jesse Gardner was selected Trustee for one year, James Birdsall and Wanton Hill for two years, and Judson Clark and Silas Burrows for three years. Nov. 11, 1843, the following named persons were appointed Trustees: Jesse Gardner, James Birdsall, Wanton Hill, Judson Clark, Elam Woodward, Michael Van Glack, Raymond W. Graves, Dr. Anthony P. Gardner and Rodney Eaton. (Bib.-96.)

THE GARDNER FAMILY

John Gardner, Jr., born about 1714-16, was married to Christianna Finch. They lived in Orange Co., N. Y., where all their children were born. Before the War of the American Revolution they removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and settled in Pittston District. It appears very probable that Gardner's Creek, a tributary of Mill Creek, in what was then Pittston District, was named for John Gardner. After the Battle of Wyoming, with the rest of the surviving settlers, they were driven from the Valley and returned to their former home in Orange Co., N. Y. Mrs. Eliza (Gardner) Besteder, a granddaughter of John Gardner, wrote in 1879, "When they were driven from their homes they came to Goshen." It is probable that they returned to the Wyoming Valley later and were among those settlers who were, in May, 1784, expelled from the Valley by the Pennamites. In his History of Wilkes-Barre, p. 805, Mr. Harvey quotes the following from the diary of Colonel John Franklin: "John Jenkins, Esq., and a Mr. Gardner, two aged gentlemen, who were cripples, were obliged to hobble through the dismal road with crutches." Judge John Jenkins (Family No. 988—Jenkins) died at Scotchtown, Orange Co., N. Y., in Nov., 1784, and was buried there. Some years later John Gardner also died in Scotchtown, and was buried there. A few years before the death of John Gardner, his son, Jesse Gardner, went to the Wyoming Valley and took possession of his father's farm, and for a number of years John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner lived there with him. Later they returned to Orange Co. and spent the remainder of their lives in the home of their son, Samuel, in Scotchtown. The children of John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner were: 1, James, (see later); 2, Captain John, served in Colonel Ann Hawk Hay's Regiment of Orange Co., N. Y., Militia. He was married to a Miss Hutchings. He was drowned in the Hackensack River; 3, Benjamin, lived in Northern New Jersey; 4, Samuel, (see later); 5, Jesse, (see later); 6, Hannah; 7, Phoebe; 8, Kissie; 9, Ruth, died in infancy. (Order of birth not known to writer.)

II, (1), James, son of John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., and was married there to a Miss Dolson. He removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., before the War of the American Revolution, and, after the battle of Wyoming, returned to Orange Co., N. Y., where he served as a private in Colonel Ann Hawk Hay's Regiment of Orange County Militia. After March 26, 1791, James Gardner bought, apparently from David Perkins, Third Division Lot No. 40, in Kingston Township. This was one of the three Third Division Lots, in Kingston Township, that lay along the Susquehanna River. This lot adjoins the Kingston-Exeter line and is bounded westerly by Lot. No. 39, and northerly by what is now Wyoming avenue, in the Borough of Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa. Oct. 1, 1791, he bought from Samuel Gardner, his brother, of Goshen, N. Y., one-fourth of Lot 8, in Pittston Township, First Division. Lot 8, in Pittston lies opposite Lot No. 40 in Kingston, with the Susquehanna River flowing between them. They lie a short distance above the new Wyoming bridge. Prior to June 2, 1791, James Gardner was operating a ferry across the river at this point. In a petition, of that date, presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne Co., Pa., a request was made that a road be laid out in Kingston, between Benjamin Carpenter's and John Rosenkrans' lands, and from thence between the land of David Perkins, (Meadow Lot No. 1), and the lands of Benjamin Follett, deceased, (Third Division Lot No. 38, adjoining Meadow Lot No. 1), to the bank of the Susquehanna River. Thence up the river to the place known "by Gardner's Landing." In the April term of 1801, of the same Court, James Gardner and others requested the appointment of viewers to lay out a road to begin at or near "The ferry of James Gardner," and from thence to the main road leading through Kingston. Aug. 10, 1793, he sold his part of Lot 8 in Pittston to Joseph Hazard of Pittston Township, reserving one-half part of all ore mines and minerals. This is, the writer believes, one of the very earliest reservations of this kind recorded in the Luzerne Co., Pa., records. He also owned Lot No. 26, Pittston, and his title was confirmed by the Pennsylvania Commissioners in a deed of Aug. 24, 1802. Feb. 6, 1805, he bought from James Abbott of Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Lots Nos. 39 and 40, 725 acres in Providence Township. This land is situated in what is now the City of Scranton, Pa., and lay along the Stafford Meadow Brook. The German Cemetery occupies part of it. James Gardner sold it to Stephen Griffin, who, in 1822, sold it to Gomer Phillips and Daniel David. Later James Gardner removed to the vicinity of Ithaca, N. Y. Among his children were a son named Abraham, who was married, in Aug. or Sept., 1806, to Mrs. Polly Nafus; and a daughter who was married to Solomon Finch, who removed to Indiana.

II, (4), Samuel, son of John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., about 1750, and died July 3, 1836. He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., before the War of the American Revolution and his name appears on the Muster Roll of Colonel Zebulon Butler's Regiment—the 24th Connecticut Militia—as serving one month and fifteen days in the summer of 1778, at Wyoming. (Bib.-1.)

Mrs. Eliza J. (Gardner) Besteder, when 73 years of age, on Feb. 25, 1878, wrote to her nephew, Dr. Anthony P. Gardner, "My father was in the Indian War. When the Fort was taken by the Indians he had his face painted, walked over seven of his relatives—they lying on the field. They must have been Finch's family (see Finch family following), my grandmother's friends." After the battle of Wyoming Samuel Gardner returned to Orange Co., N. Y., and enlisted in the Orange County Militia. He settled in Scotchtown, where his father and mother lived with him for a number of years immediately preceding their death. He later removed to Florida in the Town of Warwick, N. Y., where he died July 3, 1836. He was married to Hannah, daughter of Gashuna and ——— (Knapp) Owen* and their children were: (1), John, born June 28, 1788, died June 1, 1874, (see later); (2), Ira, (see later); (3), Samuel, Jr., (see later); (4), Jehiel, removed to Michigan; (5), Maria, married to Harvey Clark, lived in Orange Co., N. Y.; (6), Jesse, married to Mary Blaine, removed to Jacksonville, Fla.; (7), Eliza, born Dec. 13, 1805, (see later).

III, (1), John, son of Samuel and Hannah (Owen) Gardner, was born June 28, 1788, and died June 1, 1874. He was married, in 1815, to Elizabeth, born June 24, 1794, died April 22, 1868, daughter of Zebulon and Jemima (Rule) Wheeler.† John and Elizabeth (Wheeler) Gardner lived in Orange Co., N. Y., at the foot of Mount Eva and some three miles from Florida village. About 1835, John Gardner bought several hundred acres of land in Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., from his cousin, Jesse Gardner, Jr. Part of these lands were owned later by C. W. Potter, Edward Dolph and Selden T. Scranton. The children of John and Elizabeth (Wheeler) Gardner were: (1), William Hayden, born Jan. 5, 1816, died Aug. 26, 1882, married Jan. 11, 1843, to Hannah, granddaughter of Rev. James Finn, (Family No. 988—Finn). He lived, for some time, at Owego, Tioga Co., N. Y., but later removed to South Vineland, N. J. The children of William Hayden and Hannah (Finn) Gardner were: (i), Theodore A., married to Fannie Price; (ii), Mary Elizabeth; (iii), Alice Cornelia; (iv), Clarence Wheeler. Mary Elizabeth and Alice Cornelia Gardner, doing business as The Gardner Sisters, are extensive manufacturers of jellies, jams, preserves, etc., at South Vineland, N. J. Charles Wheeler Gardner is their business agent; (2), Emily Jane, born Oct. 6, 1817, died May 5, 1868, married to Thomas Pitts; (3), Anna Maria, born Oct. 5, 1820, married June 20, 1847, to Joseph S. III, (2), Ira, son of Samuel and Hannah (Owen) Gardner, was married to Anna Maria Smith, whose mother was Nancy (Elmer) Smith, and whose grandfather, Captain Nathaniel Elmer, served in the War of the American Revolution. One of the children of Ira and Anna Maria Smith, was John E. S. Gardner, who was married to Phebe Millicent, daughter of Reuben and Millicent (Howell) Cash and granddaughter of John Howell, a survivor of the battle of the Minisink, in 1779. Reuben Cash was a son of Daniel and Mary (Tracey) Cash. Daniel Cash was a soldier in the Revolutionary War.

II, (3), Samuel, Jr., son of Samuel and Hannah (Owen) Gardner, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., in April, 1792, and died there July 26, 1837. He was married to Nancy Parcel, who was born Sept. 30, 1792, and died April 3, 1844. Their children were: (1), Maria Jane, who was married to the Rev. Joseph Andrews of Jersey City, N. They had three daughters: (1), Floretta Ann, born Feb. 21, 1849, married Feb. 22, 1876, to John Macdonald, whose children are: (i), Virginia M., born Aug. 23, 1878, married Feb. 14, 1900, to Elmer S. III, (7), Eliza Jane, daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Owens) Gardner, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., Dec. 13, 1805, and was married, in 1826, to Schuyler Besteder. He was born about 1800. They were living in New York City, Aug. 31, 1835, when Jesse Gardner of Carbondale, Pa., sold to him one-third of a tract of 480 acres of land in Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., but were living in Warwick, Orange Co., N. Y., March 26, 1826, when Sherman Loomis and his wife, Margaret, deeded to Schuyler Besteder part of Lots 9 and 10, of the Fourth tier of lots in Northmoreland, Luzerne Co., Pa. They finally settled in the vicinity of Genoa Junction, Wis., where they were both living in 1878. Among their children are two sons and two daughters, viz., John, William, Mary C. and Sarah.

II, (5), Jesse, son of John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., Feb. 3, 1761, accompanied his parents to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., prior to the American Revolution, and returned with them, after the battle of Wyoming, to Orange Co. He enlisted in Colonel Philip Van Courtland's Second Regiment of the New York Continental Line and served in the War of the Revolution. After the war he returned to the Wyoming Valley and came into possession of his father's farm. [Well defined family tradition, confirmed in letters of Mrs. Eliza J. (Gardner) Besteder.] His father and mother lived with him on this farm, which is said to have been situated on Gardner's Creek. His parents finally returned to Orange Co., N. Y., and died at the home of their son, Samuel, in Scotchtown.

Jesse Gardner was married to Martha, born about 1760, daughter of Samuel and Betsey (Allison) Carpenter, of Orange Co., N. Y. (See Carpenter family later.) March 14, 1788, he bought from Asa Chadwick, of Wilkes-Barre, Lot No. 19, Second Tier, of Pittston Township, and upon this lot he established his home permanently. It was a 100 acre tract lying back of Lot 8. The latter lot lay along the Susquehanna River. Lot No. 19 was originally drawn by Caleb Bates (Family No. 1328—Bates) for his first 100 acre lot. June 23, 1791, he bought ten acres of Lot No. 18, from Jonathan Stark and, a little later, he bought one-half an acre of Lot No. 7. He also owned one-half of Lot No. 8, which he sold, March 17, 1792, to James Armstrong (Family No. 35—Armstrong), reserving a road 50 feet wide. He sold Lot No. 68, in the Third Division, Pittston, June 17, 1791, to John Clark, of Wilkes-Barre. (Family No. 1023—Clark.) March 15, 1797, he sold to Jeremiah Blanchard, for £60 a "one-half interest in a certain saw mill and saw mill seat, pond and pondage, ground, log-way and board yard, and passage to and from said premises, being and standing in Pittston Township, on Lot No. 6, in the last division, now in the possession of Jesse Gardner and Isaac Gould."* June, 1792, he sold to Daniel Holly, 50 acres of the southern part of Lot 19, Pittston.

*Isaac Gould was of Pittston, Pa., when he made his will. It was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 21, 1802, and names his wife, Anna, and the following children: 1, a daughter, probably deceased, whose children were, Isaac, Ann, Phebe and Caty Dayton; 2, R. Steven Gould, oldest son; 3, second daughter, Caty (Gould) Bishop; 4, second son, Isaac Gould, Jr.; 5, son, Thomas; 6, son, Jacob; 7, son, Peter; 8, son, Elijah Wick Gould; 9, son, William Wick Gould. To the two latter, the youngest sons, he gave Lots Nos. 15 and 16, Pittston, 84 rods wide, on the road, and 279 rods in length, and the saw mill lot, with the provision that they were to care for their aged mother. To them he also gave all his movables and loom and tackling and farming utensils. Hester, presumably a Negro, "I leave with my wife, with liberty for her to go to Stephen Gould's, or where she came from, if she cares to go." He refers in his will to his "Father's old homestead of 104 acres which joins Rockmay River." Jesse Gardner, Stephen Bishop and Elijah Gould signed the will as witnesses. Elijah Gould was deceased in December, 1817, leaving a widow, Sally, and the following children: Isaac, Stephen, John and Polly. Jacob Gould, born Oct. 26, 1771, died March 8, 1849, is buried in Shupp's Cemetery, Plymouth, Pa. He was married Jesse Gardner, Sr., was one of the early Methodists of the Wyoming Valley. In 1798 the Rev. William Colbert preached at his house. (Bib.-96.) In 1806 he was a member of the Methodist Class organized in Pittston Township. The members of this class were: Roger Searl, Leader; Lucy Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Miles, Jared Marcy and his wife, Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner, Elizabeth Bennett and Sarah Collins. In 1807, Clarissa Searl, daughter, and Mary and Fanny Searl, nieces, of Roger Searl, became members. (Family No. 993—Searl.) In 1876 the Pittston Gazette published a series of articles, sketching the early history of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Pittston. One of these articles was made up of a sketch of Jesse Gardner and his family, some extracts from which follow: "He was a real Christian Gentleman. True, he was usually clad in firm stout homespun, for those were days of wool and flax, wheels and looms, so little known in this day. Few made a more respectable appearance than Mr. Gardner. His farm was on top of the hill now known as Inkerman, then Gardner's, and the distance from his home to Aunt Lucy Drake's, in upper Pittston, was six miles, the extent of the distance between the members of the first Pittston Class. Most of his farm was rough sterile land, but by the industry of himself and family he was a well-to-do farmer. The inevitable still house perhaps helped some, but it was relinquished years before his death. He filled many town offices and was Constable at the time of his death, in 1814. His wife survived him many years and died at the home of their son, Jesse, Jr., at Carbondale, Pa. She was brought and laid beside him in the old graveyard." (Old Wilkes-Barre graveyard.) In Sept., 1788, he was appointed Constable, succeeding William Stark. He was appointed again in 1790. In 1809 Jesse Gardner, William Slocum and William Searl were Township Commissioners for the sale of land.

The will of Jesse Gardner was made Jan. 7, 1815, and was probated Jan. 17, 1815. He died Jan. 8, 1815, and was buried in the old Wilkes-Barre graveyard. His remains, and doubtless those of his wife, were removed to the City Cemetery and are buried in section 145. His tombstone bears the following inscription: "In memory of Jesse Gardner, who died Jan. 8, 1815, aged 53 years, 11 months and 5 days." His widow, Mrs. Martha (Carpenter) Gardner, was living in 1841. She suffered a fracture of her arm after she had passed her eightieth birthday. The fracture was reduced by her grandson, Dr. Anthony Parcel Gardner, M. D., who in a letter, written in 1893, declares he cured it. The children of Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner were: 1, Jesse, Jr., born in 1799, died Dec. 5, 1867, married to Ann Maria, daughter of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, (Family No. 14); 2, Hannah, born July 1, 1802, died Dec. 26, 1841, married as first wife to Samuel, son of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, (Family No. 32); 3, Polly, married to John, son of James and Susannah Thompson,*; 4, Nancy, born March 1, 1805, died June to Hannah, daughter of Thomas and Charity (Lamoreux) Davenport of Plymouth, Pa. (Family No. 1010—Lamoreux.) Peter Gould of Plymouth made his will Nov. 3, 1817, and it was probated Dec. 1, 1817. It names his wife, Hannah, and Benjamin Reynolds as executors. It names, also, his children, oldest son, Thomas, Anna, Elizabeth, Caroline Line, and Levanna Gould. In Maplewood Cemetery, Carbondale, Pa., there may be found the grave of Sarah, wife of Isaac Dayton. She was born March 3, 1788, and died March 28, 1864. Their son, Daniel G. Dayton, born in June, 1813; his wife, Susan G., born Jan. 29, 1816, died Aug. 14, 1850, and his second wife, Margaret, born Nov. 8, 1823, died Nov. 15, 1872, daughter of Fisher and Elizabeth (Mygatt) Gay (Family No. 50—Gay), are buried in the same plot. Isaac Dayton, born April 29, 1820, died Nov. 14, 1903, and his wife, Sarah L. Hine, are buried in the Lemon, Wyoming Co., Pa., Cemetery.

*James Thompson was born Jan. 4, 1759, and died Sept. 25, 1846. His wife, Susannah, was born Aug. 17, 1750, and died Nov. 15, 1838. They are buried in Cooper Cemetery, now in Jenkins Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. His will was made in Pittston Township, July 28, 1835, and was probated, at Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 3, 1846. It names his wife, Susannah, and the following children: Isaac, James, John, Margaret (Thompson) Goble, and Susannah (Thompson) Wood. Benjamin Bailey was named executor. James Thompson, who probably came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J., was assessed in Pittston in 1792. He owned Lot 9 of the First Division, Pittston, and, prior to 1810, he mined anthracite coal on his property. On the third of May of that year he sold to John Evans, of Wilkes-Barre, for $800.00 "Two certain quarries or beds of stone coal, situated on the bank of the Susquehanna River, adjoining lands of Eleazer Black on the south, the Susquehanna River on the west and extends along the bank of said river 70 rods, being part of Lot No. 9, first tier, first 100 acre lots in Pittston. Together with free liberty, at all times, to and for the said John Evans, his heirs and assigns, with workmen, servants and others to enter in and upon and work in the two several quarries or beds of stone coal, aforesaid, and to dig and prepare and carry away all or any part of the coal contained therein, together with the right to use as a road, two rods of ground in width, on the bank of said river and on Lot 9, aforesaid, from the said two quarries, or beds of coal, to the road leading from Jesse Gardner's to the Susquehanna River."

Of the children of James Thompson, 1, James, Jr., was married to Mary ———, born in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J., May 23, 1780, and died Aug. 14, 1853, (Cooper Cemetery). James Thompson, Jr., bought, Dec. 27, 1813, from Ezekiel Goble, Jr., administrator of the estate of his father, part of Lot 21, First Division, Pittston; 2, John, (see later); 3, Margaret, living in Lee Co., 30, 1884, (Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre), married to Samuel, son of Benjamin and Catharine (Solomon) Carpenter. (Family No. 14—Carpenter); 5, Martha, married to Daniel Bowman; lived in Providence, Pa., in 1841; 6, Christine, married to James Van Fleet, living in Benton, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1841; 7, Sally, not married, living in Benton, in 1841; 8, Elizabeth, or Betsey, born Feb. 12, 1786, died Sept. 15, 1815, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), married to Samuel Landon (Family No. 1085—Landon), had a son, Cyrene, and a daughter, Clarissa, the latter married to the Rev. Erastus Smith.

THE FINCH FAMILY

The Finch families, whose names appear in the early history of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., were, without much doubt, descendants of: I. Isaac Finch of Stamford, Conn., who had a son, II, Abraham Finch, also of Stamford, whose son, III, Isaac Finch, removed to Goshen, N. Y.

* III, Isaac, son of Abraham Finch, made his will at Goshen, N. Y., June 15, 1748, and it was probated April 15, 1749. (Bib.—152.) In his will he named himself as a son of Abraham Finch and a grandson of Isaac Finch, both of Stamford, Conn., and referred to a right of land he had by his father, lying in the Patents of Wayawanda, and which he bequeathed to his sons, Abraham and Daniel. He also referred to rights of land, which fell to him by his father, Abraham Finch, and his grandfather, Isaac Finch, in the bounds of Stamford, in New England, and "Above the 8 mile and 4 mile." He gave to his wife one-half the profits of his grist mill, saw mill, and farm, and to his son, Isaac, one-half of his mills, half of his homestead and his long gun. He also named Isaac executor and trustee for his wife. All of the children of Isaac Finch, named in his will were (named in the following order): 1, Solomon, not of age; 2, Abraham; 3, Daniel; 4, John; 5, Nathaniel; 6, Ruth; 7, Samuel. (He gave to Samuel his right on the "Mine Tract," which he bought from Abijah Sands, and lying at Mount Eve); 8, Elizabeth; 9, Isaac.

The Finch families of Orange Co., N. Y., had at least the following representatives in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., previous to the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778: 1, Daniel Finch, Sr., Plymouth District, in 1776; 2, Isaac Finch, Pittston District, 1777, 1778; 3, Isaac Finch, Kingston District, 1777, 1778; 4, Daniel Finch, Kingston Dis-

III., May 17, 1853, married to Ezekiel, Jr., son of Ezekiel and Phebe Goble (Family No. 35—Goble); 4, Susannah, born Oct. 10, 1787, died Feb. 5, 1850, married to ——— Wood. She is buried in Cooper Cemetery. Two of her children were: (i), Mary, born June 14, 1817, died Jan. 8, 1900, (South Eaton, Wyoming Co., Pa., Cemetery) married to John, son of Joseph and Phebe (Goble) Armstrong, (Family No. 35—Armstrong); (ii), Margaret Ann, married to James Stout; 5, Isaac, born Nov. 18, 1796, died in Oct., 1900, aged 103 years, married to Maria, daughter of Isaac Wilcox (Family No. 1096—Wilcox), removed to Ohio.

John, son of James and Susannah Thompson, was married to Polly, daughter of Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner. He was probably a member of the firm of Gardner and Thompson, flour merchants at Carbondale, Pa., in 1838. He and his wife settled finally in Waverly, Luzerne Co., Pa., where his will was made Dec. 1, 1859. It was probated at Wilkes-Barre, May 14, 1867, and named his son, Jesse Gardner Thompson, and G. W. Bailey as executors. The children of John and Polly (Gardner) Thompson were: 1, Enoch, married April 21, 1850, to Lineilla Wideman; 2, William, died in 1847, married Nov. 21, 1840, to Nancy, daughter of Isaac and Nancy (Harding) Harding, of Exeter. (Family No. 992—Harding.) They removed to Lee Co., Ill., and one of their children was: James H., born April 8, 1843, married March 28, 1867, in Lee Co., Ill., to Catharine J., daughter of Elijah and Elizabeth (Brown) Swarthout. (Family No. 1328—Brown.) Mrs. Nancy (Harding) Thompson was married (2) to John Colville. She died April 18, 1886; 3, Jesse Gardner, born 1813, died 1896 (Maplewood Cemetery, Carbondale, Pa.), was of the firm of Thompson and Stott—James Stott being his partner—at an early date in the history of Carbondale. They were merchants. Mr. Thompson was a Deputy United States Marshall in the Civil War days and, from 1873 until his death served as Alderman of the Second Ward in the City of Carbondale. He was married to Cemantha Monroe, born 1814, died 1878, and their children were: (1), William M., born Aug. 26, 1837, died Jan. 31, 1884, married (1) to Frances Simpson, born Sept. 23, 1837, died Jan. 13, 1862, (Maplewood Cemetery, Carbondale), married (2) to Maria Davis; (2), Elizabeth, married as first wife to Alfred Pascoe, Carbondale, Pa.; (3), Lourilla, married to Edward Y. Davies, for a long term of years engineer at old No. 28, located in the heart of the City of Carbondale, on the Delaware and Hudson Gravity Railroad. The great whistle on this engine house was for many years the "Fire Alarm" of the City of Carbondale. The writer has very vivid recollections concerning it; (4), Mary, married to Riley S. Plopper, of Paw Paw Grove, Ill., later lived in Elgin, Ill.; (5), Harriet, married to Joseph M. Alexander, Carbondale, many years a leading tailor there, and member of the firm of Evans and Alexander, Thomas Evans being his partner; (6), Anna B., married to William B. Chase, Carbondale, Pa.; (7), Fannie, died aged 8 years; 4, Abel Carpenter, married to Catharine S., daughter of Solomon and Elizabeth Brown. (Family No. 1328—Brown.) He was born Aug. 6, 1818, and died at Paxton, Ill., Sept. 23, 1890; 5, James, married Jan. 31, 1851, to Mary Darte, Carbondale, Pa.; 6, Fannie, born July 4, 1811, died Jan. 27, 1841, married as first wife to Benjamin, son of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, (Family No. 42); 7, Sarah, married to George Swallow, (Family No. 36—Swallow); 8, Rebecca A., married to Thomas Whaite, whose daughter, Gertrude, was married to George Burrell, Carbondale, Pa. (Order of birth not known to writer.)

tract, 1777, 1778; 5, Peter Finch,* Kingston District, 1777, 1778; 6, Samuel Finch, who took part in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778; 7 and 8, Benjamin and John Finch, one of whom was killed by Indians, near "Shoemaker's Mills," (now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa.), as described by Dr. Miner, July 2, 1778, and the other killed in the battle of Wyoming the next day. There was, also, a Solomon Finch, who in 1790, lived upon and owned Lot No. 35, Third Division, Kingston Township, and another Solomon Finch, who owned Lot No. 8, in Pittston Township in 1786. The latter was of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., Aug. 17, 1786, when he sold Lot 8, Pittston, to Samuel Gardner, also of Goshen. Gilbert and Benjamin Carpenter signed the deed as witnesses.

Isaac Finch, whose name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for 1777-78, as a resident of Pittston District, was of Orange Co., N. Y., July 14, 1777, when Abraham Harding, Daniel Cass and Isaiah Halstead, a committee appointed by the Proprietors of Pittston District, to sign a deed to Isaac Finch, for a consideration of £130, conveyed to him a mill seat, on the Lackawanna River. (See sketch of Dr. William Hooker Smith) (Family No. 43—Smith) for description of this tract. He was of Lackawanna, Feb. 12, 1790, when, in the presence of Jesse Gardner and John Davidson, he executed a deed conveying at least a part of this land to Dr. William Hooker Smith. He was deceased before March 29, 1793, when Isaac Finch, administrator of his estate, sold part of the property to Moses Finch of Minisink, N. Y.

Isaac Finch of Pittston District, Westmoreland, (Wyoming Valley) had a son, Isaac Finch, born Feb. 25, 1763, died March 10, 1848, who was married to Sarah Tompkins and their children were: 1, Nathaniel, born Feb. 3, 1792, died June 20, 1884, married Dec. 5, 1813, to Eleanor, daughter of William and Bethiah (Owen) Simrell (Family No. 988—Simrell); 2, John Gardner, born May 19, 1794, died Jan. 16, 1886, married to Martha, daughter of John C. Hutchins; 3, Fanny (Finch) Spencer; 4, Captain Isaac, born Dec. 20, 1798, died April 14, 1860; 5, Carpenter, born Nov. 21, 1799; 6, Julia (Finch) Foster, born April 23, 1802, died July 26, 1831; 7, Lavina (Finch) Benson, born March 18, 1805; 8, Sally, born May 4, 1808, died March 31, 1888, married to William Marson, or Mason; 9, Solomon, born Nov. 4, 1810; 10, Polly (Finch) Whipple, born July 5, 1813.

Isaac Finch of Kingston District, whose name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for that district in 1777-8, probably lived on Lot 35 of the Third Division of Kingston. This land was owned, in 1786, by Solomon Finch, who may have been a son of Isaac Finch, of Kingston. It was on or near this lot that Benjamin or John Finch was killed by Indians July 2, 1778. Solomon Finch of Kingston Township, living upon Lot No. 35, Third Division, made his will Sept. 3, 1786. It was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 24, 1787. This is the first will in Volume 1 of the Will Books of the Luzerne Co., Pa., records. He also owned Lot No. 11, in Lackawanna Township or District. He described his Kingston lands as lying between lands of Benjamin Carpenter (Lot 36) and Elnathan Corey (Lot 34). This Lot he bequeathed to Isaac Finch, Jr. This Isaac Finch was of Walkill, Orange Co., N. Y., Nov. 24, 1790, when he sold this lot to John Rosenkrantz, of Kingston. In this deed the lot is described as bounded on the southeasterly end by the Great Road, southwesterly on lands belonging to John and Gabriel Corey, northwesterly on the middle line of the Township and northeasterly by lands of Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter. Solomon Finch ordered Lot No. 11, Pittston, sold and the proceeds given to his brother, Isaac. His Proprietor's Right in the Susquehanna Company he gave to his cousin, Samuel Finch. His saw mill irons he gave to his cousin, Isaac Finch, Jr. To his wife he gave "All that she now has in her hands, for her to dispose of as she thinks fit and convert the same to her own use." He appointed his "Trusty friend," Samuel Finch, executor and directed that his farming utensils and clothing be sold to pay his funeral charges and debts, together with a note "That is against Selah, at Delaware," anything remaining he bequeathed to his wife. Jonathan Woodsworth, Jede-

*Peter Finch may have belonged to a different branch of the Finch family. He apparently settled first, and as early as 1775-6, on or near the tract of land, on the upper Susquehanna River, where the town of Asylum was subsequently built. He was of Kingston District in 1777-8. In Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., there is published "The permit to pass, and recommendation of Peter Finch and five of his family, to the charity of all good people, they having been plundered of everything valuable by the Tories and Indians." The permit bore a date of July 14, 1778, and was signed by Colonel Jacob Stroud. Peter Finch went from the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and settled in Ridgefield, Conn., and was a resident of that town July 29, 1794, when he sold to Adam Hoops, of Luzerne Co., Pa., "A certain tract of land, situated on a place called 'Shufelt's Flats,' and was laid out and drawn for Lot 21 in the town of Wooster, Luzerne Co., Pa., and lies in the bend of the River Susquehanna, on which a number of the houses of Asylum town now stand, and is the same piece of land on which I lived and occupied in the year 1776."

diah Stephens, Jr., and Ira Stephens signed the will as witnesses. The following note is filed in the office of the Prothonotary of Luzerne Co., Pa.:

"The subscriber do promise to pay or cause to be paid unto Solomon Finch or his order the iust (just) and full sum of Sixty Pounds currunt Lawful money of the State of New York at or before the first of October next ensuing the gathare of with entrest at thee per cent, as witness my hand this first day of Oct., 1777. (Signed) Isaac Finch.

This ancient note bears the following indorsements:

"I, Isaac finch do sine over all my Right an title of the within mentioned noat and it shall be axcepted in ful against the estate of Isaac Finch, deceased. (Signed) Issac Finch, in the presence of Wtr. M. Baldwin (Waterman Baldwin) and John Davidson, and dated Feb. 13, 1790.

"Aug. 28 day, 1789, Received upon this note 24 Pesalvena (Pennsylvania) Money. (Signed) Samuel Finch.

"Worth by the scale of depreciation £55, 0s, 11d. Interest from Oct., 1777, to Oct. 1788, 11 years, £42, 7s, 5d."

According to Egre's History of Orange Co., N. Y., the pioneer of the Finch family in that county was John Finch, of Horse Neck, Conn., who settled in Goshen, N. Y. An Isaac Finch was one of the owners of the Wayawanda Patent and settled in Goshen before 1721. On the tenth day of July, 1721, with John Carpenter, John Carpenter, Jr., Solomon Carpenter and others, he signed grants of land for church and academy purposes.

Of the Finch families, living there at the time of the War of the American Revolution, Adjutant Nehemiah, Lieutenant Solomon, and privates David, Hezekiah, Jabesh, James, and John Finch served in Colonel John Hathorns' Regiment of Orange Co., N. Y., Militia. Adjutant Nathaniel Finch was killed in the battle of the Minisink, July 22, 1779.

They lived for some time in Connecticut, but removed to Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., then known as the Island of Nassau, where he became a prominent citizen and an extensive owner of real estate. He was a Captain in the Militia. Some of the children of Captain John and Hannah (Hope) Carpenter were: 1, Captain John, Jr., born in Connecticut about 1658, (see later); 2, Hope, described in his will (made Jan. 8, 1712, proved May 13, 1713) as of Jamaica, but who left lands and an orchard at Hopewell, N. J., to his wife, Mary. His will also named his sons: (1), Hope, Jr., eldest son; (2), Asmun, second son; (3), Hezekiah, third son, to whom he also gave one-third of the same lands; (4), John, fourth son, who also received, under the will, one-third of the Hopewell, N. William Carpenter was married to Elizabeth, probably Prior.* The will of William Carpenter of Hempstead, in which he described himself as aged and weak, provided for the freedom of two slaves, names his grandson, William, son of John Smith; his sons, John and Daniel, and his daughter, Elizabeth Bedell (whose daughter was married to Peter Cooper, New York philanthropist). He died Feb. 2, 1749; 4, Samuel, born in 1666, (see later); 5, Solomon, born 1670; 6, Ruth (Carpenter) Ludlum; 7, daughter, married to ——— Rodes, probably Richard, who was son of John Rodes, and who, Nov. 2, 1687, sold to Captain John Carpenter and his son, Samuel, 10 acres of land in Jamaica. (Bib.-173.)†

III, (1), Captain John Carpenter, Jr., son of Captain John and Hannah (Hope) Carpenter, born in Connecticut about 1658, removed to Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., and was married to Mary, probably daughter of John Rodes. Captain John Carpenter, Jr., removed from Jamaica to Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., and was one of the owners of the Wayawanda Patent who plotted the village of Goshen, N. Y., and, July 10, 1721, signed deeds granting lands for church and academy purposes. (Bib.-162.) He was assessed in Jamaica, Long Island, in 1708-9 and, Feb. 1, 1709-10, sold to his loving son, Joseph Carpenter, one-third of his cleared lands and one-third of his woodlands. Feb. 7, 1709-10, he also sold to his loving son, Increase, one-third of one-third of his cleared lands and one-third of his woodlands, and Feb. 8, 1709-10, for "My singular love and affection" conveyed to "My loving son, Solomon," 26 acres in Jamaica. The will of Captain John Carpenter, Jr., was proved July 30, 1732, and named his sons: 1, Nehemiah, born about 1685, married to Elizabeth ———; 2, John, married to Ruth Coe, was an owner of the Wayawanda Patent in Orange Co., N. Y.; 3, Solomon, also an owner of Wayawanda Patent. His will was made at Goshen, N. Y., Sept. 11, 1761, and was proved July 7, 1762. It names these children: (1), John, deceased, perhaps John Carpenter, whose will made Oct. 3, 1760, and proved Nov. 8, 1760, names his wife, Elinor, and their children, Anthony, Hannah, Eunice, and Elinor. It refers to lands taken up by his father near Sugar Loaf Hill and to rights he held in the first purchase of the Susquehanna Company on the Delaware River; (2), Anthony, also deceased; (3), Solomon, Jr.; (4), Nehemiah; (5), Mary (Carpenter) Finn, probably married to William Finn. (See Family No. 988—Finn.) In the will of Solomon Carpenter he gave to the children of his son, John, his seat in the Meeting House at Goshen, N. Y.; 4, Joseph, born about 1687, was married to Phebe, daughter of Wait Smith, Sr., the Jamaica Town Surveyor. Feb. 1, 1709, Wait Smith‡ of Jamaica executed a deed by which he conveyed to "My loving daughter, Phebe Carpenter, wife of Joseph, lands bounded by lands of Captain John Carpenter;" 5, Increase, married to ——— Birgin; 6, Mary; 7, Hannah; 8, Susanna; 9, Phebe. Benjamin Cromwell of Jamaica, in his will, made May 31, 1730, and proved Aug. 5, 1730, named his wife, Phebe, and his children, Benjamin, John, Sarah, an unborn child, and appointed his trusty brothers-in-law, Increase Carpenter, Elias Baylor, Jr., executors of his will.

III, (4), Samuel, son of Captain John and Hannah (Hope) Carpenter, was born in 1666. He was one of the heaviest taxpayers assessed in Jamaica, Long Island, in 1708-9. Nov. 2, 1687, Richard Rodes sold to him and his father, Captain John Car-

*The will of John Prior, of Oyster Bay, proved May 11, 1728, names his wife, Deborah; his son, John; his daughter, Elizabeth, and his daughter, Deborah, and appointed his brother, John Prior and his brothers-in-law, Amos Underhill, William Carpenter and David Underhill, executors. (Bib. 152.) All of these four men were Quakers. The will of John Prior of Matinecock, Oyster Bay, made Feb. 2, 1736, proved Nov. 25, 1748, refers to his sister, Elizabeth Carpenter.

†The will of John Rodes, Sr., of Jamaica, was made July 4, 1685, and was proved Oct. 13, 1685. (Bib. 152.) It names his son, John to whom he gave a meadow lot and certain undivided lands and "Ye little house Goody Davis keeps school in, which he shall remove for a shop" and part of a 10 acre lot lying next to Nathaniel Dentons; 2, his son, Richard, to whom he gave the homestead; 3, mentions his daughter, Elizabeth, and 4, son-in-law, John Carpenter; 5, his son-in-law, John Wood; 6, his wife's son, Jeremiah Hubbard.

‡Wait Smith and Nehemiah Smith of Jamaica, Long Island, were brothers and, July 21, 1723, Nehemiah Smith sold lands to "My loving nephew, Nehemiah, son of my brother, Wait Smith." The will of Nehemiah Smith, of Jamaica, names his wife, Ann; his children, Nehemiah, Wait, Thomas, Phebe, Rachel, married to Thomas Reed; Priscilla, married to William Ludlum, Jr.; Mary, married lately to Elias Bayler; Nicholas, Jonathan. He gave £10 to Daniel Smith, Samuel Smith and Elias Bayler, Elders of the Jamaica Presbyterian Church. The will of Wait Smith, Jr., was made at Goshen, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1750, and was proved Oct. 12, 1753. It named his wife, Charity, and his children, Wait, Jr., Samuel, Elizabeth Smith, Charity (Smith) Thompson, Oliver, Joshua, Solomon.

penter, 10 acres of land. Samuel Carpenter had at least five sons: 1, Joseph, born about 1692; 2, Samuel, born about 1695, (see later); 3, Benjamin, born about 1697, (see later); 4, Timothy, born about 1700; 5, John, (see later).

IV, (2), Samuel, Jr., son of Samuel Carpenter, born about 1695, was married to Patience ———. His will was made, at Goshen, N. Y., June 21, 1750. It names his wife, Patience, and the following children: 1, Samuel, born about 1734, (see later); 2, William; 3, Abraham; 4, John; 5, Joshua, married (1) to Hannah Ludlum, who is named in the will of her brother, Henry Ludlum of Jamaica, made May 27, 1752, and probated Oct. 27, 1752, which names his wife, Damaris; his sister, Ruth Smith, a widow, and her two sons, William and Thomas Smith, and her grandsons, John and Ludlow Smith, Howell Smith, and Millicent and Hannah Smith, brothers and sisters of John Smith. It also names Ruth, Hannah, Judith, Rachel, Millicent and Sarah Carpenter, daughters of Hannah Carpenter. Joshua Carpenter was married (2) to Sarah Burt; 6, Richard; 7, Abigail; 8, Martha; 9, child unborn.

V, (1), Samuel, son of Samuel and Patience Carpenter, born about 1734, and not of age when his father's will was made, died about 1800, at Florida, Orange Co., N. Y., while upon a visit to one of his sons. He was married to Betsey Allison. He enlisted in the Orange Co., N. Y., Militia, and was appointed Captain. He was assigned to guard the women and children in the Goshen, N. Y., Court House at the time of the Battle of the Minisink in 1779. The children of Samuel and Betsey (Allison) Carpenter were: 1, Samuel, 3d, born at Goshen, N. Y., married to Anna ———, removed to Licking Co., Ohio; 2, Martha, married to Jesse, born Feb. 3, 1761, died Jan. 8, 1815, son of John and Christianna (Finch) Gardner (Family No. 14—Gardner); 3, Mary, married (1) to Samuel Ensign, married (2) to Stephen Sears; 4, Peggy; 5, Benjamin, born May 20, 1767, (see later); 6, Daniel, born April 26, 1771, living with his sister, Martha, in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1790, and, according to the Carpenter Memorial, married (1) Feb. 27, 1796, to Hattie Curtis, born Nov. 4, 1776, died Feb. 3, 1811, married (2) Jan. 29, 1812, to Alletta Edsell, born May 4, 1785, died Dec. 4, 1855. Daniel Carpenter died at Amity, Orange Co., N. Y., Aug. 10, 1863; 7, Abby, born Aug. 10, 1775; 8, William Allison, born April 5, 1781, died Dec. 21, 1858, married to Elizabeth Edsell, born Nov. 30, 1786, died Jan. 2, 1868; 9, Margaret, born July 25, 1784, died 1809, married in 1803, to Reuben Bump, born Dec. 25, 1776. They settled in Bainbridge, Chenango Co., N. Y.

VI, (5), Benjamin, son of Samuel and Betsey (Allison) Carpenter, was born in Goshen, N. Y., May 20, 1767, and was a tailor by trade. He was married, March 13, 1797, to Catharine Solomon, born about 1777, died April 27, 1827. On the 26th day of March, 1799, Benjamin Carpenter bought about 250 acres of land situated where the prosperous village of Bainbridge, Chenango Co., N. Y., now stands, and removed from Goshen, N. Y., to Bainbridge. He became an early merchant in that town and was, also, an inn keeper. He later removed to South Bainbridge, now Afton, Chenango Co., N. Y., about five miles down the Susquehanna River from Bainbridge, where he remained until his death, Dec. 28, 1836. The children of Benjamin and Catharine (Solomon) Carpenter were: 1, Sarah, married to Horace Stowell; 2, Emily (Carpenter) Searl; 3, Margaret (Carpenter) Chamberlain; 4, Kate (Carpenter) Morgan; 5, Daniel A.; 6, Martha Alida, married to her cousin, Daniel, Jr., son of Daniel Carpenter; 7, Mary, married to Solomon Landers; 8, Elizabeth, married, as second wife, to Solomon Landers; 9, Benjamin; 10, Samuel, married to his cousin, Nancy, born March 1, 1805, died June 30, 1884, daughter of Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner, (Family No. 14—Gardner), (see later); 11, Daniel A.

VII, (10), Samuel, son of Benjamin and Catharine (Solomon) Carpenter, was married to Nancy, daughter of Jesse and Martha (Carpenter) Gardner. He died at Afton, N. Y., about 1841. Their children were: 1, Benjamin Gardner, born July 2, 1827, died, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 11, 1889, a leading business man of that city, founder and head of the widely known firm of B. G. Carpenter and Company, a Trustee of Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa.; a Manager of the Wilkes-Barre Water Co., and a Director of the Scranton, Pa., Stove Works. He was married, March 26, 1852, to Sally Ann, born Nov. 25, 1827, died June 25, 1912, daughter of Samuel and Mary Dingham (Kyte) Fell, (Family No. 1334—Fell, No. 1334—Kyte). Their children are: (1), Walter Samuel, born April 5, 1853, married April 5, 1876, to Bell, daughter of Robert R. and Mary (Barnet) Morgan; (2), Charles Drake, born May 6, 1855, drowned May 14, 1864; (3), Jesse Gardner, born Oct. 6, 1857, died July 21, 1891; (4), Benjamin Harold, born July 16, 1860, married to Georgianna C., daughter, Rev. George Lansing and Eliza Minera (French) Taylor; (5), Major Edmund

Nelson, born June 27, 1865; 2, Emery Carpenter; 3, Kate (Carpenter) Robertson; 4, Alice (Carpenter) Phillips, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

IV, (3), Benjamin, born about 1697, son of Samuel Carpenter, a house carpenter by trade, was, without much doubt, married twice. In his will, made Feb. 23, 1764, and proved Oct. 10, 1767 (Bib.-152), he describes himself as of Orange Co., N. Y. He left to his wife, Mary, one-third of his movable estate, during her widowhood, and the use of all his farm and unmovable estate for her support and "My six youngest children till my son, Benjamin, is of age." He gave to his son, Benjamin, 80 acres of land at the north end of his farm, adjoining along a road that leads from the outlet northwestward. He gave to his sons, Gilbert and Samuel, all the rest of his tract of land. He gave to his three youngest daughters, Sarah, Mary and Rhoda, two-thirds of his movables. To his son, Benjamin, he gave his small barrellled gun. To his wife he gave the best room in his house. He named his wife and his cousin, Samuel Carpenter, executors. The Carpenter Memorial names three other children of Benjamin Carpenter, Elizabeth, Christianna and Amy. The signing of the will was witnessed by Henry Wisner, John Carpenter Smith and Isaiah Halstead.* The children of Benjamin Carpenter, other than his six youngest children were, (order of birth not certain): 1, Elizabeth; 2, Christianna, born about 1737, married to ——— Woods, living in or near Goshen, N. Y., Feb. 24, 1822, when Charles, son of Benjamin and Mary (Ferrier) Carpenter, visited her and wrote his father, from Kingston, Pa., stating that he had been to Goshen, N. Y., and had visited "Your affectionate sister, Christian Woods," then blind, but enjoying good health and in possession of the "Pearl of Great Price." He also stated that she was then 85 years of age. He also wrote, "Your other sisters are well;" 3, Amy. The children of Benjamin and Mary Carpenter were: 4, Sarah, born 1745, married to Nathaniel Cooley; 5, Gilbert, (see later); 6, Samuel; 7, Benjamin, Jr., born April 30, 1750, (see later); 8, Mary; 9, Rhoda.

V, (5), Gilbert, son of Benjamin and Mary Carpenter, of Orange Co., N. Y., had children baptised in Goshen, N. Y., in 1782. His name does not appear in any of the early Wyoming Valley records available to the writer. He was a resident of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1790, and then had in family, living at home, himself, one male over 16 years of age, three males under 16, and three females. He was of Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., May 8, 1790, when, with his brother, Benjamin, he bought, from John and Gabriel Corey, certain water rights. He bought portions of Lot No. 34, Third Division, Kingston, from the Coreys, part of Lot No. 35, same Division, from John Rosencrans, and, Nov. 3, 1792, he bought from Andrew Bennet, Lot 33, Third Division, 183 acres. He sold 90 acres of Lot 33, Dec. 6, 1796, to his son, Benjamin Carpenter, 2nd, and Jan. 15, 1793, sold ten acres of 33, the full width of the lot, to David Perkins. This land lay along what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., and extended 10 feet beyond Abraham's Creek. May 16, 1798, he sold to Lewis Mullison, six acres of 33, and five and one-half acres of No. 35. The latter piece of land was 16 rods wide, along the line of Benjamin Carpenter, Esq., and was later owned by Samuel Shoemaker, and included the site of the brick residence now on the property of Jacob I. Shoemaker.

Gilbert Carpenter was a millwright and doubtless built the first grist mill on the site of what is now, and has been for more than one hundred years, known as the Shoemaker Mill. With his brother, Benjamin, he bought from Gabriel and John Corey, May 8, 1790, the right to carry water across their lands (Lot 34), to the site of the present Shoemaker Mill. What has been, since 1809, the Shoemaker property, was, however, the John Rosencrans farm until Jan. 15, 1791, when John Rosencrans sold eight and one-quarter acres of Lot 35 to Gilbert Carpenter, together with the water rights on Lot 35. June 10, 1791, the latter sold to his brother, Benjamin, two acres of 35, with the buildings, mills, water rights, etc. As early as April, 1796, he had a saw mill in operation on Abraham's Creek, in Kingston Township, and near the boundary line between Lot 35, Third Division, and Lot 18, Fourth Division. This ancient saw mill stood near what was long known as the "White Mill," the scene of the early milling venture of Uriah Swetland, later owned by William Swetland, who sold it to Comer Phillips. In the April Term of the Court of Quarter Sessions, of Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1796, Thomas Gardner, Joseph Black, Stephen Harding, Peter Harris, James Scovel and David Smith, were appointed to lay out a road from Gilbert Carpenter's saw mill on Abraham's Creek, to James Sutton's mill in Exeter. Gilbert Carpenter was also a house carpenter, and, with his brother, Benjamin, is credited with having built the Denison residence, now in Forty Fort Borough, and other early frame structures in Kingston Township.

*Isaiah Halstead, who signed the will of Benjamin Carpenter, as a witness, was doubtless the same Isaiah Halstead whose name, with that of Richard Halstead, appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists, for Pittston District, in 1776-7-8, and who were owners of extensive tracts of land in that District, later Township. They were doubtless brothers and sons of Richard Halstead, of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., whose will was made May 5, 1774, and probated Dec. 1, 1785. (Bib 152.) It names his wife, Esther, and his children, 1, Michael, to whom he gave his homestead on the west side of the drowned lands in the Wayawanda Patent; 2, Sarah (Halstead) Seeley; 3, Richard, probably Richard referred to above; 4, Joseph; 5, Isaiah, probably Isaiah referred to above; 6, Benjamin, and his grandson, Samuel Halstead.

Among the earliest members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the Wyoming Valley Gilbert Carpenter was one of the most active and influential. He was a local preacher and is said to have organized the class which is now known as the Carverton appointment on the Carverton Charge. In 1801 he was "Admitted on trial" to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and, in that year, was appointed, with Johnson Dunham, to the Northumberland, Pa., Circuit, in the Philadelphia Conference. (Bib.-97.) After his removal to Delaware Co., Ohio, about 1808-9, he shared with his nephew, Benjamin Carpenter, Jr., the task of supplying the preaching services in connection with the church they established in Berkshire Township. He was also a noted land surveyor and his name appears in connection with road and land surveys in Kingston Township. He applied for a Patent covering the 435 acres of land he had bought in Kingston, in Lots 33, 34, and 35 of the Third Division. The name given this tract by the Patent Office was "New Troy." June 8, 1807, he sold all his rights in this patent to Jacob Bedford and soon afterwards removed with his family to Galena, Delaware Co., Ohio. He continued there the activities which characterized his career in the Wyoming Valley. He is said to have built the first frame building in that newly settled section, and to have erected a saw mill there, soon after his arrival, between the two Walnut Rivers. The writer has been unable to learn the date of his birth, the date of his death, the name of his wife, the date of her birth and the date of her death.* Some of his children were:

1, Gilbert Carpenter, Jr., born about 1772, baptised in the Presbyterian Church, at Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1782. He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., with his father and, April 13, 1796, bought from William Thompson part of Lot No. 2, in Exeter Township, (near the Kingston Line), formerly owned by Jonathan Dean, of Rhode Island, and adjoining lands of David Smith. He also owned Lot No. 38 in Exeter. Jan. 21, 1809, he bought from Jacob Bedford 127 acres of the New Troy Patent, adjoining lands of Solomon Chapin. Soon after this latter purchase he removed to Delaware Co., Ohio, the title to this land reverting to Jacob Bedford, Jan. 1, 1810. His will made at Galena, Ohio, Dec. 7, 1838, and probated at Delaware, Ohio, Dec. 18, 1838, refers to his wife, not named†, as living, and names the following children: (1), Henry; (2), George B., who was married to Mary Ann, daughter of Jonathan Smith, of Putnam, now Wyoming Co., Pa. (Family No. 43—Smith.) May 21, 1833, George B. Carpenter of Berkshire, Delaware Co., Ohio, and Mary Ann, his wife, appointed Nathan Dustin attorney, with power to sell two undivided shares in Lots 10 and 48, in Putnam, belonging to the estate of Jonathan Smith. James Smiley and Gilbert Carpenter were witnesses; (3), Lyman, married to Nancy, daughter of Robert Lewis, of Trenton, Delaware Co., Ohio. (Family No. 1021—Comstock). (4), Mary (Carpenter) Scovel; (5), Eleazer, deceased in Dec., 1838, married to Ann, daughter of Robert Lewis, of Trenton, Delaware Co., Ohio. Henry Carpenter and James H. Carter were named executors.

2, Benjamin, born in 1774, baptised in the Presbyterian Church in Goshen, N. Y., Oct 5, 1782, came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., with his father and, Dec. 6, 1796, had deeded to him by his father, for a consideration of £5, ninety acres of Lot No. 33, Third Division, Kingston. May 19, 1810, with his wife, Sally, he sold this land to Abraham Johnsten of Sussex Co., N. J., and removed to Delaware Co., Ohio.

3, Mary; 4, Rhoda; 5, Nathaniel Cooley, these three children of Gilbert Carpenter, were baptised in the Presbyterian Church, Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1782. No further record.

6, Samuel, removed to Delaware Co., Ohio.

*The wife of Gilbert Carpenter, Sr., probably died before 1793. None of the deeds he executed, conveying lands, either bears the name of his wife or makes any reference to her.

†The first wife of Gilbert Carpenter, Jr., was, doubtless, Sarah, daughter of Elisha and Eliphal (Bliss) Scovel, of Exeter Township, Pa. (Family No. 1021—John Scovel.) Mrs. Sarah (Scovel) Carpenter was deceased in 1818. Mary, daughter of Gilbert Carpenter, Jr., was, without much doubt, married to a son of Moses and Rachel (Baker) Scovel, probably Hurlburt Scovel.

7, Moses, removed from the Wyoming Valley, Pa., to Delaware Co., Ohio, where his will was made April 7, 1855, and was probated Nov. 11, 1859. It names his children: (1), Hiram, deceased in 1855, married to Sarah ———; (2), Mary (Carpenter) Carter; (3), Laura (Carpenter) Carter; (4), Evaline (Carpenter) Allen; (5), Arminna Carpenter; (6), Philadelia (Carpenter) Weeks; (7), Christianna (Carpenter) Cook; (8), Dorman Carpenter. According to the Carpenter Memorial Moses Carpenter was baptised at Goshen, N. Y., in 1784, and Samuel Carpenter in 1785.

VI, (7), Benjamin, Jr., son of Benjamin and Mary Carpenter, was born Jan. 27, 1750, and was married to Mary, born March 16, 1752, died March 11, 1836, daughter of Thomas (born in Ireland, about 1705, died, in Orange Co., N. Y., April 1, 1792), and Hester (Lucky) Ferrier, (died March 17, 1796). (Family No. 1313—Ferrier—Perkins.) He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., before the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. His name does not appear on any of the Westmoreland Tax Lists nor on any of the existing lists or Muster Rolls of men in military services in the Wyoming Valley. The Tax Lists, however, include only the names of the owners of real estate in Westmoreland. Mr. Harvey, in his History of Wilkes-Barre, points out very clearly that these lists do not contain, for each year, the names of all the known owners of real estate, the names of many men who were away from home on military duty not appearing on these lists. (Bib.-1, pp. 878, 945.) Nor were all of the defenders of Wyoming, in that historic struggle, members of organized military companies. According to Dr. Peck's History of Wyoming, Benjamin Carpenter and his brother-in-law, Anning Owen, took part in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, escaped the slaughter and, hiding on the river bank near the mouth of Abraham's Creek, (which Dr. Peck called Shoemaker's Creek) were eye-witnesses of the diabolical murder of Lieutenant Elijah Shoemaker, by the infamous Tory, Windecker. An interesting fact, when considered in the light of this statement, is recorded in the Minutes of the Orphans' Court at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where it is recorded, under date of July 15, 1794, Elijah Shoemaker, Jr., son of Lieutenant Elijah Shoemaker, came into the court and chose Benjamin Carpenter as his guardian. Corroborating the statement of Dr. Peck there is abundant evidence in the form of family traditions based upon Benjamin Carpenter's statements made to his children, and covering all the essential facts in connection with his participation in the battle of Wyoming. Anning Owen, (Family No. 1313—Perkins-Ferrier-Owen) brother-in-law of Benjamin Carpenter, who, a few years later, became the first preacher of the Methodist Church in the Wyoming Valley, and who first taught the doctrines of Methodism in Northeastern Pennsylvania, always attributed the beginning of the tremendous change wrought in his own life, previous to the birth of his missionary zeal, to the frightful experiences through which he passed in the battle of Wyoming and the horrors that followed it. It appears to be impossible, also, to determine, definitely, the year in which he returned to the Wyoming Valley, following the general exodus of the survivors of the Tory and Indian atrocities. He owned and lived upon Lot No. 36, Third Division, Kingston, in Sept., 1786. He was probably a permanent resident of Kingston Township for a number of years before that date. To the present writer it appears to be hardly conceivable that a stranger would have been appointed one of the Justices of the newly organized Luzerne County Courts in 1787, simply that a man other than one of Connecticut origin might be found for that office. Benjamin Carpenter was thus appointed and commissioned May 11, 1787, by the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, Benjamin Franklin, President, executing the commission. The other Justices, named by the Council and commissioned by President Franklin, were all well-known men and men of the highest standing, in their respective towns. Timothy Pickering, commissioned Justice on the 12th of Oct., 1786, is recognized as having been one of the ablest men in Pennsylvania. Matthias Hollenback, Dr. William Hooker Smith, James Nisbitt, Obadiah Gore, and Nathan Kingsley were all prominent citizens, and it appears to the writer that it is exceedingly probable that Benjamin Carpenter had also been a permanent resident of Kingston Township long enough to establish his reputation as a man qualified to discharge the very trying and intensely exacting duties which devolved, from the very unusual conditions prevailing in the newly born county, upon every one of the Justices so appointed and commissioned.

Lot 36, Third Division, Kingston Township, which Benjamin Carpenter owned and lived upon in Sept., 1786, is situated in what are now the Boroughs of Wyoming and West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa. The southeasterly corner of the Wyoming Cemetery is also the southeastern corner of Lot 36. The Benjamin Carpenter residence, however, was situated on what is now Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, on the site where the Ira Shoemaker house stands. Oct. 14, 1789, he bought from Andrew Wortman and his wife, Jemima, administrator of the estate of Ozias Yale (Family No. 946—Yale) three-fourths of Lot 37, Third Division, Kingston, leaving about one-fourth of Lot No. 37 adjoining the Exeter Township line. June 10, 1791, he bought from his brother, Gilbert Carpenter, two acres of Lot 35, Third Division, together with certain water and mill rights, which are described elsewhere. Jan. 21, 1799, "For the Love, good will and affection which I bear to my loving son, James Carpenter," he conveyed to James Carpenter 100 acres of Lots 36 and 37, extending to the "Greater ledge or Rock, or Carpenter's mountain." Benjamin Carpenter removed from Lot 36 to Lot No. 35 prior to the date of this deed, which describes the premises as lately occupied by Benjamin Carpenter. The home of Benjamin Carpenter from this date until he removed to Delaware Co., Ohio, was on the site of the present residence of Jacob I. Shoemaker on Lot No. 35. This arrangement made the two brothers, Gilbert and Benjamin Carpenter, close neighbors, the home of Gilbert Carpenter having stood on the site where the old house stood, which subsequently became a part of the Jacob I. Shoemaker (1st) Tavern, at the corner of what is now Shoemaker avenue and West Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa.

Benjamin Carpenter operated the mills on this two acre portion of Lot No. 35, which gave the name of Carpenter's Mills to the section where they were located. Aug. 26, 1786, with Anning Owen, the latter described as of Goshnin (Goshen), N. Y., he bought from Nicholas Cox of Kingwood, N. J., about 40 acres of Lot 14, Third Division, Kingston, and, April 17, 1788, sold his interest in the land to Anning Owen. In the deed from Carpenter to Owen, the latter is described as of Warwick, Orange Co., N. Y. Jan. 14, 1791, he bought from Samuel Finch, administrator of the estate of Daniel Finch, of Kingston, who was killed in the battle of Wyoming, Lot No. 29, Third Division, Kingston, and Lot 18, Fourth Division, Kingston. Title to Lot 29 passed to Joseph Hazard from whom it was sold, together with Lot 5, Second Division, by Sheriff William Slocum, to Luke Swetland, Nov. 18, 1796. On the 31st day of May, 1792, he sold to Wilmot Munson, a certain piece of land situated in the Susquehanna River, at low water mark, lying in the eddy of the Island called "Monockonick," and known by the name of the "Hammock," containing, at low water, three acres, and, also, at high water, being covered with the waters of said river.

Judge Benjamin Carpenter was commissioned, May 11, 1787, by the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, a Justice of the Peace for the Second District of the newly erected Luzerne Co., and, on the same day, was also commissioned, by the Council, Justice of the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne Co., to serve for the term of seven years. His commission was signed by President Benjamin Franklin, of the Council. He was appointed, Sept. 12, 1787, by Timothy Pickering, Esq., Register, for the probate of Wills and granting Letters of Administration, in and for the County of Luzerne, administrator of the estate of John Perkins, died, late of Kingston. (Family No. 1313—Perkins.) He was later elected and served as a member of the Assembly of Pennsylvania. He served as Supervisor and Overseer of the Poor, for Kingston, with William Trux in 1797. He presented various petitions, pertaining to roads in Kingston Township and Exeter Township, to the Court of Quarter Sessions in 1788 and, also, in later years. June 3, 1788, he was named with James Sutton, Abel Peirce, Lawrence Myers and John Dorrance to serve on a commission having charge of the roads in Kingston Township. He was appointed, Jan. 27, 1789, administrator of the estate of Captain Dethic Hewitt, with Benjamin Smith and Samuel Finch on his bond in £200. At a meeting of the Proprietors of Kingston Township, held at the house of Philip Myers, Dec. 18, 1790, Benjamin Carpenter and Dr. Oliver Bigelow were appointed a committee to take care of the public lands and to exchange titles with Lawrence Myers, at discretion, for Lots Nos. 4 and 5, Third Division. April 3, 1800, with Oliver Pettebone and William Trux, as a committee of the Proprietors of Kingston, Benjamin Carpenter leased to Stephen Hollister, for the term of 999 years, six acres of land.

Benjamin Carpenter and his wife, Mary (Ferrier) Carpenter, were early members of the Methodist Class, in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., which was organized on Ross Hill in Plymouth Township, by the Rev. Anning Owen. Among the Benjamin Carpenter papers is the following Church Letter:

"To any Church of Christ or Christian brethren, where God in His providence may call Benjamin Carpenter, the bearer, and his family, Greeting:—

Be it known that the bearer, Benjamin Carpenter and his wife, Mary, have been admitted to communion in the Church at Florida, and are acknowledged by us as members in full and regular standing and free from censure: And they, being removed from us, are recommended with their baptised children, according to their standing with us, to the fellowship, watch, and care of any other Church of Christ with which they may join, and are to be considered as dismissed from their special relation to us whenever they are admitted as members in such a Church. Signed in the name and behalf of the Church at Florida, N. Y. (Signed.) Levi Lewis, Pastor of sd. Church. Florida, March 9, 1786."

The home of Benjamin Carpenter, in Kingston, is named as one of the "Preaching places" of the early itinerant Methodist preachers, and one of his sons, Benjamin Carpenter, Jr., is credited with having been one of the pioneer Methodist Local Preachers in Delaware Co., Ohio. A history of that county, published in 1880 claims that the Carpenter family introduced Methodism in that section of the State of Ohio.

The trade of Benjamin Carpenter was that of a carpenter. With his brother, Gilbert, also a carpenter and wheel and mill wright, it is probably true that he built the first grist mill on the site of the Shoemaker mill at West Wyoming, Pa. It is also said that he built, with his brother, the Denison residence, now in Forty Fort, Luzerne Co., Pa., now owned and occupied by Mr. Richard Reilay, a descendant of Benjamin Carpenter and of Colonel Nathan Denison.

On the second day of July, 1806, Benjamin Carpenter, of Kingston, bought from Moses Byxbee, of Berkshire Township, Franklin (now Delaware) Co., Ohio, for $937.50, two lots of land in Section One in the Fourth Township, in the seventeenth Range, of Military Lands, in Franklin Co. One of these was Lot No. 5, in the Western Division of Section One, and contained 232 acres. The other was Lot No. 6, in the East Division of Section One and contained about 237 acres. This deed was signed in the presence of Azor Sturdevant, (formerly of Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa.) and John Hilburn, and was acknowledged before Ezekiel Brown, Esq., J. O. P. for Franklin Co., Ohio. Sept. 1, 1807, Benjamin Carpenter and his son, James, conveyed title for their lands, lying in Lots 34, 35, 36, and 37, in the Third Division, and eight-elevenths of Lot 18, in the Fourth Division, Kingston, Pa., to Isaac Schumacher of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and, at about this latter date, they removed with their families to Franklin, now Delaware Co., Ohio.*

Judge Benjamin Carpenter settled in Berkshire Township, now Delaware Co., Ohio. In a History of Delaware Co., Ohio, published in 1880, it is stated that the names of Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter and those of their sons are written on every page of Berkshire traditions. The will of Judge Benjamin Carpenter was made in Sunbury, Delaware Co., Ohio, Jan. 28, 1820, and was probated in Oct., 1823. The witnesses present at the signing of the will were, Zedediah and Lovisa Collins and David Skeels, Jr. Ezekiel Brown, Esq., and Robert, son of Benjamin Carpenter, were named executors. The will refers to his wife as living, and names the following children: Robert, Charles, Mary, James, Elizabeth, Benjamin, Jr., Salla, Polla, (probably same as Mary). He died Sept. 27, 1823. His wife died March 11, 1836, on her eighty-fourth birthday. The children of Judge Benjamin and Mary (Ferrier) Carpenter were:

1, Catharine, (who died soon after her marriage) married, Dec. 6, 1797, by Lawrence Myers, Esq., of Kingston, Pa., to Jacob Bedford, of Kingston, Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. (Sketch of Jacob Bedford—see Family No. 987).

*At about this time there was a very extensive removal of families from Luzerne Co., Pa., to various counties in the central portion of the State of Ohio, and many of them settled in what is now Delaware County in that State. Dr. Anthony Parcel Gardner was born in Orange Co., N. Y., May 12, 1816, and received his early education in the public schools. He became a school teacher in early manhood and later attended the Deckertown, N. J., Academy. He began the study of medicine with Dr. J. Harvey Horton, of Brookfield, Orange Co., N. Y., remaining with him for two years. After attending a course of lectures at the Fairfield Medical College he entered the office of Dr. S. B. Barlow of Florida, Orange Co., N. Y. In 1841 he was graduated by the Crosby St. Medical College of New York, settled at Carbondale, Pa., and for ten years, with a short intermission during which he lived at Benton, Luzerne Co., Pa., he practiced medicine according to the Allopathic School in that city. At the end of that period, after consulting with Dr. Kirby, of New York, he took up the practice of Homeopathy, and became the pioneer practitioner of that school in Northeastern Pennsylvania. He is said to have been the only Homeopathic practitioner within sixty miles of Carbondale. He built up a large and profitable practice, but, at the end of four years, suffered a nervous breakdown and was compelled to seek a rest. He found this in extensive travel in South American countries. About 1855 he settled in what is now the City of Scranton, Pa., and there resumed his practice. He was the leading spirit in the organization of the Homeopathic Medical Association, Dec. 27, 1855, and of another Medical Society, in 1857, of which he was the President. Dr. R. Their children were: (7), Hattie Emoretta, born Oct. 17, 1846, died Feb. 23, 1864; 8, Annie Elizabeth, born March 28, 1848, died April 12, 1855; 9, Benjamin Ernest, born Feb. 16, 1850; 10, James Edwin, born June 20, 1852, died April 3, 1882, not married, (also known as E. THE FERRIS FAMILY

Samuel Ferris, Sr., was a Minute Man at Stamford, Conn., in the War of the American Revolution and had two sons, who marched on one of the Canadian expeditions, from whom no tidings ever came back. With four sons, James, Samuel, William and John, and one daughter, Sarah, he removed to Blakely, now Lackawanna Co., Pa. His daughter Sarah was married, first, to Ambrose Vincent and had one daughter, Chryss. She was married (2) to David Allen, who made his will Sept. 5, 1817, in Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. It was probated Dec. 19, 1817, and named his wife (daughter of Samuel Ferris and widow of Ambrose Vincent) and Chryss Vincent. It also named his daughters, Anna Allen, Clarissa Allen, Diantha, Electa Gordon, and his sons, Alvah and Jaramiah. His wife, Sarah, and James Ferris were named executors.

Samuel, Jr., son of Samuel Ferris, was born in Connecticut, Oct. 12, 1782, and died, in Blakely Township, June 26, 1860. He was married to Mary Kelley, of Wilkes-Barre Township, July 30, 1805. She was born Oct. 1, 1788, and died Aug. 21, 1857, (Union Cemetery, Blakely, Lackawanna Co., Pa.). Their children were: 1, Isaac, born Dec. 6, 1806, died in 1862, married to Elizabeth Story, settled in Wisconsin; 2, Fannie, born July 4, 1808, died June 2, 1896, married to David Enos; 3, Sylvanus, born May 19, 1813, died Feb. 11, 1877, married (1) to Fannie Norton, (2) to Mrs. Ruth Norton, lived at Wethersfield, Ill.; 4, Charlotte, born March 13, 1817, died July 5, 1879, married to Wheeler Searl, whose children were: (1), William, married to Cynthia Blood; (2), Cordelia, married to Napoleon B. STERLING SAYLOR; FAMILIES NOS. 33—(32)

Sterling, son of Samuel and Hannah (Gardner) Saylor, was born at Plainsville, Pa., March 10, 1832, and was married, in June, 1863, to Fannie E., daughter of John and Sarah (Lazarus) Blanchard. (Blanchard Family later.) He was a tanner and currier, was, for a time, in the employ of his uncle, Philo Bower, at what is now West Wyoming, Pa., and later managed the tannery. He became a member of Lodge 61, F. and A. M., Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 15, 1861. He died Nov. 19, 1864. His widow, Mrs. Fannie E. (Blanchard) Saylor, lives (1918) on the John Blanchard homestead, at Port Blanchard, Jenkins Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. Their children are: 1, Margaret, who

*Samuel Callender, born about 1755, died March 12, 1836, said to have been a native of Virginia, served in the War of the American Revolution (1) as a private in Captain John Hay's company of Colonel George Matthew's Regiment, the Ninth Virginia, from Nov., 1776, to Oct., 1777, (2) as Corporal and Sergeant in Captain William Hudson's Company, of Colonel Daniel Morgan's Rifle Battalion, (3) as Sergeant in Colonel Weiland's Pennsylvania Regiment. In later years he received a pension from the Federal Government. Visiting in Connecticut, with a comrade, in 1780, he was married there, to Martha Slosson. They settled finally in Blakely Township, Luzerne, now Lackawanna Co., Pa. His wife, born in 1755, died March 12, 1836, is buried beside him in Scott Township, Lackawanna Co., Pa., whence their remains were removed a number of years ago from Union Cemetery, Blakely Township. Their children were: 1, Sally, born 1780, married by Elder John Miller, to Isaac London, lived in Jefferson Co., Pa.; 2, Betsey, born Sept. 10, 1781, died 1860, married to W. A. died in childhood; 2, Harry Sterling, married (Family No. 34) to Alice Robinson, lives in Buffalo, Minn.

THE BLANCHARD FAMILY

The Blanchard family had at least three representatives in the military service in the Wyoming Valley in 1778. Andrew and Joseph Blanchard served in Lieutenant Colonel Zebulon Butler's Detachment of the 24th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, and their names appear on the Muster Roll of Oct. 1, 1778. (Bib.-1.) Captain Jeremiah Blanchard was in command of Pittston Fort at the time of the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. In 1790 the family was represented in Luzerne Co., Pa., by Andrew, Laban, James and Captain Jeremiah Blanchard, as heads of families.

I, Timothy Blancher (Blanchard) and Mary Edmunds were married, by Richard Brown, Justice, in Providence, R. I., Nov. 2, 1726. They were doubtless the parents of II, Joseph Blanchard, who was married, at Glocester, Providence Co., R. I., by Richard Steere, Justice, March 30, 1749, to Mary Page, of Glocester. He is described in the marriage record as of Smithfield, R. I. The children of Joseph and Mary (Page) Blanchard were: 1, John, born at Smithfield, R. I., Oct. 22, 1749; 2, Timothy, born at Glocester, R. I., Sept. 2, 1751; 3, Andrew, born at Glocester, R. I., Aug. 16, 1754; 4, Mary, born at Glocester, R. I., Nov. 12, 1756; 5, James, (1) born at Glocester, R. I., Oct. 28, 1758; 6, Joseph, Jr., born at Glocester, R. I., Feb. 18, 1762; 7, Benjamin, twin, born at Glocester, R. I., Feb. 18, 1762; 8, Laban, born at Scituate, R. I., June 29, 1764; 9, Rachel, twin, born at Scituate, R. I., June 29, 1764; 10, Jacob, born at Scituate, R. I., July 16, 1767; 11, James (2), born at Scituate, R. I., Oct. 12, 1769; 12, Phebe, born at Scituate, R. I., May 13, 1771. (Bib.-257.)

Andrew Blanchard came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., about 1777. His name appears as that of a private in Colonel Elliott's Regiment of Rhode Island Militia, in 1776, with £12, 6s, 2d due him for military service. (Bib.-204.) His name also appears on the Muster Roll of Colonel Zebulon Butler's Detachment of the 24th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, at Wyoming, in the summer and fall of 1778, as noted above. In 1833, then a resident of Luzerne Co., Pa., he had received from the Federal Government $1,524.49, pension payments, and was then receiving $96.00 annually on account of service with the Rhode Island troops in the War of the American Revolution. (Bib.-11.) He was married to Mrs. Margaret Hunlock, widow of Jonathan Hunlock, (died 1779) (Family No. 992—Hunlock). In 1790 he had in family, living at home, himself, one male over 16, four males under 16, and four females. Jan. 8, 1807, he appeared in the Orphan's Court, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the right of his "Wife Margaret, who was, before her marriage to Blanchard, the widow of Jonathan Hunlock," on matters pertaining to the estate of Mr. Hunlock. For many years he was a resident of Hunlock's Creek, Luzerne Co., Pa., and probably died between 1833 and 1840. He was apparently one of the first of the Blanchards to return to the Wyoming Valley after the flight, following the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. His name appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for 1780.

Laban Blanchard lived for many years in the vicinity of Forty Fort, Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and owned several lots of land there. He was a member of the second Grand Jury of Luzerne Co., and served in the March Term in 1788 of the Court of Quarter Sessions. In 1790 he had in family, living at home, himself, one male over 16, two males under 16, and seven females. He was married to Mrs. Jane (McDowell) Shoemaker, widow of Lieutenant Elijah Shoemaker (Family No. 1313—Shoemaker-McDowell), who was killed following the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, by Windecker, the Tory. She was a daughter of John McDowell, of Smithfield, Northampton Co., Pa., and a sister of Mrs. Sarah (McDowell) Lee-Jackson, widow of Jesse Lee, and wife of Philip Jackson. (Family No. 1313—Jackson). Laban and Jane Blanchard, Jan. 5, 1790, sold to Philip Jackson all their one-tenth interest in the right of land through Kingston, formerly owned by John McDowell. Benjamin Carpenter, and Mary Lee, (doubtless, Mary, daughter of Jesse and Sarah (McDowell) Lee, later married to Joseph Tuttle), signed this deed as witnesses. They also sold to Isaac Tripp, of Providence Township, their interest in the lands of John McDowell in that township. Laban Blanchard, on the 23d day of Jan., 1790, bought from Margaret and Peleg Comstock, administrators of the estate of John Comstock (Family No. 1021—Comstock), and Mary, wife of Peleg Comstock, Meadow Lot No. 16, Second Division, Kingston. June 26, 1794, he bought from Walter Hamilton, of the City of Hudson, N. Y., a certain House Lot, (probably No. 36) about three acres, situated near the mouth of Abraham's Creek, which Walter Hamilton bought from Joseph Hamilton. He bought from Michael Pace (Family No. 928—Pace), March 12, 1794, Fourth Division, Kingston, Lot No. 40, 208 acres. This lot had been drawn by Timothy Peirce, for Meadow Lot, No. 34, had been sold by him to Elisha Swift and conveyed by Nathaniel Landon, administrator of the Swift estate, Feb. 17, 1789, to Michael Pace. On the 21st day of Nov., 1794, Laban Blanchard sold the Hamilton House Lot to Elijah Shoemaker, Jr., and on the 4th of Jan., 1795, he sold all the other lots referred to above, to his brother-in-law, Daniel Shoemaker, of Smithfield, Northampton Co., Pa., who on the 10th day of May, 1800, conveyed them, together with one-half of Meadow Lot No. 17, in Kingston, "with all my right, etc., unto all my part of what is called Butter Milk Falls Lot, lately occupied by Justus Jones, and situated in Tunkhannock Township," to Elijah Shoemaker. This deed of Daniel Shoemaker was signed in the presence of Thomas Wigton and Jane Blanchard. It appears to the writer very probable that, following the sale of his real estate, Laban Blanchard and his family removed from the Wyoming Valley.

James Blanchard lived in Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1790, and had in family, himself and four females.

Jacob Blanchard built a bridge across Meshoppen Creek prior to Jan., 1809. (Bib.-320.)

Joseph Blanchard, who was married to Mary Page, was, without much doubt, the Joseph Blanchard whose name appears on the Muster Roll of Colonel Butler's Detachment of the 24th Connecticut Militia, and the Andrew Blanchard, whose name also appears on that roll, was doubtless his son. They both evidently returned to the Valley soon after the battle of Wyoming. This Joseph Blanchard was doubtless the same man who accompanied Luke Swetland down the Susquehanna River, Aug. 25, 1778, to Commer's grist mill in Newport Township, near Nanticoke Falls, where they were surprised, seized by six Seneca Indians, and carried away captives to "Appletown," a Seneca village, near Seneca Lake, N. Y. (See Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., pp. 1084-5.)

I, Captain Jeremiah Blanchard, who was, without much doubt, born in Rhode Island, about 1738, was married (1) in the Town of Coventry, R. I., Feb. 16, 1760, to Phebe Bates and at least five of their children were born there. His name appears on the "List of Settlers at Susquehanna" in May, 1772. Mrs. Phebe (Bates) Blanchard was probably a sister of Captain Caleb Bates, also of Coventry, R. I., who came to the Wyoming Valley in 1772. (Family No. 1328—Bates.) The name of Jeremiah Blanchard appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for Pittstown District in 1776, and as Captain Jeremiah Blanchard in 1777-8. At a Town Meeting held at Wilkes-Barre, March 1, 1774, with Zebulon Butler serving as Moderator, and Major Ezekiel Peirce serving as Town Clerk, Jeremiah Blanchard was chosen to serve as a Lister and also as a "Key Keeper." May 27, 1772, he bought from Joseph Sprague, at Wilkes-Barre, for £50, one "Settling Right in the Township of Lackawanna—so-called, and three days later, Barnabas Carey, of that township, conveyed to Jeremiah Blanchard of "Susquehanna Township," "Ye eighth Meadow Lot in Lackawanna Township. (Bib.-1.) Lackawanna Township was, at about this time, formally named Pittstown Township, later changed to Pittston Township. Sept. 24, 1773, Daniel Adams sold to Jeremiah Blanchard, Meadow Lot No. 31, Pittstown. (Bib.-1.) Some of the lots Jeremiah Blanchard drew in Pittstown District were: 1, a Town Lot of one acre "I drew by lottery in the first allotment of lands in Pittstown and whereon Waterman Baldwin's house now stands, (1789). This lot he sold, April 23, 1789, to Waterman Baldwin. (Family No. 988—Baldwin); 2, Lot No. 44 in the Fourth Division, which he sold, Jan. 3, 1804, to his daughter, Waity Brooks, (see later); probably 3, First Division Lot No. 6, 158 acres, situated at what has been known, since the beginning of Canal navigation in the Wyoming Valley, as Port Blanchard, which he sold, Jan. 31, 1792, to his son, Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr.; 4, Lot No. 26, of the "Second Draught," 130 acres, which he sold March 14, 1780, to James Stevens of Litchfield, Conn., Samuel and Abigail Forbes signing the deed as witnesses; probably Lot 41 in Upper Pittston, Part of Lot No. 25, Pittston which William Hopkins sold to Barnabas Carey, the latter sold to Jeremiah Blanchard, Feb. 13, 1777. He also bought from John Phillips, March 4, 1796, two equal undivided rights in lands not drawn, which John Phillips bought, Oct. 9, 1787, from Samuel Slater, one of which originated from David Picksley and the other from Martin Nelson.

In 1775 and 1776 Jeremiah Blanchard was appointed Constable and in May, 1777, he was commissioned Captain of the Fourth Company of the 24th Regiment of Connecticut Militia—the Pittston Company. He was in command of the garrison in Pittston Fort* at the time of the British-Indian invasion of the Valley in 1778. This fort stood near the present corner of North Main and Parsonage streets in Pittston, Pa. (Bib.-1.) It appears highly probable to the writer that Captain Jeremiah Blanchard settled near Pittston Fort, in Upper Pittston, rather than at what is known as Port Blanchard, on Lot 6, then in Lower Pittston, now Jenkins Township. At any rate he lived on Lot No. 41, in Upper Pittston, Aug. 27, 1792, when he sold certain water rights (See Family No. 1001—Tripp-Slocum-Barnum) to James Finn, who had recently bought Lot No. 42. Lot No. 41 extended from the Lackawanna River to what was then called the "Back Road" (1792). In conveying these water rights across Lot No. 41, to James Finn, Jeremiah Blanchard described Lot No. 41, "As the Lot of land I now live on." He died, apparently in Upper Pittston, May 19, (or 26), 1807, aged 69 years, and in all probability was buried in the old Brown Cemetery there. He was the father of twelve children, eleven of whom survived him. It appears that the date of the death of Mrs. Phebe (Bates) Blanchard, his first wife, has not been preserved, nor the maiden name and date of his marriage to his second wife, Abigail ———, who died in Pittston, Sept. 20, 1807.

The children of Jeremiah Blanchard were—(the first five named all born in Coventry, R. I.): 1, Waite (Wate or Watey), born Jan. 23, 1761, living in 1818, Feb. 23, married to David Brooks, and living in New Marlborough, Berkshire Co., Mass., Jan. 30, 1804, when Jeremiah Blanchard conveyed title to Lot No. 44, "Drawn originally in my name," to "My daughter, Wate Brooks, wife of David Brooks." This lot lay in the Fourth Division, Pittston; 2, Diademia, born Jan. 31, 1763, living Dec. 12, 1814, deceased before Feb. 23, 1818, married to Isaac Gilbert, and survived by one daughter, Sindia; 3, Captain Jeremiah, Jr., born Oct. 4, 1764, died May 25, 1837, (see later); 4, Nancy, born June 23, 1766, probably died early; 5, Elizabeth, born April 8, 1768, living Dec. 12, 1814, deceased before Feb. 23, 1818, married to Simon Jordan (Seaman Jourdan, some references), whose children were: (1), Asa; (2), Lydia; (3), Charles; (4), Phebe; (5), Seaman; (6), Elizabeth; (7), Sarah; all named in Orphan's Court proceedings, Feb. 23, 1818; 6, Phebe, born about 1776, died Aug. 5, 1851, (Old Presbyterian Yard, Pittston, Pa.), married to Rufus Clark,† whose children were: (5) (see other children Rufus Clark, by first marriage), Almeda, born Aug. 27, 1801, died March 20, 1849, married to William, born March 6, 1794, died Oct. 13, 1845, son of Abraham and Catharine (King) Goodwin, of Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. (Family No. 1230—Goodwin); (6), Rufus D., with his wife, Harriet, living in Susquehanna Co., Pa., April 26, 1848; (7), Catharine, married to Francis Houghand, of Sanderson, Sussex Co., N. J., April 26, 1848; (8), Caroline, married to E. D. Baker, living in Pittston, April 26, 1848; (9), Almira (Almisle), born July 28, 1814, died July 12, 1859, married to Jacob Walters, born July 4, 1810, died May 28, 1889, (Newton Centre, Pa., Cemetery), living in Newton in 1848. The other children of Jeremiah Blanchard, the last four of whom were doubtless children of his second wife, were: 8, Orange, living Feb. 23, 1818, married before Dec. 12, 1814, to John Lake; 9, Aurelia, born about 1788, died May 12, 1847, married, Feb. 22, 1812, by Elder John Miller, to Benoni Stone, born Coventry, R. I., Aug. 15, 1788, son of William Stone. He was married (2) to Catharine M. Miller, and his home was in Scott Township, now Lackawanna Co., Pa.; 10, Cyrus, born about 1790–5, who, Feb. 29, 1816, sold his interest in his father's estate to Benoni Stone; 11, Ira, born after 1791, a minor and in the United States Army in 1812, when on May 25 of that year he petitioned the Orphan's Court at Wilkes-Barre, for the appointment of a

*Some of the lots in Pittston are described, in deeds conveying title, as "Fort Lots." Other deeds refer to "Parade Lots." Samuel Slater of Sheffield, Berkshire Co., Mass., Oct. 9, 1787, sold to John Phillips, the 30th, or 32nd, Fort Lot and the 24th Fort Lot. May 5, 1791, Alexander McKay, formerly of Pittston, sold to Ishmael Bennet, Meadow Lot No. 7, and one-half undivided right in Pittston, on the right of Isaiah Halstead, also a "Possession of, in the Parade Lot, which I purchased of Thomas Hadsell, that joins the river bank, and on the northwest corner of the Parade."

†Rufus Clark, born May 2, 1763, died Sept. 3, 1846, (Old Presbyterian Yard, Pittston, Pa.), and his second wife, Phebe (Blanchard) Clark, were living in Canaan, Litchfield Co., Conn., Jan. 30, 1804, when Jeremiah Blanchard deeded to his daughter, Phebe Clark, wife of Rufus Clark, Lot No. 64, Third Division, Pittston, 140 acres. They removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and in 1834 were living on part of Lot 41, the Jeremiah Blanchard, Sr., homestead. In 1834 Rufus Clark sold one acre of Lot No. 41 to Zenus Barnum. (Family No. 1001—Barnum.) Mrs. Phebe (Blanchard) Clark was apparently the second wife of Rufus Clark. His will, made March 1, 1838, in Pittston, was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Dec. 22, 1846. It names his wife, Phebe, and their five children and then names four others of his children, to whom he had, previously given their share of his estate. The names of these other children were: 1, James Harvey Clark; 2, John H. Clark; 3, Elizabeth (Clark) Brewster; 4, Selina (Clark) Ensign.

guardian. He was deceased before Dec. 26, 1814, probably died in the army; Ebenezer Slocum was appointed his guardian; 12, Hiram, born after 1791, a minor, May 25, 1812, when Belding Swetland of Kingston, Pa., presented a petition to the Orphan's Court at Wilkes-Barre, praying that a guardian be appointed for him. He went to Carbondale, now Lackawanna Co., Pa., and, in 1832, was the assessor there.

II, (1), Captain Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr., son of Captain Jeremiah and Phebe (Bates) Blanchard, was born in Coventry, R. I., Oct. 4, 1764, and died, in Pittston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., May 25, 1837. He served as Captain in the Luzerne Co., Pa., Militia. He was also a private in Captain Daniel Gore's Company, the Fourth Company of the First Regiment, before he was commissioned a Captain. He was married to Martha Hutchins, born Oct. 22, 1766, died July 20, 1844, probably a daughter of Jonathan Hutchins of Pittston and Kingston Townships. They settled on Lot No. 6, First Division, Pittston Township, now Jenkins Township. This lot lying opposite the upper end of Monockonock Island, at Port Blanchard, Jeremiah Blanchard, Sr., sold to him, Jan. 3, 1792. There is an interesting reference to the "Old Blanchard House," built by Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr., in Vol. 10, page 110, of Johnson's Historical Record, Wilkes-Barre. This house was built by Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr., about 1795. Prior to 1796 he operated and owned a ferry between his homestead and a point, now in the Borough of Wyoming, some little distance below the present new County Bridge, at Wyoming. In April, 1796, Benjamin Carpenter, David Perkins, David Smith, Philip Jackson, Benjamin Smith and Gilbert Carpenter were appointed viewers, on petition of Benjamin Carpenter and others, praying "That a road be laid out from Carpenter's Mills to the Susquehanna River nearly opposite Jeremiah Blanchard's ferry, subject to the swing gate at the head of the same." Captain Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr., was a blacksmith by trade and owned a house and shop at Carbondale, Pa., at the time of his death, as well as other lands in Providence Township, and also a farm at Hopbottom, Pa. He also owned and operated coal mines on his Pittstown property. In his will he referred to five "Fishing and eel were rights," and to some new works on his property, which he ordered completed. His will was made in Pittston, March 16, 1837, and was probated May 29, 1837. He gave to his son, John, one-half of the homestead and instructed him to operate the coal mines. The privilege of operating the ferry he gave to his son, Jeremiah 3d. With his children he also named a granddaughter, Phebe Cooper,* to whom he left nothing because, in all probability, she would receive two or more heritage, otherwise. THE TAYLOR FAMILIES—(Providence Township)

The name of Preserved Taylor appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for Providence District in 1776 and 1778. The name of John Taylor is on the list for 1778. Thomas Taylor is also named on the latter list. Preserved and John Taylor were brothers and perhaps sons of Matthew Taylor, the original owner of Lot No. 11, Providence, which was later owned by Preserved Taylor.

Preserved Taylor owned Lot No. 11, in Providence Township, now Lackawanna Co., Pa., and, in 1790, his family, living at home, consisted of himself, one male under 16 years of age and seven females. His house, in Providence, was one of the regular preaching places of the early itinerant Methodist preachers. (Bib.-85.) He was living in Abington Township, now Lackawanna Co., Pa., April 1, 1824, when he sold 66 acres of Lot No. 11, Providence, to Job Briggs. Four acres of this lot he sold, Jan. 27, 1825, to Martha Tripp, widow of Holden Tripp, and James Dean, administrators of the estate of Holden Tripp. (Family No. 1001—Tripp.) He also sold, April 1, 1824, to Thomas Briggs, 100 acres of this lot, with the privilege of digging and taking coal from a bed on land contracted away to Holden Tripp. In 1830, Preserved Taylor and his wife, Esther, were living in Abington and were under the care of their nephew, Silas Taylor, who, Feb. 22, 1830, for a consideration of $10 and a bond in $1,000.00, conveyed to his brother, Benedict Taylor, title to 53 acres of land, stipulating "That he, the said Benedict Taylor, take from the said Silas Taylor, his uncle, Preserved Taylor, and his wife, Esther, and support them through life."

John Taylor, a brother of Preserved Taylor, of Providence District, later Township, was married to Sarah, daughter of Silas and Elizabeth Benedict.* John Taylor owned, and lived upon, two-thirds of Lot No. 3, Providence. He died before Aug. 12, 1817, when his son, Preserved Taylor, presented a petition to the Orphan's Court at Wilkes-Barre, April 19, 1828, presumably after the death of Sarah, widow of John Taylor, the heirs of John Taylor sold the homestead to Henry Pepper. The children of John and Sarah (Benedict) Taylor were: 1, Daniel, whose wife's name was Lucinda ———; 2, Lydia, married to Daniel Wall; 3, Preserved Z., married to Polly, daughter of Comer and Hannah (Mott) Philips, (Family No. 1001—Phillips). Preserved Z. Taylor lost his life in a fire which destroyed his home, prior to June 6, 1826, when William M. Hart was appointed administrator of his estate, with Jonathan Hall and Lemuel Stone on his bond in $800.00. He left one son, Preserved, Jr., who was married to Mary Ann, daughter of Jonathan and Hannah C. Jones, (born July 1, 1824, died Dec. 1, 1886, Trucksville, Pa., Cemetery.) Preserved Taylor, Jr., was a private in the 61st Regiment, Pa. Vol. Infantry, in the Civil War and was killed in that war. Mrs. Sarah (Benedict) Taylor and her son, Preserved Z. Taylor, were appointed administrators of the estate of John Taylor, March 26, 1817, with Phineas Waller and David Richards on their bond in $2,000.00.

Daniel Taylor, of Providence, perhaps a brother of Preserved and John Taylor, bought part of Lot 4, in Providence, May 18, 1793, from Thomas Pickett, and, Feb. 3, 1797, he bought from Betsey Southworth, of Burlington, Otsego Co., N. II, (8), Benjamin, son of Cornelius Hendrick and Christina (Rosenkrans) Cortright, was baptised at Rochester, Ulster Co., N. Y., Jan. 16, 1726. He apparently had a sister, Cornelia, who was married to Hendrick Hover, two of whose children were: 1, Hendrick Hover, Jr., baptised Aug. 14, 1766, Manuel Hover and Margaret Ennis, sponsors; 2, Catharine, born April 11, 1772, baptised at Walpack, N. J., Aug. 30, 1772, Benjamin and Catharine (Hover) Cortright, sponsors. (This Hendrick Hover was, in all probability, the Hendrick Hover whose name appears so conspicuously in the Tory annals of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and mentioned several times by Mr. Harvey in his history of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in connection with the Wyoming Valley atrocities, committed there early in July, 1778.)

Benjamin Cortright was married to Catharine Hover. According to Riker's History of Harlem the name of his wife was Catharine Cuddeback, but her name appears in the Walpack, N. J., Reformed Church Records (Bib.-240) in connection with the baptism of each of her children, as Catharine Hover. Five of the children of Benjamin and Catharine (Hover) Cortright were: 1, Cornelius, baptised April 15, 1764, Hendrick and Cornelia (Kortrecht) Hover, sponsors; 2, Anna, baptised July 27, 1766, Emanuel and Harriet Hover, sponsors; 3, Hendrick, born May 10, 1771, baptised Sept. 26, 1771; 4, John, baptised May 22, 1774; 5, Catrina, born in May, 1778, baptised Aug. 25, 1781. (Bib.-240.) A certain Benjamin Cortright (Kortrecht) served as Captain of the Ulster County Militia, under the command of Colonel Levi Pawling and Colonel John Contine, in the War of the American Revolution. The date of the death of Benjamin Cortright has not been found by the present writer. Nor has that of his wife. She was living, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1784, and Dr. William Hooker on the 21st day of Dec. 1791, sold to Catharine Cortright and her son, Cornelius, three tracts of land on Jacob's Plains. She was living, April 16, 1800, when John Cortright sold to his mother, Catharine Cortright, for £110,* part of Lot No. 42, formerly owned by James Green and Hawlet Hazen, and conveyed by them to Nathan Draper,* who sold it to John Cortright. This deed was signed in the presence of Henry and Cornelius Cortright.† Of the children of Benjamin and Catharine (Hover) Cortright: 1, Cornelius, was born March 19, 1764, was baptised April 15, 1764, and died May 25, 1848, aged 84 years, 2 months, 6 days. His remains, with those of a number of the members of his family have very recently been removed from Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. (See later); 2, Anna, was baptised July 27, 1766, and was probably married, as Hannah Cortright, to Nathan Draper; 3, Hendrick (Henry), was born May 10, 1771 (Bib.-146), was baptised Sept. 26, 1771, and died March 27, 1864, aged 96 years (so the inscription reads on his headstone in the Methodist Episcopal Cemetery at Orange, Luzerne

Their son, John, born May 14, 1789, was baptised July 6, 1789. (Bib.-240.) Nathan Draper was of "Pollington," Dutchess Co., N. Y., Dec. 23, 1793, when Jabez Hazen, of Windham, Windham Co., Conn., sold to him three pieces of land "My honored father, Hawlet Hazen, late of Susquehanna, deceased, was siezed of in Wilkes-Barre," one half of a meadow lot, 17 acres, one meadow lot, 34 acres, and one-half of a back lot, 120 acres. Jacob Hazen held one-seventh interest, by heirship, and four-sevenths by purchase from other heirs. Feb. 15, 1793, Nathan Draper sold to Matthias Hollenback Lots 8 and 9, which he had bought from Henry Stark.

I, James Armstrong, born April 16, 1741, died Nov. 30, 1815, was married to Amy Dickson, born Aug. 12, 1744, died March 31, 1833. They came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from New York, before 1790 and in that year were residents of Luzerne Co. According to the Federal Census of 1790, James Armstrong had in family, living at home, in that year, three males under 16 years of age and two females. They settled in Pittston Township, and in 1792 he was assessed in Lackawanna Township, which, at that time, included Pittston and Providence. Some of the children of James and Amy (Dickson) Armstrong were: 1, James, born Oct. 9, 1775, not married, died Dec. 27, 1846. His will, made Dec. 21, 1846, and probated Jan. 11, 1847, provided a living for his widowed sister, Mrs. Nancy (Armstrong) Kennedy. It also named his nephew, James A. Kennedy, and his nieces, Mary Kennedy, Sarah Goodwin and Hannah Kennedy. James Armstrong, Jr., is buried in Cooper Cemetery, with his father, mother, and sister, Nancy; 2, Joseph, born July 4, 1777, (see later); 3, David, who, with his wife, Sarah, was living in Cardington, Morrow Co., Ohio, Nov. 12, 1851; 4, Nancy, born March 23, 1783, died April 29, 1847, married to John, Jr., son of John and Maritje (Van Vliet) Kennedy.

*Ezekiel Goble, born about 1741, died Feb. 6, 1811, aged 70 years, who, with his wife, Phebe, born about 1738, died Aug. 17, 1809, is buried near the church in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery, was a Free Holder in Morristown, Morris Co., N. Lot 10 adjoins the Susquehanna River a short distance below Wintermute Island, and Lot 21 adjoined Lot 10 on the other end. Lot 10 is described as the lot Ebenezer Marcy drew for his first 100 acre Lot. Nov. 3, 1797, Ezekiel Goble sold Lot No. 10 to his son, Ezekiel Goble, Jr. The latter was appointed administrator of his father's estate. There were a number of other children but his name, alone, appears in the Orphan's Court proceedings. Two of the children of Ezekiel and Phebe Goble were: 1, Ezekiel, Jr., and 2, Phebe, who was married to Joseph, son of James and Amy (Dickson) Armstrong.

Ezekiel, Jr., son of Ezekiel and Phebe Goble, was born in Morris Co., N. J. He was married to Margaret, daughter of James and Susannah Thompson. (Family No. 14—Thompson.) He bought Lot No. 40, Third Division, Kingston, adjoining the Exeter line, presumably from James Gardner (Family No. 14—Gardner.) The old house which stood on the gravel plain, above the river flats, on this lot, was the scene of the hearty feast described by Mrs. Mary (Jenkins) Reichart, in her "Traditions of Fort Jenkins," published in the American Historical Register. This lot was owned originally by the first John Perkins of Kingston District, Westmoreland. Ezekiel Goble, Jr., sold this lot to Samuel Shoemaker, Oct. 7, 1815, (see sketch of the latter in

Ezekiel Goble also bought several smaller plots of land in Kingston, and, as administrator of his father's estate, he sold part of Lot 21, Pittston, to James Thompson, Jr., Dec. 27, 1813, to whom Ezekiel Goble, Sr., had also sold one-third of this lot, June 12, 1799. Ezekiel Goble, Jr., was of Eaton Township, July 4, 1833, when he sold to Henry Cortright, of Eaton, part of Lots Nos. 11 and 12 in Exeter, 180 acres, "Beginning at the corner of Stephen Harris' land." (Family No. 1021—Harris). He was of Exeter in 1835. Dec. 12, 1845, John N. Conyngham assigned to him title for 173 acres in Exeter Township, bounded by lands of James Sutton, the Susquehanna River, lands of Ezekiel Goble, and lands of Charles Scott. This farm had been sold by the Sheriff upon suit of the Philadelphia Bank vs. Ezekiel Goble. He sold this farm, Nov. 7, 1846, to Solomon Brown, (Family No. 1328—Brown). He apparently removed to Lee Co., Ill., at about this time, six of his children accompanying him and his wife. He was deceased May 17, 1853, when his widow, Mrs. Margaret (Thompson) Goble, then of Lee Co., Ill., sold her interest in her father's estate to her brother, Isaac Thompson. Their daughter, Margaret, born Oct. 8, 1820, died May 30, 1895, (Forest Hill Cemetery, Dunmore, Pa.) was married to Hiram Stark, (Family No. 1016—Stark). ANNIE ELIZABETH (SAYLOR) COOPER; FAMILIES NOS. 36
(32A)

Annie Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel and Julia Ann (Ferris) Saylor, was born March 28, 1848, and died April 12, 1885. She was married, March 31, 1868, to Captain Benjamin G., born Jan. 2, 1834, son of George and Jerusha (Stark) Cooper. He was born on the Cooper homestead in Pittston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. He raised a company, for service in the Civil War, which was mustered into the Federal service as Company G, of the 177th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was commissioned Captain of this company. He enlisted Nov. 2, 1862, and took part in the battles of The Deserted House, Jan. 30, 1863, and in the siege of Suffolk, Va., April 12 to May 4, 1863. The Regiment was attached to the 12th Army Corps at the time General Lee retreated, following the battle of Gettysburg. It was sent to Harper's Ferry, Va., and from there to Harrisburg, Pa., where it was mustered out of the service. At the end of his term of enlistment Captain Cooper was honorably discharged and returned to his home in the Wyoming Valley. For about twenty years he was engaged in the wholesale provision business in Pittston, Pa. During its existence he was a member of Nugent Post, G. A. R., of Pittston, Pa. His residence is on Susquehanna avenue, West Pittston, Pa. The children of Captain Benjamin G. and Annie Elizabeth (Saylor) Cooper are: 1, Harriet S.; 2, Mary P., married (Family No. 37), to J. Archbald, son of John Macdougall. She died in Erie, Pa., March 9, 1917; 3, George A.; 4, Henry S. Only one of these children was married, when this sketch was written.

THE COOPER FAMILY

The Cooper family name appears as follows in the early Wyoming Valley records, seen by the writer: 1, Thomas Cooper, in the List of Settlers in July, 1772, and on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Pittston District in 1776; 2, Haggai Cooper, in the List of Settlers in Sept., 1772; 3, George Cooper, in the List of Settlers in Oct., 1772, the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Pittston District in 1777-8, and, also, in the Tax List for Wilkes-Barre District in 1778; 4, William Cooper,* in the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Wilkes-Barre in 1777-8.

John Adam Shafer was married to Elizabeth, born Oct. 14, 1768, baptised Nov. 20, 1768, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Ennis) Swartwood. (Family No. 1313—Swartwood.) He removed from the Minisink Valley, N. Y., to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., before 1790. In that year he was the owner of real estate in Kingston Township. He owned part of Lot No. 14, Third Division, Kingston Township, and on this lot, in 1813, he still owned an interest in a coal bed. He sold 20 acres of Lot 14, Jan. 15, 1795, to Zachariah Hartsough, and, May 15, 1813, with his wife, Catharine, (second wife) he deeded 15 acres of Lot 14 to Joseph Swetland and James Hughes. (Family No. 3—Swetland.) In 1813 he was an inn-keeper in Hartsough Hollow, now Luzerne Borough, Luzerne Co., Pa., and, in 1814, he was assessed as a shoemaker and as the owner of an oil mill. He was probably the Adam Shafer who lived in Fairmount Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1840, then 75 years of age and enjoying a pension from the Federal Government, for service rendered in the

*The will of a William Cooper was made in Plymouth, Pa., Nov. 30, 1820, and was probated, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 26, 1821. War of the American Revolution. Some of the children of John Adam Shafer were: 1, Sary, born April 24, 1786, baptised April 26, 1786, Thomas and Elizabeth (Ennis) Swartwood, sponsors, (Minisink Church records); 2, Adam, Jr., a carpenter by trade in Kingston Township in 1815, whose wife, Martha, born about 1800, died Nov. 7, 1822, is buried in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery; 3, Susan, married, in Dec., 1808, by David Perkins, Esq., to Malachi (probably son of Daniel) Shoemaker. (Family No. 1313—Shoemaker.) Malachi Shoemaker assessed as a hatter in Kingston, in 1804, also owned extensive tracts of Valley lands in that township. One of his children was drowned in Toby's Creek in July, 1814; 4, John, married, Jan. 3, 1811, to Mary, daughter of William and Margaret Cooper, of Plymouth, Pa. He was a blacksmith and millwright.

I, George Cooper was born in Dutchess Co., N. Y., in 1751 and came to the Wyoming Valley about 1771-2. He is named, with Eleazer Blackman, a proxy for James Stark in the Wilkes-Barre records. His name also appears in the List of Settlers in Dec., 1772. (Bib.-1.) He was a resident of Pittston District in 1777 and 1778, his name appearing on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for those years. He took part in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and a high tribute to his coolness and courage is paid by Dr. Miner in his History of Wyoming, p. 223. He is also named by Dr. George Peck in his History of Wyoming as an eye-witness of the burial of the bones of those who were slain in the battle of July 3, 1778. He is also said to have been one of the men detailed for that service, which was performed in Oct., 1778. After the battle of Wyoming he returned to his old home in Dutchess Co., N. Y. He came again to the Valley in the fall of the same year and again returned to New York. Subsequently he located permanently in Pittston Township. Oct. 1, 1798, George Cooper bought from Thomas Wright, of Wilkes-Barre, Lot No. 5, of the First Division, Pittston Township, about 100 acres. This lot is described in a deed of Jan. 31, 1792, (Jeremiah Blanchard transferring title for Lot No. 6 to Jeremiah Blanchard, Jr.), as then the property of the heirs of Arthur Irwin. Cooper Cemetery, now in Jenkins Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and named for this family, is, in part, situated on Lot No. 5.

George Cooper was married to Phebe, born about 1761, died July 12, 1843, aged 82 years, daughter of Increase and Phebe (Stark) Billings. (Family No. 1016—Stark, Billings family later.) In 1790 they had three sons under 16 years of age and one daughter, living at home. He was a member of the first Grand Jury drawn in Luzerne Co., serving in the September Term of the Court of Quarter Sessions, Wilkes-Barre. He was also one of the original Proprietors of Putnam Township and is said to have drawn and settled upon Lot No. 23. Zebulon Marcy owned half of Lot 23, Jan. 21, 1814, when he sold it to Jasper Billings, who, Oct. 20, 1818, sold three-fourths of Lot 23, to Daniel Billings. An Increase Billings also owned Pine Lot No. 17, abutting on Spring Brook, in Pittston, which he sold, Dec. 14, 1796, to Jonathan Marcy of Pittston. Comfort Shaw was born about 1737 and died Oct. 20, 1819. He is buried in the Dixon Cemetery. He was of Wilkes-Barre Township, Pa., Feb. 27, 1792, when he bought from Amos Wilcox, (Family No. 1016—Wilcox) for £100 "Lot formerly of No. 23, now No. 22, containing 300 acres and situated on Tunkhannock Creek, in Putnam Township." Comfort, Jr., son of Comfort Shaw, was married to Mollie, daughter of Increase, Jr., and Phebe (Stark) Billings. He lived in Luzerne Co., Pa., before 1790. He was probably the Comfort Shaw, who, in Dec., 1790, was a Proprietor in Kingston Township. Nov. 30, 1793, he bought from Jasper Billings, part of Lot No. 1, First Division, Pittston, described by the grantor as "My lawful part, being one of the heirs of Samuel Billings, deceased." Dec. 23, 1793, he bought from Cain and Samuel Billings, their interest in Lot 1, First Division, Pittston, described as bounded, north by the river, east by lands of Samuel Carey (Lot No. 2), south by the highway, and west by the Wilkes-Barre line. Nov. 1, 1794, Comfort Shaw, Jr., (?) bought 57 acres of Lot No. 34 of the Third Division of Kingston, from Reuben Mullison, (Family No. 992—Mullison). This property lay along what is now Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., and was later owned by Solomon Chapin, (Family No. 1216—Chapin). In 1814 he was assessed in Exeter Township. She was married (2), Nov. 29, 1806-7, to Dr. Joseph Davis, of Wilkes-Barre. March 18, 1801, for a "Love and good will" consideration, Increase Billings, Jr., deeded to his son, Ransley Billings, the one-half of Lot No. 1, Pittston, which he had bought, Jan. 17, 1801, from the administrators of the estate of Samuel Billings. In Nov., 1812, this lot was awarded to Jasper Billings, the eldest son of Ransley Billings, and he, on the 11th day of Feb., 1813, sold it to Cornelius Cortright for $1,179.00. His name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists, for 1776, as a resident of Pittstown District. He served as private in Captain Samuel Ransom's Company, of the 24th Regiment of Connecticut Militia. (Jehiel Billings was a member of the same company.) He died, probably, before 1790. The name of his son, Jasper, born 1770, appears on the Pittston Tax List in 1792. This was probably the Samuel Billings who was married to Elizabeth, born Feb. 3, 1820, died Nov. 17, 1852, (Cooper Cemetery), daughter of John and Cornelia (Wilcox) Stark. Cain Billings and George Cooper were appointed administrators of the estate of Samuel Billings, Nov. 11, 1794, with Jesse Gardner and John Clark on their bond in $800.00; 3, Samuel, Jr., who lived in New York, May 12, 1793, when he sold one-quarter of Lot 1, Pittston, to Comfort Shaw, Jr. Jasper, Samuel and Cain Billings, Nov. 30, 1793; Dec. 23, 1793, and May 12, 1798, respectively, sold their interest in their father's estate to Comfort Shaw, Jr.

April 1, 1802, Daniel Brace bought from Jacob Drake, Jr., of Braintrim, Luzerne Co., Pa., 137 acres of land in Exeter Township, near the Kingston-Exeter line. Elijah Brace bought 195 acres, Feb. 28, 1801, from David Skeels, of Northmoreland. This farm adjoined lands of Benjamin Newberry. The children of Elijah, Jr., and Susannah (Burrell) Brace were: 1, Elijah, 3d, born about 1797, died Feb. 14, 1827, (Brace Cemetery), whose son, James, born March 17, 1825, died Dec. 10, 1893, was married (1), March 12, 1846, to Hannah A. VI, (2), Dr. Alfred Brace, son of Elijah and Susannah (Burrell) Brace, was born May 2, 1800, and, in the vicinity of Orange, Luzerne Co., Pa., spent his boyhood on his father's farm. He studied medicine with Dr. John Smith of Wilkes-Barre, formerly of Kingston, and subsequently was graduated by Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. In his earlier years he taught school and was a surveyor. After his graduation by Jefferson he settled first at Falls, now Wyoming Co., Pa., but, in 1830, removed to Orange, Pa. In the summer of 1839 he bought from James Jenkins the plot of ground on Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., adjoining the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal Church. James Jenkins had bought this property from Sheriff Thomas Myers, as the property of Samuel Derrah, March 30, 1839. Dr. Brace sold this land, Dec. 25, 1839, to Thomas F. Atherton, and Andrew Miller, administrators of the estate of John Perkins, and this was for many years the residence of Mrs. Eunice Perkins, widow of John Perkins. (Family No. 1313—Perkins.) Later it became the property of Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Knapp, who erected the present house on the property. It is now owned by Dr. A. B. Smith (1918). March 20, 1840, Dr. Brace bought from the administrators of the John Perkins estate, the one acre of land at what is now the corner of Eighth street and Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., including part of Eighth street. This was the site of the John Perkins Tavern. The plot extended six perches along the road and was seventeen perches deep, and adjoined the James Jenkins storehouse. The site of the old tavern is now occupied by the new building of the First National Bank of Wyoming, Pa. Dr. Brace also bought the land now occupied by the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Wyoming, and, May 20, 1840, sold it to Thomas F. Atherton. About 1840 he took possession of the John Perkins Tavern, and, for a number of years, in connection with his medical practice, he conducted the tavern, as well as a general store in the same building. The part of the old building which he occupied as a store, the writer understands, was cut off when Eighth street was opened. The main portion of the old tavern was sold by the First National Bank to Claud G. Harsch, who moved it to his adjoining property. (The old James Jenkins store), and attached it to his store building.

Dr. Alfred Brace was married, Sept. 21, 1828, to Catharine, born Jan. 21, 1809, died Jan. 22, 1893, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Davenport) Van Loon. (See Family No. 988—Van Loon.) He died at Wyoming, Pa., Dec. 12, 1868, and is buried, with his wife and several of their children, in the Wyoming Cemetery. THE HEZEKIAH SMITH FAMILY

Hezekiah Smith, who was born about 1755, and died, in Exeter Township, Luzerne now Wyoming Co., Pa., Feb. 25, 1819, and his wife, Abigail ———, born about 1758, died April 30, 1814, are buried in Roberts Cemetery, near Falls, Pa. His second wife was Lucy ———, who survived him. Hezekiah Smith lived in Exeter previous to 1799, and, in that year, was assessed as an inn keeper, or tavern keeper. In 1801 he was assessed as the owner of an interest in a ferry. Paul Keeler of Exeter was also assessed, in that year, as the owner of such an interest. It appears that about 1805–6 Paul Keeler removed from the township and Hezekiah Smith bought his lands and his interest in the ferry, which, as late as 1814, was in his possession. The will of Hezekiah Smith, made Feb. 6, 1819, and probated, at Wilkes-Barre, April 5, 1819, names his wife, Lucy, and the following children: 1, James; 2, Nancy, married

JACOB SAYLOR; FAMILIES NOS. 41—(3)

Jacob, born Feb. 20, 1801, died June 19, 1877, son of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, was born in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and was baptised, March 22, 1801, by the Rev. Thomas Pomp, Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher, sponsors. He was married, Dec. 31, 1826, by the Rev. Thomas Pomp, to Maria A. Walter, who was born Feb. 1, 1804, and died March 29, 1899.

Jacob Saylor and his wife settled on a farm near Easton, Pa., where they remained throughout their lives. He was a prosperous farmer. In his will he provided that his wife should have the use of all his estate and that after her death it should be equally divided between his and her heirs. In her will, made Feb. 24, 1896, she bequeathed $200 to the Arndt and Messenger Congregation, at Arndt's Mills, specifying that "The interest shall be used for repairing and cleaning the graves of Jacob Saylor, Mary Saylor, and their child's grave in said congregation burying ground." Their only child, Samuel, was born Jan. 9, 1831, and died March 26, 1831. They are all buried in Arndt's Cemetery, near Easton, Pa.

BENJAMIN SAYLOR; FAMILIES NOS. 42, 42A—(3)

Benjamin, son of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, was born in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Jan. 9, 1807, and died, at Orange, Pa., Oct. 21, 1882. He was, in early life, a carpenter and was, for a time, Post Master at Plainsville, Pa. For a number of years he kept a store at Orange, familiarly known as Pincherville, Franklin Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. For some time he had as a partner, in this enterprise, his brother-in-law, Abel C. Thompson. He owned valuable real estate in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and was well and favorably known in the business circles of his time. He was one of the contributors to the building fund of the Brick Church at Plainsville, Pa., and also served as a member of the building committee. He was married (1) to Fanny, born July 1, 1811, died Jan. 24, 1841, daughter of John and Mary (Gardner) Thompson. (Family No. 14—Gardner—Thompson.) He was married (2) to Sarah Santee, who was married (2) to a Mr. Metcalf. His first wife, Mrs. Fanny (Thompson) Saylor, was buried in Cooper Cemetery, and later removed to Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He was buried in the Methodist Episcopal Cemetery at Orange, Pa., where his tombstone is still standing. The inscription on the latter reads, died Oct. 21, 1882, aged 75 years, 9 months, 12 days. The inscription in Hollenback Cemetery announces the date of his birth as Oct. 21, 1806, according to the writer's notes.

CATHARINE (SAYLOR) BOWER; FAMILIES NOS. 43—(3)

Catharine, daughter of Peter and Margaret (Schumacher) Seiler, was born May 7, 1808, and died May 18, 1851. She grew to womanhood at Plainsville, Luzerne Co., Pa., and was married there, June 21, 1832, to Philo, born Sept. 18, 1803, died July 3, 1875, son of Beriah and Sarah Elizabeth (Sabin) Bower.

Philo Bower was born in Connecticut and removed with his parents to Western New York, where he grew to manhood. According to an inscription in an old school book, Adams' Arithmetic, published in 1817, "bought at Batavia, N. Y., Dec. 25, 1823," he was attending school at Perry, N. Y., at that time. He was at Bloomsburg, Columbia Co., Pa., in June, 1829, in the employ of Contractor McKelvey, engaged as foreman on the construction of the North Branch Canal. In April, 1831, his Post Office address was Perry, Genesee Co., N. Y. It appears probable that he came to the Wyoming Valley and was perhaps engaged on the construction of the same canal near Wilkes-Barre. He is described in some of his papers as a mechanic. After his marriage, in 1832, to Catharine Saylor, he first established his home in Pittston Township, where they were living, Sept. 25, 1832, when he bought from Ansel and Sally Gay, of Kingston Township, for $1,000.00, about two acres of Lot 34, Third Division, Kingston. Some of the land marks cited in the deed for this property are "The Bridge," "The road and a post and rail fence," "The line of 34," "Lands of William Goodwin," "John Breese lands," "The bank of a race fourteen feet distant from the line of the lot conveyed," "The west bank of the creek," "Lands of Aaron Van Camp or Christian Miller." With the title to the land there was also conveyed the privilege of erecting dams as high as might be necessary, to a corner in the line of lands of Christian Miller or Aaron Van Camp. This property (see sketch of Abraham's Creek Industries—Family No. 946), had been bought by Ansel Gay from Josiah B. Marshall and Daniel Gore, Feb. 3, 1829, and, in 1827, Josiah B. Marshall and Daniel Gore were assessed as owning a house and lot and a grist mill, and they were also assessed as tanners and curriers. In 1830 Ansel Gay owned a house, a barn, a tannery and yard. The tannery business established here, by Marshall and Gore, about 1827, under the management of Philo Bower became an important industry in upper Kingston. He became an expert tanner and currier and drew upon a large section of the surrounding country for his supplies of raw material. In connection with the tannery he also operated a soap factory. Alanson Bower, a brother of Philo Bower, was associated with the latter for a short time. In 1836-40 the tannery was operated by Bower and Swetland, William Swetland having acquired an interest in it. In 1841 it appears that Philo Bower again became the sole owner of the property. The very serious flood in Abraham's Creek, about 1850, (similar floods in all the creeks in Luzerne Co. at the same time) almost annihilated the tannery property. The vats were all torn out and the leather undergoing the tanning processes was scattered over the plains. Philo Bower immediately rebuilt the tannery and installed improved methods. In common with many others Philo Bower was caught in the financial storm of 1857 and, about 1860, he was compelled to place his property in the hands of his creditors. Sterling Saylor, his nephew, managed it for a short time, Mr. Bower remaining in charge of the manufacturing end of the business. In the spring of 1863 he rented a farm at Jennings, Wyoming Co., Pa., and removed there with his family. After the death of his first wife, Mrs. Catharine (Saylor) Bower, May 18, 1851, he was married (2) to Mrs. Christian (Kutz) Carmer, widow of George Carmer, and daughter of Jacob, born Aug. 15, 1797, died May 11, 1855, and Rosanna Kutz, born Oct. 4, 1804, died Oct. 17, 1878, (Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre). A reference to Jacob Kutz may be found in the sketch of Family No. 946. George and Christianna (Kutz) Carmer had a daughter, Lucy, born Jan. 12, 1845, died March 12, 1876.

Philo Bower was, for many years, a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He and his wife were identified with that church at Plainsville, Pa., and when the Brick Church was built there he was one of the contributors to the building fund. About 1832-3 they became members of the New Troy Class, now Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a trustee in April, 1842, when the New Troy Class first received title to lands to be used for church purposes. (See sketch of history of Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church, in Family No. 987). He was evidently a steward, Nov. 27, 1848, when M. F. Myers, the Recording Steward at Kingston, Pa., notified him by letter that the New Troy Apportionment for that year was $60. In early manhood Philo Bower was a Whig and later was a Republican. About 1865 he removed to Tunkhannock, Pa., where he died July 3, 1875. The children of Philo and Catharine (Saylor) Bower were: 1, Benjamin Saylor, born March 19, 1833, died April 1, 1834, (Cooper Cemetery); 2, Beriah Sabin, born Nov. 30, 1835, died Jan. 25, 1881; 3, Margaret Ann, born Feb. 14, 1839, living in 1918; 4, Jacob Clark, born Jan. 4, 1842, died Jan. 20, 1860; 5, Charles Clayton, born Nov. 12, 1847, died March 8, 1848. The children of Philo and Christianna (Kutz) Carmer-Bower were: 6, Elizabeth, born June 19, 1855, not married, lives with her brother, George Scranton Bower, in Tunkhannock, Pa.; 7, George Scranton, born Sept. 6, 1858, not married, lives in Tunkhannock, Pa. Mrs. Catharine (Saylor) Bower is buried in the Wyoming, Pa., Cemetery. Mrs. Christianna (Kutz) Carmer-Bower, who was born in 1822 and died in 1901 is buried in Sunnyside Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa. Phebe Bower, as she was known to a large circle of friends, was an adopted daughter of Philo and Catharine (Saylor) Bower. She was a daughter of Thomas and Maria (Good) McCracken, was born Oct. 30, 1830, and died March 6, 1903. She came into the Bower family when about eight years of age, immediately following the death of her mother, and was known and highly esteemed throughout her life as a member of the Bower family.

THE BOWER FAMILY

Beriah Bower, or Bowers, removed from Connecticut to Western New York and probably settled first at or near Perry, Genesee Co. He was living in Portland, Chautauqua Co., and owned a farm there in 1829. In Feb., 1836, he was living in Creek Township, Erie Co., Pa., and in Feb., 1837, at North East, Pa. I, The will of Peter Shafer, of Oxford, Sussex, now Warren, Co., N. J., was made Aug. 6, 1795, and was probated Nov. 5, 1795. It is filed at Trenton, N. J. The witnesses, present when the will was signed, were John and Sarah Axford and Alma Quick. Catharine Shafer, wife of the testator; Peter Shafer, his son, and John Axford were named executors. The children named in this will were: 1, Peter, Jr.; 2, John; 3, Margaret, (probably) married to Jacob Sharps, (Family No. 988—Sharps); 4, Eleanor; 5, Catharine.

II, (2), John Shafer, who was, without much doubt, the second son of Peter and Catharine Shafer, was born about 1765, and died June 8, 1819. He was married to Catharine ———, born March 23, 1773, died May 10, 1845, who on the 10th day of Jan., 1822, was married (2), as his second wife, to Captain Samuel Breese of New Troy, Luzerne Co., Pa., (Family No. 989—Breese). John Shafer lived on Public Lot No. 5, in Kingston Township, one-half of which Fisher Gay, Erastus Hill and Alvah C. Phillips, Trustees of the Proprietors of Kingston, sold to Charles H. Wells, of Dundaff, Pa., Oct. 14, 1829. The portion of this Public Lot, occupied by John Shafer, extended from the "Back Road" to the middle line of the township, comprising the northerly half of the lot. In the deed conveying title from the Trustees to Mr. Wells, the land is described as lately in the possession of Alexander C. Shaver, one of the heirs of John Shaver, deceased. The other half of Public Lot No. 5, Benjamin Carpenter, Oliver Pettebone and William Trucks, committee of the Proprietors of Kingston, leased for a term of 999 years to Daniel Hoyt, April 3, 1800, for an annual rental of $40.20 for six years, and, at the end of the seventh year, $710.20, (without fraud or delay). The will of John Shafer was made in Kingston, April 22, 1819. Joseph G. Somers and Philip Myers were witnesses and Catharine Shafer, wife of John Shafer; Christopher Shafer, his son, and John Sharps were named executors. The children named in the will were: 1, Christopher, who was married to Catharine, daughter of William Honeywell of Kingston Township; 2, John; 3, Peter; 4, Alexander. John Shafer is buried, on the older Sharps plot, beside Jacob Sharps, his brother-in-law, in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery. His widow, then also the widow of Captain Samuel Breese, made her will May 10, 1845, and it was probated May 15, 1845, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Her second husband, Captain Samuel Breese, had bequeathed to her, her support and the use of the farm, including the house, which was long known as the Captain Samuel Breese house, and which stood on a part of the tract of land now owned by the James M. Schooley heirs, at Wyoming, Pa. She was also given the use of the "Spring Lot." This lot was named for the famous spring, still active, which, from the earliest settlement, had been a source of supply of clear cool water for the neighborhood and for the passers-by. She bought 15 acres of Lot 35, Third Division, Kingston, from William Goodwin and, in her will, bequeathed this land to Mrs. Kitsey Shaver, wife of her son, Alexander C. Shaver. She also referred, in her will, to the heirs of her son, John Shafer, deceased. Her personal property she divided between her three granddaughters, 1, Sarah, daughter of Peter G. Shafer;* 2, Catharine, daughter of Alexander C. Shafer; 3, Catharine, daughter of John Shafer, deceased.

III, (2), John, Jr., son of John and Catharine Shafer, died, of cholera, at St. Louis, Mo., May 26–28, 1833. He was married to Eliza, daughter of Henry and Mary (Labar)

*A Peter Shafer, of Kingston, was married to Latura or Keturah, daughter of George, (born about 1758, died May 26, 1814, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), and Elizabeth Nace, of Kingston Township. The 80 acre farm of John Shafer, Jr., adjoined lands of Philip Myers, John Gore, Abiel Abbott and James Hughes in Kingston Township.

III, (4), Alexander Clark, son of John and Catharine Shafer, of Kingston Township, was born about 1803. He became an expert mechanic and was especially proficient as a wheel wright and mill wright. His name appears frequently on the old Shoemaker account books in connection with repairs and improvements to the mills and mill machinery. About 1824 he bought from his brother, Christopher Shafer, the interest in the property of their father, John Shafer, Sr., which the other heirs had assigned to Christopher Shafer about 1822. In 1839-40 he was assessed as an inn-keeper in Kingston. May 30, 1846, he bought from Chester Shales, of Kingston, his one-half interest in the old-established fulling-mill, near the stone bridge on Abraham's Creek. (See Abraham's Creek Industries in Family No. 946.) Until May 20, 1852, he was the owner of a one-half interest in the property, and a few persons (1918) still remember the old mill when he operated it. The Breese estate and later James Jenkins shared the ownership with him. At the time Mr. Shaver had an interest in the old mill, a foundry, a carding-machine and a fulling mill were all located in the old building. He sold his interest to James Jenkins, May 20, 1852. About 1848 Alexander Clark Shaver and his family removed to the vicinity of Crystal Lake, McHenry Co., Ill. At about this time a very considerable number of Wyoming Valley families removed to that section of the state of Illinois, settling in McHenry, Lee, and other counties of that state. The Shaver family settled on a farm near Crystal Lake. He died there Oct. 17, 1855, aged 52 years. Hannah Osterhout and Gideon Osterhout were appointed administrators of his estate, with Isaac Osterhout and Thomas Dyer on their bond in $2,000.00. Jeremiah Osterhout settled in the vicinity of what is now LaGrange, Wyoming Co., Pa., and Gideon Osterhout was living on Bowman's Creek in 1795.

Jeremiah Osterhout, a soldier in the War of the American Revolution, was born about 1743-4, and died May 30, 1813. He was married to Juna Reno, who was born in 1747 and died Feb. 13, 1805. She apparently died while on a visit, in the winter, at South Eaton, on the other side of the river from her home. She is buried in the South Eaton, Wyoming Co., Cemetery. Jeremiah Osterhout is buried in Jackson Cemetery, LaGrange, Wyoming Co., Pa. Their children were: 1, Isaac, born about 1768, died June 27, 1824, a merchant at Tunkhannock, Pa., married to Susannah, born March 22, 1782, died Nov. 2, 1852, daughter of Dr. William Hooker and Margery (Kellogg) Smith-Smith. (Family No. 43—Smith.) Two of their children were: (1), Mary Ann, married to Job Olive; (2), Isaac Smith Osterhout, merchant and philanthropist. Mrs. Susannah (Smith) Osterhout was married (2) to Fisher Gay, (see above). Isaac Osterhout is buried in Jackson Cemetery, LaGrange, Pa.; 2, John, born Aug. 25, 1771, died April 19, 1845, (Roberts Cemetery, near Falls, Pa.), married to Rachel Joslyn,

THE DOCTOR WILLIAM HOOKER SMITH FAMILY

William Hooker Smith, "Practitioner in Physick," was born in April, 1724, and died in Putnam Township, Luzerne, now Wyoming Co., Pa., July 17, 1815. He was one of the earliest physicians of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and in 1776 lived in Kingstown District. In 1777-8, he lived in Wilkes-Barre District. His son, John, was also a resident of Kingstown in 1776 and of Wilkes-Barre, in 1777-8. Dr. William Hooker Smith was also a very extensive owner of real estate, holding three shares or rights in Newport Township, a full right in Braintrim, and lands in Kingston, Pittston, Wilkes-Barre, and Putnam. He served for some time as a surgeon in the Army of the United States, during the War of the Revolution, and Congress, on the 7th day of July, 1838, passed a special bill, ordering that as a recognition of his services as an acting Surgeon, in the Army of the United States, during the War of the Revolution, five years full pay, as Captain, should be allowed to his representatives. Upon the erection of Luzerne Co., Pa., Dr. Smith was commissioned a Justice of the Peace, for the First District of the County, and was appointed one of the Justices of the County Court, May 11, 1787.

About 1789 or 1790, Dr. Smith became one of the pioneers of the iron industry in the Wyoming Valley, his purchase of the land, in Pittston Township, upon which his forge stood, having been made in 1790, some three years later than the date of the creditors' bond under which the old Newport Forge was built about 1787-1788. These Pittston lands were deeded to Isaac Finch, (Family No. 14—Finch), May 31, 1777, by Abraham Harding, Daniel Case and Isaiah Halstead, a committee appointed by the Proprietors of Pittston, to sign a deed to Isaac Finch, for a consideration of £130, current lawful money of Connecticut, paid by Isaac Finch of Orange Co., N. Y., "All our right, title, interest, claim and demand to all and singular the Mill-seat on Lackawanna River, beginning at a marked pine on the south side of the Lackawanna River, thence running to a stake and stones near Samuel Miller's house, (see Family No. 1009—Phillips—Miller); thence westerly to a pine stake by the highway; thence northerly the east side of the highway to the Lackawanna River; thence running across the said river; thence on a straight line till it comes to Lot No. 53; thence eastwardly along the line across the Lackawanna River to the mouth of Spring Brook; thence running on the bank of said river to the first mentioned bounds." Caleb Bates and Jemime Halstead were witnesses present, and the deed was acknowledged before Caleb Bates, Justice of the Peace, July 14, 1777. Feb. 12, 1790, Isaac Finch of Lackawanna, for £15, sold to Dr. William Hooker Smith, "All and singular my right which I have unto a certain lands and premises lying on the easterly side, or however, it may be situated, lying opposite the place where Solomon Strong had a grist mill, on the Lackawanna River, including an Island in the premises." John Davidson and Jesse Gardner were witnesses present. Feb. 16, 1790, Samuel Finch, of Kingston, for himself and his heirs, for the heirs of Solomon Finch, deceased, of Kingston, (who named Samuel Finch executor of his will), and for the heirs of Isaac Finch, deceased, conveyed to Dr. Smith a certain mill seat, with appurtenances, also an Island, opposite the granted premises, which Island, containing 6 acres, is also intended to be conveyed, lying on the east side of the Lackawanna River—adjoining lands of Samuel Miller, and lying on the southerly side of the Lackawanna River, and opposite the place where Solomon Strong had a grist mill and dam, which crossed the Lackawanna River and joined in and upon the bargained premises. What is intended to be granted, the deed recites, is the Island and all the premises lying on the southerly side of the Lackawanna River, which was granted to Isaac Finch, deceased, by the Proprietors of Pittston, with the whole privilege of the mill seat, or seats, etc. March 8, 1792, Isaac Finch, of Pittston, administrator of the estate of Isaac Finch, late of Pittston, empowered by the Orphan's Court, Sept. 10, 1790, to sell lands of Isaac Finch, sold to William Hooker Smith, for £14, 10s, one-half of a mill lot, so called—20 acres, on the Lackawanna River, directly opposite to the FORGE, which belongs to the said William Hooker Smith, and others, also one-half of No. 53, adjoining above lands, containing about 50 acres. Nathaniel Thayer and Lord Butler witnesses present. March 29, 1793, Isaac Finch, administrator of the estate of Isaac Finch, of Pittston, deceased, sold to Moses Finch, for £50, 10s, "All that part of a mill seat which lies on the south side of the Lackawanna River, deeded by the committee of Pittston, to Isaac Finch, deceased, together with an Island in the Lackawanna River, and opposite to aforesaid lands, situated in the Township of Lackawanna." April 8, 1793, Moses Finch of Minisink, Orange Co., N. Y., executed a power of attorney to Daniel David, of Lackawanna, "To demand and receive possession of a certain tract of land in Lackawanna Township," (referring to deed from Isaac Finch, administrator, to Moses Finch,) "now possessed by William Hooker Smith," etc. (Family No. 14—Finch.)

It appears that Jonathan Newman, a blacksmith, who was of Northumberland Co., Pa., May 30, 1786, when he bought from Barnabas Carey, of Pittston, 38 acres of Lot No. 58, in Pittston, became an early partner of Dr. William Hooker Smith in the ownership and operation of what is now known, historically, as "The Old Forge," and that he may have been the first man to operate it. At any rate he bought from Dr. Smith a one-half interest in the property and, May 30, 1789, he sold to Dr. Smith "The privilege to dig and raise on the farm I now live on in Pittston, which I bought from Caleb Bates, at all times, as he shall think proper, any iron ore or minerals which may contain iron, lying on my farm, with liberty of roads," etc. Jonathan Newman bought four acres of Lot No. 38, from Ebenezer Marcy, Sept. 15, 1787, seven acres of No. 38, and 100 acres of Lot 33 (The Captain Caleb Bates homestead farm) from Caleb Bates, June 3, 1789, May 11, 1795, with his wife, Ann, he sold all his lands, 190 acres, to Thomas Wright. July 11, 1791, Jonathan Newman sold to James Sutton and William Smith, son-in-law and son, respectively, of Dr. Smith, "One-half of a certain mill seat, or convenience, on Lackawanna Stream—so called, opposite the place where Solomon Strong formerly had a grist mill, being on the south side of the creek, which I bought of W. H. Smith, Esq.—the privilege of or for iron works, for a furnace or forge, there being at this time (1791) a forge on the premises. William Smith and James Sutton retained their one-half interest in the forge until Dec. 17, 1794, when they sold to Thomas Wright, "One-half of a certain forge, mill seat or convenience on the waters of Lackawanna Creek at Pittston, situated opposite the place where Solomon Strong's grist mill was formerly built, said forge being on the south side of said creek; that is to say, the privilege of iron works, or for a forge or furnace, which said half of the forge contains two fires, with all and singular the privileges, improvements, and tackling which James Sutton and William Smith purchased from Jonathan Newman, July 11, 1791, who purchased of William Hooker Smith, also a 100 acre lot in Pittston, adjoining lands of Samuel Miller." Feb. 14, 1801, Dr. Smith bought from David Goss (Family No. 1041—Goss) one-half of one hundred acre Lot No. 53, lying on the north side of the Lackawanna River, opposite "Smith's and Thomas Wright's Forge." Dr. William Hooker Smith described himself as of "Smith's Forge" in Pittston, when he sold one-half of Lot No. 34, Braintrim, to his son, William Smith, April 10, 1795. William Smith was, at that time, a resident of Braintrim.

Dr. Smith bought from a number of land owners in Providence, Pittston, Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth Townships, the right to dig and carry away various mineral deposits on their farms. April 22, 1799, Luther Jones, of Wilkes-Barre, for a consideration of 10 shillings, executed a "Quit claim to said Smith, a privilege to come unto my lands which I now own (own?), at a certain place, up a small brook, a few rods from my still house easterly, and there to dig and search after stone coal or any other minerals," etc. "said Smith is to have an equal privilege with Jones, and if Smith should discover any minerals which should be valuable, he, Jones, may join in partnership with said Smith, at any time he shall think proper." Elias Jones and Reuben Jones were witnesses. Similar deeds were executed to Dr. William Hooker Smith, by Martin Smith, Jonathan Stark, Jonathan Newman, Joseph Washburn and others. Jan. 30, 1793, he sold to Deborah Sutton, probably his granddaughter, and James Sutton, Jr., a "Certain Quit Claim Deed I have from Ephraim Taylor, dated the 30th of March, in the 2nd year of the jurisdiction of the Continental Congress, to one pitch of land out of a Proprietor's right in the Susquehanna Company, in any town in the Susquehanna Purchase where it may be entered." Dr. William Hooker Smith removed to Putnam Township and was living there, Aug. 29, 1811, when he sold to James and Sarah Sutton his rights to raise and carry away iron from the farm of Jonathan Stark, also from lands of Joseph Washburne, Providence, and Joseph Hazard, Pittston.

It appears that Nathan Smith, son of Dr. William Hooker Smith, also lived in the vicinity of LaGrange, Wyoming Co., Pa., whither Dr. Smith and his wife removed from the Wyoming Valley, very late in his life, but before Aug. 29, 1811. He died there July 17, 1815, and is buried in the Jackson Cemetery, LaGrange. His tombstone, made of a very hard native stone, bears the inscription: "Dr. William H. Smith died July 17, 1815, aged 91 years, 3 months. He Never Courted the Rich Nor Oppressed the Poor." The writer has not been able to ascertain the name of the first wife of Dr. Smith. His second wife, to whom he was married about 1780, was Mrs. Margery (Kellogg) Smith, widow of William Smith, of Hanover Township. (See William Smith later.) Probably their only child was Susannah, born March 22, 1782, died Nov. 2, 1852, married (1) to Isaac, son of Jeremiah and Juna (Reno) Osterhout, married (2) to Fisher, son of Ebenezer and Elizabeth (Fairbanks) Gay. (See above.) The will of Dr. William Hooker Smith was made March 19, 1810, was signed in the presence of John McCord and Isaac Slocum of Tunkhannock, Pa., and was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 17, 1815. It is, in some ways, a remarkable document and is very interesting as an expression, in words, of many characteristics of this unusual man. The will describes Dr. Smith, as many deeds executed by him did also, as a Practitioner in Physick. It names, 1, his son, John; 2, his daughter, Sarah Sutton; 3, his daughter, Elizabeth Stillwell; 4, his granddaughter, Snowden; 5, the children of John Barker, of Secorsdale, Westchester Co., N. Y.; 6, his wife, Margery Smith; 7, his son, James; 8, his son, William; 8, Ester Gayler, wife of Dr. Gayler, of Huntington, (Valley) Pa.; 9, Olive Hurlbut, wife of Cornel Nathaniel Hurlbut; 10, his daughter, Susannah Osterhout, and her son, Isaac Smith Osterhout; 11, his brother, Thomas Smith. John Smith and Newton Smith were named executors. Some of the children of Dr. William Hooker Smith were:

1, John, who with his father, was a resident of Kingston District in 1776, and of Wilkes-Barre District in 1777-8. He was of New York State, Oct. 22, 1787, when he sold "To my honored father, William H. Smith," for £100, House Lot No. 24, in Kingston, which he had bought from Lebbeus Tubbs; House Lot No. 23, in Kingston, which he had bought from John Comstock, and 20 acres on Jacob's Plains, in Wilkes-Barre, which he had bought from James Abbott. Thomas Smith and William Smith signed this deed as witnesses.

2, James, who was probably the James Smith who served in Captain Samuel Ransom's Company of the 24th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, and later in Captain Simon Spalding's Company, in the War of the American Revolution. He owned a full right of land in Newport Township, including Lot No. 5, and the accompanying undivided lands, which he sold to his father Aug. 28, 1787. He removed to Braintrim, now Wyoming Co., Pa., and was living there, on Lots Nos. 6 and 7, when William Hooker Smith deeded these two lots to "My son, James Smith." On the same day he sold these lots to Ebenezer Skinner. He also owned Lot 33, in Braintrim, which he sold, Sept. 5, 1792, to "My honored father, William Hooker Smith." This lot, No. 33, is described, in the deed, as lying in the Town of Braintrim, nearly opposite the house and land of James Smith, on the south side of the Susquehanna River. It contained 300 acres.

3, Sarah, born Jan. 18, 1747, died Aug. 20, 1834, married, June 3, 1769, to James Sutton, born March 7, 1744, died July 19, 1824. James Sutton, who was probably a native of Westchester Co., N. Y., was a resident of Exeter District in 1777, his name appearing on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for that year and for 1778. April 30, 1774, he bought from Enoch Judd, Back Lot No. 19, of the Third Division of Wilkes-Barre, which Enoch Judd bought from Benjamin Bailey, who had bought it from Jonathan Weeks, to whom it had been allotted as part of his settling right. He settled on Lot No. 13, in Exeter Township, his lot adjoining the lot of James Hadsell, up the river. There he built and operated the first grist mill in Exeter Township. It was destroyed by the British-Tory-Indian invaders of June-July, 1778. He served as Corporal in Captain John Franklin's Company, in the service of the United States, at the Post of Wyoming in April-May, 1780, and also as a private in Captain John Franklin's Company, the First Company of the Fifth Regiment, of Connecticut Militia in 1781-2. According to the statement of his daughter, Mrs. Deborah (Sutton) Bedford, published in Dr. Peck's History of Wyoming, he rented his mill property in Exeter in the spring of 1778 and purchased a mill seat in what was later known as Hartsough Hollow, one mile from Forty Fort, in Kingston Township. She referred, in her statement, to a house he had recently built in Kingston, but made no reference to the building of a grist mill in that township, previous to the battle of Wyoming. The mill seat he bought in Kingston was, apparently, situated on Lot No. 14, Third Division, and on Toby's Creek. One-half of Lot 14 was bought by Anning Owen and Benjamin Carpenter, Aug. 26, 1786, from Nicholas Cox of Kingwood, Hunterdon Co., N. J. The other half of Lot No. 14 was bought, Aug. 6, 1793, from Esther Follett, of Coventry, Tolland Co., Conn., by Belding Swetland, of Sharon, Conn., who, on the 4th day of June, 1794, sold it to Anning Owen, 37 acres of land being conveyed. Anning Owen, June 23, 1794, sold to Adam Shafer (John Adam Shafer Family No. 36), 38 acres of Lot No. 14, reserving 6 acres sold to James Sutton as a mill seat. James Sutton erected mills on Lot No. 14, which were probably the first mills erected on Toby's Creek, but the present writer is unable to determine the date of their erection. Feb. 22, 1791, he sold to Zachariah Hartsouff, six acres of Lot 14, Third Division, Kingston, a plot 6 chains wide and 9 chains and 99 links long, near Toby's Creek, together with all the houses, mills and mill-dam, with all brooks and streams of water and water courses, etc. July 11, 1791, he with his brother-in-law, William Smith, bought from Jonathan Newman, a one-half interest in the Iron Works established by Dr. William Hooker Smith, on the Lackawanna River. In 1792 he was assessed as a resident of Lackawanna District, (Pittston and Providence). With William Smith he, Dec. 17, 1794, sold the one-half interest in the Iron Works to Thomas Wright. Aug. 17, 1796, he bought from John Allyn, of Steuben Co., N. Y., and formerly of Kingston Township, 80 acres of Lot 14, First Division of Hanover Township and one-half of Lot No. 16, about 60 acres, (the latter known as a Mill Lot) with a grist mill standing thereon. This mill seat was sold by John Franklin* and Robert Young to Samuel Gordon, who on the 3rd day of May, 1790, sold the same to Nathan Carey, for £30, the lot being described as a mill seat, the deed, however, making no reference to a mill. Nathan Carey, in all probability, built a grist mill on this lot about 1790. When he sold the lot, Oct. 3, 1793, to Christopher Hurlbut, of Hanover, for £105, he described the lot as a mill seat, "Whereon a grist mill and saw mill now stand. April 9, 1796, Christopher Hurlbut sold the mill property to John Allyn and Benjamin Tibbits, whose purchase included 60 acres of Lot 16 and one-half of Lot 14. Lot 14 had been the property of Jenks Corey, who was killed in the battle of Wyoming. Mill Lot No. 16 was bounded, in 1796, on the north by lands of Nathan Carey, on the east by land reserved for a road, on the south by lands of Abraham Sarver,

*John Franklin, of Hanover District, whose name appears on the list of the slain in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, probably came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Dauphin Co., Pa., and was probably born in Paxton in that county. His name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Hanover, in 1776, 1777 and 1778. He owned an undivided half of Lot No. 15, in the First Division of Hanover, of which Nathan Howell owned the other half. March 15, 1777, when a partition deed was executed. Some of the children of John Franklin, of Hanover, were: 1. Huldah, who was married to Hugh Rippath, before July 28, 1796; 2. Phebe, married to Rufus Foster, before that date; 3. Betsey, married to George Frazier; 4. Martha, not married, July 28, 1796; 5. John, Jr., living in Middle Paxton, Dauphin Co., Pa., April 29, 1799. It appears probable to the writer that John Franklin may have been one of the "Paxtang Boys," who settled in Hanover Township. The above named children of John Franklin sold one-half of Lot 15, First Division, to Nathan Carey in 1796 and 1799.

on the west by lands of Jonas Brush. James Sutton sold his interest in the property to Lord Butler, Nov. 9, 1796. In this same year James Sutton was again assessed in Exeter Township. In April, 1796, a petition was presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions at Wilkes-Barre, praying for the location and opening of a road from Gilbert Carpenter's saw mill, on Abraham's Creek, in Kingston, to James Sutton's Mills, in Exeter, and thence to the river. In 1806 he was assessed in Exeter, as the owner of a grist mill and a saw mill, and, in 1814, he was assessed, additionally, as a Justice of the Peace. It thus appears, upon the records of Deeds of Luzerne Co., Pa., that James Sutton built or operated grist mills in Exeter, on Sutton's Creek, (named for him), in Kingston, on Toby's Creek, and in Hanover, on the branch of Solomon's Creek that heads in Wright Township. According to his daughter, Mrs. Deborah (Sutton) Bedford, he also built and operated a grist mill on Mill Creek. This mill was probably located on Wilkes-Barre Back Lot No. 19, referred to above. This lot now lies in Plains Township. James Sutton was living in Kingston, Aug. 26, 1789, when he sold this lot to James Shaw, and in the deed traced the original title back to Jonathan Weeks. (See above.) James Shaw and his wife, Anna, sold this lot to Joseph Kelley, of Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 26, 1791. Mill Creek, lands of John Hollenback, Public Lands, and Hollenback's Mills are named as landmarks in this deed. The lot contained 200 acres, and the name of Joseph Kelley appears as warrantee on part of this lot, on the warrantee maps.

James Sutton is said to have been one of the early leaders of Methodism in the Wyoming Valley, Pa. In an address, delivered April 26, 1892, at the dedication of the Stewart Memorial Church, at Rendham, Pa., George B. Kulp, Esq., declared that James Sutton was the leader of the class at Lackawanna about 1791. It will be remembered that in June, 1791, James Sutton bought a one-quarter interest in the Old Forge, and it is very certain that he lived in that vicinity at the time referred to by Mr. Kulp. Mrs. Sarah (Smith) Sutton united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1791, according to a statement appearing in connection with the announcement of her death, in the Republican Farmer and Democrat Journal, she having been a member of that church 43 years at the time of her death, in Aug., 1834, in her 88th year. The will of James Sutton, of Exeter, was made Aug. 25, 1820, and was probated Feb. 25, 1825. He died in Exeter July 19, 1824, in the 81st year of his age. His wife, Mrs. Sarah (Smith) Sutton, died Aug. 20, 1834. The children of James and Sarah (Smith) Sutton were: 1, Polly, born Sept. 30, 1770, died July 15, 1844, married to Putnam Catlin, born 1764, died 1842; 2, son, born March 2, 1772, died March 3, 1772; 3, Deborah, born Feb. 8, 1773, died April 3, 1869, married, as second wife, to Jacob Bedford, born 1762, died Aug. 23, 1849, (Family No. 986—Bedford); 4, William, born Feb. 20, 1775, died Jan. 30, 1828; 5, Sarah C., born June 29, 1777, died May, 1778; 6, James, Jr., born Sept. 10, 1779, died July 27, 1827, married to Nancy, daughter of Hezekiah and Abigail Smith, (Family No. 38—Smith); 7, Sarah, (2), born July 4, 1782, died June 12, 1812, married, by Lawrence Myers, Esq., Nov. 17, 1800, to Daniel Sterling, (Family No. 12—Sterling); 8, son, born Nov. 9, 1784, died Nov. 9, 1784; 9, John, born Oct. 9, 1788, away from home when his father's will was made; 10, Samuel, born Nov. 2, 1788, drowned March 25, 1842, married, Nov. 24, 1822, to Mary Dorrance, born Jan. 26, 1799, died March 13, 1882, daughter of Stephen and Mary (Dorrance) Buckingham, (Family No. 1007—Dorrance).

4, Susannah, born Nov. 18, 1750, died June 12, 1778, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), married to Dr. Lemuel Gustin, who, after the battle of Wyoming, settled in Carlisle, Pa. Their daughter was married to a Mr. Snowden.

5, Elizabeth (Smith) Stillwell, named in the will.

6, Probably Mary, married to John Barker, of Secorsdale, Westchester Co., N. Y., referred to in the will.

7, William, for a few years, a one-fourth owner of the "Old Forge," who, with his wife, Sarah, sold their interest in that property, Dec. 17, 1794, to Thomas Wright. He was living in Braintrim Township, now Wyoming Co., Pa., in 1795-6, when his father deeded to him half of Lot 34 and 600 acres lying back of Lot 34. According to Dr. Miner William Smith was living in Windham Township about 1845 and was then 85 years of age.

8, Nathan, born about 1764, died May 26, 1813, aged 49 years, buried in Jackson Cemetery, his grave lying between the grave of Dr. Smith and that of his wife, Mrs. Margery (Kellogg) Smith-Smith, at LaGrange, Wyoming Co., Pa.

9, Susannah, born March 22, 1782, died Nov. 2, 1852, (see above), married (1) to Isaac Osterhout, married (2) to Fisher Gay.

THE WILLIAM SMITH FAMILY

I, William Smith, of Hanover District of the Town of Westmoreland, in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., was a resident of that district as early as 1776, his name appearing in the Hanover Tax List for that year. It also appears in the list for 1777, accompanied by the name of his son, William Smith, Jr. William Smith, Jr., and James Smith were members of Captain Samuel Ransom's Company, one of the Wyoming Companies in the Connecticut Continental Line, in the War of the American Revolution. Later they were also members of Captain Simon Spalding's Company, in the same service. William Smith was married to Margery Kellogg, born in 1738, died Jan. 16, 1816, and was deceased before 1780-1. Aug. 1, 1789, three of his sons, Silas, Jonathan and Martin Smith, presented a petition to the Orphan's Court at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., praying for a partition of his estate. His sons, Silas and Martin, were appointed administrators, with Daniel Gore and Elisha Blackman on their bond in $300.00. In Sept., 1789, William Smith owned two rights of land in Newport Township, including Lot No. 21, First Division, Lots 2 and 18, in the Second Division and Lots 17 and 20, in the Third Division, a total of about 560 acres, and estimated to be worth £120, 15s. By decree of the Orphan's Court, March 3, 1792, Silas Smith, the oldest surviving son of William Smith, was given possession of the whole land estate, he, on his part, executing bonds for the payment of various sums of money to the other heirs. The children of William and Margery (Kellogg) Smith were: 1, William, Jr., born about 1759, a member of Captain Samuel Ransom's Company, and, later, of Captain Simon Spalding's Company, in the Connecticut service, in the Continental Line, in the War of the American Revolution. He was killed by Pennamites in July, 1784. His tombstone, the unique inscription upon which has been published by various writers, is standing in the City Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. (See The Harvey Book, p. 999). It may be found on the plot to which bodies of members of the Yarrington and Helme families were removed from the old Wilkes-Barre graveyard; 2, Silas, assessed in Newport Township in 1792; 3, Martin, (see later); 4, Jonathan, (see later); 5, Elizabeth; 6, Newton, (see later); 7, Olive, married to Colonel Naphtali Hurlbut, (see later); 8, Easter, or Esther, born about 1777, died Oct. 8, 1854, married to Dr. Charles Eleazer Gaylord, a noted physician of the Huntington Valley, Pa., and later of Plymouth, Pa., who was also a Justice of the Peace in Huntington Valley. He was a son of Charles and Hannah (Andrus) Gaylord. (See Family No. 1010—Reynolds.) He was born March 21, 1770, and died Feb. 4, 1839. (Shawnee Cemetery, Plymouth, Pa.) (See the Harvey Book and Dr. Wright's Historical Sketches of Plymouth, Pa.) Mrs. Margery (Kellogg) Smith was born about 1738, was married (2) to Dr. William Hooker Smith, and died Jan. 16, 1816. She is buried, with her second husband, in Jackson Cemetery, LaGrange, Wyoming Co., Pa.

II, (3), Martin, son of William and Margery (Kellogg) Smith, was assessed in Newport Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792, and while a resident of that township he sold, to Dr. William Hooker Smith, the "Full right not only to seek for, but to dig and raise any ore of the Cotten Stone—so called, or collect it from the Surface of the earth. Also to dig and raise any iron ore or any other minerals ——— in lands I bought from Captain Samuel Hover, formerly occupied by Robert Frazier, 47 acres, lying opposite the lands of Martin Smith on the West Side of the Susquehanna River." He was of Newport, Oct. 9, 1792, when Dr. William Hooker Smith sold to him House Lot No. 23, near the Forty Fort, in Kingston, and a "Building Spot," east of House Lots Nos. 23 and 24, in Kingston. He was of Kingston, Dec. 16, 1793, when, with his wife, Lucy, he sold House Lot No. 23 to Benjamin Knapp. (Family No. 988—Knapp.) In April, 1798, he was recommended as a suitable person to be licensed as an inn-keeper in Kingston.

II, (4), Jonathan, son of William and Margery (Kellogg) Smith, was assessed as a resident of Newport, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792, and, Feb. 8, 1792, he bought from Dr. William Hooker Smith, Lot 14, First Tier, Newport, which Dr. Smith had bought from Peleg Comstock. (Family No. 1021—Comstock.) The first wife of Jonathan Smith died in Newport in Dec., 1807, and a Jonathan Smith, perhaps the same, was married, Dec. 5, 1808, to Anna Nelson of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. April 30, 1810, he bought from John Budd Lot No. 10 and Lot No. 48, in Putnam (Tunkhannock) Township. He died soon after purchasing this property. In Elder Davis Dimock's records there is a note dated June 2, 1813, which reads, "The dreadful fever has swept some of my acquaintances in Tyrannock, Jonathan Smith, Jeremiah Osterhout, Joseph Boles." Part of Lot No. 10, in Putnam (Tunkhannock) Township, was sold by some of the heirs of Jonathan Smith, to Joseph and Joseph Beach Tuttle, who, with their wives, Mary and Fanny, sold 179 acres of Lot 10, Aug. 6, 1833, to James Kennedy of Wilkes-

Barre. (Family No. 1174—Tuttle, No. 35—Kennedy.) The children of Jonathan Smith were: (Order of birth not known to writer.) 1, William, living with his wife, Nancy, in Tunkhannock Township, Oct. 10, 1821; 2, Elizabeth, married to Colonel Miles, son of Cyrus and Lydia (Marcy) Avery. Her will was made at Falls, Pa., April 6, 1849, and was probated at Tunkhannock, Pa., June 19, 1849. It refers to a book she had written and provided $100.00 for its publication; 3, Mary, married to Zebulon, son of Cyrus and Lydia (Marcy) Avery, (Family No. 1001—Avery); 4, Zurah, who was Treasurer of Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1828, and, with his brother, Whitney, kept a store, at that time, "on the southwest corner of Centre Square and Main street, below the Meeting House," in Wilkes-Barre, where, according to a card in the Wyoming Herald they kept "Seasonable goods comprising the usual variety found in Country Stores." His will, made Oct. 27, 1830, with codicil, bequeathed to his brother, Asher M., $100.00, and divided the residue of his estate between his brother Whitney and the Congregational Society of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. His will was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 27, 1830; 5, Whitney, partner of his brother, Zurah, in Wilkes-Barre, in 1828-9, married, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 11, 1832, to Mary Ann, daughter of General Samuel and Marcia (Pettebone) Thomas, of Kingston. (Family No. 988—Pettebone); 6, Asher Miner; 7, Ziba, married, March 20, 1827, to Sarah, daughter of Eliphalet Stevens, to whom various heirs of Jonathan Smith assigned their interest in part of Lot No. 10, Oct. 10, 1821; 8, Thomas W., deceased in 1834; 9, Susannah, married to Charles Nobles, living in Ulysses, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Sept. 28, 1815, when they sold their interest in Lot 10, Putnam, 409 acres, and part of Lot 48, to William Smith and Miles Avery; 10, Mary Ann, married to George B., son of Gilbert Carpenter, Jr., living in Berkshire Co., Ohio, May 21, 1833, when they executed a Power of Attorney, empowering Nathan Dustin to sell their two shares interest in Lots 10 and 48, Putnam Township. (Family No. 14—Carpenter.)

II, (6), Newton, son of William Smith, was a resident of Newport Township in 1792, and in that year served as an assistant Assessor. Feb. 13, 1801, he was a blacksmith by trade, and a resident of Pittston Township, when Dr. William Hooker Smith sold to him three tracts of land in Pittston, (1) one acre of land on which the house and blacksmith shop now stand (1801), "And lies on the southeast side of the road from Smith's Forge to Captain Thomas Smith's house and to Providence." (2) Begins at the forks of the roads about 60 rods south of Thomas Smith's house, thence west on the road that leads to Halstead's Ferry, 37 rods; thence southwest 60 rods, north 37 rods leading from the Forge to Capows. (3) A strip two rods wide to begin at the crotch of the road, about 60 rods south of Captain Thomas Smith's house, and on the east side of the road from Providence to Smith and Wright's Forge, "To run easterly two rods wide dividing the Lackawanna Town Line until it comes to the boundary of line between Dr. William Hooker Smith and Newton Smith, for a common draft and cart road." John Coray and Constant Searl were witnesses. Newton Smith removed from Pittston to Eaton Township, now Wyoming Co., Pa., and was a prominent local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was named by Dr. William Hooker Smith as one of the executors of his will. He was married to Deborah Reeder, who survived him. She was doubtless a daughter of Jacob Reeder, born in Sussex Co., N. J., July 14, 1744, assessed in Newport Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792, died in Eaton Township, now Wyoming Co., Pa., May 28, 1828. (South Eaton Cemetery). Newton Smith, of Eaton, Pa., made his will May 7, 1836, and signed it in the presence of Miner Nesbitt and Henderson Gaylord. It was probated in Genesee Co., N. Y., Nov. 12, 1838, and letters of administration were granted to Draper Smith Oct. 12, 1842. The will is also recorded at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The children of Newton Smith, all of whom were named in his will, were: 1, Asahel C., born Dec., 1799, died July 14, 1880, married to Lydia ———, born June 31, 1801, died Aug. 29, 1880. His will, made Dec. 22, 1874, probated July 23, 1880, names the following children: (1), Benjamin; (2), Aurelia, married to John S., son of John Orr and Fannie (Harris) Scovel, (Family No. 1021—Scovel); (3), Sarah, born Jan. 31, died April 14, 1881; (4), Draper, married to ——— Javne; (5), Susannah (Smith) Aumigh; (6), Moriah (Smith) Miner. Asahel C. Smith, with his wife and his daughter, Sarah, are buried in the Harding Cemetery at Eatonville, Pa. In addition to the above named children he also had a son, Densmore; 2, Martin, married, Dec. 5, 1833, to Mary, daughter of George and Sally B. (Avery) Miller. (Family No. 1017—Miller); (3), Newton, Jr.; 4, Draper, of Plymouth, Luzerne Co., Pa., born Nov. 7, 1815, died Jan. 5, 1899. (Forty Fort Cemetery), married (1), Jan. 7, 1840, to Caroline E., born June 29, 1817, died Aug. 13, 1845, daughter of John and Frances (Halbertson) Smith, born Jan. 1, 1780, died Feb. 1, 1861, (Forty Fort Cemetery). He was married

(2), to Louisa, born April 5, 1817, died April 8, 1866, daughter of John Myers. He was married (3) to Mrs. Lorinda Atkins, born April 6, 1818, died Aug. 12, 1897; 5, Cynthia (Smith) Luce; 6, Betsey Ann (Smith) Prentiss; 7, Susannah; 8, Deborah. One grandson, Smith Nelson Graham, was also named in the will of Newton Smith. Newton Smith died at Middleburgh, Genesee Co., N. Y.

II, (7), Olive, daughter of William and Margery (Kellogg) Smith, was married to Colonel Naphtali Hurlbut, born Aug. 12, 1768, died March 30, 1844, son of John and Abigail (Avery) Hurlbut, (see later). Colonel Hurlbut served in the Luzerne County Militia and in 1825-1828 was Sheriff of Luzerne Co., Pa. He was assessed as an inn or tavern keeper in Kingston in 1814 and was so returned in the Census of Taxables of that year. His place of business, at that time, was doubtless the old tavern in Kingston Borough, which was later and for perhaps half a century known as the Helm Tavern. It is still standing (1918). He kept the latter house Feb. 14, 1825, when he bought the property from William M. Hart of Plymouth. (See Family No. 1312—Helm.) Some of the children of Colonel Naphtali and Olive (Smith) Hurlbut were: 1, Lyman, married to Caroline, daughter of James and Thankful (Nash) Scovel, (Family No. 1021—Scovel); 2, Avery; 3, Mary Ann; 4, Esther, married to Abel Hoyt; 5, daughter, married to J. P. Kennedy, Esq., at whose home in Allegany Co., N. Y., Colonel Naphtali Hurlbut died, March 30, 1844. See Johnson's Historical Record, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for sketch of Hurlbut family.

JACOB SHOEMAKER, JR.; FAMILIES NOS. 54—(2)

Jacob, Jr., son of Jacob and Elizabeth (Arndt) Schumacher, was born in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Sept. 29, 1773—twin brother to John. He grew to manhood in Forks Township and, about 1800, removed to Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y.*

*Albany Co., N. Y., one of the original counties of the Colony of New York, was formed Nov. 1, 1683, and was confirmed Oct. 1, 1691. Its boundaries included the whole of the Colony of New York lying north of Ulster Co. and extending to the Canadian line. Its eastern boundaries, at one time extended along the eastern line of the present State of Vermont. Its western boundary was the present western boundary of the State of New York. From this vast territory Tryon Co., N. Y., was formed March 12, 1772, and was named for William Tryon, Colonial Governor. Tryon Co. had within its boundaries all of the present State of New York lying west of the Delaware River, the eastern line extending through what is now Schoharie Co. and along the eastern lines of the present Montgomery, Fulton and Hamilton Cos. to the Canadian border. The name of Tryon Co., N. Y., was changed to Montgomery Co., in honor of General Richard Montgomery, of the American Revolution, April 2, 1784.

The settlement of what is now known as Montgomery Co., N. Y., began soon after 1700, the first land grants, in that section, having been made in 1703. The pioneer settlers were of Holland Dutch descent mingled with Palatines. The former came into the Mohawk Valley from Albany and Schenectady and the latter from the Palatine villages on the Hudson River and those in "Schoharie." The Palatine element settled chiefly within the present boundaries of Montgomery, Fulton and Herkimer Cos. Among the early Palatine settlers in these counties were families named Diefendorf, Schumacher, Sharpenstein, Countryman, Fehling, Waggoner, Pickard, Gross, Rueff, Schnell, Nellis, Ehle, Bellinger, Wohlgemuth, Wermouth, Bauder, Walradt, Dillenback, Windecker, Weiser, Laux, Planck, Sprecher, Wiles, Walts, Garlock, Leiber, etc., to many of which reference is made in the following pages. At a later date other families of German origin, from other sections of New York and some from Northampton Co., Pa., also settled here. Among these were Abraham Arndt, Jr., (Family No. 1339—Arndt), the Shoemakers, Seilers, (Sailor), and Kochers (Kougher). The Herkimer family, doubtless earlier settlers than some of the families named above, came to America from Rotterdam via England in 1722 and settled in what is now Montgomery Co., N. Y.

Tryon Co., now Montgomery Co., was the scene of the most frightful atrocities of the American Revolution and was, especially the region where the Tory element achieved its greatest infamy. In a statement prepared by the Supervisors of Tryon Co., N. Y., dated Dec. 22, 1780, and addressed to the Legislature the following picture is drawn: 700 buildings burned; 354 abandoned habitations; 613 deserted to the enemy; 197 killed; 121 taken prisoner; 1,200 farms lying uncultivated. The statement did not include the statistics for Cherry Valley, Newtown, Martin, Middlefield, Springfield, Harpersfield, and "Old England District," which had been totally deserted and abandoned. (Bib.-171.) In the published Minutes of the Tryon County Committee of Safety a statement is made that 380 women were made widows, 2,000 children were made fatherless, 700 buildings had been burned, 150,000 bushels of wheat had been destroyed and 12,000 farms lay uncultivated, as results of the Tory-Indian raids in Tryon Co. What a monument, chiselled by their own hands, to perpetuate the memory of Sir John Johnson, Knight and Baronet, and his able Lieutenant, Walter N. Butler.

Tryon Co., N. Y., was first divided, March 24, 1772, into five Districts and, April 3, 1775, Old England District was formed. Of these six Districts (1), Mohawk adjoined Albany Co., (2) Canajoharie lay on the South Side of the Mohawk River, (3) Stone Arabia, lay along the north side of the Mohawk and its name was changed, March 8, 1773, to Palatine, (4) German Flats and (5) Kingsland lay further up the river and (6) Old England lay west of the Susquehanna River. The names of the original German Flats and Kingsland were interchanged, March 8, 1773—German Flats

Nov. 4, 1773, William Livingston, of the Borough of Elizabeth and Providence, N. J., sold to Major Jacob Arndt, of Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., (Family No. 1339—Arndt), 378 acres of land adjoining the Conrad Kanterman (Countryman, see Family No. 471—Countryman), tract. This lot was known as Lot No. 21 of the Livingston Patent. Feb. 28, 1785, Jacob and Elizabeth Arndt sold this tract to their son-in-law, Colonel Jacob Schumacher, of Forks Township. In his will the latter bequeathed 176 acres of Lot 21 to his son, Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., and the remainder of the tract to his son, Abraham. It appears that the will of Colonel Schumacher was construed as conveying only a life estate in the property to his two sons and on the 9th day of Aug., 1811, in a deed signed by the other heirs of Colonel Schumacher the defect in the will was remedied. This clause appears in the deed: "And whereas we, the party of the first part, of the said above written indenture, well knowing the intention of the said testator, of his wish to divide the said premises to them, the said party of the second part of this indenture, as an estate in fee simple, and to their heirs and assigns forever, and we, in consequence of said belief are willing to remedy the said defect in his Last Will and Testament." This document was signed by John Shoemaker in the presence of George Ehrie and George W. Arndt, by David and Susannah Reed in the presence of Jesse and Mary Upson, by George and Sarah Walter in the presence of George Ehrie and John Shoemaker, by Margaret Seiler in the presence of Matthias Hollenback and Jos. Cisst, by Rich-becoming Kingsland and Kingsland becoming German Flats. These six Districts of Tryon Co. became the basis for representation in the Tryon Co. Committee of Safety to which delegates were appointed from each District. The "Minutes of the Tryon Co. Committee of Safety" has been published and this book makes a valuable addition to the sources of authentic history of this sorely afflicted frontier county.

The District of Canajoharie, incorporated as Canajoharie, Indian name Ga-na-jo-hi-e, contained a number of forts in the days of the American Revolution. Among them were Fort Van Rensselaer, the palisaded home of Philip Van Alstyne, Fort Ehle, Fort Plain, Fort Fehling, the palisaded home of Nicholas Fehling, Fort Planck, Fort Clyde, Fort Willett, (see Family No. 471—Countryman), Fort Hendrick and others.

In this District there were, a few years ago, remains of some very ancient fortifications, situated about four miles south of Fort Plain and on a tongue of land formed by the valleys of Otsquaga Creek and some of its tributaries. This tongue is about 100 feet above the streams and the declivities almost precipitous. Across the tongue at its narrowest point lay the curved line of a breastwork 240 feet long and enclosing an area of about seven acres, according to French's Gazetteer of New York, quoting from Smithsonian Contributions, Vol. II, article 6.

In the cemetery at Canajoharie, N. Y., there may be found the tombstone of Johannes Rueff, (died 1799, aged 69 years) born in Durlach, Swabia, Germany, and that of his wife, Anna Maria Leonhard, (born 1735, died 1817), born in Heidelberg, Germany. According to the inscription upon the first mentioned of these two stones Johannes Rueff was the "Founder of Canajoharie, formerly Rueff's Village," doubtless referring to the present thriving village of Canajoharie, N. Y.

The Town of Canajoharie was formed from the District of Canajoharie, March 7, 1788, and, from the Town of Canajoharie, the Town of Minden was formed March 2, 1798. It included the territory now known as the Town of Danube, in Herkimer Co. Danube, as originally formed, included the present Town of Stark, which was formed in 1828. The famous Indian Castle and Fort Hendrick were both situated within the bounds of Danube. Here also were the homes of King Hendrick and Joseph Brant, famous chiefs among the Mohawks. In the same territory stood the home of General Nicholas Herkimer, who was mortally wounded in the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 7, 1777, and who died Aug. 17, 1777. His grave, now a shrine for patriots, is only a few hundred feet away from the site on which his home stood.

The settlements in the Town of Minden were among the earliest within the bounds of the present county of Montgomery. The land was very heavily timbered (see Countryman Patent, Family No. 471—Countryman), and has always been famous for its fertility. According to French's Gazetteer of New York (1860), the first school in Minden was taught by Henry Hayes, a German, the first grist mill was built by Isaac Countryman, soon after the Revolution, and Isaac Paris kept the first store, some of which statements are, to say the least, very doubtful. John Abeel, the famous Indian trader, who was married to the daughter of a Seneca chief, and whose son was the famous Indian chief Corn Planter, settled in Minden in 1748.

ard and Elizabeth Jacobs in the presence of Richard and Rebecca Townley, by Adam and Mary Seiler and Christian and Cady Kocher in the presence of Jacob Eacker and Nicholas Westerman. A partition deed was executed by Jacob and Abraham Shoemaker May 15, 1812.

Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., was married, April 22, 1810, to Elizabeth, born July 17, 1791, died July 15, 1859, daughter of Abraham Williams of Utica, N. Y. Their children were: 1, John, born Nov. 9, 1811, died Nov. 8, 1858; 2, son, born Jan. 31, 1813, died same day; 3, Jacob, born May 19, 1814; 4, Diana, born Oct. 25, 1815; 5, Abraham, born Oct. 25, 1815; 6, Amy Eliza, born March 22, 1818, died Dec. 31, 1838; 7, Mary Helen, born Nov. 28, 1819, died Aug. 27, 1894; 8, Lucinda, born Aug. 6, 1821, died in Feb., 1880; 9, Alexander, born Feb. 19, 1823, died Oct. 16, 1839; 10, Caty, born March 7, 1825, died Nov. 1, 1826; 11, son, born March 5, 1826, died May 7, 1826; 12, Herman, born March 10, 1827, died June 22, 1831; 13, Solomon, born March 7, 1829, died Jan. 1, 1840. Of these children, John, Jacob, Diana, Abraham, Amy Eliza, Mary Helen, Lucinda and Solomon, were baptised by the Rev. John J. Wack.

The farm willed to Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., by his father was probably a wilderness when Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., and his brother, Abraham, left their home in Forks Township, Pa., and made the long journey to Montgomery Co., N. Y. It is very probable that it had never been occupied when he took possession of it. Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., was a farmer. Some very old buildings were still standing on his Minden farm in 1917, probably the same buildings he occupied. He remained in Minden until Nov. 13, 1828, when he sold his farm to his brother, John Shoemaker, and removed to a point about four miles east of Royalton, Niagara Co., N. Y. He died there Dec. 23, 1829, and is probably buried in the Mount Ridge Cemetery at Gilbert's Corners, where his wife is buried. His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth (Williams) Shoemaker finally established her home in Royalton Center, N. Y., and there her children grew to maturity. Their home was at the cross roads at Royalton Center and opposite the buildings occupied, for many years, by Mr. C. E. Bixby, storekeeper and Post Master. She died there July 15, 1859.

1-1-2-1 JOHN SHOEMAKER; FAMILY NO. — —(54)

John, son of Jacob, Jr., and Elizabeth (Williams) Shoemaker, was born in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., Nov. 9, 1811, removed to Royalton, N. Y., in 1828-9, and learned the trade of a tanner and currier. In a letter written April 21, 1845, to Benjamin Saylor (Family No. 42), of Plainsville, Pa., he wrote of having been in Utica and Syracuse, N. Y., and referred to a possibility of entering the employ of Philo Bower, at Wyoming, Pa., then engaged extensively in the leather business. He died, not married, at Royalton, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1858.

JACOB SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 55—(54)

Jacob (3), son of Jacob, Jr., and Elizabeth (Williams) Shoemaker, was born in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., May 19, 1814, and removed, with his parents, to Royalton, N. Y. He learned the harness-making trade in Pekin, Niagara Co., N. Y., and established himself in that business at Royalton Center, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1835, with Peter Reasner (Family No. 416) he bought an acre of ground at Royalton, at the cross roads, built a tannery upon it and, with his brother, Abraham, as a partner, went into the tanning business. In 1848 Peter Reasner, then of Newstead, Erie Co., N. Y., sold his interest in the one acre of land to Jacob and Abraham Shoemaker. Upon this same lot there stood, also, the home of Mrs. Elizabeth (Williams) Shoemaker. Jacob Shoemaker became a prominent citizen of Royalton, was for a number of years Post Master and also served as Town Clerk. He was a saddler, harness maker, merchant and trunk manufacturer. Mr. C. E. Bixby, of Royalton, had, a few years ago, a harness made by Jacob Shoemaker some fifty years before that time, which he proudly exhibited to Mr. J. I. Shoemaker and the writer as an example of good workmanship on the part of the maker and of good care on the part of the user. Aug. 1, 1859, his mother and his brother, John, having died, and his brother, Abraham, having gone to California, he sold his property at Royalton to Electa Baldwin, daughter of Isaac Lewis, of Lockport, N. Y. The same year he was a resident of Alabama, Genesee Co., N. Y., and had been married to Mrs. Catharine Champion. They had one daughter who was married to Eugene H. Miller (Family No. 56) and one son, Harry, who lives in Buffalo, N. Y.

DIANA (SHOEMAKER) COLEMAN; FAMILIES NOS. 57—(54)

Diana, daughter of Jacob, Jr., and Elizabeth (Williams) Shoemaker, was born in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., Oct. 25, 1815, twin sister of Abraham. She removed with her parents to Royalton, Niagara Co., N. Y., and was married, Sept. 6, 1853, to William, born, in England, June 25, 1820, died Jan. 2, 1907, son of William and Mary Elizabeth (Dunster) Coleman. In 1853 they removed to Lansing, Mich., and, Feb. 23, 1866, settled finally at Dundee, Mich., where Diana (Shoemaker) Coleman died Jan. 31, 1891. Their children were: 1, Mary E.; 2, William J.

MARY E. (COLEMAN) COLLINS; FAMILIES NOS. 58—(57)

In his will, made Oct. 14, 1804, proved Oct. 16, 1810, Colonel Jacob Schumacher appointed his son, John "My sole and only executor of this my Last Will and Testament," and devised to him "My plantation whereon I live ————— 176 acres," conditioned upon John's payment to each of his six sisters the sum of £200.

July 4, 1807, Captain John Arndt, son of Major Jacob Arndt, deeded to his son, George Washington Arndt, and his nephew, John Shoemaker, in trust, the land originally occupied by Arndt's Cemetery, near Arndt's Mills, Walter's Station, Northampton Co., Pa. He was married to Maria Elizabeth, born in Zweibrucken, Germany, daughter of Johannes Peter Dunckel. (Dunckel family later.) In 1790 the family of Peter Westerman consisted of himself, one male over 16, one male under 16 and three females, probably two sons, two daughters and his wife. He was a soldier in the American Revolution, served in the Battalion of Minute Men of the Tryon County Militia and as a private in Captain Andrew Leyp's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment. He took part in the battle of Oriskany. Five of the children of Peter and Maria Elizabeth (Dunckel) Westerman were (order of birth not known): 1, Petrus or Peter, Jr.; 2, Nicholas; 3, Elizabeth; 4, Catharine; 5, Maria Elizabeth, born Nov. 3, 1783, died Feb. 17, 1830, married to Abraham Shoemaker.

May 14, 1801, he sold 221 acres to his brother-in-law, John George Goertner, who bequeathed 91 acres of this tract to his daughters, Margaret and Susan. He also owned 206 acres of Lot No. 13, Livingston Patent, which had been bought by Abraham Arndt of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa. (Family No. 1339), May 31, 1774. It was afterwards owned by Wendell Zeller and later by John George Goertner. Peter Westerman, Jr., sold 55 acres of this tract to his brother, Nicholas, and after his death this 55 acre farm of Nicholas Westerman was a part of the estate of his sister, Mrs. Maria (Westerman) Shoemaker. Aug. 8, 1805, Peter Westerman, Jr., sold the remaining 151 acres of the 206 acre tract to William Wohlgemuth (Family No. 382—Wohlgemuth) and this farm became the William Wohlgemuth homestead. In the fall of 1806 Peter Westerman, Jr., had removed to Sullivan, Madison Co., N. Y., and Nov. 1, 1806, then a resident of the Town of Sullivan, he sold to John Everson, Jr., of Canajoharie, N. Y., the 25 acre tract of the Bleecker Patent, at Frey's Bush, N. Y., which was later owned by Jacob I. Shoemaker. (Family No. 986.) The name of the wife of Peter Westerman, Jr., was Anna, and their son, Petrus, born Jan. 18, 1799, was baptised Jan. 20, 1799. Petrus Ehle and Maria Westerman, sponsors.

Nicholas, son of Peter and Maria Elizabeth (Dunckel) Westerman, bought 55 acres of Lot No. 13 of the Livingston Patent, from his brother, Peter, Jr., and apparently, in the settlement of his estate, the title to this land passed to his sister, Mrs. Maria (Westerman) Shoemaker. With Magdalene Bauder he was a sponsor when Sally and Magdalene, twin daughters of Albertus and Elizabeth (Westerman) Lintner, were baptised, July 2, 1808. He probably died in young manhood.

THE TIMMERMAN FAMILY

Members of the Timmerman family of Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., descendants of Theobald and Elizabeth (Hahn) Timmerman, have in their possession (1918) several original deeds, pertaining to land titles, which are highly interesting documents. Among them is: 1, one Indian deed of March 12, 1733-4, signed by Hendrick (Bear), Jeth (Wolf) and Margaret (Turtle), conveying certain lands, by a brook, on the Maquis River, in Albany Co., N. Y., to "Our friend, Anna Marragriete Timmerman, a spinster; 2, a partition deed, of June 9, 1758, between Jacob and Lawrence and Da. Walt Timmerman; 3, a deed of Nov. 23, 1759, from Jacob Timmerman, of Canajoharie District, Albany Co., N. Y., to Lawrence, Theobald, George and Henry Timmerman, also of Canajoharie District. The lands conveyed by the latter of these deeds is described as lying about one mile north from the Mohawk River and as having been patented to "me and Joost Schnell." This Timmerman family, of which it appears probable that Jacob was the head and that: 1, Lawrence; 2, Theobald; 3, George; 4, Henry, and 5, Jacob, were his sons, and Anna Marragriete Timmerman, spinster, probably a sister, was without any doubt the family from which Timmerman's Kill or Creek derived its name. The family settled in the vicinity of the present village of St. Johnsville, N. Y.

II. (2). Theobald (Diebald, Dewalt), probably son of Jacob Timmerman, was married to Elizabeth Hahn (or Hann). Oct. 11, 1767, with his wife and Adam Gunterman (Countryman) he was a sponsor at the baptism of Johannes Adam Leip, born Oct. 6, 1767, son of Adam and Elizabeth Leip. About 1759, or about the time of the third deed referred to above, Theobald Timmerman removed to the south side of the Mohawk River and settled a few miles from the present village of Fort Plain, Montgomery Co., N. Y. In the War of the American Revolution he served as a Corporal in the Company of Captain Helmer of Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia. He died from injuries caused by a team of horses running away. His son, Adam, was appointed administrator of his estate May 24, 1788. Some of the children of Theobald and Elizabeth (Hahn) Timmerman were: 1, Adam, born June 10, 1763, died July 3-4, 1808, married to Anna Margretha, daughter of Captain Henry Diefendorf. (Family No. 471—Heinrick-Diefendorf.) His will, made July 3, 1808, and probated July 5, 1814, at Fonda, N. Y., names his wife, Anna Margretha, and their children: 1, Abraham, not 23, to whom he gave the farm known as Lot No. 6, of the Windecker (Windecker-Countryman Leyp) patent; 2, Elizabeth; 3, Anna; 4, Maria; 2, Elizabeth, born Sept. 27, 1764, died Jan. 7, 1842, married to William Hackney, born Nov. 15, 1764, died Jan. 30, 1846, (Frey's Bush, N. Y., Cemetery), (Family No. 436—Hackney); 3, Thomas, married to Elizabeth Sanders, owned and lived upon the Theobald Timmerman homestead, some of whose children were: (1), Solomon, married to Maria Ehle; (2), Betsey, not married; (3), David T., born Nov. 5, 1803, died July 8, 1805, married to Charlotte Elwood, born Jan. 22, 1816, died Dec. 14, 1894, (Fort Plain, N. He was married to Nancy, born May 11, 1776, died Feb. 9, 1850, daughter of John Jacob and Catharine (Windecker) Diefendorf. (Family No. 471—Diefendorf.) His will was made March 20, 1809, and was probated Jan. 29, 1834. His wife, Nancy, Nicholas N. Dunckel and Peter Diefendorf were named executors. The children of John D. and Nancy (Diefendorf) Timmerman were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Abram I., born Jan., 1794, died July 24, 1860, married to Maria, born June 16, 1813, died May 28, 1893, daughter of John and Maria (Failing) Diefendorf (Frey's Bush, N. William Timmerman also owned a farm there in that year. John D. Timmerman* and his wife, Nancy (Failing) Timmerman, are buried in the Frey's Bush, N. Y., Methodist Episcopal Cemetery.

ANNA (SHOEMAKER) FAKE; FAMILIES NOS. 358—(357)

Anna, daughter of Abraham and Maria Elizabeth (Westerman) Shoemaker, was born at Frey's Bush, Montgomery Co., N. Y., Oct. 1, 1804 (or Sept. 29, 1804), and was baptised Oct. 28, 1804, Adam and Maria (Shoemaker) Seiler, sponsors. She was married to John, born Feb. 14, 1797, died Dec. 7, 1883, son of Nicholas and Elizabeth (Frile) Fake, (Fake family later). Their children were: 1, Peter, born Sept. 26, 1823, died Jan.

*It is thought by members of the Timmerman family now (1918) residing in Montgomery Co., N. Y., that the Timmerman and Zimmerman families of that section are different families. In a number of the records pertaining to the early families the names are used interchangeably. Theobald Timmerman's name appears in some church records as Diebold Zimmerman and in some land records as De Walt Zimmerman. His son Adam's name appears as Adam Zimmerman in the latter. Likewise the names of some of the Zimmermans are recorded as Timmerman. The deed of March 12, 1733-4 referred to in the beginning of this sketch is a Timmerman deed. Hence from 1733-4 at least that family name has been Timmerman. A Conrad Zimmerman had a daughter Elizabeth, married, July 17, 1763, to Heinrich Fehling of Canajoharie, N. Y. (Bib.-143.) A Corporal Adam Zimmerman, born 1763, died 1808, who served in Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the Revolution, was married to Margaritha, daughter of Lieutenant Jacob Mathias and his wife, Anna Leibon (Bib.-94), and Conrad Zimmerman, a sketch of whose family may be found in Family No. 362, were undoubtedly Zimmermans and perhaps descendants of Conrad Zimmerman, referred to above.

In 1790 there were residing in Palatine, Montgomery Co., N. Y., the following Timmerman families: 1, Lawrence, with two males over 16, two males under 16, and twelve females; 2, Henry, with two males over 16, four males under 16, and eight females; 3, George, with one male over 16, two males under 16, and nine females; 4, Jacob, with one male over 16 and four females; 5, William, with one male over 16, four males under 16, and six females; 6, Henry, with one male under 16 and three females. With the exception of 6, Henry, these were doubtless all brothers of Theobald Timmerman.

Henry Timmerman, born 1738, died 1807, served as Lieutenant in the Company of Captain House of Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, in the War of the American Revolution. He was married to Margaret Petrie. John Timmerman was a Lieutenant in the same company. George Timmerman was a private in Captain Helmer's company of the same regiment. Jacob Timmerman was a private in Captain Cayser's Company of Colonel Klock's Regiment.

14, 1891; 2, Abram, born July 8, 1825, died June 19, 1890; 3, Eliza, born Oct. 3, 1828, living 1915; 4, Mary, born July 17, 1832, died early; 5, Anna M., born Nov. 30, 1832, died Sept. 8, 1835. John Fake was a farmer and lived all his life on his Minden, N. Y., farm. His first wife, Mrs. Anna (Shoemaker) Fake, died May 8, 1835, and he was married (2) to Betsey Chisley, born June 4, 1800, died Nov. 15, 1876. He died Dec. 7, 1883. The family burial plot is in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Ford's Bush, Montgomery Co., N. Y.

THE FAKE FAMILY

George Fake was of Tomhannock in the Town of Pittstown, Albany, now Rensselaer Co., N. Y., July 27, 1790, where he bought from Jacob Lansing of Albany Co., N. Y., for £280, 218 acres of the Lansing patent, situated on the south side of the Mohawk River, now Canajoharie, N. Y. He was of Pittstown, Rensselaer Co., N. Y., June 28, 1796, when he bought from Ananias Platt of Lansingburg, N. Y., 400 acres of land in the District of Caghawago, of "Lands confiscated from Sir John Johnson, Knight and Baronet," Jan. 2, 1796. George Fake, Sr., sold one-half of the first of these two tracts of land to his son, Nicholas Fake, and Feb. 2, 1798, he sold the rest of it to his son, George Fake, Jr. Of the Fake family, Cornelius Fake was a Lieutenant in Captain Heager's Company of Colonel Vrooman's Regiment and George Fake was a private in Captin Vandenburg's Company of Colonel Yate's Regiment in the Albany Co., N. Y., Militia in the American Revolution.

Nicholas, son of George Fake, born in Albany Co., N. Y., May 30, 1768, was married to Elizabeth Frile, who was born March 29, 1770, and died Dec. 25, 1831. He died Feb. 1, 1853, and they are buried in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Ford's Bush, Montgomery Co., N. Y. Some of their children were: 1, George, born Aug. 28, 1791, died April 21, 1846, married to Catharine ———, born July 5, 1797, died Nov. 27, 1880; 2, Joseph; 3, John, born Feb. 14, 1797, died Dec. 7, 1883, married to Anna, daughter of Abraham and Maria E. Elizabeth (Westerman) Shoemaker; 4, Peter; 5, Isaac; 6, Henry; 7, Jacob, born Aug. 2, 1802, died April 29, 1877, married (1) to Delilah ———, born March 28, 1805, died March 2, 1854, married (2) to Margaret ———, born 1812, died Sept. 13, 1884; 8, Hannah. Nicholas Fake was a farmer and, Nov. 10, 1837, divided his farm of 191 acres between his two sons, John and Jacob, taking from them a life lease of the property.

PETER FAKE; FAMILIES NOS. 359—(358)

Peter, son of John and Anna (Shoemaker) Fake, was born in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., Sept. 26, 1833, and was married, Jan. 14, 1847, to Maria, born Aug. 19, 1822, died Sept. 3, 1890, daughter of John C. and Catharine (Walrath) Cronkhite. (Family No. 471—Cronkhite.) Peter Fake was a farmer and lived on the Fake homestead in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. He died Jan. 14, 1891. His wife died Sept. 3, 1890, and they are buried in the Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery. Mrs. Lucina Ann (Fake) Wormuth was married (2), (Family No. 360A), Oct. 2, 1884, to Jacob J. Wiles, born Oct. 2, 1848, son of Ephraim and Catharine (Pickard) Wiles. He has been a farmer nearly all his life, but now resides in Fort Plain, N. Y. THE PICKARD FAMILY (PICKERT, PICKART)

I. Johannes or John Pickert, Rachael Pickert and Conrad Pickert lived in what is now Montgomery Co., N. Y., as early as 1750, their names appearing, about that date, in the records of the Lutheran Church of Stone Arabia. The name of the wife of Conrad Pickert was Anna Margaretha and their daughter, Catharine, was born or baptised April 24, 1754, Heinrich Walrath and Rachel Pickertin, serving as sponsors. Rachel Pickertin and Conrad Conterman were sponsors at the baptism of Anna, born or baptised May 11, 1754, daughter of John Pickart.* Isaac Pickart

*A Nicholas Pickard and a John Pickard, who were cousins, were in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1776 and 1777. They were undoubtedly of the Tryon Co., N. Y., family. Nicholas Pickard was taken by Colonel Murray, April 17, 1777, before the Committee of Safety of Northumberland Co., Pa., and after acknowledging that he had taken the oath of allegiance to the King of Great Britain and was in connection with the Ministerial troops at Niagara, was adjudged an enemy and was sent to the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. John Pickard was taken before the same committee on the same day by Captain Espy, and after taking the oath of allegiance to the United States, was placed under £100 bonds and dismissed. (See Harvey's History Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley, pp. 918, 919, and Pennsylvania Archives, Second Series, Vol. 19--pp. 364, 365.)

Bartholomew Pickart of Fort Plain, N. Y., formerly of Palatine, N. Y., made his will Dec. 25, 1782. It was probated July 21, 1784, and named his wife, Philipbina, and "Maria Catharine, wife of my nephew, Bartholomew Pickart," and her two sons, Conrad and Christian. Abraham Coopman was named overseer. Bartholomew Pickart of Manheim, Montgomery Co., N. Y., made his will March 9, 1804, and it was probated Feb. 11, 1809, at Fonda, N. Y. It names his wife, was married to Barbara, daughter of Conrad, Sr., and Maria Margaret Countryman. He was probably a brother of John Pickert. (See later.)

I. John Pickart (Pickard, Pickert) was married to Anna Rosina, daughter of Conrad, Sr., and Maria Margaret Countryman. (Family No. 471—Countryman.) He was a school teacher and an accomplished linguist. He was also employed as an interpreter, in the intercourse between the early settlers and the Indians. The Indian Deed of April 23, 1752, by which several Indians conveyed title to the British Crown for the 950 acres of land subsequently granted by patent to Conrad Countryman (abstract in Family No. 471—Countryman) contains the statement: "John Pickart having been sworn in to serve as an interpreter." He was a member of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Committee of Safety (Bib.-147) and was Quartermaster in Colonel Samuel Campbell's Canajoharie Regiment, later commanded by Colonel Samuel Clyde, of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the American Revolution. He was one of the Trustees of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, (Geisenberg Church) at or near Hallsville, N. Y., May 9, 1767, when the 20 acre tract, on which the Geisenberg Church was built, was bought. He is said to have died from injuries received in the War of the Revolution. The names of three of the children of John and Anna Rosina (Countryman) Pickart appear in the record of the Lutheran Church as follows: 1, Nicklas, born or baptised Nov. 6, 1752; 2, Anna, born or baptised May 11, 1754, Conrad Contreman and Rachel Pickart as sponsors; 3, Maria Margaret, born or baptised March 11, 1756. Other children of John Pickart named by Frothingham (Bib.-156) were: 4, John, Jr.; 5, Jacob; 6, Henry. John, Jr., who was perhaps the oldest son, was probably married to Maria ———, and their daughter, Anna Margaret, born Jan. 25, 1775, was baptised Feb. 15, 1775, Nicholas Pickart and Margaret Stenzel, sponsors.

II. (1). Nicholas, son of John and Anna Rosina (Countryman) Pickart, was born or baptised Nov. 6, 1752, in Albany, later Tryon Co., N. Y. He was married to Margaret (probably Stenzel). He served as a private in the Canajoharie Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, commanded by Colonel Samuel Campbell and later by Colonel Samuel Clyde. He died about 1830. THE BELLINGER FAMILIES

The Bellinger families of Albany, later Tryon and Montgomery Co., N. Y., had at least three representatives among the Palatines settled in the Hudson River Valley in New York. In 1711 Henry and Marcus Bellinger, living at Annsberg, volunteered for service in the company of Captain Hartman Windecker in the British expedition against Canada. Frederick Bellinger, who resided at Queensbury, vol-

One of their 13 children died in infancy. The others were: 1, Maria, married to John Walrath; 2, Elizabeth, born 1809, died 1877, married to Daniel Lintner, born 1807, died 1873, (See Family No. 357—Lintner); 3, Lydia, married to Henry Miller; 4, Margaret, married to Jacob Sitts; 5, Jacob; 6, Isaac; 7, Peter G., born Dec. 19, 1816, died Aug. 2, 1887; 8, Adam G., born 1822, died Nov. 15, 1895, married to Harriet J., born 1824, died Dec. 23, 1898, daughter of John Ehle, born 1797, died May 18, 1871; 9, Nancy, born March 18, 1822, died Feb. 12, 1898, married to John Oliver Diefendorf, born July 15, 1819, died March 18, 1886; 10, Eve, married to George Ehle; 11, Julianna, married to Aaron Dillenbeck; 12, William, died in youth in 1836. unteered for the same service in the company of Captain John Conrad Weiser. Henry, Marcus and Frederick Bellinger are names that appear in various records of Tryon Co., N. Y., at about the time of the War of the American Revolution. Frederick Bellinger (Pellinger), Johannes Bellinger and his wife, Margaret, and Peter Bellinger and his wife, Margaret, are all named as patentees in the Burnetsfield (German Flats, N. Y.,) patent, granted April 30, 1725, (Indian Deed, July 9, 1722). The will of a Frederick Bellinger of Canajoharie District, Albany Co., N. Y., made Nov. 21, 1764, probated Jan. 20, 1768, names his son, Thomas, and his daughter, Elizabeth, married to Jacob Klock. Jacob Klock and Heindrick Frey, Esq., were named executors. That some of the Bellingers of the Hudson River Valley settled in Schoharie and remained there is suggested by the fact that the name of Joost Bellinger appears as that of a witness to the will of Peter Usuley, (made Feb. 9, 1746-7) of Schoharie, Albany Co., N. Y. A Frederick Bellinger was married to Anna Rosina Walradt (Walradin), and their daughter, Maria Margaret, was born or baptised Sept. 14, 1752. (Bib.-143.) An Anna Maria Bellinger was married to Peter Kilts and their daughter, Susannah, was baptised in the summer of 1751. (Bib.-143.) A Marcus Bellinger was supervisor of Tryon Co., N. Y., in 1780. (Bib.-149.) An Adam Bellinger settled two or three miles north of Little Falls, N. Y. (Bib.-149.)

According to Sims, (Bib.-149), Johannes Bellinger had six virgin daughters about 1781. One of them was married to Philip Helmer, whose mother was a daughter of Christian Nellis. She was married (2) to Captain Jacob Klock. Philip Helmer left five daughters, Mrs. Maria (Helmer) Scouton; Catharine, married to Christian Shepperman; Anna, married to James Gremps; Lana, married to George Lambert, and Delia, married to John C. Ehle. (Family No. 494—Ehle.) Philip Helmer's widow was married (2) to Leonard Helmer.

Philip Bellinger, probably his brother, a member of the same company, was captured Oct. 24, 1781, and released Nov. 15, 1782. (Bib.-141.) Christian Bellinger was married to Barbara (or Barnaba), daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth (Bellinger) Diefendorf, of Charlestown, Montgomery Co., N. Y. Johannes Schnell, a Palatine residing at Annsberg, in the Hudson River Valley, N. In the same year Jacob Schnell, a Palatine, residing at Queensburg in the Hudson River Valley, volunteered for the same service in the company of Captain John Conrad Weiser.

Johannes Schnell, born about 1695, died Sept. 12, 1787, settled in Stone Arabia, Albany Co., N. Y. The Reformed Dutch Protestant Church records recite that Johannes Schnell, born in Jan., 1696, in Europe, died, aged 92 years. Jost Schnell was one of the representatives of the Reformed Church in 1744, where these lands were divided with the Lutheran Church. (Bib.-149.) The will of Johannes Schnell was made in Stone

It refers to his son, George, "Who is supposed to have been killed by the enemy Indians," and to Mary, the wife of George, and to Jacob, Peggy, Catharine, Mary, and Elizabeth, children of George and Mary. Y., and had in family, living at home, herself, three males over 16 and one female. The records of the Reformed Dutch Protestant Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y., have the following: 1, Adam Loucks and Catharine Elizabeth Loucks married Dec. 16, 1732 (?), and their daughter, Catharine, born or baptised Feb. 21, 1750, Andreas Fink, sponsor; a child, name not recorded, born or baptised March 2, 1755; 2, Nicholas and Elizabeth (Schnell) Fehling, a son Adam, born or baptised May 27, 1747, and a daughter, Anna Elizabeth, born or baptised Sept. 9, 1752, Johannes and Anna Elizabeth Schnell, sponsors.

Hans Yost Schnell, who was probably a brother of Johannes Schnell, was married to Maria Herkimer, (Bib.-94) and among their children were five or six sons who are said to have been killed in the battle of Oriskany, N. Y., Aug. 6, 1777. They also had a daughter, Elizabeth, who was married to Nicholas, born in 1720, died Jan. 7, 1787, son of Hendrick H. Fehling, also a son George and a son Peter. (Family No. 494—Fehling.)

George, son of Hans Yost and Maria (Herkimer) Schnell, was of Palatine, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1786, when he made his will. It was probated at Fonda, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1790, and names his wife, Hannepa (Anna Eva), and his children: 1, Han Yost; 2, Adam; 3, Peter; 4, George; 5, Jacob; 6, Maria; 7, Appalonia (she was sponsor Sept. 2, 1791, with Heinrich Herth, for Heinrich, born Aug. 25, 1791, son of Conrad and Appalonia (Countryman) Herth). George Schnell named his brother, Peter Schnell, and Jacob Aker and George Aker, Jr., executors of his will. The will of Adam Schnell, probably son of George Schnell, was made in Palatine, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1800, and was probated at Fonda, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1815. It refers to his wife, not named, and names his son, Han Yost, and his daughter, Appalonia, wife of Severenus S. Dygert, (married March 4, 1792). The will of Jost A. Snell of Palatine, made Feb. 26, 1824, and probated at Fonda, N. Y., May 4, 1824, names his wife, Christian; his oldest son, Adam; his son, John, and his youngest son, Henry.

Peter, born June 24, 1730, died July 24, 1804, son of Hans Yost (Yoost, Joseph) and Maria (Herkimer) Schnell, was married to Anna, born in 1750, died in 1842, probably daughter of Peter and Anna Maria (Bellinger) Kiltz. He served in the company of Captain Christian House of Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution. Some of the children of Peter and Anna (Kiltz) Schnell were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Suffrenus, married to Eve Frey; 2, Jacob I., married to Elizabeth, daughter of Lieutenant Henry Timmerman, born 1738, died 1807, and Margaret (Petrie) Timmerman (Family No. 357—Timmerman, No. 362—Petrie); 3, Peter P., born 1771, died 1830, married to Ama Timmerman; 4, George P., married to Margaret ———; 5, Catharine, married to John Adam, son of Lieutenant Henry Timmerman; 6, Anna, born June 2, 1787, died April 26, 1873, married to Conrad Zimmerman. (Family No. 362—Zimmerman.)

According to Sims (Bib.-149), John Schnell, John Schnell, Jr., a fifer, George and Jacob Schnell, of Stone Arabia, N. Y., took part in the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 6, 1777. They were all doubtless of the family of Johannes and Anna Elizabeth Schnell. According to the same authority, Joseph, Jacob, Frederick, Suffrenus and Peter Schnell also took part in the same battle. These were all from Schnell's Bush, where Hans Yost Schnell lived and were doubtless members of his family. For the estate of Jacob Schnell of Palatine, probably son of Han Yost, his son, John, of Canajoharie, N. Y., was appointed administrator, Aug. 26, 1784. Jost Schnell and Harris Schnell were representatives of the Reformed Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y., when, in 1744, the church lands were divided with the Lutheran Church. Joost Schnell is named in a deed of Nov. 23, 1759, conveying lands lying north of the Mohawk River, and about one mile from the river, from Jacob Timmerman of Canajoharie District, to Lawrence, Theobald, George and Henry Timmerman of the same district. These lands are described as having been patented to "Me and Joost Schnell." (Family No. 357—Timmerman.)

THE WOHLGEMUTH FAMILY

I. The pioneer of the Wohlgemuth family in Montgomery Co., N. Y., was Johannes Wohlgemuth, who is said to have come to America with his brother, Wilhelm. He was born in Dresden, Germany, in Nov., 1719. He apparently settled first in the District of Canajoharie, Albany Co., N. Y. John Woolkenwood served as a private in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia. Two John Wohlgemuths were named in the New York Bounty Right documents as owners of "Class Rights." They were probably father and son. Johannes Wohlgemuth afterward removed to Palatine, N. Y., where he became the owner of a large farm which is described in a deed of 1751 as "situated in the town of Palatine, north of the Mohawk, north from Spraker's Basin, and a part of Lot 4 of Van Slyck's patent. Half of it has remained in the possession of the Wohlgemuth family from its date of purchase by Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr. In Feb., 1785, Johannes Wohlgemuth, Jr., sold half of it to his son, Jacob. Jacob, born 1789, sold it to his son, Leonard, in 1851. From Leonard, born 1818, died 1897, title passed to his son, Peter

C., born 1854, and it is now occupied by his son, Claude P. Wohlgemuth. Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr., died March 15, 1792, aged 72 years, 4 months. (Bib.-143.) His will, made July 17, 1788, and probated May 31, 1792, named Andrew Oathout, Esq., of Schenectady and William Wohlgemuth, executors. Bequeathing £5 to his son, Johannes, "who had already received his share by Conveyance," he gave the rest of his estate to his son, William.

Some of the children of Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr., were (order of birth not certain): 1, Johannes, Jr., born Nov. 27, 1747, died March 4, 1797, (see later); 2, Catharine, married to Jacob Moyer, Nov. 24, 1767; 3, Maria, married to Johannes Seeber, Nov. 18, 1767; 4, Wilhelm, born Aug. 28, 1763, died March 26, 1813, (see later). Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr., was evidently affiliated with the Reformed Dutch Protestant Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y.

II. (1). Johannes, Jr., son of Johannes Wohlgemuth, was born Nov. 27, 1747, and was married, Oct. 17, 1769, to Anna Maria Schmidt. In Feb., 1785, he bought from his father half of the homestead in Palatine, N. Y. In the American Revolution he was a member of the Battalion of Minute Men under command of Colonel Samuel Campbell, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, and was a Sergeant in Captain Adam Lipe's Company, Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia. His name appears in the New York Bounty Right Documents as the owner of a "class right." He was a pew holder, member and Elder in the Reformed Dutch Protestant Church of Stone Arabia. In the minutes of the Consistory there is the following reference to him: "He was an Elder of the Church who merited a solemn mourning, as well of the Consistory as of the members of the Church." He left behind, besides his wife, nine children, viz.: One son, eight daughters. Text II, Timothy iv, 7, 8. He died March 4, 1797, and was buried March 6, 1797.

The children of Johannes, Jr., and Anna Maria (Schmidt) Wohlgemuth were: 1, Catharine, born Oct. 22, 1770, married, April 18, 1790, to Elias Rudo; 2, Anna, born Aug. 24, 1772, married, Jan. 8, 1792, to Lorentz Stamm, whose daughter, Maria, born Nov. 10, 1794, had for sponsors at her baptism, William and Maria (Countryman) Wohlgemuth, and whose son, John, born Feb. 16, 1803, baptised March 5, 1803, had Jost and Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Stamm for sponsors; 3, Mary Margaret, born Oct. 21, 1774, married, Nov. 1, 1796, to Conrad, born April or Aug. 16, 1772, died Oct. 20, 1849, son of Johannes and Eva (Sprecher) Dillenbeck, (Family No. 471—Sprecher-Dillenbeck later); 4, Maria, born Feb. 9, 1777, married to Matthias Wormuth; 5, John Johannes, born Sept. 20, 1779, died before 1797; 6, Elizabeth, born July 2, 1781, married, April 4, 1801, to John Jost Stamm; 7, Christina, born Oct. 23, 1783; 8, Helena, born March 18, 1786; 9, Jacob, born Jan. 24, 1789, baptised Feb. 8, 1789, Jacob and Maria Sophia Scholl, sponsors, (see later); 10, Eva, born Aug. 18, 1791, baptised Aug. 28, 1791, John and Eva (Sprecher) Dillenbeck, sponsors; 11, Solomon, born May 26, 1794, baptised June 8, 1794, Solomon and Catharine Moyer, sponsors, died Aug. 11, 1794; 12, John, born July 9, 1795, baptised July 12, 1795, died April 11, 1796. In 1790 the family of John Wohlgemuth, Jr., consisted of himself, one male over 16, two males under 16, and eight females. (Bib.-10.) His will, made Jan. 13, 1794, and probated at Fonda, N. Y., June 11, 1799, named his wife, Maria, and his brother, William, executors. His wife, Anna Maria Schmidt, was born June 2, 1751, and died Oct. 7, 1829.

III. (9). Jacob, son of Johannes, Jr., and Anna Maria (Schmidt) Wohlgemuth, was born Jan. 24, 1789, and was married, March 25, 1810, to Margaret, daughter of Frederick Dockstader. He was a Deacon and an Elder of the Reformed Dutch Protestant Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y. The children of Jacob and Margaret (Dockstader) Wohlgemuth were: 1, Maria, born Nov. 7, 1813, baptised July 16, 1814, married to George Van Wie; 2, Sarah Ann, born Feb. 13, 1815, baptised April 30, 1815; 3, John Kelly, born Dec. 19, 1816, baptised Feb. 9, 1817, married to Catharine Vedder; 4, Leonard, born May 5, 1818, baptised June 22, 1818, married (1) to Dorothy Coughnet, married (2) to Elizabeth Coughnet. He died Jan. 29, 1897, and his children were: i, Jacob L., married to Nellie, daughter of L. B. Clark; ii, Maggie A., born May 10, 1852, married to Vedder Yates, born April 17, 1850, died Oct. 26, 1901; iii, Peter C., born June 27, 1854, prominent business man, Canajoharie, N. Y., married Oct. 11, 1876, to Ella, born Feb. 24, 1857, daughter of Peter B. and Maria (Smith) Snell, whose children are: a, Claude P., born Sept. 30, 1877, married to Lillian F. Allen; b, Karl L., born Jan. 29, 1880, married to Fossie Burling; c, Fred J., born Dec. 5, 1881, married to Anna L. Richards, Oct. 11, 1882; 5, Anna, born May 30, 1820, baptised July 7, 1820, died Feb. 2, 1857, married to Christian Wert.

II. (4). Wilhelm, or William, Wohlgemuth, son of Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr., was born Aug. 28, 1763, and died March 26, 1813. He served in the American Revolution as private and Corporal in Captain Adam Lipe's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia. (Bib.-141 and 140.) He was married to Maria, born Aug. 27, 1763, died March 11, 1845, aged 81 years, 6 months, 12 days, daughter of Captain George and Christina (Diefendorf) Countryman. (See Family No. 471—Countryman.) They first established their home on the Johannes Wohlgemuth, Sr., homestead, in Palatine, N. Y., which William Wohlgemuth inherited from his father. It is probable that about 1797 they removed to Minden, N. Y., where, Jan. 23, 1797, William Wohlgemuth bought from John D. and Margaret (Countryman) Young, (see Family No. 392—Young) his wife's brother-in-law and sister, 50 acres of Lot 54 of the Livingston patent. Sept. 15, 1791, William Wohlgemuth had bought from Hendrick Frey, Adam Fonda, Abraham Van Vechten, John Yates and Douw Fonda, executors of Jellis Fonda, 142 acres of Lot 12, of the Captain Harmanus Van Slyck patent of Sept., 1716, for £164, 4s, excepting one-third of the tract sold to John Fonda. This tract was described as a wood lot and was situated near the Johannes Wohlgemuth homestead. April 18, 1805, he bought from Peter and Anna Westerman (see Family No. 357—Westerman) 151 acres of Lot 13 of the Livingston patent. This farm of 400 acres had been sold, May 31, 1774, by Phillip Livingston to Abraham Arndt of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and was a part of the Livingston patent of Feb. 10, 1762, (see Family No. 1339—Arndt) Abraham Arndt of Williams Township, Pa., sold 200 acres of it May 27, 1777, to his son, Abraham Arndt, Jr., of the District of Canajoharie, N. Y. He sold it June 7, 1785, to Wendell Zeller, who, Oct. 23, 1793, sold it to George Goertner, from whom title probably passed to Peter Westerman, Jr., his brother-in-law. (See Family No. 357—Goertner.) In the deed of 1791 William Wohlgemuth is described as of Palatine, N. Y., in that of 1797 as of Canajoharie, and in that of 1805, as of Palatine, N. Y. William Wohlgemuth died in Frey's Bush, Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., March 26, 1813. His wife, Maria (Countryman) Wohlgemuth, died there March 11, 1845. They are buried in a private plot on the "Shoemaker" farm in Frey's Bush, N. Y.

THE DILLENBECK FAMILY

(Dillenback, Dilleback, Tilleback, Silleback, Sillepach, Sillinback, Silback, etc.)

1. Martinus Dilleback, a Palatine residing at Queensburg in the Hudson River Valley, in 1711, volunteered, in that year, for service in the British expedition against Canada, in the company of Captain John Conrad Weiser. He settled finally in the Mohawk Valley, N. Y. He is named as one of the representatives of the Lutheran Church, in 1744, when the Reformed Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y., divided its church lands with the Lutheran Church. He was probably a resident of the District of Canajoharie, Albany Co., N. Y.

2. I. Hendrick Dillenbeck settled in Stone Arabia, Albany Co., N. Y., and made his will there in Feb., 1764. It was probated at Fonda, N. Y., June 13, 1795, and names his wife, Annamarkret, to whom he gave "the house where I live;" his son, 1, Antes (Andrew), to whom he gave lands in Stone Arabia; his son, 2, Hendrick, to whom he gave lands at Geisenberg on the south side of the Mohawk River; his son, 3, Johannes, to whom he gave lands in Stone Arabia, N. Y.; his daughters, 4, Annamarkret; 5, Lizabet; 6, Katarina; 7, Magtalena; 8, Annabawl.

2. II. (1). Captain Andrew Dillenbeck was doubtless Antes, son of Hendrick and Anna Margaret Dillenbeck. He was a Captain in the 2nd Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution and was killed in the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 6, 1777. He was married to Catharine ———, and three of their children were: 1, Anna Margaret, born March 26, 1766; 2, Catharine, born March 3, 1768; 3, Catharine (2), born Oct. 28, 1772.

2. II. (2). Hendrick, Jr., doubtless son of Hendrick and Anna Margaret Dillenbeck, was a Sergeant in Captain Zeiley's Company of Colonel Jacob Klock's Second Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the Revolution. In 1790 he had in family living in Palatine, N. Y., himself, one male over 16, four males under 16, five females and two slaves. Under his father's will Hendrick Dillenbeck, Jr., inherited lands in Geisenberg on the south side of the Mohawk River. The will was probated in 1795. A Henry Dillenbeck of Minden, N. Y., in which town Geisenberg was situated, made his will, Feb. 1, 1821, and it was probated at Fonda, N. Y., June 30, 1824. This Henry Dillenbeck was born Feb. 28, 1743, and died May 11, 1821, and is buried in Geisenberg Cemetery. His will names his wife, Maria; his son, Henry, to whom he gave the homestead, and his daughters, Maria, Lena and Anna.

THE ABRAHAM HARDING FAMILY*

According to the New England Genealogical Register (XL-272) Abraham Harding of Boston, in New England, was a son of John Harding, late of Boran, County Essex, Eng., whose widow was Agnes Green of Tarling, County Essex, Eng. (IX-35). The inventory of the estate of Abraham Harding was made the second day of the sixth month, 1655, by Thomas Weight (Wait), Robert Hensdell and Ralph Wheelooke, and totaled £322. His will names his wife, refers to his children, including a child yet to be born, and provided that his son, John, should have a double portion. At a session of the County Court, held at Boston, April 24, 1655, letters of administration were granted to Elizabeth Harding, his widow. (XVI-160.) Oct. 1, 1665, Thomas Buttolph, John Frayre, Jr., and Elizabeth (Harding) Frayre, widow of Abraham Harding (who had been married (2) to John Frayre, Jr.), petitioned the Suffolk Co., Mass., Courts, reciting that John Frayre, Jr., by covenants of marriage with Elizabeth Harding, relict of Abraham Harding, had possessed the estate left in the hands of Elizabeth and had brought up four children and that John was now 21 years of age, and was to have a double portion of his father's estate. It was agreed that John Harding should have all the lands and housings left by his father. The petition also refers to Abraham, Elizabeth and Mary, children of Abraham and Elizabeth Harding. (XLVIII-459.) The will of John Frayre, Jr., of Medfield, Suffolk Co., Mass., names his wife, Elizabeth, and his "2 own daughters," the youngest under 14 years of age, and also names Abraham Harding, his wife's son; Mary, her daughter, and John Harding, her other son. According to Munsell's American Ancestry, Albany, N. Y., 1891, Abraham Harding, who died in Medfield, Mass., March 22, 1655, was a native of England and arrived in America in 1623, with Captain Gorges, and became a proprietor in Medfield, Mass., in 1655. He was married to Elizabeth Harding, who came from England in 1630. Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, 1860, declares that Abraham Harding was an early settler of Dedham, Mass., had perhaps lived at Braintree, was a freeman in 1645, and was one of the founders of Medfield, Mass. The Medway (Mass.) Biography and Genealogies (Jameson, 1886) relates that Abraham Harding was of Braintree, Mass. Parentage not known. He married Elizabeth Adams and resided at Medfield, Mass., and died May 22, 1655. The New England Genealogical Register describes him as a glover and planter who lived in Boston, Braintree and Medfield, Mass., a freeman in 1645. On the 28th day of the sixth month, 1640, he executed a letter of Attorney for the collection of a legacy left by his father, John Harding, of Borson, Eng. His will was probated April 24, 1655, and names his wife, Elizabeth; son, John, and other children. (Bib.-100-101-105-122.)

Samuel, Jr., son of Samuel and Mary (Cutler) Harding, was admitted a freeman at Woodstock, July 24, 1749, O. S., when the town was organized as a Connecticut Township. He was of Woodstock, Conn., Jan. 29, 1770, where he was named as a member of a committee "to examine the records of the people who call themselves Baptists," and in connection with the Anti-Baptist agitation of the times, he was also named to serve on a committee to petition the Governor of Connecticut "in the affairs between the Society (Congregational Church) and the Baptists and Anabaptists." At a Town meeting held Dec. 26, 1774, Captain Lyon, Moderator, Samuel Harding was named to serve on a Committee of Inspection under the resolution, "That we do approve of, and oblige ourselves, to the utmost of our powers, and all persons for us, and under us, shall comply with the Associators of the aforesaid Congress in every part and paragraph thereof, and, more especially, in the non-consumption agreement by them recommended." Soon after their marriage David and Lavina (Shoemaker) Countryman established their home in the town of Pamelia, Jefferson Co., N. Y., where he engaged in farming and remained there during his life. Mrs. Lavina (Shoemaker) Countryman, the last surviving member of her father's family, died Dec. 18, 1901. Their children were: 1, Joseph, born Sept. 30, 1842; 2, George Irwin, born Sept. 11, 1845; 3, Anna, born July 21, 1847; 4, Reuben, born July 14, 1849; 5, Herman, born July 19, 1855; 6, Mary Alma, born July 16, 1857; 7 and 8, Orvis and Orville, born July 6, 1860; 9, Martha, born Feb. 10, 1866.

THE COUNTRYMAN FAMILY*

(Gunderman, Gunterman, Cunderman, Conderman, Conterman, Contreman, Cuntryman.)

I. The name of John Frederick Conterman appears in a "Census of the Palatines in both towns on the west side of the River Hudson, in the winter of 1710," as the head of a family consisting of three lads, from 9 to 15 years of age, and one woman. His name also appears in the list of Palatines at Livingston Manor, N. Y., in the winter of 1711. (Bib.-138, 67.) One of the sons of John Frederick Conter-

*Andrew Conterman and Henry Conterman were members of the Foot Company of Militia, at Marbletown, Ulster Co., N. Y., commanded by Captain Daniel Broadhead in 1738. (Bib.-138.) In 1790 the Countryman family was represented in Marbletown, Ulster Co., N. Y., by: 1, Frederick Countryman, having in family, himself, two males over 16, and 2 females; 2, Matthew Countryman, having in family, himself and three females; 3, Hendrick Countryman, having in family, himself, two males under 16, and one female. In the same year the family name was represented in Lower Smithfield, Northampton Co., Pa., by: 1, Henry Countryman, with three males over 16, himself, and two females in family; 2, Jacob Countryman, having himself, three males under 16 and four females; 3, Frederick Countryman, having in family, himself and three females. (Bib.-10.)

Pieter Conterman, "born in Hooghduytschlant, living in Palmyskill," and Catharine Hover, "born in Hooghduytschlant," and living at Walpack (N. J.), were married Dec. 26, 1752. (Bib.-240.) Hendrick and Arriantje (Keyser) Countryman had a daughter, Rachel, who was baptised Oct. 4, 1747, for whom Dirk and Rachel (Van Keuren) Van Vliet were sponsors. Aerd Van Weye and his wife, Maria (Countryman) Van Weye, had a son, Charles, born May 2, 1771, who was baptised May 5, 1771. (Bib.-240.)

In 1790 Nicholas Countryman lived in Watervliet, Albany Co., N. Y., and had in family, himself, one male over 16, two males under 16, and four females. (Bib.-10.)

man was Conrad, who settled finally in Albany, later Tryon, now Montgomery Co., N. Y. It appears to be highly probable that the Marbletown, Ulster Co., N. Y., and the Smithfield, Northampton Co., Pa., Countryman families, both of which are referred to in the foot notes, were also descendants of John Frederick Conterman. It is to be noted that in 1790 each of these families had a head of a family named Frederick Countryman (Contreman, Conterman). The Census of Palatines in 1710 appears to have included only men, women, and lads from 9 to 15 years of age in the returns. What other children John Frederick Conterman may have had, in addition to three lads from 9 to 15 years of age, the writer has failed to learn.

II. (1). Conrad, son of John Frederick Conterman, came to America with his parents in 1708-10, a member of one of the early Palatine families which were first settled, by the British Government, in the Hudson River Valley. He settled finally in the Mohawk Valley, N. Y., and may have been of the company which, under the leadership of Captain Hartman Windecker, founded "Hartman's Dorp." One of his older sons, Adam, owned a farm there in 1802. Conrad Countryman became the founder of one of the largest and most influential families in what is now Montgomery Co., N. Y.

There was granted, Nov. 12, 1731, to Hartman Windecker, Conrad Gunterman and Casper Leypp, (Family No. 471—Windecker-Leypp) a patent for 2,000 acres of land. The petition, relating to this patent, bearing date the 17th day of Sept., 1730, was addressed to his "Excellency, John Montgomery, Esq., Captain General and Governor in Chief of the Province of New York, New Jersey, in Council, and is entitled "The Humble petition of Hartman Windecker, Conrad Gunterman and Casper Leup, Distressed Palatines," and "Humbly sheweth that there is a tract of land in the County of Albany, on the south side of the Maquas River, to the westward of the land granted to Peter Wagener, Conraet Weyser and Johannes Lawler, about three miles distant from the said river. Your petitioners, being inclined to purchase from the Native owners, the quantity of two thousand acres of the said land, in order to obtain his Majesty's patent for the same, under such quit rents, restrictions, and Provisos, as by his Majesty's Instructions is Directed. Wherefore your Petitioners most humbly pray for his Majesty's lease and License to purchase said tract of land. And your Petitioners as in duty bound, shall ever pray, etc." Signed, Hartman Windecker, Coenraedt Contreman, Casper Leypps.

Oct. 8, 1730, Tarachjories, Caradondie, and (name lacking), set their marks, the Turtle and the Deer, and seals upon a deed conveying title to the above referred to tract of land, unto our "Most Gracious Sovereign, Lord, George the Second, by the Grace of God of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc., his heirs and successors." This deed recites, "To all people to whom these presents shall or may come. We, Tarachjories, Caradondie, and ——— Native Indians of the Province of New York send Greetings: Know ye that for sundry good causes and considerations us moving, but more especially for and in consideration of the value of 65 pounds, current money of the said Province, unto us in hand paid at and before the ensealing and delivery hereof, by Hartman Windecker, Coenrad Contreman and Casper Leypp, the receipt whereof we do hereby acknowledge and herewith to be fully paid and contented, etc."

This 2,000 acre tract of land was, according to the terms of the patent, divided equally between Hartman Windecker, Conrad Contreman and Casper Leypp.

The patent bearing date Nov. 12, 1731, at the City of New York, names "Our trusty and well beloved Rip Van Dam, Esq., President of our Council of our Province of New York, and now Commander-in-Chief of our said Province (in Council)," and declares that favorable action was taken on the above petition on the 21st day of Sept., 1730. It further names Archibald Kennedy, Esq., Receiver General of the Province, Cadwallader Colden, Esq., Surveyor-General, and the Commander-in-Chief of the commissioners who had been appointed "For the setting out of all lands to be granted within our said province." The patent recites, "And in setting out of the said lands our said Commissioners have had regard to the profitable and unprofitable acres and have taken care that the length of the tract do not extend along the bank of any river." The patent conveyed title to 2,000 acres and also all and singular the woods, underwoods, timbers, feedings, pastures, meadows, swamps, ways, water, water courses, rivers, brooks, rivulets, runs and streams, water fishings, fowlings, hunting and harking hills, rocks, mountains, quarrys, mines and minerals, (except gold mines and silver mines), which now are standing, growing, lying being or to be found in or upon the above granted tract of land or any part thereof. It also provided that "All the said tract or parcel of land to be holden of us, our heirs and successors, in free and common soccage, as of our Manor of East Greenwich, in the County of Kent, within our Kingdom of Great Britain." The yearly rent of 2 shillings and 6 pence for each hundred acres was payable at our "Custom House in our City of New York, unto our own or their collectors or Receiver General there for the time being, on the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, commonly called Lady Day." The patent carries a stipulation that within three years next ensuing the date of the patent, at least three of every 50 acres capable of cultivation shall be settled and under cultivation. The burning or setting on fire of the woods to clear the land, in such a manner as to destroy or impair or hinder the growth of the trees, was prohibited under penalty of forfeiture of the patent. The reservation "is not nor ought it to be so construed, to hinder said grantees or any of them, from clearing or effectively cultivating the said granted lands." Another, and the principal reservation, in the patent is as follows: "Except and always reserved out of this our present grant, unto us, our heirs and successors, forever, all trees of the diameter of 24 inches and upward at ten inches above the ground, for masts for our Royal Navy, and, also, such other trees as may be fit to make planks, knees, and other things necessary for the use of the Navy only—with free liberty and license for any person or persons whatsoever; by us, our heirs or successors, under our or their Sign Manuel, either with or without workman, horses, wagons, carts or any other carriages, to enter and come into and upon the said lands and every or any part thereof, and there to fall, cut down, root up, hew, saw, square, have, take and carry away the same for the use aforesaid." The patent is signed, "Witness our trusty and well-beloved Rip Van Dam, Esq., President of our Council for our Province of New York, and now Commander-in-Chief of said Province, at the City of New York the 12th day of Nov., 1731. Signed, Frederick Morris, D. Secy. (Bib.—245.)

This tract of land was situated in that section of what is now Montgomery Co., N. Y., which was subsequently known as Dutchtown. In 1790 the tract was owned by the following Montgomery Co. farmers: Adam Countryman, Adam M. Countryman, George Countryman, Abraham Dieffendorf, Henry H. Dieffendorf, Jacob H. Dieffendorf, Wilhelmus Dillenbeck, Jonas Dillenbeck, Nicholas Dillenbeck, Nicholas F. Dockstader, Jacob H. Moyer, Peter Miller, John F. Keller, Adam Timmerman, John D. Timmerman, Thomas Timmerman, William Timmerman, Cornelius Van Camp, Jr., Jacob A. Walradt, Henry Walradt, Esq., John D. Young, Henry I. Zoller and Henry A. Zoller. (Bib.—289.)

April 23, 1752, Coenradt Contreman, of Canajoharie, Albany Co., N. Y., paid forty Spanish dollars and one pound of Strouds to Paulus, Turich, Joris, Joseph Turichoorus and Adam, Native Indians, of the Province of New York, sole and absolute proprietors "Of a tract of land containing 950 acres," situate, lying and being in the County of Albany on the south side of the Mohawk River and upon the south side of a creek called by the Indians Otsquaga." The survey began on the south-east side of a creek or brook, called by the Indians, Ockstungo, where it falls into the said creek or brook called Otsquaga. This deed is signed by Joseph Turichjoris, Paulus and Adam. The signing was witnessed by Jacob Zimmerman and Henrich Mattes. Cadwallader Colden, Jr., Deputy Surveyor, certified to the making of the survey and to the payment to the Indians. Hendrick Frey, "One of His Majesties Justices of the Peace for the County of Albany," certified to the inserting of boundaries in the deed and to the actual payment of monies to the Indians, as well as to the signing of the deed in his presence. The deed also carries the following notation: "John Pickard having been sworn in to serve as an interpreter. (Family No. 360—Pickard.) This deed conveyed the title to the British Crown and on the 13th day of Oct., 1752, a patent, granted to Coenradt Gunterman, recites that "Whereas our loving subject Coenradt Gunterman, by his humble petition presented to our Trusty and well-beloved George Clinton, Esq., Captain General and Governor in Chief, of our Province of New York and Territories thereon depending in America, Vice Admiral of the same and Admiral of the White Squadron of our Fleet, and read in Council on the 3rd day of July last, did pray our letters patent for a certain tract of land by him purchased in our name of the Native Indians, proprietors thereof, etc." The patent contains the usual reservations and was signed "At our Fort in our City of New York, the 13th day of Oct. in the 26th year of our reign, A. D. 1752, by" Clarke, Jr. Corrections, acknowledgments and accuracy attested by G. W. Banyar, D. Secy., and Lewis A. Scott, Secy.

These two patents gave to Conrad Contreman title to about 1,600 acres of land. He lived and died in Dutchtown and he and his wife were probably buried in a private plot across the highway from the site of the home of his son, Captain George Countryman. The latter farm, still known, by older people, as the Countryman farm, is now owned by the heirs of the Alfred Walradt estate. Only some traces of the cellar of the George Countryman house remain.

The name of the wife of Conrad Contreman was undoubtedly Maria Margaret. Oct. 29, 1757, Conrad and Maria Margaret Contreman were sponsors at the baptism of Margaret, daughter of Heinrich and Julianna Haberman. (Bib.-144.) Some of the children of Conrad and Maria Margaret Contreman were (order of birth uncertain): 1, Adam, born Jan. 21, 1719, died Dec. 22, 1804; 2, Marcus, born Oct. 21, 1720, died Jan. 13, 1793; 3, Barbara, married to Isaac Pickard; 4, Anna Rosina, married to John Pickard (Family No. 360—Pickard); 5, Anna Eva, married to Wilhelmus Dillenbeck (Family No. 357—Dillenbeck); 6, Captain George, born about 1728—30, died 1808—9; 7, Jacob; 8, John Frederick; 9, Conrad, Jr., 10, Margaret, married to John Pflanz; 11, probably Joseph or Jost.

III. (1). Adam, son of Conrad and Maria Margaret Conterman, was born Jan. 21, 1719, and died Dec. 22, 1804. He was married to Anna Margaret, deceased in 1775, daughter of Casper and Catharine Leyp*. Either Adam Countryman or his son, Adam, was a private in Colonel Clyde's Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution.

Fort Willett, named for Colonel Willett, was built on the farm of Adam Countryman, which was a part of the Windecker—Conterman—Leyp patent. In 1880 this farm was owned by William Zimmerman. For a description of this fort see Sim's Frontiersmen of New York. Some of the families who had huts in the fort were those of George Countryman, Marcus Countryman, John Countryman, John Pickard, school master (Family No. 360—Pickard), Henry Sanders, Frederick Walrath, Isaac Van Camp, Henry Apple, George Bryce and Henry Walrath, Esq. Powder was secured in the hut of George Countryman. Mrs. Anna (Countryman) Plank was born in Fort Willett, and her sister, Catharine, wife of Jacob Coopman, was born in Fort Plank. (Bib.-149.) These two were children of Captain George Countryman.

The will of Adam Countryman, made Sept. 6, 1802, and probated at Fonda, N. Y., Feb. 25, 1805, names his son: 1, John, to whom he gave the farm in Hardtman's Dorpt, on which the latter then lived; 2, his daughter, Anna; 3, his grandson, John, son of his son, Adam, deceased, to whom he gave his homestead farm, "where I now live, situate in said town (Minden) the part being known by the general name of Geisenburgh, Lot No. 4, and my portion (20 acres) of Lot No. 2, in Cunderman's patent;" 4, the daughters of his son, Adam, viz.: Margaret, Catharine, Anna, Elizabeth, and Maria; 5, the wife of his son, Adam, not named; 6, Margaret, daughter of his son, Conrad, deceased. He named his brother, George, and his son-in-law, John Peter Dunckel, executors. Mrs. Anna Margaret (Leyp) Countryman, wife of Adam Countryman, was deceased in 1802, when the will of her father, Casper Leyp, was made. The known children of Adam and Anna Margaret (Leyp) Countryman were: 1, Adam, Jr., whose widow was living in 1802, and whose children were: John, Margaret, Catharine, Anna, Elizabeth, Maria; 2, John, probably John Adam Countryman, who had a son, John Adam, and other sons; 3, Conrad, deceased in 1802, had a daughter, Margaret; 4, Anna, married to John Peter Dunckel. (Family No. 357—Dunckel.) Adam Countryman died Dec. 22, 1804.

III. (2). Marcus (Marcs, Marx), son of Conrad and Maria Margaret Conterman, was born Jan. 21, 1719, and died Jan. 13, 1793. His wife, Catharine, was born May 22, 1726, and died Jan. 21, 1812†. According to the private records of the Rev.

*Casper Leyp, who was associated with Hartman Windecker and Conrad Conterman in securing a patent for 2,000 acres of land in 1731, made his will Aug. 4, 1775, and it was probated Nov. 16, 1782. (Bib.-152.) It names his wife, Catharine, to whom he bequeathed lands adjoining lands of John Appeal and the Mohawk River. It also names his son, Adam, (Captain in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, in the War of the American Revolution), married to Elizabeth ———, son, John Adamus, born Oct. 11, 1767, baptised Oct. 11, 1767, Adam Gunterman and Diebold and Elizabeth (Hahn) Zimmerman, sponsors; also his son, John; his daughter, Anna Maria, married to Jacob Van der Werker, whose daughter, Anna, born July 27, 1766, was baptised Aug. 10, 1766; his son, Jost; his daughter, Maria Elizabeth; his daughter, Anna; the children of his daughter, Margaret, wife of Adam Conderman. William Seeber, Jacob Seeber and Johannes Wohlgemuth signed the will as witnesses.

†Hartman's Dorp was founded by Captain Hartman Windecker or Vinedecker, (Family No. 471—Windecker), who, in the spring of 1723, led almost his entire village down the Susquehanna River into Pennsylvania. (Bib.-142.) A well defined family tradition of the Countryman family is to the effect that one of the sons of John Frederick Conterman "went south," presumably with one of these early Palatine companies, to Pennsylvania.

†There is recorded at Fonda, N. Y., the will of Anna Abalona Mayer, widow and relict of Felix Mayer, deceased, in which she described herself as "being old." Her first husband was evidently named Bellinger. In her will she named her son Adam Bellinger. She also left to Catharine Countryman, wife of Marcus Countryman, £25, and to Anna Eve Snell, wife of George Snell, she gave a similar sum. She also made bequests to the following: 1, the heirs of Abalona Kilts, the daughter of Peter Kilts; 2, Abalona Countryman, daughter of Marcus Countryman; 3, Abalona Snell, daughter of George Snell; 4, Abalona Countryman, daughter of Frederick Coun-

John J. Wack, noted pastor of Reformed and Lutheran churches in Tryon, later Montgomery Co., N. Y., from which these dates are copied, Mrs. Catharine Countryman, widow of Marcus Countryman, was a widow 19 years, was the mother of 13 children, including three sons and ten daughters, and had 79 grandchildren and 69 great-grandchildren. The three sons of Marcus and Catharine Countryman were: 1, Marcus, a private in Captain Diefendorf's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., Militia, in the War of the Revolution, lived in Canajoharie in 1790 and had in family living at home, himself, one male over 16 and three females; 2, John M., married to Barbara ———, made his will Nov. 26, 1805, which was probated Nov. 1, 1806, and named his three sons, (1), Marcus, oldest son, to whom he gave all his real estate "At a place called the Gausberg, near Otthout's Mill, known as No. 6 in Ostandy," who was probably married twice, first to Catharine ———, two of whose children were: (i), Johannes, born Jan. 7, 1809, baptised Jan. 15, 1809, married as John M. Countryman, "After Jan. 1, 1830, (Geisenburg Records) to Sally, ("18 years old"), born in 1811, died March 27, 1896, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery), aged 85 years, daughter of George, Jr., and Mary Lintner, two of whose children were: (a), George, born March 18, 1831, baptised June 12, 1831, died April 8, 1903, (Fort Plain Cemetery); (b), Caty Maria, born March 21, 1833, baptised April 18, 1833, Mary Lintner, widow, sponsor. Johnnes Countryman died June 7, 1885, (Fort Plain Cemetery); (ii), Peggy, born March 15, 1817, William Countryman and Peggy Seiler, sponsors at her baptism. Marcus Countryman was married (2), Aug. 1, 1824, to Anna, born Aug. 1, 1791, died Oct. 24, 1826, daughter of William and Maria (Countryman) Wohlgemuth, (Family No. 357—Wohlgemuth). John M. Countryman and Jacob G. Snyder were appointed administrators of the estate of Marcus Countryman, July 2, 1830; (2), John M., married to Barbara ———, three of whose children were: (i), Wilhelm, born June 10, 1797, baptised June 17, 1797; (ii), Elizabeth, born Feb. 24, 1802, baptised Feb. 28, 1802; (iii), Barbara, born April 17, 1805, baptised May 15, 1805; (3), William, married to Anna Knautz, whose daughter, Mary Ann, born Sept. 21, 1810, was baptised Oct. 7, 1810; (4), The will also refers to his oldest daughter as having been married. This doubtless refers to Catharine, born about 1762, died Aug. 13, 1861, in her 100th year, (Ford's Bush, N. Y., Cemetery). She was married to Englehard Wagner, who is named in the will as an executor. Their daughter, Elizabeth, born June 8, 1798, died Feb. 16, 1887, was married to Frederick Sneck, born May 2, 1799, died Jan. 30, 1890. Their grandson, Englehard Wagner, born 1823, died Nov. 18, 1900, and his wife, Betsey, born June 8, 1829, died Oct. 17, 1895, are also buried in Ford Bush Cemetery). (5), The will also refers to other daughters married. One of them apparently was Margaret, who was married to Peter Hoch. (Family No. 396—Hoch.) John M. Countryman named his brother, Conrad M. Countryman, and his son-in-law, Englehard Wagner, executors. He was born about 1740 and died between Nov. 26, 1805, and Nov. 1, 1806. He was a private in the Company of Captain Diefendorf of Colonel Clyde's Regiment, in the War of the American Revolution; 3, Conrad M., born July 19, 1748, died April 2, 1817, served in the Company of Captain Adam Leyp, of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment in the American Revolution. His will was made March 24, 1817, was probated at Fonda, N. Y., April 17, 1817, and names the following children: (i), Marcus, married to Anna Schumacher of Herkimer, N. Y., three of whose children were: (a), Peter, born Feb. 20, 1818, baptised March 22, 1818, Peter and Delia Countryman, sponsors; (b), Elizabeth, born June 3, 1820, baptised July 23, 1820, Christopher Schumacher and his wife, Elizabeth, sponsors; (c), Catharine, born Sept. 11, 1822, baptised Sept. 29, 1822, Adam and Catharine Countryman, sponsors; probably removed to Stone Mills, in the vicinity of Watertown, N. Y.; (ii), Adam; (iii), Peter, married to Delia ———; (iv), Catharine, oldest daughter; (v), Margaretta; (vi), Elizabeth, youngest daughter.

III. (6). Captain George, son of Conrad and Maria Margaret Conterman, was born about 1728 and died between April 28, 1808, and March 11, 1809. He enlisted and served as an ensign in Captain Diefendorf's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution, and was promoted Lieutenant. In 1786 he was appointed and commissioned Captain of Company No. 5, of Montgomery Co., N. Y., Militia, and held that tryman; 5, Abalona Snell, daughter of Adam Snell; 6, Anna Elizabeth Snell, wife of Adam Snell; 7, Anna Maria Kiltz, late the wife of Peter Kiltz, deceased. Anna Maria Kiltz was doubtless a daughter of Mrs. Anna Abalona (——) Bellinger-Mayer, and a sister of Adam Bellinger. At any rate Peter and Anna Maria (Bellinger) Kiltz had a daughter, Susanna, baptised in the Reformed Church in 1751. (See Family No. 362—Schnell.)

rank April 11, 1796, in the command of Colonel Christopher P. Yates. (Family No. 370—Yates.) He resigned his command and, April 3, 1798, Cornelius Van Camp (Family No. 471—Diefendorf) was appointed to succeed him. Mr. Norman W. Countryman of Fultonville, N. Y., has a number of interesting Countryman Revolutionary relics, among which is Captain George Countryman's musket, with date 1777, and his powder horn, with his name inscribed upon it. The latter is elaborately carved showing the figure of a man, with sword in hand, several dwellings and a deer, with date March, 1780. There is also a certificate which reads as follows:

"I do hereby certify that George Countryman, head of class in Colonel Clyde's Regiment of Militia in Tryon Co., has delivered over and mustered before us an able bodied man to serve in the Levies for said class till the first of January, according to the Law of the Legislature of New York, to serve the time of nine months, unless sooner discharged." Dated, Fort Plain, N. Y., May 3, 1782, and signed, Victor Putnam, Leader.

Captain George Countryman was married to Christina, daughter of Heinrich and Anna Rosina Diefendorf. (Diefendorf family later.) Their home was situated in the Windecker-Conterman-Leyp patent, in what was long known as Dutchtown, in what was later the Town of Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., and is said to have been the only house, in all that populously settled section, which was not destroyed in the Tory-Indian Raid of 1780. For some time, it is said, (Bib.-149) the standing house was regarded as a monument of savage mercy. But after the war it appears the mystery was solved. One of the brothers of Captain George Countryman is said to have been a Tory, became a traitor to the American Cause and followed the Johnsons and Butlers into Canada. He left his family in Dutchtown and, at the time of the raid of 1780, fearing that his wife might have found a refuge in the home of his brother, George, his entreaties to have his brother's house spared, prevailed. After the war this brother sent word from Canada to Captain George Countryman informing him why his house had been spared and assuring him that had he known, at the time, his own wife was not in it he would have seen his house smoke like the rest. Captain Countryman replied forbidding his brother ever to darken his door, since, he added, "You have not only been false to your country but also you have been a traitor to your King." Captain George Countryman died in 1808-9. His wife died about 1810. They were buried in the Geisenburg Cemetery, near Fort Plain, N. Y. His will was made April 28, 1808, and was probated, at Fonda, N. Y., March 11, 1809. It names all the children referred to hereinafter, all of whom were married excepting his youngest daughter. He gave to each of his eight daughters £50 and provided that his daughter, Delia, should have as much in cattle and other effects as his other daughters had already received. He gave to his son, Jacob, £125 and 75 acres, part of Lot No. 20, of the Jacob Lansing patent. His son, John George, received £125 and 75 acres of Lot 26 of the same patent. His son, Daniel, inherited the homestead.

Captain George Countryman was actively identified with the Lutheran Church throughout his life and it is an interesting fact that the three trustees to whom Peter Waggoner, George Reasner and Maria Catharine, his wife, Frederick Blank and Ottilia (Adelia, Delia?), his wife, on the 9th day of May, 1767, conveyed the 20 acres of land on which the Geisenburg Church was built, were brothers-in-law. They were: George Countryman, son of Conrad Conterman; John Pickard, who was married to Anna Rosina, daughter of Conrad Conterman, and Wilhelmus Dillenbaugh (Dillenbeck), who was married to Anna Eva, daughter of Conrad Conterman.

The children of Captain George and Christina (Diefendorf) Countryman were: 1, Maria, born Aug. 29, 1763, died March 11, 1845; 2, Jacob, born Feb. 24, 1765; 3, Margaret, born March 12, 1767; 4, Elizabeth, born June 6, 1769, at whose baptism Jacob Reasner and Elizabeth Dussler were sponsors, married to John George, son of Johannes Peter Dunckel (see Family No. 357—Dunckel); 5, Magdalene, born March 23, 1771, married to Isaac Pickard; 6, John George, born April 1, 1773, died Aug. 3, 1851; 7, Christina, born July 29, 1775; 8, Catharine, born June 21, 1780; 9, Anna, born Jan. 4, 1783; 10, Daniel, born Nov. 6, 1785; 11, Delia, born Nov. 28, 1787.

*THE CRONKHITE FAMILY. I, Harck (Herrickse or Hendrick) Krankheyt is said to have come to New York from Southern France and to have been married in New York, Nov. 16, 1642, to Wyntie Tunis. They settled on a farm in Queens Co., N. Y., where all their children were born. Several of their sons and daughters settled in Westchester Co., N. Y. The records of the Reformed Dutch Church of New York, published in several volumes of the Collections of the New York Historical Society, and those of the Old Dutch Church of Sleepy Hollow, published in 1901, contain many items of interest relating to the descendants of Harck and Wyntie (Tunis) Krankheyt.

In his will he describes his place of residence as the "Messuage, tenement or plantation on which I now dwell in Newtown, at or near the place called and known by the name of 'ye poor Bowery'." This property he gave to his nephew, Abraham Lent, of Westchester Co., N. Y., referring to him as the son of his sister, Tryntie. Including the name of Jacobus, the will of the latter names fourteen children of Harck and Wyntie (Tunis) Krankheyt, as follows: 1, Tryntie, who had a son Abraham Lent, living in Westchester Co., N. His will, made April 17, 1805, proved June 3, 1805, gave 100 acres of the farm on which he lived to his wife, providing that, after her death, title should pass to his son, John C. The other 100 acres of his farm, together with lands at Schuyler's Lake, Otsego Co., N. Y., the latter held by lease, he willed to his other children. Cornelius and Hannah (Overacker) Cronkhite are buried in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

III. (7). Jacob, son of Conrad Countryman. A family tradition that one of the sons of Conrad Conterman, Sr., was named Jacob has come down through several generations. The writer has failed to find any reference to him in any records to which he has had access. He may have removed from the Mohawk Valley early.

III. (8). Johannes Frederick, son of Conrad and Maria Margaret Conterman, served as a private in Captain Diefendorf's Company, Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution. His home was destroyed and he was killed in the Tory-Indian raid of 1780. He was married to ———. One of his children was born or baptised June 24, 1756, but neither the name of the child nor that of its mother appears in the record. Johannes Seeber and Eve Countryman served as sponsors. His will was made in July, 1778, and was probated Jan. 27, 1786. It refers to his wife but not by name. It names two sons, Johannes and Frederick. It also refers to other children not named. Conrad M. Countryman and Nicholas J. Pickert were named executors and Marcus Countryman, Frederick Walrath and John Pickert were witnesses. On the 27th day of Aug., 1792, John F. Countryman and his wife, Elizabeth, and Frederick Countryman, all of Canajoharie, N. Y., sold to Hendrick Sanders Lot 27, 218 acres, of the Jacob Lansing Patent, for £260. Some of the children of Johannes Frederick Countryman were: 1, John Frederick, married to Elizabeth ———; 2, Frederick, probably married, Nov. 27, 1792, to Appolonia Haups, and probably, 3, Heinrich, married, Dec. 3, 1793, to Sally Conklin; 4, Abraham F., married to Catharine ———; 5, George F., married to Elizabeth ———; 6, Appolonia (Abalona), married to Conrad Herth.

Y., Militia, in the War of the American Revolution, was married to Maria Elizabeth ———. He was deceased before March 20, 1796, when Maria Elizabeth, "left behind widow of Conrad Countryman," served as sponsor for Maria Elizabeth, born March 14, 1796, daughter of Heinrich and Catharine (Countryman) Goertner. Apparently some of the children of Conrad and Maria Elizabeth Countryman were: 1, Catharine, married, April 5, 1790, to Heinrich, son of Peter and Mary Catharine Goertner; 2, Conrad (3rd), married, Feb. 9, 1790, to Catharine Miller; 3, John J. (or John I.), born about 1768, died March 11, 1843, married, Feb. 9, 1790, to Elizabeth, born about 1773, died Sept. 7, 1819, (Mount Hope Cemetery, Ford's Bush, N. III. (10). Joseph, or Jost. One of the sons of Conrad Conterman was a Tory in the War of the American Revolution and followed the Johnsons and Butlers into Canada. According to Sims this son of Conrad Conterman participated in the frightful raid of Tories and Indians which resulted in the destruction of Dutchtown, in 1780. (Bib.-149.) The name of Joseph Countryman appears on the Muster Roll of Butler's Rangers. (Bib.-153.) This Joseph Countryman was doubtless the renegade son of Conrad Conterman. See reference in sketch of Captain George Countryman, above.

THE DIEFENDORF FAMILY

(Dieffendorff, Diefenderfer-Devendorf, Tiefendorf)

Two brothers, Hendrick, or Heinrich, and Johannes Diefendorf, and their cousin, Jacob Diefendorf, are said to have been natives of Switzerland and to have come to America on the ship Lyon, landing at Nutton's Island, N. Y., June 3, 1710. Heinrich Diefendorf settled finally in what is now the Town of Root, Montgomery Co., N. Y., and was the founder of the Diefendorf family of Currytown, N. Y., and the ancestor of a number of families who lived in the Town of Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. His brother, Johannes Diefendorf, was the ancestor of a number of families living in Frey's Bush, Minden, Montgomery Co., and also, of a number who lived in what is now Herkimer, Herkimer Co., N. Y. Descendants of both brothers have written the family name, Devendorf. Jacob Diefendorf, their cousin, is said to have gone south, presumably with one of the companies of Palatines who, under the leadership of Captain Hartman Windecker and Captain Johan Conrad Weiser, settled in Berks and Montgomery Cos. in Pennsylvania.

I. Hendrick, or Heinrich, Diefendorf, referred to above, was married to Anna Rosina ———. They settled in the Town of Root, now Montgomery Co., N. It names his wife, Anna Rosina, and his son, Jacob, and refers to other children not named. Peter Miller, Heinrich Sanders and John H. With his wife, Anna, born in Dec., 1742, died May 3, 1841, aged 88 years and 5 months, he is buried in the old Geisenburg Cemetery, near Fort Plain, N. Y. In 1790 he was a resident of the Town of Canajoharie, N. Y., and had in family, living at home, himself, one male over 16, three females and three slaves. His will, made May 7, 1798, and probated at Fonda, N. Y., June 12, 1813, names his only son, John, refers to his wife and to his four grandsons, sons of his daughter, Elizabeth, deceased. The children of Johannes, Jr., and Catharine (Hess) Diefendorf were: 1, Hannah, born Jan. 27, 1769, married to Jacob T. Klock; 2, Catharine, born Jan. 27, 1771, died, Clinton, Mich., June 26, 1870, aged 99 years, 5 months, married to Louis Fabrique, born April 16, 1763, died Feb. 7, 1830; 3, John H., born Aug. 8, 1773, married to Catharine Klock; 4, George, born Jan. 8, 1776, died May 22, 1778; 5, Elizabeth, born Aug. 12, 1778, married to Peter House; 6, Maria, born July 4, 1781, married to Andrew Oathout, who was deceased, Dec. 24, 1829, leaving four children, Henry, born 1808; Alida, born 1810; Abram, born 1813; Andrew Louis, born 1817; 7, Gertrude, born July 7, 1784, died 1809, married, Feb. 27, 1805, to Peter Dygert, born Aug. 26, 1783, died March 15, 1813; 8, Augustinus Davis, born July 13, 1787, died Dec. 11, 1829, served as Colonel in the Montgomery Co., N. Y., Militia, was married, June 2, 1808, to Maria, born Oct. 17, 1790, died Oct. 21, 1844, daughter of George Wagner. The will of Johannes Diefendorf, Jr., was made in Minden, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1829, and was probated Nov. 13, 1834. It names his wife, Catharine, all the children named above, excepting George and Elizabeth. It also names his grandsons, Josiah and Oliver, sons of Augustinus Davis Diefendorf; his daughter-in-law, wife of Augustinus Davis Diefendorf; his grandchildren, Gertrude, wife of Lothrop D. Washburne, and Delia, wife of Peter D. Young, and his grandchildren, John Adam, John and Catharine, married to John Marshall, children of his son, John. It refers to his daughter, Anna, as the widow of Jacob Klock, and to his daughter, Maria, as the widow of Andrew Oathout. Gertrude was a daughter of Peter and Gertrude (Diefendorf) Dygert. Delia was a sister of Gertrude.

II. (6). Catharine, daughter of Johannes and Elizabeth (Keller) Diefendorf, was born July 20, 1743-4, and was married, Oct. 29, 1765, to Johannes Windecker. In 1790 Johannes Windecker lived in Canajoharie, N. Y., and had in family, himself, one male over 16, three females and two slaves. His will was made June 5, 1791, and was probated Nov. 10, 1794. It names his wife, Catharine, and does not refer to any children. It appears probable they had none living. He gave to George House 125 acres of land. To George and Jacob Diefendorf he gave 125 acres of land. To George House and George Diefendorf he gave an island in the Mohawk River. The will describes George and Jacob Diefendorf as sons of John Jacob Diefendorf, Esq. The will also names Elizabeth, daughter of Nicholas House. It appears probable to the writer that Catharine (Windecker) Diefendorf, wife of John Jacob Diefendorf, was a sister of Johannes Windecker and that George and Elizabeth House were children of another sister of Johannes Windecker, who was married to Nicholas House. Johannes Windecker enlisted and served as private and Lieutenant in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution. (Windecker family later.)

II. (7). John Jacob, son of Johannes and Elizabeth (Keller) Diefendorf, was born May 12, 1747. He enlisted and served as private in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution (Bib.-140, 141) and his name was placed on the Federal Pension Rolls, Nov. 7, 1833, when he was 86 years of age. In 1790 he lived in Canajoharie, N. Y., and had in family, living at home, himself, five males over 16, two males under 16, and seven females. He was married, Nov. 30, 1771, to Catharine Windecker†, born April 5, 1755, died Jan. 30, 1826. It is apparent that not all of the five males over 16

*Augustinus Hess, a member of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Committee of Safety in the War of the American Revolution, (Bib.-147) was killed by Indians at Fort Herkimer, N. Y., in July, 1782. His will, made at Burnettsfield, Tryon Co., N. Y., May 29, 1779, probated Feb. 25, 1783, names his wife, Anna, and the following children: Frederick, Conrath, Nicholas, Eva, John, the oldest son; George, Augustinus, Jr., Christian, Jost, Daniel, Anna, Elizabeth, Catharine, born July 2, 1745, died Dec. 15, 1838, married to Johannes Diefendorf. His sons, John, Augustinus, Jr., and Frederick, were named executors.

†The Windecker Family. I. Captain Hartman Windecker was List Master at Annsburg (or Annsbury), on the Hudson River, in July, 1711, and was Captain of the Company of 52 Palatines who volunteered from that town for service in the British expedition against Quebec in 1711. (Documentary History of New York.) He later removed to "Schoharie" and afterwards formed the settlement, named for him, Hartman's Dorp. In 1723 he led practically his whole settlement, as the pioneers of the Palatine immigration into Pennsylvania from New York, to the headwaters of the Susquehanna River and thence down that stream to the valleys of the

III. (2). John, born Sept. 16, 1774, died Dec. 17, 1860, son of John Jacob and Catharine (Windecker) Diefendorf, was married to Maria, born 1776, died April 25, 1858, daughter of Henry and Catharine (Dygart) Failing. (Family No. 494—Failing.) They are buried in the Frey's Bush, Cemetery in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. Their children were: 1, Warner, born May 30, 1796, died Sept. 5, 1877, (see later); 2, Rev. Swatara and Tulpehocken creeks, now in Berks Co., Pa. (See Cobb's Story of the Palatines, also Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Vol. I, pp. 181, 183.)

II. Hartman Windecker, who was doubtless a son of Captain Hartman Windecker, with Conrad Conterman and Casper Leyp, distressed Palatines, obtained a patent, in 1731, conveying to them title to 2,000 acres of land, on the south side of the Maquis (Mohawk) River, which they had purchased Oct. 8, 1730, from several Indian chiefs. (Abstract in Family No. 471—Countryman.)

III. The following named members of the Windecker family were, apparently, all of the same generation and may have been children of Hartman Windecker, Jr.: 1, Johannes, who died between 1791 and 1794, and who was married, Oct. 29, 1765, to Catharine, born July 20, 1743-4, daughter of Johannes and Elizabeth (Keller) Diefendorf; 2, Gertraut Windecker, who, with Johannes Countryman, Aug. 16, 1754, served as sponsors for Johannes, son of Jacob and Elizabeth Enckrish; who, also, with Conrad Countryman, March 15, 1754, served as sponsor for Eve Gertraut, daughter of Jerg and Barbara Wehrli; 3, Annie Elizabeth Windecker, who was married, March 16, 1763, to Christopher Fox; 4, Christina Windecker, born Oct. 16, 1745, died April 22, 1812, married to Captain Jacob, son of Johannes and Elizabeth (Keller) Diefendorf; 5, Frederick Windecker, who, with his wife, Barbara, had a son, Frederick, baptised April 18, 1768, who was born April 6, 1768; 6, Conrad Windecker, who, like Frederick Windecker, lived in Palatine, N. Y., in 1790, and in that year had in family, himself, two males over 16, three males under 16 and four females.

The writer is thoroughly convinced there was some close relationship between the early Countryman and Windecker families in Albany, later Tryon Co., N. Y. Did Conrad, son of Johannes Frederick Conterman, have a daughter who was married to Hartman Windecker, Jr.? Was the wife of Johannes Frederick Conterman, the first, a Windecker?

Henry Windecker, whose wife's name was Dorothy, the infamous slayer of Lieutenant Elijah Shoemaker, following the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, was, according to his own declaration, a member of the Windecker family of Montgomery Co., N. Y. For a sketch of his career see Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Vol. II, p. 1020. He was living at Fort Erie, Canada, in 1787.

She appears to have been a favorite of her grandfather, Major Jacob Arndt, and also of her uncle, Jacob Arndt, Jr., both of whom named her in their wills. (Family No. 1339—Arndt.) She was married to Adam, son of Frederick and Dorothy Seiler, of Bethlehem Township, Northampton Co., Pa. (Family No. 3—Seiler.) They first established their home in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., but as early as 1804 they removed to Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. An entry in the Day Book of Jacob Schumacher (Family No. 2) is as follows: "April 18, 1805, Adam Seiler. Paid to him Two Hundred Dollars by the hand of Jacob Shoemaker, Jr., is to be in part of his legacy." This account was credited Oct. 26, 1806. "By a note given for the same $200.00." Adam Seiler was a farmer and bought a farm of 81 acres in Lot No. 3 of the Conrad Countryman patent, lying "south of the Otsquaga Creek," in Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. His wife, Mrs. Anna Maria (Shoemaker) Seiler, was probably deceased in 1827 when he sold this farm to John Brookman (Family No. 471—Brookman) for $1,600. The family was affiliated with the Geisenberg Lutheran Church at Hallsville, N. Y. In this church Adam Seiler was confirmed Feb. 17, 1833, and Polly and Sally Seiler were confirmed Oct. 21, 1827. She removed, with her parents, to Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., in 1800-1804, and in June, 1822, was married there to Henry, son of Captain John and Maria (Timmerman) Failing. (Failing family later.) (Family No. 357—Timmerman.) Henry and Margaret (Sailor) Failing lived on the Failing homestead in Frey's Bush, Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., and their children were: 1, Maria, born July 13, 1823, died Oct. 29, 1823; 2, Almira, born Jan. 22, 1825; 3, Adam, born Oct. 31, 1826; 4, Norman, born Sept. 17, 1828; 5, Harmon, born Jan. 27, 1830, died Feb. 7, 1830. THE FAILING FAMILY—FEHLING, FELLING, FAHLING

Heinrich, Henrich, or Hendrick Fehling, one of the Palatines, living at Annsberg, in the Hudson River Valley, in 1711, volunteered for service in the company commanded by Captain Hartman Windecker, in the British expedition against Quebec. A Nicholas Feller (perhaps Fehling), of Queensberg, in the Hudson River Valley, volunteered for similar service, in the same year, in the company commanded by Captain John Conrad Weiser. (Bib.-138.) Heinrich, or Hendrick, Fehling was the founder of one of the early Fehling families of Albany, later Tryon, now Montgomery Co., N. Y. The land and church records of what is now Montgomery Co., N. Y., furnish the names of seven early Fehling families residing in what became the districts of Canajoharie and Palatine, Albany Co., N. Y. The heads of these families were: 1, Hendrick H.; 2, Johannes; 3, Nicholas; 4, Hendrick, Jr.; 5, Jurg (George); 6, Jacob; 7, Dederick (Derrick or Dirk). These were apparently all of one family and the evidence is almost conclusive that these seven names are those of Hendrick H. Fehling and his seven sons.

I. Hendrick H. Fehling, who was probably the Henry or Hendrick or Heinrich Fehling of Annsburg in 1711, was deceased before Feb. 10, 1775. He was a farmer of Canajoharie, Albany Co., N. Y., Jan. 25, 1763, and, at that time, owned a certain Lot No. 6, in that District, which is referred to in some deeds recorded at Fonda, N. Y., as of the James Alexander patent and in others as of the Lewis Morris, Abraham Van Horn and others patent, and in nearly all of them is described as lands belonging to Tilman Van Schelluyns and his brothers. He also owned, at that time, the half or moiety of Lot No. 15, together with Lot 18 on the north side of the Maquis (Mohawk) River, Lot 15 being described as situated in the vicinity of Timmerman's Kill. There is recorded at Fonda, N. Y., a mutilated deed which was executed "Jan. 25, 1763, in the third year of the reign of King George III, by which Hendrick H. Fehling conveyed to Jurg (George) Fehling the moiety or half of the moiety or one-half of Lot No. 15, 159 acres, and the lowermost half or most easterly part, half or moiety of Lot No. 18, 162 acres. Both of these parcels of land are described as being part of the 12,000 acre tract (twelf thousand) patented to "William Burnett, Esq., Governor of the Province of New York, on the eighteenth day of March in the ninth year of the reign of his late Majesty, (1736) George II, (torn) of blessed memory." In the same deed he conveyed title to Jerg Fehling to eighty-two acres of Lot No. 6, lands lately belonging to Tilem Van Schelluyn and his (torn) beginning on the N. E. corner of another (torn) or parcel of land laid out for Derrick Fehling, about one mile southwest from the Maquis River. Also he conveyed title to Jerg Fehling to one-sixth part of all the undivided lands in Lot No. 6, lying and being from the saw mill southwestward to the back end of Lot No. 6, and a one-sixth interest in the saw mill with the usual privileges. He further deeded to Jerg Fehling a one-sixth interest in 8 acres of woodland and the stream of a brook called Timmerman's Kill, on the north side of the Maquis River, in above mentioned Lot No. 15, where they shall find it most convenient to erect a mill. The consideration named in the deed is that of the "Natural love and affection which he hath and beareth unto the said Jerg Fehling, also for the better maintenance and preferment of the said Jerg Fehling." A memorandum appears on the records of this interesting old deed, the substance of which is as follows: "10th February, 1775, personally appeared before Jacob Ten Eyck and Rens Nichols, two of the Judges of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, for the City and County of Albany, Isaac Vrooman, Esq., who, being duly sworn, deposed and said, 'He saw Hendrick Fehling sign, seal and deliver the within deed, for the use within mentioned, and that he saw George Klock, the other witness, subscribe as a witness thereto, and that, at that time, the within deed was not in the least "tored of" or defaced as it now appears. And this deponent further saith that he was the drawer of the within deed—and that he, at the same time, wrote a deed for Jacob Fehling for the adjoining and opposite halves of the two within mentioned lots, and after the same form of the within deed.' And having carefully perused same and finding no rasures or interlineations therein but a piece tored of the middle of the first sheet, on the right hand, after execution, do allow same to be recorded." Signed, Jacob C. Ten Eyck, Rens Nicolls, Judges, Registered March 1, 1799, Chris P. Yates, Clerk. The deed was signed Hendrick H. Fehling. From this old deed together with a number of other deeds recorded at Fonda, N. Y., and all relating to the passing of title to portions of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, it is apparent that Hendrick H. Fehling had at least the following named children (order of birth not known): 1, Johannes; 2, Nicholas; 3, Hendrick, Jr.; 4, Jurg (George); 5, Jacob; 6, Dederick, (Derrick, Deterick, Dirk); 7, Maria, married to Conrad Seeber; 8, Magdalena, married to Nicholas Shunk, and probably, 9, Catharine. He evidently divided a portion of all his vast holdings of real estate between his children, while, it is apparent, from the deed of 1763 that a considerable portion of Lot No. 6 had not been at that time so divided.

II. (1). Johannes, son of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Maria Magdalena Wagner, and some of their children were: 1, Andrew, born 1735, died 1830, (see later); 2, Peter, (probably he for whose intestate estate Andrew Fehling was appointed administrator, Jan. 24, 1789); 3, Magdalena, born or baptised Oct. 5, 1749; 4, George, born or baptised Aug. 23, 1752, George and Maria Magdalena Fehling, sponsors; 5, Maria Margaretha, at whose baptism George and Maria Fehling were sponsors; 6, Johannes, Jr., born or baptised April 3, 1755. Johannes Fehling was probably deceased before July 21, 1785, when Jacob, Nicholas, Hendrick and Dirk Fehling and Conrad Seeber, who was married to their sister, Maria, conveyed to Magdalena Fehling and her son, Andrew, 185 acres of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y. His widow, Magdalena Fehling (also Mandalene Fehling) was living Feb. 5, 1806, when she sold to Peter Elwood lands in the town of Minden, which, in 1725, had been patented to Peter Wagner, John Lawyer and John Conrad Weiser. These lands lay on the bank of Otsquaga Creek and adjoined lands of Melgert Bauder. Henry Smith and Andrew Failing signed the deed as witnesses.

III. (1). Andrew, son of Johannes and Maria Magdalena (Wagner) Fehling, was born in 1735 and died, at Lyons, N. Y., in 1830. He served as private in the Company of Captain Adam Leyp, of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, in the War of the American Revolution. He was married to Susannah Ruff, daughter of Captain Johannes and Anna Maria (Leonhardo) Ruff, of Canajoharie, N. Y. (Family No. 357—Ruff). Lot 5, the farm of Captain Ruff, adjoined Lot 6, the homestead lot of Hendrick H. Fehling. Oct. 7, 1796, Andrew Failing bought from Nicholas and Magdalene (Fehling) Shunk their interest in 135 acres of the 185 acres of Lot 6, which he and his mother had bought in 1785 from five of the other heirs of Hendrick H. Fehling. In 1795 he bought from Conrad and Mary (Fehling) Seeber 120 acres of the Livingston patent of 1739 and, Nov. 4, 1796, he sold to Conrad Seeber 135 acres of Lot 6. This farm was part of the 185 acre tract he and his mother bought from other Hendrick H. Fehling heirs. He had executed a deed for 50 acres of this tract to his mother, Magdalene Fehling, widow, prior to Nov. 11, 1796. In 1790 Andrew Failing was a resident of Canajoharie, N. Y., and had in family, living at home, one male over 16, one male under 16 and six females.

II. (2). Nicholas, son of Hendrick H. Failing, was born in 1720 and died in Canajoharie, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1787. He was married to Elizabeth (or Mary Elizabeth), daughter of Johannes and Elizabeth Schnell. (Family No. 362—Schnell.) His palisaded house was known as Fort Failing in the War of the American Revolution. His farm was a part of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, and adjoined that of his brother, Hendrick Failing, Jr. He served as a private in the companies of Captain Johannes Ruff and Captain Adam Leyp of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution. Some of the children of Nicholas and Elizabeth (Schnell) Fehling were: 1, Adam, born or baptised May 27, 1747; 2, Johannes, born or baptised May 2, 1748; 3, Henry Nicholas, born 1750, (see later); 4, Anna Elizabeth, born or baptised Sept. 7, 1752, Johannes and Elizabeth Schnell, sponsors, (probably Nancy, who was married to Dr. David Younglove, born 1754, died 1797, a surgeon in the Regiment of Colonel Samuel Clyde); 5, Maria, born in March, 1755, died Jan. 30, 1833, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery); married to Lawrence, born 1745, died Aug. 10, 1814, son of Rev. Johans Daniel, D. D., born 1737, died May 25, 1812, and Elnora Philippina Gross, born 1734, died Oct. 13, 1811, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery); 6, Maria Magdalene, born or baptised July 10, 1763. John and Maria Fehling, sponsors. Letters of administration upon the estate of Nicholas Fehling were granted, May 14, 1791, to Lawrence Gross and Jacob Timmerman.

III. (3). Henry Nicholas, son of Nicholas and Elizabeth (Schnell) Fehling, was born in 1750 and died in 1831. He was married to Anna Margaret Timmerman and they established their home in Palatine, Montgomery Co., N. Y., May 30 and May 31, 1785, Jacob Fehling of Palatine District sold to Henry N. Fehling of the same place two tracts of land each containing 12 acres of Lot No. 15. Timmerman's Creek is referred to in the deed of May 30, and that of May 31, refers to the division line between the lands of Jacob Fehling and those of Diebald Timmerman. In 1790 Henry Fehling was returned in the Federal Census as a resident of Palatine, having in family himself, three sons under 16 and four females living at home. Henry Nicholas Fehling was a private in the Company of Captain Francis Utt, of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment in the War of the American Revolution. He took part in the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 6, 1777. Some of the children of Henry Nicholas and Anna Margaret (Timmerman) Failing were: 1, Henry I., born July 2, 1772, died Aug. 11, 1828, (see later); 2, Richard, who had a son, John R., born 1787, died 1875, who was married to Elizabeth Lovelace, born 1802, died 1896, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery); 3, Jacob H., born April 11, 1776, died Jan. 26, 1869, married to Gertrude Dockey, born March 26, 1780, died May 26, 1839, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery); 4, John; 5, Philip; 6, Elizabeth, married to Jacob Walrath; 7, Nancy, married to Henry Zimmerman; 8, Catharine (Fehling) Zimmerman; 9, Alice (Fehling) Wormwood. (Bib.—147 in part.)

IV. (1). Henry I., son of Henry Nicholas and Anna Margaret (Timmerman) Fehling, was born July 2, 1772, and died Aug. 11, 1828. He was married to Mary Chapman, born March 23, 1778, died Nov. 6, 1863, and they are buried in the Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery. Henry I. Failing and Philip Fehling were of Palatine, N. Y., June 1, 1795, when they bought from John C. Ehle and Delean, his wife, 134 acres of Lot No. 12, of the Livingston Patent, which Philip Livingston sold Sept. 1, 1763, to Jacob Arndt, miller, of Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and which Jacob Arndt deeded, Feb. 28, 1785, to his son, Abraham Arndt. Some of the children of Henry I. and Mary (Chapman) Fehling were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Simeon, born Sept. 13, 1804, died Jan. 3, 1887, married to Nancy F., born Feb. 2, 1814, died Aug. 31, 1891, daughter of Walter, born Feb. 23, 1785, died March 4, 1857, and Dorcas Farmin, born July 17, 1788, died May 30, 1857, (Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery); 2, Maria C., born 1809, died June 20, 1852; 3, William C., born Oct. 10, 1814, died Jan. 13, 1834; 4, James E., born Jan. 9, 1820, died Feb. 29, 1908; 5, Josiah; 6, Jeremiah; 7, Catharine; 8, Eliza; 9, Sarah Jane, married to Daniel Rapp, who, born June 24, 1815, baptised Sept. 3, 1815, George and Margaret Bauder, sponsors, was a son of George and Christian Rapp. George Rapp, a soldier in the New York Militia in the War of the Revolution, was, in 1833, in receipt of a pension from the Federal Government. He was born about 1760. The name of Christian Rapp, born about 1772, appears in the list of Montgomery Co., N. Y., pensioners in the Census of Pensions in 1840. William C. Rapp, son of Daniel and Sarah Jane (Failing) Rapp, was born Dec. 10, 1853, was married to Martha, daughter of William Tiffany of Fort Plain, N. Y., and they have two daughters, Eula and Bertie. He has been for many years the highly efficient Superintendent of the Fort Plain, N. Y., Cemetery.

II. (3). Hendrick, Jr., son of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Elizabeth ———, (probably July 17, 1763, as his second wife, to Elizabeth, daughter of Conrad Zimmerman). He owned and lived upon part of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., his farm consisting of 260 acres and adjoining Lot No. 5, owned by Captain Johannes Ruff, on one side and the farm of Nicholas Fehling on the other. He also owned 50 acres of the Klock patent in Palatine, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1789. With his brothers, Jacob and Derrick, he sold to Conrad Seeber 130 acres of Lot 3, out of larger Lot No. 6. He was deceased Nov. 5, 1791, when his widow, Elizabeth, released her dower rights in the property. His will was made Jan. 30, 1789, and was probated at Fonda, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1795. The half of his farm lying next to his neighbor, Ruff (Johannes Ruff) he gave to his son, John H., and the half lying next to the farm in his brother, Nicholas Fehling, deceased, he gave to his son, Henry. The will named his wife, Elizabeth, and the following children: 1, John; 2, Henry; 3, Maria; 4, Elizabeth; 5, Anna, born April 24, 1766, baptised May 4, 1766, Heinrich H. Fehling and Anna Zimmerman, sponsors, married to Charwell Parsons, July 1, 1794. John H. Fehling, son of Hendrick Fehling, Jr., executed an exchange deed with Hendrick Frey, by which he conveyed to Hendrick Frey his share of his father's farm, receiving in exchange 300 acres of Lots 14, 24 and 25 of the Livingston patent, in Canajoharie.

III. (2). Henry, Hendrick or Henry John, son of Hendrick Failing, Jr., was born Jan. 29, 1748, and died Oct. 5, 1825. He served as a Sergeant in the Company of Captain Adam Leyp of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, and was wounded in the battle of Oriskany, Aug. 6, 1777. He was married to Catharine, born in 1749, died Aug. 10, 1837, daughter of Werner and Magdalena (Herkimer) Deichert.* Henry John Failing inherited one-half of his father's 260

*DEICHERT. The name of Werner Deichert appears on the list of the Company of Palatines, at Queensburg, in the Hudson River Valley, who, in 1711, volunteered for service in the Company of Captain Johan Conrad Weiser, in the British expedition against Quebec. (Bib.-138.) He evidently settled in the District of Stone Arabia, Albany, later Tryon Co., N. Y. As early as 1729 negotiations were begun between certain Palatines of Stone Arabia and William Coppernell for the purchase of 50 acres of land to be devoted to church purposes, and, May 7, 1732, the latter executed a deed by which he conveyed to Andrew Fink, Werner Deichert and Johannes Schnell, for a consideration of £20, New York money, fifty acres of land in Stone Arabia. On these lands, situated on the north side of the Mohawk River, and a few miles from Fort Plain, N. Y., a log church was built on the site of the present substantial stone church which was erected in 1787. This log church was, doubtless, the first house of worship erected by the Reformed Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y. In 1744 the Reformed Church of Stone Arabia divided its lands with the Lutheran Church and a church of the latter faith was erected a short distance from the Reformed Church. In the negotiations for the division of the church lands, Jost Schnell, Leverinus Dygert, Peter Suts, William Broner, Johannes Krems, Dirk Loux, Hendrick Loux, Harris Schnell, William Coppennall, Andreas Fink, Nicholas Horning and Peter Deigert represented the Reformed Church, and Martinus Dillenbeck, John Keiser, Harris Empie, John Schuls, Jacob Shuls, Stovel Shuls, Lutrick Kaselman, Nicholas Stemfell, Andreas Besiner and William Nellis represented the Lutherans. (Bib.-149.) In all probability Severinus (Leverinas) and Peter Dygert, named among the representatives of the Reformed Church, were sons of Werner Deichert of Queensburg, on the Hudson, in 1711, and brothers of Werner Deichert or Deygert of Canajoharie District. Suffrenus Dygert is named in the will of Brigadier General Nicholas Herkimer as having sold 100 acres of land to the first wife of General Herkimer. She was a sister of Peter S. Deichert, who served as Captain in the Tryon County Militia in the Regiment of Colonel Nicholas Herkimer and as Major in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment. The second wife of General Herkimer (who was, judging from certain statements in the will of the latter, very much younger than the General), was Maria, the daughter of Major Peter S. Deichert. The latter was subsequently promoted to and commissioned Colonel of Tryon County Militia. He also had a son, Nicholas, who served as Second Lieutenant in the Tryon County Militia.

Werner Deichert, who was born in 1719 and died in 1780, was probably a son of Werner Deichert of Queensburg on the Hudson in 1711. He was married to Magdalene, daughter of John Jost and Catharine Herkimer. (Herkimer family later.) He was an inn keeper, his house being headquarters for various meetings of patriots in the earlier stages of the American Revolution. He was a member of the Tryon County Committee of Safety. He was killed by Indians. His son, Suffrenus, taken prisoner, Oct. 4, 1780, with other members of the Company of Captain acre farm, in Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., his portion of the homestead adjoining the homestead of Nicholas Fehling, his uncle. He also owned part of Lot No. 13 of the Livingston Patent which Philip Livingston sold, May 31, 1774, to Abraham Arndt, Sr., of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa. The latter deeded 200 acres of Lot 13, May 27, 1777, to his son, Abraham Arndt, Jr., who became a prominent citizen of Montgomery Co., N. Y. Philip Arndt, another son of Abraham Arndt,

Peter Deichert, was held in captivity until Aug. 4, 1782. His widow, Mrs. Magdalene (Herkimer) Deichert, was married (2) to Nicholas Schnell and (3) to John Roorbach. (Bib.-158.) The will of Werner Deichert, made in Canajoharie, N. Y., June 16, 1777, and probated April 6, 1782, names his wife, Lana, and the following children: 1, Han Yost, and his wife, Marilla, (probably Captain Jost Deichert, who succeeded Captain Peter S. Deichert as Captain in the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia); 2, Zepherenus; 3, Mary; 4, Catharine, born in 1749, died Aug. 10, 1837, married to Sergeant Henry John Fehling, born Jan. 29, 1748, died Oct. 5, 1825, son of Hendrick, Jr., and ——— Fehling, (see above); 5, Anna, married to Conrad Folts; 6, Elizabeth; 7, Lana, married to Henry Ehle; 8, Mary Catharine. Werner Deichert bequeathed to his son, Han Yost, and his wife, Marilla, Lots 5 and 18 on Fall Hill; to his son, Zepherenus, Lots 8 and 9 on Fall Hill, and to his six daughters, (Lana and Mary Catharine not married June 16, 1777) he gave 600 acres of land in Burnett's Field. He was a brother of General Herkimer's first wife. (Bib.-149.)

2. HERKIMER-ERGHIMER-HERKHEIMER, etc. Johan Jost Erghimer came to America from Germany in 1722 and settled in Burnett's Field, later German Flats, Albany, later Tryon Co., N. Y. Among the patentees of the Burnett's Field grant appear the names of Johan Jost Ergheimer, Jurgh (George) Ergheimer, Madelene and Catharine Ergheimer. John Jost Herkimer (Erghimer) was born in 1695 and died in 1775. The name of his wife was Catharine. His will, made in Burnett'sfield, Albany Co., N. Y., April 5, 1771, was probated April 30, 1784, and named his sons, Nicholas, Henry and Jost, Jr., executors. His son George was appointed administrator of his estate April 30, 1784. His will names his wife, Catharine, and his five sons: 1, Nicholas; 2, John; 3, George; 4, Henry, and 5, Jost, Jr. His eight daughters are named in the will of their brother, Brigadier General Nicholas Herkimer. The children of Johan Jost and Catharine Herkimer were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Brigadier General Nicholas, named as oldest son, born about 1715, died Aug. 17, 1777, served in the French and Indian War and was in command at Fort Herkimer in 1758, commissioned Colonel of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in 1776 and promoted in the same year to Brigadier General of the County Militia. Ambushed by the troops under Colonel Saint Leger, near Oriskany, N. His horse was shot under him and he was wounded. He died as a result of an unskillful operation, Aug. 17, 1777. (See Frontiersman of New York by Sims, Benton's History of Herkimer Co., N. Y., etc.) General Nicholas Herkimer was married (1) to a sister of Peter S. Deichert and (2) to Maria, daughter of Peter S. Deichert. His will was made Feb. 7, 1777, and probated Oct. 4, 1783. Walradt and the other to Peter Waggoner; 6, Anna, married to Peter Ten Broeck, had a son, Nicholas; 7, Gertruyd, married to Captain Rudolph Schumacher (probably son of Thomas Schumacher, see later), whose son Johan Yost, was married to Maria Smith. 3. SCHUMACHER. The name of Thomas Schumacher appears on the list of Palatines, residing at Hunterstown, in the Hudson River Valley, in 1711, who volunteered for service in the

Sr., sold about 98 acres of Lot No. 13, June 27, 1788, to George Ransier of Canajoharie, N. Y., (Family No. 1339—Arndt) specifying in the deed that the survey should be made "As the Needle pointed in 1774." Title to this tract of land passed to Henry J. Failing, who, Dec. 26, 1803, with his wife, Catharine, sold it to their son, John Failing, for $62.40, the deed containing the same stipulation with reference to the "Needle." He also owned land lying in the Van Horn patent, of which he sold 25 acres, to Jacob Cocher (Kougher). This land adjoined the farms of John Seeber and Peter Duncel. The children of Henry John and Catharine (Deichert) Failing were (order of birth not certain): 1, Maria, born about 1775, died April 25, 1858, married to John Diefendorf, born Sept. 17, 1774, died Dec. 17, 1860, (Family No. 471—Diefendorf); 2, John, born June 29, 1777, (see later); 3, Joseph, married to Marean (perhaps Mary Ann), who were of Canajoharie, N. Y., in 1805, when they sold 15 acres of Lot No. 13, Livingston patent, to John Failing of Minden, N. Y.; 4, Warner, married (1) to Elizabeth, daughter of Johannes Nicholas and Anna (Shanman) Duncel, (Family No. 357—Duncel) had daughter: (1), Caty, and (2), Nancy, married to Peter Haas, married (2) to Elizabeth Stanchell; 5, Nancy, born about 1784, died April 19, 1876, married (1) to ——— McCorn and married (2), as his second wife, to William H. Seeber*; 6, Peter, married (1) to Elizabeth Goertner. (Family

Company of Captain John Peter Kniskern in the British expedition against Quebec. He was probably the founder of the early Schumacher family of Burnettsfield, later known as German Flats, Albany Co., N. Y. Rudolph or Rudolph Schumacher and Thomas Schumacher were patentees of the Burnettsfield grant. Their patent, based upon an Indian deed of July 9, 1722, was granted April 30, 1725, to about 90 Palatines. It appears probable that neither Thomas nor Rudolph Schumacher was married when they removed to Burnettsfield. They were probably sons of Thomas Schumacher.

II. Rudolph Schumacher, probably son of Thomas Schumacher, became a Captain in the Albany County Militia. He was married to Gertruyd, daughter of Johan Jost and Catharine Herkheimer, and they had several sons and daughters, of whom their son, III, Johan Jost, was married to Maria, daughter of Robert Smith. Their son, IV, Robert, was married to Catharine Myers, and their son, V, Colonel Michael Schumacher, born April 6, 1818, died, at Jackson, Mich., Nov. 10, 1895, was married (1) to Julietta Platt and (2), Aug. 25, 1857, to Sarah Wisner. Colonel Michael Shoemaker of the Fifteenth Regiment, Michigan Volunteer Infantry, in the Civil War, was a farmer, stock grower, contractor and miller. In 1845 he was an Inspector of State Prisons in Michigan, in 1847 a State Senator, in 1875 a member of the Board of Public Works of Jackson, Mich., in 1886 a State Senator. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and F. and A. M., and, in 1879 was President of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society. (Bib.—216.) Other children of Rudolph and Gertruyd (Herkheimer) Schumacher were: Rudolph, Jr., Catharine, Elizabeth, Gertruyd, all of whom are named in the will of their uncle, General Nicholas Herkimer.

II. Thomas Schumacher, probably son of Thomas Schumacher, is named with Dorothy or Dorothea Schumacher, as a sponsor for John Thomas, son of John Thomas and Elizabeth Schumacher, who was born Aug. 18, 1763, and baptised Sept. 5, 1763. Other references to this family noted in the records of the Dutch Protestant Church (Reformed) of Stone Arabia, are as follows: 1, Children of John and Catharine Schumacher: (1), Catharine, born Jan. 23, 1760, baptised Feb. 1, 1761; (2), Dorothea, born Feb. 6, 1763; (3), Johannes, born Sept. 9, 1765, baptised Sept. 29, 1765; (4), John Frederick, born July 7, 1768, baptised July 17, 1768; 2, John Frederick Schumacher and his wife had a son, Rudolph, born or baptised Oct. 9, 1762; 3, Adam and Maria Elizabeth Schumacher had a daughter, Maria Catharine, born March 21, 1762; 5, Catharine Schumacher and Conrad Ohrendorf were married June 12, 1769; 6, Catharine Schumacher and George Herkimer, sponsors, Feb. 27, 1763, for George, born Feb. 18, 1763, son of Heinrich and Catharine Herkimer. The Federal Census of 1790 has the following names of heads of families at German Flats, all doubtless Thomas Schumacher's descendants. ——— Shoemaker, Sr., Frederick Shoemaker, Christopher Shoemaker, (the 23d of July, 1820, Christopher Shoemaker and his wife, Elizabeth, were sponsors for Elizabeth, daughter of Marcus and Anna Countryman) (Family No. 471—Countryman); Yost Schumacher; Cartroutd Shoemaker, apparently a widow; Frederick Shoemaker, Sr. Rudolph and Margaret (Klepsaddle) Shoemaker had a daughter, Mary, born April 1, 1798, who was baptised April 8, 1798. (Bib.—143.)

*Major William Seeber of the Canajoharie, N. Y., Regiment of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, served as a member of the Tryon Co., N. Y., Committee of Safety. He was mortally wounded in the battle of Oriskany, N. Y., Aug. 6, 1777. He was married (1) to Catharine Walradt, who died about 1755. They had at least two sons: 1, John, and 2, John Wilhelm, born 1747, and married to Catharine Walradt. The will of William Seeber (2), made Sept. 23, 1810, and probated June 2, 1828, names his wife, Elizabeth, and the following children: (1), John, (probably married to Polly Weed); (2), Adolphus; (3), Henry, who had a son, William H., and a daughter, Margaret, both named in the will; (4), Maria Elizabeth; (5), Elizabeth. Failing, made Sept. 9, 1823, and probated at Fonda, N. Y., Oct. 22, 1825, names his wife, Catharine, Peter, his youngest son, his son Warner, and his daughters, Maria, Catharine, Nancy and Betsey and Nancy's children, Elijah and Sally McCarn. His sons, Warner and Peter, were named executors. Henry John Failing and his wife, Catharine (Deigert) Failing, were buried in a private lot in Frey's Bush, N. Y. In 1798 he was an ensign in Captain Conradt Hillegart's Company of Lieutenant Colonel Charles Newkirk's Regiment, and in 1810 he was a Lieutenant in Captain Marcus Kessler's Company of Lieutenant Colonel John Roof's Regiment. In 1811 he succeeded Captain Marcus Casler, and all in the service of the Montgomery Co., N. Y., Militia. (Bib.—151.) He was married to Maria (Polly), daughter of Theobald and Elizabeth (Hahn) Timmerman, (Family No. 387—Timmerman) and their children were (order of birth not certain): 1, Henry, born June 18, 1799, married to Margaret Sailor, (see above); 2, Betsey, not married; 3, Abraham; 4, Nancy, born Aug. 25, 1807, died Dec. 12, 1878, married to John I., born July 28, 1801, died May 10, 1866, son of John I., born 1768, died March 11, 1843, and Elizabeth (Hoch) Countryman, born 1773, died Sept. 7, 1819, (Mount Hope Cemetery, Ford's Bush, N. Their headstones are now on the Harvey Seeber Failing plot, in the new Canajoharie, N. Y., Cemetery.

V. (1). Henry, son of Captain John and Maria (Timmerman) Failing, was born June 18, 1799, and died Sept. 9, 1892. (New Cemetery, Canajoharie, N. Y.) He was married (1), in June, 1823, to Margaret, daughter of Adam and Anna Maria (Shoemaker) Sailor, (2) to Sally, daughter of Adam and Anna Maria (Shoemaker) Sailor, (3), March 25, 1847, to Eliza, daughter of Jacob Seeber. (See Family No. 494.)

II. (4). Jurg or George Fehling, son of Hendrick H. Fehling, and his wife, Maria Margareta, were sponsors, at the baptism of Maria Margareta, daughter of Johannes and Maria Magdalena (Wagner) Fehling, who was born or baptised Aug. 23, 1752. A George Fehling, perhaps the same, was married, Nov. 4, 1770, to Catharine Walrath. Jan. 25, 1763, Hendrick H. Fehling, yeoman of Canajoharie, N. Y., deeded to Jurry, Jurg or George Fehling certain lands in Canajoharie and Palatine, N. Y. (See deed above.) George Fehling was of Palatine, N. Y., Aug. 21, 1776, when he sold his 159 acres of Lot No. 15, north of the Mohawk River, to John Adam Moyer. He was of Canajoharie, N. Y., July 27, and July 28, 1785, when he sold to Conrad Seeber of Canajoharie 82 acres of Lot 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., and one-sixth part of the undivided lands in Lot No. 6, also one-sixth part of the saw mill, with liberties and privileges belonging thereto, Catharine, wife of George Failing, also released her interest in these lands to Conrad Seeber. A George Fehling was to Christanti Herth. Jacob Seeber and Elizabeth Barbara Loux were married March 18, 1767. Their daughter, Margaret, was born Jan. 6, 1771, and baptised Jan. 19, 1771, and their daughter, Maria, was born Dec. 24, 1766, and baptised Dec. 28, 1766. Johannes Seeber and Maria Wohlge-muth were married Nov. 8, 1767. (Family No. 382—Wohlge-muth.) Heinrich Seeber and Veronica Berleth were married May 7, 1767, and their daughter, Margaret, born July 22, 1768, was baptised Aug. 1, 1768. Conrad Seeber, probably son of Major William Seeber, a merchant in Montgomery Co., N. Y., Feb. 17, 1789, and a resident of Canajoharie, N. Y., May 5, 1789, was married to Maria, daughter of Hendrick, Jr., and Elizabeth Fehling. John Seeber and Peter Brown were appointed administrators of his estate at Fonda, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1812. Conrad Seeber was appointed administrator of the estate of his brother, Adolph Seeber, March 22, 1784.

Jacob Seeber was Adjutant of Colonel Samuel Campbell's Canajoharie Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, and John Seeber was a Lieutenant in the same regiment. John W. Seeber was a private in Captain Adam Leyp's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment, Tryon Co., Militia.

a private in the Company of Captain House in Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment, Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, in the War of the American Revolution.

II. (5). Jacob, son of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Anna Maria _____, (probably Timmerman). According to the statement of Isaac Vrooman, Esq., Feb. 10, 1775, (see reference to deed of 1763, above), Hendrick H. Fehling deeded one-half of one-half of Lots No. 15 and 18 of the 12,000 acre tract patented to Governor William Burnett of the Province of New York, March 18, 1736. Lot 15 lay in "Timmerman's Kill," in the vicinity of the present village of St. Johnsville and nearly opposite the famous Indian Castle. Jacob Fehling was a farmer in Palatine, N. Y., May 5, 1789, when he sold to Conrad Seeber 82 acres of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., also Lot 2, of the last division commonly called the undivided portion of Lot No. 6, "Southwest of the saw mill or the place where the saw mill used to stand." He also owned an interest in Lot No. 3, "out of the third mile," out of the larger Lot No. 6, which he and his brothers, Henry and Derick sold to Conrad Seeber, Merchant of Canajoharie, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1789. Mary Felling, the wife of Jacob Felling also released her dower rights in these lands to Conrad Seeber. May 5, 1789, and Nov. 5, 1791, May 30, 1785, Jacob Felling, of Palatine, sold to Henry N. Felling of the same place 12 acres of Lot 15 on the north side of the Mohawk River. These lands lay on Timmerman's Creek and reference is made to the division line between Jacob Felling and Deobald Timmerman. Some of the children of Jacob and Anna Maria (_____) Fehling were: 1, Philip, born Feb. 19, 1764, baptised Feb. 26, 1764; 2, Johannes, born Nov. 3, 1765, baptised Nov. 25, 1765. Jacob Klock and Catharine Fehling, sponsors; 3, Deterich, born Nov. 25, 1767, baptised Dec. 20, 1767, Deobald Zimmerman and Elizabeth (Hahn) Zimmerman, sponsors; 4, Anna, born March 20, 1769, baptised March 27, 1769. Jacob Fehling, said to have been born at St. Johnsville, N. Y., about 1760, and married to Mary Fox, was doubtless the oldest son of Jacob and Anna Maria Fehling. A Jacob Fehling served as Corporal in Captain Sharp's Company of Colonel Schuyler's Regiment, and a Jacob Fehling served as private in Captain Zeeley's Company of Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment in the War of the American Revolution, in the Tryon County Militia. In 1790 Jacob Fehling, living in Palatine, had in family himself, three males over 16 and three females, and Jacob J. Fehling, also living there, had in family himself, three males under 16 and one female. (Bib.-10.)

II. (6). Deterick (Dederick, Derrick, Dirk, probably equivalent to Richard) Fehling, son of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Anna Eva (probably Zimmerman), and their daughter, Margaret, born July 9, 1765, was baptised July 14, 1765, Heinrich and Catharine Zimmerman, sponsors. Dederick or Dirck Fehling owned an interest in 185 acres of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., which, with Jacob Fehling, Nicholas Fehling, Hendrick Fehling and Conrad Seeber, he sold, July 21, 1785, to Magdalene Failing (widow of Johannes) and her son, Andreas. He also owned an interest in Lot No. 3 of the "Larger Lot No. 6" of Canajoharie, which, with Jacob and Hendrick Fehling, he sold, Feb. 17, 1789, to Conrad Seeber. Anna Eva, wife of Derrick Fehling; Mary Fehling, wife of Jacob Fehling, and Elizabeth, the widow of Hendrick Fehling, Jr., released their dower rights in the latter property, Nov. 5, 1791, to Conrad Seeber. A deed of July 28, 1785, George Fehling to Conrad Seeber refers to lands in Lot No. 6 "laid out for Derrick Fehling." May 19, 1791, Dirk Fehling and Anniss, his wife (doubtless second wife), sold to Conrad Seeber Lot 4 out of the larger Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., commonly called the third mile of larger Lot 6," 130 acres, also 82 acres of Lot No. 6. The latter tract adjoined another small tract laid out for Hendrick Fehling, Jr., about one mile distant from the Mohawk River.

II. (7). Maria, daughter of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Conrad Seeber. He is described in a deed of Feb. 17, 1789, as a merchant living in Canajoharie, N. Y., and in one of July 27, 1785, as a yeoman. He bought about 700 acres of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, from various heirs of Hendrick Fehling, Jr., to which reference is made in the sketch of the various members of the family. May 4, 1795, Conrad and Mary Seeber sold to Andrew Fehling, for £630, 120 acres of the Livingston patent of Feb. 14, 1739. He was living in Canajoharie, N. Y., in 1790 and had in family himself, two males under 16 and four females. John Seeber, probably his son, and Peter Brown were appointed administrators of his estate, Sept. 12, 1812.

II. (8). Magdalene, daughter of Hendrick H. Fehling, was married to Nicholas Shunk, and Oct. 7, 1796, with her husband conveyed title to their interest in 135 acres of Lot No. 6, Canajoharie, N. Y., to Andrew Fehling for ten shillings. This was the same property sold July 21, 1785, by Jacob Fehling, Nicholas Fehling, Hendrick Fehling and Dirk Fehling and Conrad Seeber, to Magdalene Fehling and Andreas, her son. This deed of Oct. 7, 1796, was doubtless executed to Andrew Fehling to perfect his title. He sold the land, Nov. 11, 1796, to Conrad Seeber, his wife, Susannah, also signing the deed.

Without any doubt the following persons named Fehling, found in the records of the Reformed Church of Stone Arabia, N. Y., were all members of this Fehling family: 1, Anna Fehling, married to Conrad Lauer, June 12, 1766; 2, ——— Fehling, married to Heinrich Zimmerman, Dec. 4, 1770; 3, Robert Fehling, married to Cornelia Sealey, whose son, Jean, born June 12, 1791, was baptised July 3, 1791, with Jean and Catty Sealey as sponsors; 4, Henry H. Failing and Anna Nellis, married Aug. 14, 1796.

ALMIRA (FAILING) EHLE; FAMILIES NOS. 495—(494)

Almira, daughter of Henry and Margaret (Sailor) Failing, was born in Frey's Bush, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1825, and was married, July 21, 1851, to Henry E., son of Daniel and Magdalene (Cornue) Ehle.* Their children were: 1,

*John Henry Uhl and Carl Uhl, two of the Palatine immigrants who landed in New York in 1710, were living at Hunterstown on the Hudson River, July 16, 1711, when they volunteered for service, in the British expedition against Canada, in the Company of Captain John Peter Kniskern. They were undoubtedly the founders of the Ehle families in Dutchess and Tryon, later Montgomery Co., N. Y. (Bib.—138-147.)

According to Dr. Frothingham (Bib.—147) I Harmanus Ehle went to the District of Canajoharie, N. Y., about 1745. His second wife was Elizabeth Miller and their children were: 1, Peter; 2, Anthony, and 3, Harmanus, Jr., twins, born in 1762; 4, John; 5, Michael; 6, William; 7, Jacob, born in 1765; 8, Lena; 9, Nancy, and 10, a third daughter.

The Ehle family had the following representatives in the Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia in the War of the American Revolution: (1), Peter Ehle, Corporal Captain Adam Leyp's Company, Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment; (2), Petros, private Captain Holmer's Company, Colonel Jacob Klock's Palatine Regiment; (3), William, private Captain Zeely's Company, Colonel Jacob Klock's Palatine Regiment; (4), Anthony, and (5), Harmanus, privates, said to have been musicians in Captain Van Everett's Company of Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment; (6), John, Sergeant, Captain Van Everett's Company, Colonel Samuel Clyde's Canajoharie Regiment; (7), Michael, private, Captain Klock's Company, Colonel Jacob Klock's Palatine Regiment; (8), William, private, Captain Bradbig's Company, Colonel Jacob Klock's Regiment; (9), Christian, in Colonel Samuel Clyde's Regiment. (Bib.—140-141.)

According to Sims (Bib.—149) the Rev. Jacob H. Ehle died, aged 92 years. His son, Peter, born 1744, died 1808, was doubtless Peter Ehle of Palatine, whose will of Nov. 25, 1807, names his wife, Maria Magdalene, and their children: 1, Peter, born 1768, died 1854; 2, Maria; 3, Elizabeth, not married; 4, Anatica.

Hunter Scott Quackenbush of Canajoharie had sold this island to Frederick Frydendahl, May 1, 1778. The deed recites that on Jan. 5, 1779, the dwelling house of Frederick Frydendahl accidentally took fire and was consumed and the deed was lost.

The will of Michael Ehle of Palatine, N. Y., made Nov. 3, 1822, and proved Oct. 16, 1823, names his wife, Jane, and the following children: 1, son John M., and his sons, Peter and Michael; 2, son Harmanus M., and his wife, Elizabeth; 3, son William M., and his son Michael; 4, daughter Mary, married to Christian Reas. THE MEIXELL FAMILY (MEIXSELL)

Philip, Adam, Frederick, and John Jacob Meixsell were heads of families living in the vicinity of Easton, Northampton Co., Pa., in 1759-1763. John Jacob and Maria Verona Meixsell were sponsors, Nov. 4, 1759, for John Jacob, born Oct. 9, 1759, son of Adam and Margaret Meixsell. Frederick and Anna Meixsell were sponsors, Oct. 22, 1763, for Anna, daughter of Conrad and Anna Margaretha Gressig. (Bib.-23 and 22.)

I. Philip Meixsell* was born in Conestoga, Lancaster Co., Pa., Nov. 23, 1731, and died May 13, 1817. His wife's name was Magdalena and she was born Oct. 14, 1738, and died May 30, 1797. They settled near Raubsville, Northampton Co., Pa. He was a stone mason by trade and their first home was a log house built by Philip Meixsell about 1756. Their family consisted of five sons and five daughters, among whom were: 1, Maria Magdalena, born April 22, 1759, baptised May 20, 1759; 2, Anna Maria, married Aug. 12, 1788, to Conrad, son of Michael and Mary Catharine (Schiemer) Schumacher, (Family No. 929); 3, Jacob, married to Elizabeth, born May 24, 1760, died Aug. 13, 1830, daughter of David and Susannah (Umstead) Wagner.† The will of Jacob Meixsell was made at Easton, Pa., March 15, 1837, was probated Oct. 29, 1841, and names his sons, David, Philip I., Charles W., his daughter, Susannah, married to Peter Pomp, and his granddaughter, Eliza Ann, daughter of his son, John, who was married to William Smith. Thomas and Catarina (Johnson) Pomp‡ of Easton, Pa.; 4, Christopher, married in June, 1789, to Elizabeth Schneider, some of whose children were: (1), Juliana, born May 9, 1793, died July 7, 1814; (2), Wilhelm, born Aug. 3, 1794; (3), Elizabeth, born May 7, 1795, died Dec. 10, 1807; (4), Abraham; (5), Ann Eliza; (6), John Carl, born Jan. 6, 1807; (7), Christopher, Jr., born July 10, 1813. Christopher Meixsell, Sr., was living Feb. 4, 1840, when the will of his wife, Elizabeth, was made. It was probated March 20, 1845, and names her husband, Christopher Meixsell, and her children, Abraham, Christopher, Jr., and Ann Eliza; 5, John¶, born

*It appears highly probable to the writer that Philip Meixwell, Sr., had a sister, Elizabeth, who was married to Joseph Carpenter (Zimmerman) of Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J. (Family No. 1252—Carpenter.) A tradition to the effect that the Isaac Shoemaker family (Family No. 946) of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., was related to the Meixsell family confirms the writer's opinion, although he has found no records that prove that Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Carpenter was a Meixsell.

†David Wagner, born in Silesia, Germany, May 24, 1736, died in Easton, Pa., May 9, 1796, and his wife, Susanna (Umstead) Wagner, born Feb. 2, 1734, died in April, 1815, are buried in the Easton, Pa., Cemetery, once a part of the Wagner farm. Some of their children were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, John, married to (probably Barbara) Deshler; 2, Daniel, married to Eva Opp, whose daughter, Maria, was married, in April, 1840, to John Philip, born March 9, 1777, son of Philip and Magdalena Meixsell, and whose son, David D. Wagner, was married to Mary, born in Nov., 1797, died Feb. 13, 1833, only child and heir of Johannes, died before Dec. 31, 1822, and Elizabeth (probably Hay) Knauss. (Family No. 1902—Knauss.) David D. Wagner was born Oct. 4, 1792, and died in Oct., 1860; 3, Adam, not married; 4, daughter (probably Deborah), married to John Adam Deshler, born Aug. 30, 1766, died Oct. 15, 1820; 5, daughter, (probably Magdalena), married to Christian Butz; 6, Elizabeth, born May 24, 1760, died Aug. 13, 1830, married to Jacob, son of Philip and Magdalena Meixsell; 7, David, Jr., born in Oct., 1773, died March 19, 1854, married to Rosanna, born March 26, 1775, died Aug. 9, 1848, daughter of Valentine and Maria Barbara (Raub) Beidelman. (Family No. 1253—Beidelman for sketch of family of David Wagner, Jr.)

‡The Rev. Thomas Pomp was for fifty years pastor of the First Reformed Church of Easton, Pa. He was married, March 7, 1797, to Catarina Johnson, and their son, Nicholas Peter, born Jan. 21, 1798, was baptised Jan. 28, 1798.

¶John Meixell, born Nov. 9, 1765, died Feb. 12, 1837, and his wife, (probably second wife), Rebecca, born June 17, 1774, died Sept. 10, 1829, daughter of Daniel and Mary Feit, are buried in the Presbyterian Yard at Hazen, Warren Co., N. J.

about 1765, married to Elizabeth, had a son, John, Jr., born July 19, 1789; 6, Daniel, married to Elizabeth, daughter of John and Hannah Roseberry, (Family No. 1453—Roseberry) two of whose children were: (1), Marietta, and (2), Harriet, born March 29, 1820; 7, John Philip, born March 9, 1777, baptised April 27, 1777, Philip Zimmerman (perhaps Carpenter) and Margaret King, both single, sponsors, married in April, 1804, to Maria Wagner, daughter of Daniel and Eva (Opp) Wagner, some of whose children were: (1), Matilda, born March 10, 1805 (probably), married May 22, 1827, to Charles Innes; (2), Daniel Wagner, born Jan. 4, 1807; (3), Edmund Burke, born Dec. 30, 1808; (4), Joseph Jacob, born July 1, 1814; (5), Samuel Kinney, born July 20, 1816, died Sept. 16, 1817; (6), Philip, born May 12, 1819; (7), Theodore. The will of Mary, consort of Philip Meixell, was made Dec. 29, 1855, and was probated at Easton, Pa., March 17, 1856. It names her husband, Philip Meixell, and her children, Theodore, Joseph J. and Philip. John Philip Meixell was living in 1869 and an interesting interview with him, published in the Easton Argus, may be found in Condit's History of Easton, Pa.; 8, Margaret, (probably married, Dec. 25, 1793, to John (?) Kintzig, (Bib.—22); 9, Elizabeth (probably), who was single March 21, 1790, when, with John George Meyer, she served as a sponsor for Sarah, born Feb. 16, 1789, daughter of Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher. ISAAC

ISAAC SCHUMACHER; FAMILIES NOS. 946—(1)

Isaac, son of Michael and Mary Catharine (Scheimer) Schumacher, was born in Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., in 1753, and was married, about 1778, to Catharine Elizabeth, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Carpenter (Family No. 1252—Carpenter), of Greenwich, Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J.

July 9, 1776, Isaac Schumacher enlisted in Captain John Arndt's Company (Family No. 1339—Arndt) of Northampton County Militia. This company was a part of "Washington's Flying Camp" of 10,000 men, commanded by Colonel Hart. It was incorporated in Colonel Baxter's Battalion and fought in the battles of Long Island, Aug. 27, 1776, and Fort Washington, Nov. 16, 1776. (See sketch of Captain John Arndt, Family No. 1339.) The company was discharged Dec. 1, 1776, having served four months and twenty-two days. The name of Isaac Schumacher also appears in the list of members of Captain Frederick Kleinhantz's Company, No. 6, Colonel George Hubner commanding, Lieutenant Colonel Peter Saylor, in 1782 and 1783.

Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher established their home on the Michael Schumacher farm in Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and Aug. 27, 1785, with his brother, Conrad, he bought the interest of the other heirs in the homestead. The domicile rights of his mother were reserved. Dec. 23, 1790, the two brothers bought from Lorentz Schwartz and Christina, his wife, thirty-two acres of land, and Aug. 19, 1793, Isaac Schumacher bought from Conrad Schumacher all his interest in the property for £400. George Shickley sold him fifty-two acres of land, April 18, 1795, and Jan. 2, 1798, he secured a patent from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for thirty-seven acres. About 1800 his holdings in Williams Township consisted of about 260 acres. April 7, 1808, he purchased from his mother all her rights in the Michael Schumacher farm for a consideration of £5. The deed contains this phrase: "Mary Catharine Shoemaker being otherwise provided for, to her satisfaction." March 4, 1808, he sold nine acres to Isaac Stout and April 11, 1808, he sold the remainder of his farm to John Lacey, Esq., of New Mills, Burlington Co., N. J., and Benjamin Jones, merchant, of Philadelphia, for a consideration of £7,000.

Sept. 1, 1807, prior to the sale of his Williams Township property, Isaac Schumacher bought from Benjamin Carpenter (Family No. 14—Carpenter) and his son, James Carpenter of Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., the tract of land at New Troy, now Wyoming and West Wyoming, which for more than 110 years has been known as the "Shoemaker farm." The land purchased by Isaac Schumacher included three-quarters of Lot No. 37, the whole of Lot No. 36, two acres of Lot No. 35, three acres of Lot No. 34, all in the Third Division of lots in Kingston Township, and eight-elevenths of Lot No. 18, in the Fourth Division of Kingston. May 4, 1811, he bought from Jacob Bedford (Family No. 14—Carpenter—Bedford) 43 acres, the remainder of Lot No. 37.

Lot 37 of the Third Division, Kingston, adjoined the Exeter Township line and extended in a northwesterly direction to the "Middle line" of Kingston Township. It was originally a part of the settling right of Benjamin Yale of Farmington, Conn.

The name of Benjamin Yale appears (as Benjamin Gale) among the grantees of the Indian deed negotiated at Albany, N. Y., July 11, 1754. He was an early member of the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., and was one of the "First Forty" settlers sent to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1769. Ozias Yale, his son, was "actually on the ground" in Wyoming, June 2, 1769, and was one of the petitioners praying "The Honorable Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut" for the erection of a new county, Aug. 29, 1769. The Susquehanna Company, at Hartford, Conn., June 6, 1770, voted "That Ozias Yale on Benjamin Yale's right and John Jolly on Job Yale's right be of the number of the First Forty settlers and entitled to their rights in the township that shall be laid out to the said Forty." (Bib.-1.) The name of Ozias Yale appears in the "List of Proprietors of the Five Townships, June 17, 1770." June 28, 1770, Governor John Penn of Pennsylvania issued his proclamation ordering the evacuation of the Wyoming settlement, and this act led to the beginning of the Pennamite War, which is described in detail in Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and in the writings of numerous other Wyoming Valley historians. Ozias Yale was one of the company of 65 who returned to the valley July 8, 1771, following their expulsion, and his name also appears in the list of settlers in 1771 and, as a resident of Kingston District, in the Westmoreland Tax Lists for 1776, 1777, and 1778. He was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. Oct. 17, 1778, Benjamin Yale of Wallingford, New Haven Co., Conn., executed a deed in which "for a valuable consideration in hand received from Ozias Yale" he quit claimed to Ozias Yale, and his heirs forever, all his "right of land in Kingston, lately occupied by Ozias Yale." Ozias Yale sold 43 acres of Lot No. 37 to Justus Gaylord and he, on the 19th of May, 1774, sold this tract to Peter Low, whose name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for 1776, 1777, and 1778 as a resident of Kingston. Peter Low's heirs were: Cornelius Low, Samuel Low, Maria, married to Peter Hornback, and Sarah, married to Cornelius Swartwoot. (Bib.-16.) Title passed to Benjamin Dorrance, named as warrantee, and it was later owned by Jacob Bedford, who sold it to Isaac Shoemaker, Oct. 14, 1789. Andrew Wortman, administrator of the estate of Ozias Yale, and his wife, Jamina, sold to Benjamin Carpenter of Kingston, three-quarters of Lot 37 containing in the whole 187 acres, and bounded by the Kingston—Exeter line and on the west by lands of Benjamin Carpenter.

Lot 36 of the Third Division, Kingston, adjoined Lot 37 on the west of 37 and Lot No. 19 of the Fourth Division on the south of 19. It was owned by Benjamin Carpenter as early as Sept. 3, 1786.

Lot 35 of the Third Division, Kingston, was apparently owned by a member of the Finch family at the time of the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. Benjamin or John Finch was killed near this lot July 2, 1778. (Bib. —4.) It was probably owned at that time by Isaac Finch, who, according to the Westmoreland Tax List, was a taxpayer in Kingston District in 1777 and 1778. It was owned Sept. 3, 1786, by Solomon Finch, who made his will on that date and bequeathed Lot No. 35 to Isaac Finch, Jr. (Family No. 14—Gardner-Finch.) Isaac Finch of the Walkill in the County of Orange, and State of New York, for the sum of £100, Pennsylvania money, sold it to John Rosenkranz of Kingston. The deed, executed Nov. 24, 1790, and signed in the presence of Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter, describes the lot as bounded southeasterly on the lands belonging to John and Gabriel Cory, northwesterly on the Middle line of the town and northeasterly on lands belonging to Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter (Family No. 14—Carpenter), containing about 150 acres more or less. Omphrey, baptised Oct. 21, 1714; 2. Gerritt, baptised Jan. 12, 1717, married to Elizabeth Roosa, whose children were: (1). Nathaniel, baptised July 25, 1742; (2). Nathaniel, baptised Feb. 20, 1726, who was probably the Nathaniel Davenport who came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., previous to 1776, whose name appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for 1776, Hanover District, and with that of Samuel Davenport on the Hanover District List for 1777 and 1778. He may have been the father of Conrad Davenport, who was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and was, probably, the Nathaniel Davenport who was assessed in Hanover Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792. (See Family No. 1023—Davenport.)

II. (5). Dirk, son of Harmanus Hendrixen and Magdalene (Dirk) Rosenkrans, is named in the will of his sister, Sarah. He was married, Sept. 6, 1702, to Wyntje (Kierstede) De Witt, widow of John De Witt, son of Tjerck Claessen and Barbara (Andriessen) De Witt. (Family No. 1334—De Witt.) At the time of her marriage she lived at Mombaccus, Ulster Co., N. Y. Some of the children of Dirk and Wyntje (Kierstede) De Witt-Rosenkrans were: 1. Harmanus, baptised March 25, 1703; 2. Jacobus, baptised March 17, 1706, (see later); 3. Helena, baptised June 20, 1707, probably married as second wife to Arie, baptised July 11, 1686, son of Dirk and Anna

15, 1791, sold 18 acres of Lot 35 to Gilbert Carpenter of Kingston. This tract is described in the survey as beginning at a buttonwood tree standing (Andries) Van Vliet; 4, Sara, baptised Feb. 4, 1710; 5, Lydia, baptised May 3, 1713; 6, Antjen, baptised April 29, 1716; 7, probably John.

III. (2). Jacobus, baptised March 17, 1706, son of Dirk and Wyntje (Kiertsede) DeWitte Rosenkranz, was married (1) to Sarah Dekker and some of their children were: 1, Helena, baptised May 11, 1729; 2, Blandina, baptised July 4, 1733, at Minisink, N. Y.; 3, Daniel, baptised at Deer Park, N. Y., Aug. 24, 1737, (see later); 4, Salomon, baptised March 7, 1742; 5, Johannes, baptised Dec. 23, 1744, (see later); 6, Salomon (2), baptised June 21, 1746; 7, Jacobus, Jr., married to Jannetje Keator. Jacobus Rosenkranz was married (2), Jan. 13, 1748, to Catharine Cole and their daughter, 8, Alida, was baptised Feb. 16, 1752.

IV. (3). Captain Daniel Rosenkranz, son of Jacobus and Sara (Dekker) Rosenkranz, was baptised at Deer Park, then Ulster Co., N. Y., Aug. 24, 1737. He was married to Catharine Cole. June 23, 1777, he bought from William Stark (Family No. 1016—Stark) Meadow Lots Nos. 28, 29, 30, on Jacobs Plain in Wilkes-Barre District of the Town of Westmoreland, in the Wyoming Valley, Pa. Of these lots No. 28 adjoined the Pittston-Wilkes-Barre Line. They are described as adjoining lands of Jesse Bissell, the Susquehanna River, and bounded north by the town line and east on the road. His house, standing nearly opposite Forty Fort (Bib.-2) became a place of refuge for the people of the neighborhood at the time of the Tory-Indian invasion of the Wyoming Valley early in July, 1778, but was abandoned, the people going to Forty Fort. These lands subsequently became the property of Paul Stark (Family No. 1016—Stark), whose name appears as Warrantee. After the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, he went to Goshen Precinct, N. Y., now in Orange Co. His will was made there April 19, 1782, and it was probated Oct. 5, 1782. It names his wife, Catrein, refers to six sons and one daughter, and appointed his sons, Mannes Conchendale, and his brother-in-law, Jacob Cole, executors. Some of the children of Captain Daniel and Catharine (Cole) Rosenkranz were: 1, James, who probably settled in Tunkhannock Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and was a taxpayer there in 1792; 2, John, a taxpayer in Wilkes-Barre Township, in 1799; 3, Josiah; 4, Daniel, Jr., born in 1773, (see later); 5, Catharine; 6, Jacob, baptised June 1, 1777, at Deer Park, N. Y., (Bib.-240) a taxpayer in Wilkes-Barre Township in 1799, and who was probably the Jacob Rosencrans who was a taxpayer in Hanover Township in 1801 and who in 1814 was assessed in Hanover as the owner of 200 acres of land, a frame house and a frame barn. May 4, 1801, Jacob and Elizabeth Rosencrans of Hanover sold to Conrad Sax of "Toby Hannah" Township 50 acres of Lots Nos. 1 and 2, First Division in Hanover. These lots are described as lying between the "Second" and "Third" roads, the third road being also described as the road leading to the saw mill owned by William Ross, Esq. The lots are also described as bounded northeast by lands of Nathan Wade and southwest by lands of Alexander Jameson, formerly lands of Martha Stewart*; 7, probably Simeon, who was married to Sally, daughter of Conrad, born May 18, 1742, died May 18, 1820, (Cooper Cemetery, opposite Wyoming) and Rachel Schiffer, born June 27, 1749, died Jan. 25, 1810. (Cooper Cemetery) (See Family No. 990—Schiffer.) A widow Rosenkrans, presumably Mrs. Catharine (Cole) Rosenkrans, widow of Captain Daniel, was a taxpayer in Wilkes-Barre Township in 1799.

V. (4). Daniel, son of Captain Daniel and Catharine (Cole) Rosenkrans, was born about 1773. He was apparently married twice. According to the minutes of the Quarter Sessions Court at Wilkes-Barre, he was in Wilkes-Barre in April, 1797, and his wife's name was Elizabeth Rosenkrans. Perhaps she was a daughter of William and Polly (Carey) Stark. He was married (2) to Thankful Wilcox (Family No. 1016—Wilcox). Some of the children of Daniel Rosenkrans were: 1, Purlamar; 2, Nathaniel; 3, Jacob; 4, Crandall, born Oct. 16, 1794, died Aug. 22, 1848, married to Jemina Hopkins, born 1798, died July 5, 1861. (Family No. 1041—Hopkins.) Some of the children of Crandall and Jemimah (Hopkins) Rosengrant, all born in Delaware Co., Ohio, were: 1, Chester; 2, Major General William Stark Rosencrans, born Sept. 6, 1819, died March 11, 1898; 3, Charles Wesley, born Jan. 27, 1822, died May 26, 1865; 4, Henry Crandall, born Dec. 25, 1824; 5, Bishop Sylvester Horton Rosencranz, born Feb. 5, 1827, died Oct. 21, 1878. (See The Harvey Book for details. Bib.-2.)

Daniel Rosenkrans bought from Nathaniel Drake one-half of Lot 13 Second Tier, Pittston, adjoining the Wilkes-Barre line, on the main road from Wilkes-Barre, 40 rods wide—70 acres. This lot had been part of the settling right of Samuel Stubbs, had been sold by Samuel Stubbs to Jeremiah Blanchard, who sold it to Augustine Hunt. The latter sold it to Jonathan Hascall, who sold it to John Alden, and he sold it to Gamaliel Badcock of Lebanon, Windham, Conn. Beriah Badcock of Windham, Conn., and David and Mary Rockwell of East Windsor, Conn., next of kin and heirs at law of Gamaliel Badcock, sold it Feb. 17, 1798, to Nathaniel Drake. March 15, 1802, Daniel Rosenkrans bought from David and Polly (——) Stafford 170 acres of the John Stafford farm in Putnam Township. This farm is described as situated at Horse Shoe Neck on the Susquehanna River and adjoined lands of John Rosencranz. Daniel Rosenkrans went to Delaware Co., Ohio, about 1809. He sold his land in Pittston Township, April 10, 1800, to James Kennedy. He sold 13 acres of Meadow Lot 3, Wilkes-Barre, June 25, 1798, to Henry Stark.

IV. (5). Johannes, son of Jacobus and Sarah (Dekker) Rosenkrans, was baptised Dec. 23, 1744, and was married, Nov. 30, 1771, to Marytjen Rosa, and some of their children were: 1, Catharine, baptised Feb. 10, 1773; 2, Jan, baptised Nov. 25, 1776; 3, Abraham, baptised Nov. 1, 1780; 4, Isaac, baptised Aug. 16, 1782; 5, Rebecca, born June 28, 1785, baptised Oct. 28, 1788; 6, Jacob, baptised July 10, 1786, baptised Oct. 28, 1788; 7, Joanna, born April 29, 1788, baptised Oct. 28, 1788. (Bib.-240.)

Johannes, or John Rosenkrans, had removed to Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa.,

*Conrad Sax, residing in the "Great Swamp," Aug. 24, 1801, bought from Michael Mau one-half an acre of land situated on the Great Road from Wilkes-Barre to Newport. He sold this piece of land, together with the 50 acres he bought from Jacob Rosencrans, to Daniel Truesdell. Feb. 17, 1802, he bought from Daniel Truesdell 100 acres, lying in the "Shades" on the Great Road from Wilkes-Barre to the Delaware, "whereon I (Daniel Truesdell) now reside." Conrad Sax was for a number of years a tavernkeeper in Wilkes-Barre Township.

before Nov. 24, 1790, where he bought from Isaac Finch of the Walkill in the County of Orange, and State of New York, for £100 Lot 35, Third Division of Kingston. He was returned in the Federal Census of 1790 as a resident of Luzerne Co., having in family himself, four males under 16 and four females. He sold parts of Lot 35 to Gilbert Carpenter, Jan. 15, 1791, and Oct. 25, 1792. March 11, 1800, he sold 170 acres of Lot 35, to Joseph Swetland. (Family No. 3—Swetland). Oct. 25, 1792, he bought from John Cory for £30 10 acres of Lot 34, Kingston, 25 rods wide on what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, and extending to Abraham's Creek, and established his home there in what was long known as the Captain Samuel Brees house. March 11, 1800, he bought from Belding Swetland of Putnam Township (Family No. 3—Swetland) for £500 Secor's Island in the Susquehanna River, 300 acres, in Putnam Township. He sold his ten acres of Lot 34 to Joseph Swetland, March 11, 1800, and probably, at about this time, removed to Putnam Township, and about 1808-9, removed to Delaware Co., Ohio, his sons, John (Jan), Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, accompanying him. His son, Isaac, owned 150 acres of the John Stafford property adjoining lands of Belding Swetland in Putnam Township, improved with a house and shop. These lands had been bought by John Rosenkrans, Jr., and sold by him to Isaac.

One of the daughters of Lewis Mullison, Sally (Family No. 992—Mullison), was married to a Rosenkrans. Zuorah, daughter of Jasper and Mary (Mullison) Billings (Family No. 36—Billings) was also married to a Rosenkrans. Jeremiah Rosengrant, born Dec. 17, 1793, died Dec. 31, 1880, and his wife, Eliza, born Nov. 18, 1799, died Oct. 15, 1861, are buried in the Harding Cemetery at Eatonville, Pa. James Rosenkranz (2rd) lived in Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1790, and then had in family, living at home, himself, one son under 16 and two females. James Rosenkranz (1st) of Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1790 had in family living at home himself, one male over 16, one male under 16 and three females.

The will of Jacob C. Rosencrans, made in Kingston Township, Delaware Co., Ohio, Feb. 6, 1851, and probated at Sunbury, Ohio, March 18, 1852, names his wife, Rachel, his daughter, Lucinda Rosencrans, his daughter Mary (Rosencrans) Larkin, his daughter Hannah (Rosencrans) Curtis, and his son Stephen. The will of John Rosencrans of Delaware Co., Ohio, was made Sept. 19, 1859. He died Nov. 22, 1865. It names his son, Sam. residuary legatee after the death of his wife, not named, his sons Alvin and Peter, and his daughter Elizabeth.

*Abraham's Creek and Abraham's Plains in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., were named for Abraham, a Mohegan Indian Chief. Abraham was the Christian name of Schabash, the first Indian to receive the rite of baptism at the hands of Moravian missionaries. He lived, with other Mohegans, at Shekomoko, near what is now Pine Plains, Dutchess Co., N. Y., and went with Christian Henry Rauch to Oley, Pa., where this Moravian missionary baptised him. He returned to Shekomoko and was appointed an Elder in the Mission. He removed, about 1746, with other Mohegans to Guadenhutten, now Lehigh, Carbon Co., Pa., and March, 1753, came to the Wyoming Valley and with his family took up his abode in Paxinosa's Village, now Plymouth, Luzerne Co., Pa. In chapters III and IV of Oscar J. Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre and Woming Valley may be found a clear, comprehensive and profoundly interesting account of the Wyoming Valley Indians.

Abraham's Plains lie on the right bank of the Susquehanna River and extend from near the head of the valley to the bend in the river opposite Ross street, Wilkes-Barre, and are situated in the limits of the old townships of Exeter, Kingston and Plymouth. The battle of Wyoming was fought, July 3, 1778, on the portion of Abraham's Plains lying in Exeter Township and near the Kingston Township line. "Queen Esther's Rock" lies in Kingston Township, now the Borough of Wyoming. The Wyoming Monument also stands in the Borough of Wyoming. Forts Jenkins and Wintermute both stood on Abraham's Plains in Exeter, and Forty Fort in Kingston.

Abraham's Creek, one branch of which heads in the southern portion of Franklin Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and the other branch in the southeastern corner of Dallas Township, in the same county, flows in a southwesterly direction and empties into the Susquehanna River at Forty Fort Cemetery, Forty Fort, Luzerne Co., Pa. The warrantee map of Luzerne Co. shows a location of Abraham's Creek which differs, in some minor details, from the present course of the stream. Some of these changes were wrought by the great flood of about 1850 and doubtless others may be similarly accounted for. The stream now flows nearly in a straight line through Lot No. 35, from the stone bridge on Eighth street, West Wyoming, to the plant of the Wyoming Shovel Works. The warrantee map of this section of the creek shows a huge bend in the creek extending at least half the distance through Lot No. 36, and at least 800 feet east from the present bed of the creek. Without much doubt the creek at this point was straightened when the flats on Lot Nos. 37, 36 and 35 were drained.

According to Mr. Harvey (Bib.-1) a Mohegan Indian village was established, prior to 1742, on the left bank of Abraham's Creek, at some distance back from the river. A number of industries, many of which utilized the waters of Abraham's Creek, were established, made their contribution to the industrial history of Kingston Township and most of them have passed away. Of these the most important are named in the following sketch:

ABRAHAM'S CREEK INDUSTRIES

1. The Henry Tuttle Grist Mill. Jan. 13, 1789, Henry Tuttle (Family No. 1174—Tuttle) bought from Colonel Nathan Denison 18 acres of Meadow Lot No. 10, Kingston, and May 20, 1791, he bought from Eliakim Roberts (Family No. 988—Roberts) Meadow Lot No. 11, Kingston. About 1798 he built a small grist mill on this property just below the stone bridge, in what is now the Borough of Forty Fort. Henry Tuttle and his two sons, John and Joseph, were blacksmiths. Joseph was also a "mill stone maker" and was assessed as such in 1814. In 1801 Joseph Tuttle operated the grist mill and in 1804 it was operated by Henry Tuttle. Joseph Tut-

(Line of 35 and 36.) Thence north 33 degrees W. thirteen chains and 85 links to a stake. Thence south 52 degrees, 30 seconds W. thirteen chains to a stake. (Line of 34 and 35.) Thence south 33 degrees E. fourteen chains and 60 links to the place of beginning. He also conveyed in the same deed, to Gilbert Carpenter "The whole, and sole right to convey and occupy the water of the creek called Abraham's the succeeded his father as the owner of the mill. William, son of Elijah Harris (Family No. 1021—Harris), was for many years the miller. April 9, 1839, George W. Barber (Family No. 192—Barber), of what is now Warren Co., N. J., bought, from Joseph Tuttle, Second Division Lot No. 11 and 74 acres of Third Division Lot No. 24, and operated the grist mill for a number of years.

2. The Wyoming Shovel Works, of which a sketch appears, in connection with Family No. 988.

3. The Wyoming Terra Cotta Works, see Family No. 1005.

4. The Ezra Breese Tannery. About 1850 Ezra Breese (Family No. 989—Breese) built and operated a tannery on land now owned by James Fowler's sons, on Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. In 1852 he charged 50 cents each for tanning four deer skins and 31 cents for tanning one hog skin. The tannery was in operation for a number of years.

5. Lot Brees Fulling Mill-Foundry-Plaster Mills. Nov. 6, 1811, Lot Brees bought from Jacob Bedford of Kingston, part of Lot No. 35, the northern boundary of which was a line thirty feet from the house William Love then lived in. (Family No. 1001—Love.) This was the John Bird house. The lot was eight rods deep and lay between the present residence of Mr. Nice Mineger and the property owned (1918) by the Patrick Herbert estate, on Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., and included what was for many years the residence of Mr. A. W. Van Tuyle. With the title to the land there was conveyed also the privilege of taking water out of the creek, called Abraham's Creek, in the Peach Orchard belonging to Jacob Bedford, and to dig a race or trunks, so as to take the water across the lot of land that Jacob Bedford had sold by Article to John Cool, in the way that shall be most convenient to the party of the second part, behind the house, and to trunk and bury 28 feet of the water behind the house, previously reserved in the bargain with John Cool. In the Wilkes-Barre Gleaner, Nov. 27, 1812, Lot Brees announced that he had built a new fulling mill about one-half mile below the old one. (Bedford Mill, see later.) In 1811 he was assessed as a clothier and in 1814 as a clothier and owner of a fulling mill. May 11, 1814, with his wife, Falla, he sold the property to David Goodwin (Family No. 1230—Goodwin), who was assessed in 1815 as a clothier and announced the purchase of the mill in the Gleaner of Nov. 11, 1814. David and Sarah (Chapin) Goodwin sold the property to Peter Setzer, who, in a card in the Gleaner of Oct. 4, 1816, announced that he was putting the mill in complete repair and would be ready to receive cloth for dressing as soon as the 15th of Sept. This card is dated Sept. 9, 1816, and carried the request that cloth be left at the stores of Lord Butler (late Robinson and King), Wilkes-Barre, Elias Hoyt, Kingston, and E. Cary's, Pittston. Peter Setzer removed to Falls, Pa., and April 6, 1830, he and his wife, Catharine, sold the premises to John and Daniel C. Ambler. Oct. 25, 1830, the Amblers sold it to Ezra Breese and Jonathan Mooers, stipulating that no grist mill should be built on the property. The fulling mill operations appear to have been discontinued before the purchase by Breese and Mooers. The latter firm built a furnace and established a foundry on the lot and also built and began the operation of a plaster mill. In 1835-6 the furnace was assessed as the property of Jonathan Mooers, and Jonathan Mooers and Cornelius Mooers were assessed as combmakers. Jonathan Mooers was born Nov. 12, 1803, died Nov. 10, 1879, and with his wife, Phebe, born Aug. 17, 1803, died March 1. 1868. is buried in Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre. William Swetland having acquired possession of the furnace and lands in 1839, Jonathan Mooers removed to Wilkes-Barre. Under the caption "Wyoming Foundry at New Troy," William Swetland and Company announced in the Republican Farmer and Democrat Journal that they were prepared to make all kinds of castings at the shortest notice and that they had a great variety of patterns for mill castings and a first rate Style of Ploughs. They also advertised Coal and Cook Stoves, Grates, Andirons, Large Kettles, and an assortment of Hollow-ware. The Plaster Mill was in good order. George Shafer (Family No. 50—Shafer) and James Bird Harding (Family No. 992—Harding) bought the property in 1841 and in the same year sold it to Russell and John R. Coudry. In 1844 it was operated by Canfield Harrison, born 1809, died Feb. 28, 1880, (Rosemont Cemetery, Bloomsburg, Pa.) son of Jarius and Huldah (Fuller) Harrison of Huntington Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. He was married to Deborah Koons, born May 7, 1811, died Sept. 2, 1871. (Rosemont Cemetery, Bloomsburg, Pa.) Canfield Harrison removed to Carbondale, where, about 1861, he built the Harrison House. He later removed to Bloomsburg, Pa. In 1846 the foundry property was assessed to R. E. Marvine and was operated for some years by Marvine and Ruthven and Ruthven and Rexford. All traces of the business carried on at this point for nearly or quite half a century have vanished.

6. Early tradesmen living near the corner of Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue in what is now West Wyoming, Pa., were: (a), Jacob Bird, a weaver, (Family No. 1217—Bird), 1807; (b), Jacob Plumb, carding machine maker, 1814; (c), Charles and Simon Plumb, cabinet makers, 1825; (d), Charles Barney, cabinet maker, 1829, and Joseph Davidson and Charles Barney, cabinet makers, 1835; (e), John Gardner, cabinet maker, 1827; (f), Josephus Barber, shoemaker, 1797, southeast corner Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue; (g), Jacob Bechford Hatter Shop, southeast corner Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue, 1797-1817; (h), Jacob I. Shoemaker, saddler shop and shoe shop, 1817; (i), S. Prentiss & Co., merchants, in succession to Bedford's Hatter Shop; (j), Henry Anthony, blacksmith, on West Eighth street, north of Shoemaker avenue, lived in a Creek, where it is now conveyed for the use of mills and other buildings of like nature." The deed also conveyed to Gilbert Carpenter a certain piece of land being part of Lot 35, "beginning at the northwest end of said lot and running down said lot of an equal distance, on each line, until it contains 12 acres." It is apparent from this deed that a mill, or mills, stood on Lot 35, Jan. 15, 1791, when John Rosenkrans sold this 18 acre tract to Gilbert Carpenter. There was probably a saw mill on the lot in 1786 when Solomon Finch in making his will bequeathed "The saw mill irons" to his cousin, Isaac house still standing and one of the oldest buildings in West Wyoming, owned by Mrs. Joseph Vosburgh. (1918.) The shop, long since removed, stood near the road.

7. The Carpenter-Shoemaker Mills, see Families No. 947 and 987.

8. Goodwin-Breese, Distillery. Abraham Goodwin, Jr., and John Brees owned a distillery on the left bank of Abraham's Creek and near what was long known as the Bowers Tannery. In 1820 Henry Breese was assessed as a distiller and inn keeper and John and Henry Brees as the owners of a still house. In 1822-3 Henry Brees was assessed as the owner of the distillery of Abraham Goodwin, Jr.

9. The John Brees Grist Mill. This mill stood on the tract of land between the "Isaac Shoemaker floom" and the "Big Stone Bridge," on Lot No. 34 in the Abraham Creek gorge. It was sold by John Breese to Josiah B. Marshall, April 1, 1826.

10. The Ansel Gay-Marshall and Gore-Philo Bowers Tannery. Jacob Bedford, March 20, 1809, executed a deed to Azor Sturdevant, confirming his title under the "New Troy" patent, to a tract of land described as beginning at Isaac Shoemaker's upper floom, running down his race to a spring run, thence up the run to the road, thence up the road to the maine creek, thence down the middle of the creek to the beginning, to contain all the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging May 23, 1809. Azor Sturdevant and his wife, Fear, conveyed title to the land to Captain Samuel Brees, who, March 16, 1818, sold it to Abraham Goodwin, Jr., from whom the title apparently passed to John Brees prior to 1820. The Goodwin-Brees distillery stood on this lot. April, 1826, John Breese and Jarusey Breese, his wife, sold the land to Josiah B. Marshall, (Family No. 1230—Goodwin) and Dec. 29, 1826, Josiah B. and Charlotte (Goodwin) Marshall sold a one-half interest in the property to Daniel Gore. (Family No. 1216—Johnston.) The deed from John and Jarusey Brees conveyed also the privilege of erecting a dam as high as shall be necessary, to the corner on the line of lands of Christian Miller. In 1827 Marshall and Gore were assessed as tanners and curriers. Feb. 3, 1829, they sold their interest to Ansel Gay. Sept. 25, 1832, Ansel Gay and Sally, his wife, sold to Philo Bower (Family No. 43—Bower) the two acres of land on which the tannery stood, for $1,000. In 1836-40 it was owned by and assessed to Bower and Swetland, and in 1841 to Philo Bower, who operated it for a number of years. Sterling Saylor (Family No. 3—Saylor) was a tanner and currier in the employ of his uncle, Philo Bower, and also for a time, conducted the business of Mr. Bower.

11. The Jacob Bedford-Azor Sturdevant-Samuel Breese Fulling Mill. Jacob Bedford of Kingston published a card in the Wilkes-Barre Gleaner of Oct. 12, 1798, and dated Sept. 28, 1798, in which he "Respectfully informs his friends and the public that he is erecting a Fulling Mill at Carpenter's Mills in Kingston, which will be ready in a few days to run, and has engaged a workman who has been well recommended, and, from his long experience both in America and Europe, flatters himself he will be able to please his customers. He will color Scarlets, Greens, Browns, Blues, etc., and take spots out of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Clothes without damaging the color or quality. Those persons favoring him with their custom may depend on their orders being observed with punctuality and despatch. N. B. For accommodation of those gentlemen who live up the river their cloth will be received at Captain Jenkins at Exeter, and those who live below at Esquire Myer's in Kingston." Jacob Bedford was assessed in 1799 as the owner of a house and a fulling mill and as a hatter by trade. In the same year Godfrey Clark was assessed as a fuller in Kingston Township. Nov. 9, 1799, Godfrey Clark announced in the Gleaner that he "carries on the Fulling Business as usual at Carpenter's Mills." This was doubtless the Bedford Mill of which Jacob Bedford was assessed as the owner in 1801. Prior to 1804 Azor Sturdevant acquired title to the fulling mill and in that year was assessed as its owner. This old mill, which was the earliest or second earliest fulling mill in Kingston Township and one of the earliest in the Wyoming Valley, of which any record remains, stood just below the Stone Bridge, known for many years as the "Big Bridge" crossing Abraham's Creek on the road from Wyoming to Carverton and Northmoreland. It stood on Lot No. 35 of the Third Division of Kingston and occupied the site on which a tenement house stands. It was a stone building and in the later years of its history had carding machinery on the second floor and a foundry and machine shop on the first. Azor Sturdevant who, in 1806, was in Delaware Co., Ohio, sold the mill to Captain Samuel Brees, who announced in the Luzerne Federalist and Susquehanna Intelligencer of July 21, 1809, that he had bought the Azor Sturdevant Mill and wished to hire a competent man. Sept. 28, 1810, he advertised that he was ready to receive cloth. In 1811 he was assessed as a clothier. From 1819 to 1823 the mill was operated by John Brees, son of Captain Samuel Brees, and Charles Phillips. (Family No. 1216—Phillips.) Sept. 10, 1823, William and Uriah Swetland announced in the Wyoming Herald that they had taken the fulling mill and carding machine lately occupied by Charles Phillips of Kingston and were ready to receive cloth for fulling, dyeing and dressing. Charles Phillips and his brother, Noah Philips, were assessed as clothiers in 1819-20-21. John Brees was assessed as a clothier in 1819. Captain Samuel Brees and John Wright operated the mill in 1825-31. David Amy, in 1829, and Wheeler Kirkendall, in 1830, were assessed as clothiers. Breese and Ambler were assessed as owners in 1832 and April 5, 1832, John Ambler and W. A. Merrett announced in the Wyoming Republican that additional new and superior carding machinery, shearing machines, and other machinery suitable for dressing cloth had been installed. In 1833 John Ambler and William Wheeler Kirkendall were

Finch, Jr. (See "The Shoemaker Grist Mill," Family No. 947). June 10, 1791, Gilbert Carpenter of Kingston, for a consideration of £40 sold to Benjamin Carpenter two acres of the above tract, described in the survey as "Beginning at a stake and stones standing one chain and twenty-five links from a buttonwood tree—the corner of lands belonging to Gilbert Carpenter and John Corey. The buttonwood tree referred to above stood on the south bank of Abraham's Creek, in what is now West Wyoming, Pa., and at the point on the line between Lots 34 and 35 where Eighth street crosses the creek just north of the Town Hall. With the land Gilbert Carpenter conveyed title to all the buildings, mills, timbers, waters, etc., and a "Whole, sole and entire right of conveying the waters of the creek called Abraham's Creek, where it shall be judged most convenient, until it intersects the head of the Canal that leads the water on to the Pine Plains, thence where it now runs into the two acres of land aforesaid, with the sole privilege of occupying the same for the use of mills and other buildings of like nature." The twelve acre tract at the north end of Lot 35 was situated on Abraham's Creek and adjoined the tract upon which Uriah Swetland built a grist mill a number of assessed as owners, and in 1837 Breese and Wright again were owners and operators of the mill. The estate of Captain Samuel Brees and Chester Shales (Family No. 1216—Shales) were assessed on the property in 1839, and Chester Shales was assessed in that year as a clothier. June 15, 1840, John Wright sold his one-half interest in the property to Chester Shales, who, in 1840, was assessed as an inn keeper and clothier. May 30, 1846, Chester Shales and his wife, Eliza (Goodwin) Shales, sold to Alexander Clark Shaver their one-half interest in the property, including one acre of ground on which the fulling mill stood. The title to the Breese estate interest in the property passed to James Jenkins and May 20, 1852, A. C. Shaver, then of McHenry Co., Ill., conveyed title to his interest to James Jenkins. The property is described in this deed as having upon it a dwelling house, foundry, carding machine, and fulling mill.....lately occupied by said Shafer and said Jenkins. Dec. 10, 1870, James Jenkins agreed to sell the mill and three acres of land to A. J. Bell for $1,500 and at about that time or a little later Mr. Bell had a wagon shop and also did a general blacksmith business. April 1, 1873, he assigned his contract with James Jenkins to Levi Winters to whom Steuben Jenkins, administrator of the estate of James Jenkins, executed a deed confirming the title. The property is now owned by the Levi Winter heirs.

12. The William Goodwin Blacksmith Shop. Feb. 4, 1823, Captain Samuel Brees sold to William Goodwin one acre of Lot No. 35, adjoining the fulling mill property on the north. About 1827-8 William Goodwin sold the land to William Henderson, who, July 4, 1828, sold it to William B. Underwood.

13. The Schooley and Fuller Powder Mill-Frear Foundry. In 1841 Fuller and Schooley were assessed as the owners of a powder mill, which was probably built about 1840, and stood on the site of the Oscar Frear foundry. The original proprietors of the mill were evidently Jedediah Schooley and Charles Fuller. Sept. 20, 1844, the former bought from Aaron Van Camp one acre of Lot No. 34 on the bank of Abraham's Creek. The house still standing on this lot was the Jedediah Schooley residence. April 1, 1846, James Jenkins sold to Jedediah Schooley 12 acres of 35, the line of which was situated 32 rods from the southwest corner of William Underwood's lot. It adjoined lands of the heirs of Isaac Shoemaker and Christian Miller. The powder mill, despite several explosions, was operated by Jedediah Schooley for a number of years. Robert R. Frear built a small foundry on the site of the powder mill and in 1873 he manufactured plows, cultivators, and sled shoes and made all kinds of castings to order. It is now (1918) owned by his son, Oscar Frear.

14. The Robbins Stone Quarry and Saw Mill. The Robbins stone quarry adjoining the lot where Sanderson Shirley for many years operated a cider mill, was an enterprise of Elijah, son of Stephen Robbins. The Stephen Robbins saw mill, some portions of the dam remaining in 1918, was in operation prior to 1825. The dam at the mill was broken by the flood in Abraham's Creek, which about 1850, wrought serious damage to various properties between this point and the river. It is still spoken of as the most violent flood in the known history of Abraham's Creek. The flood conditions extended to all the creeks emptying into the Susquehanna River in Pennsylvania—Bowman's Creek and Toby's Creek included. Stephen Robbins was married to Mary Catharine, daughter of John, Sr., and Molly Honeywell. Some of their children were: Elijah, served in Company G, 143d Regiment, P. V. I., in the Civil War; Adam, served in Company I, 56th Regiment, P. V. I., in the Civil War; Stephen D., Alsa, William, Rachel (Robbins) Greenleaf, Almira (Robbins) Schriver, Matilda, Mary (Robbins) Calkins, Mahala. The heirs of John Honeywell, Sr., whose will, made Sept. 21, 1829, was probated Nov. 24, 1829, were: 1, John, Jr.; 2, Prudence; 3, Mary; 4, Benjamin; 5, William, and three grandchildren: Ura Carver, William Holmes, John Wort. Stephen Robbins and Orr Scovil were assessed as owners of a saw mill in Kingston in 1825-7.

15. The Gaines-Whitmore Axe Factory. On the east bank of Abraham's Creek, Joseph Whitmore (known as Judge Whitmore) and Nathan Gaines had an axe factory in operation as years later. Gilbert Carpenter had a saw mill on this tract as early as June 1, 1796. (See sketch Gilbert Carpenter above.) This same tract was also the site of the Jacob Bedford Fulling Mill, one of the earliest fulling mills in Kingston Township. (See sketch Jacob Bedford above.) John Rosenkrans sold other portions of Lot No. 35 to Gilbert and Benjamin Carpenter and the lot at what is now the corner of Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, Pa., he sold to Josephus Barber. The rest of the lot containing about 170 acres he sold to Joseph Swetland. (Family No. 3—Swetland.) Gilbert Carpenter sold his interest in Lot 35 to Jacob Bedford to whom a patent was issued by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He later executed deeds to various parties who had bought portions of Lot 35 from himself and Gilbert Carpenter, including the two acre tract sold by the latter to Benjamin Carpenter, who sold it to Isaac Schumacher.

Lot No. 34, one rod of which is included in Eighth street, Wyoming and West Wyoming, from Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, to Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, was owned by Captain Aholiab Buck and Lieutenant Asahel early as 1842. It was assessed in 1843 as the property of Nathan Gaines. At a later date a lath and shingle mill was operated in the same building.

16. The Laubach-Cruikshank Distillery—Jacob Stevens' Blacksmith Shop. Prior to the Civil War William Laubach (Family No. 585—Laubach) and a Mr. Cruikshank operated a distillery on the property which is now owned and occupied by Mr. Jacob Stevens, a blacksmith, who for many years plied his trade on his homestead.

17. The Gilbert Carpenter Saw Mill. This was probably the first saw mill in operation on the upper waters of Abraham's Creek. It stood a short distance below the Stone Bridge near the Swetland-Phillips Mills and was in operation prior to April, 1796, when a petition was presented to the Luzerne County Court praying that a road be laid out from Gilbert Carpenter's saw mill in the "Gap of the Mountain on Abraham's Creek" to Sutton's Mill (in Exeter). The title to this property was conveyed in 1807 by Gilbert Carpenter to Jacob Bedford, who, June 27, 1810, sold to James Landon about 27 acres of Lots 34 and 35. James Landon owned the mill for a number of years and Aug. 29, 1825, sold the 27 acres of land to Uriah Swetland. Martin Dailey at a very much later date operated a saw mill on the property.

18. The Uriah Swetland-William Swetland-Comer Phillips Grist Mills, Saw Mills, Distillery. Aug. 14, 1822, Jacob I. Shoemaker and his wife, Elizabeth and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., and his wife, Betsey, sold to Uriah Swetland (Family No. 3—Swetland) three acres, the most southerly portion of Lot No. 18, of the Fourth Division, Kingston, adjoining Lot No. 35 of the Third Division, and, Aug. 29, 1825, James Landon sold to him about 27 acres of Lots Nos. 34 and 35. In 1822 Uriah Swetland was assessed in Kingston Township as the owner of a still house and as a distiller. In 1825 he was assessed as the owner of a saw mill, land transferred from James Landon and as the owner of a grist mill. The grist mill stood, on the site now occupied by a smaller building, along the upper side of which the deep wheel pit of an older mill may still be seen. The dam for this mill, now broken, was situated above the forks of the road and the water was conveyed in trunks to the mill. April 23, 1836, Uriah Swetland sold the property to William Swetland, who built what was known for many years as the White Mill, on the site of the Uriah Swetland grist mill. Later he built a clover mill on the upper side of the road, which was subsequently changed to a chop and grist mill. William Swetland sold the property, including various other pieces of land in the vicinity, a total of 276 acres improved with two grist mills, one saw mill, and three dwelling houses, to Comer Phillips of Providence Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Aug. 20, 1846, for $13,000. In exchange he secured title to 518 acres of land, lying along the Providence Township (city of Scranton) line, for $17,000. Feb. 16, 1849, Milton G. Phillips, son of Comer Phillips, sold to James Drake a one-half interest in the Red Mill, known as the chop mill. The distillery on this property stood on land near the little house long known as the Daily house. The Red Mill was operated by various parties, but prior to 1918, when the wreckage was removed, and for many years, had been allowed to fall into a total ruin. The water rights have been owned for a number of years by the Spring Brook Water Company.

19. Andrew Bennett owned a saw mill in Kingston Township in 1801. In a deed of Dec. 21, 1815, the mill then standing on the site of the Daniel Hefft Mill, is described as the Bennett Mill. Daniel Hefft, born Aug. 11, 1772, died Oct. 20, 1850, probably son of Richard Hefft of Richland Township, Bucks Co., Pa., is buried in Carverton Cemetery, Pa. Three of his sons were: 1, Jacob, born April 1, 1797, died Nov. 14, 1879, married to Sylvius, born March, 1810, died June 1, 1871, daughter of Charles and Martha (Pierce) Harris, (Family No. 1021—Harris); 2, John, born Jan. 31, 1801, died Aug. 25, 1851; 3, Samuel, born 1803, died 1855, married to Rebecca Wilson, born 1827, died 1909. The Daniel Hefft Mill was owned later by Samuel Hefft. Jacob Hefft also had a saw mill on his farm.

20. The Elijah Harris Grist Mill. Elijah Harris (Family No. 1021—Harris) built a small grist mill on his property, which was operated for a number of years. One pier of the old mill is still standing. The farm on which it was built became the William Church homestead. His heirs sold it to Amos Barnum, who sold it to William Sax, the Wyoming miller.

Buck,* brothers, and sons of William Buck. Prior to the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, in which Captain Aholiab Buck was killed, they sold Lot No. 34 to Elnathan Cory.† May 8, 1790, Gabriel and John Corey, sons of *Buck. II. Enoch Buck, born April 5, 1683, at New London, Conn., son of I. Ezekiel and Rachel (Andrews) Buck, was married, May 2, 1717, to Mary, daughter of Samuel Bebee, of Newington, Conn. Their son, III. William Buck, born in 1723, was married to Deborah, daughter of Eliab Farnam of Norwich, Conn. In 1753 William Buck had removed to "The Great Nine Partners" patent in Dutchess Co., N. Y., and Nov. 14, 1753, was admitted a proprietor in the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn. He was in Wyoming with the original settlers in 1762 and again in 1763. After the massacre of Wyoming in 1763 he returned to Amenia, N. Y., whence he came again to Wyoming with the First Forty Settlers in 1769. He was living in Ulster, Luzerne Co., Pa., Sept. 29, 1787, when he sold to Lord Butler of Kingston "All my right, title, etc., to Meadow Lot No. 13, Kingston, bounded on the Susquehanna River, northeast by lands of the heirs of Aholiab Buck and southwest by lands of Lord Butler. (Bib.-1, in part.) Some of the children of William and Deborah (Farnham) Buck were: 1, Asahel, living at Amenia, N. Y., in 1768, when he bought a right in the Susquehanna Purchase. He came to Wyoming before Aug., 1774, accompanied by his wife, Mehetable, and their children: (1), William, born about 1764, who was killed in the Battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778; (2), Asahel, Jr., who died about 1791, and (3), Pamela, married to Daniel, born 1773, son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Nisbitt) Ayres, of Plymouth, Pa. Asahel Buck owned lands in Kingston and also on Bowman's Creek, in Tunkhannock Township. He was killed by Indians in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Feb. 23, 1779. His widow, Mrs. Mehetable Buck, was married (2) to William Truck of Kingston Township, and was living in Kingston Township, Nov. 30, 1796, when with her husband, William Truck, and her daughter, Permealy, wife of Daniel Ayers, she sold to Elijah Harris one-half of Lot 11, Fourth Division, Kingston, the grantors being described as heirs of Asahel Buck. Asahel Buck was Lieutenant of the Second Company of the 24th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, at Wyoming, July 3, 1778; 2, Captain Aholiab Buck of the Kingston Company of Militia, was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. He was born about 1751 and was married in 1777 to Lucretia, daughter of Amos and Lucretia (Miner) York. (Family No. 1324—York.) They had one daughter, Deborah, born March 25, 1778, died Sept. 26, 1855, married to Captain John Taylor, born, Dauphin Co., Pa., Jan. 7, 1770, married, May 16, 1799, died Oct. 17, 1755. Mrs. Lucretia (York) Buck was married (2) to Justus Gaylord, Jr. She died at Wyalusing, Pa., Jan. 15, 1846. (Bib.-1.) (An Elijah Buck was a taxpayer in Tioga Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1792.) William and Deborah (Farnham) Buck had two other children who probably died early: Abiel, born at New Milford, Conn., July 23, and Mary, born there Nov. 2, 1746.

†Cory-Coray-Corey. I. Some early New Jersey families were those of: 1, John Cory of Elizabeth Town, Essex Co., N. J., whose will, made March 8, 1720-1, was probated Jan. 7, 1722-3. He was a yeoman. His will names his wife, Priscilla, and his children: i, Mary; ii, Elnathan, born 1701, died Oct. 8, 1766, married to Hannah, died in Jan., 1785, children, Ebenezer, Jeremy, Thomas, James, Joseph, Job; iii, Hannah; iv, John; v, Joseph; vi, Benjamin. His wife, Priscilla, made her will March 6, 1722-3, and it was probated Dec. 17, 1723. It names her daughter, Anna, under 18 years of age; her son, Elnathan, and her daughter, Mary, married to Andrew Hampton, Jr. Andrew Hampton, Sr., of Elizabeth Town, Essex Co., N. J., named in his will, made Oct. 1, 1738, and probated Jan. 30, 1738, his wife, Margaret, and children, Johannah Lambert, widow; Elizabeth, Oliver, Thomas, Andrew, John and Margaret Hampton, Andrew Hampton, Jr., named in his will, made in Elizabeth Town, Essex Co., N. J., June 22, 1748, his wife, Mary, and his children, Andrew, Abner, Jacob, Hannah and Margaret, the last three minors. Benjamin Cory, son of John and Priscilla Cory, made his will Aug. 5, 1740, and it was probated June 3, 1747. It recites that he had "Listed in the King's Service" and was to go to Cuba. He referred to the eldest sons (all under age) of his brothers, Elnathan, John and Joseph, and to his sister, Anna, in his will; 2, Abraham Corey, of Hanover, Morris Co., N. J., made his will Aug. 13, 1740, and it was probated Nov. 9, 1740. It names the following children: Abraham, the eldest; David, not 22; Jonathan, not 22; Elizabeth, married to Samuel Day; Mary (Corey) Johnson; Abigail.

II. An early Orange Co., N. Y., family was that of Jonathan Corey and his wife, Patience.

I. Jonathan Corey, who evidently lived in Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., made his will in Orange Co., N. Y., Dec. 10, 1768, and it was probated Feb. 11, 1770. It names his wife, Patience, and the following children: 1, Elnathan; 2, Jonathan; 3, Mary (Corey) Smith; 4, Lewis (Corey) Moore; 5, Temperance, married to Abraham Sheppard. It also names his grandson, John, son of Elnathan, and Jonathan, son of Abraham Sheppard. Dr. Nathaniel Elmer of Floreday (Florida) and Samuel Carpenter of Goshen were named executors, and Charles Carroll, David Sheppard and William Sieley were witnesses.

II. (1). Elnathan, son of Jonathan and Patience Corey, settled in Kingston District of the Town of Westmoreland, Wyoming Valley, Pa., about 1776, and his name appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for 1777 and 1778 as a resident of Kingston. His home was evidently on Lot No. 34, Third Division, Kingston, and probably was the first house built where the Captain Samuel Breese house stood, on lands now owned by the heirs of James M. Schooley at Wyoming, Pa. He was married to Abigail, daughter of John and Sarah Green, of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y. John Green's will, made in Goshen, N. Y., Jan. 19, 1759, and probated Sept. 4, 1761, names his wife, Sarah, and the following children: 1, Elizabeth, married to James Mosier, had a son, James, and a daughter, Rebecca; 2, John; 3, Sarah (Green) Belding; 4, Abigail (Green) Corey; 5, Mary (Green) Hoit. Elnathan Corey was a member of the first Grand Jury of Luzerne Co., Pa., Sept. 4, 1787. He was living in 1790, and was returned in the Federal Census of that year as having himself and one female in family. His name appears on the Assessment List for 1792 as a taxpayer in Kingston, although he had either died or divided his lands between his sons, John, Gabriel and Isaac in 1790. He had bought Lot No. 34, Third Division, Kingston, from Aholiab and Asahel Buck before July 3, 1778, and this lot was owned by the three brothers in 1790. It appears probable that he disposed of his lands some years before his death. April 2, 1788, John Corey sold part of them to his brother, Gabriel. Dr. Miner, in his History

Elnathan Cory, sold to Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter, a water right "across the lands which Elnathan Corey purchased of Asahel and Aholiab Buck." Lot 34 was divided between John, Gabriel and Isaac Corey, sons of Elnathan Corey. April 2, 1788, John Corey, yeoman, for £50 conveyed to Gabriel Corey, weaver, 30 acres of 34, situated between what is now Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, and a point 40 rods northwest of Abraham's Creek, as the latter bows from the present Eighth street toward the river. This tract included the site of the old Corey-Mullison-Chapin-Hice house. He also sold to him about half of that portion of Lot 34 which lies between Abraham's Creek, near Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, and the middle line of the township. The southerly boundary fixed lay along Abraham's Creek from the middle of Lot 34 to the line between Lots 34 and 35. The deed carried with the title to the land (53 acres) one-half the privilege of erecting mills of any kind whatsoever on said stream and provided that "All conveniences or profits arising therefrom" were to be equally divided between John and Gabriel Corey. Dec. 30, 1790, Gabriel Corey sold back to John Corey, the thirty acre tract described above, and May 3, 1791, sold the other tract to Gilbert Carpenter. He probably removed from Kingston Township at about this latter date. Isaac Corey owned one-quarter of Lot No.

of Wyoming, refers to Jenks, Rufus and Anson Corey as having been killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and further states that their "father died long since and was buried at Wyoming, near the tavern." The Corey to whom he referred as buried at Wyoming was doubtless Elnathan Corey, who owned Lot No. 34, at the southeastern corner of which the old Wyoming burying ground was situated. (See sketch of this burying ground—Family No. 986.) In all probability this plot of ground was set apart for burial purposes, or at least the portion on Lot 34, by Elnathan Corey. The writer thinks that Jenks Corey, referred to above, was a son of Jonathan Corey, of Hanover District. (See later.)

III. (1). John, son of Elnathan and Abigail (Green) Corey, was born in Orange Co., N. Y., and came to the Wyoming Valley about 1776. He was married to Phebe Howe, daughter of a pioneer settler of what is now Scranton, Pa. According to Dr. Hollister (Bib.-85) he was accidentally shot and killed by a friend. His widow, Mrs. Phebe (Howe) Corey, was married (2) to James, son of Captain Abiel and Abigail (Fenton) Abbott. (Family No. 35—Abbott.) On petition of James Abbott, stepfather of Ira, David and John Corey, James Abbott and Ebenezer Slocum were appointed their guardian. Ebenezer Slocum was also appointed guardian for Silas Corey, who in 1803, was more than 14 years of age. Silas Corey was married to Mary, born Feb. 27, 1792, daughter of Uriah (3rd) and Elizabeth (Jones) Stevens. (Family No. 1313—Stevens.) John Corey, in March, 1793, bought from Elisha Drake of Kingston 600 acres, from Philip Jackson of Kingston 93 acres and from Stephen Bishop 150 acres, all of lands in the Providence-Pittston "Gore of Land," all of which had been formerly owned by Francis Phillips. (Family No. 1009—Phillips.) But he evidently removed from Kingston Township to what is now Scranton, Pa., and where, mistaken, in an early morning dusk, for an animal, he was shot. The children of John and Phoebe (Howe) Corey were: 1, Silas, born 1788; 2, Ira, born 1791; 3, David (see later); 4, John, born 1796.

IV. (3). David, son of John and Phoebe (Howe) Corey, was born Jan. 15, 1794, and was accidentally killed in a log chute at Mauch Chunk, Pa., April 24, 1833. He was married to Rebecca, born Feb. 29, 1796, died May 15, 1827, daughter of Elisha and Eunice (Carver) Atherton. (Family No. 992—Atherton, No. 992—Carver.) They are buried in Forty Fort Cemetery. Their children were: 1, Celinda, married, Sept. 1, 1836, to the Rev. Job I. Harvey; 2, Elisha Atherton, born 1822, died 1909, married, in 1844, to Mary Jane, born 1826, died 1886, daughter of John and Eunice (Miller) Perkins of Wyoming, Pa., (Family No. 1313—Perkins, No. 988—Miller); 3, George, born July 5, 1824, died Dec. 28, 1903, married to Leonora C. Green, born April 18, 1822, died Aug. 27, 1912, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery); 4, Helen C., born July 27, 1826, married, Dec. 14, 1854, to Jerome Salisbury, lived and died at Monroeton, Bradford Co., Pa.

II. (2). Jonathan, Jr., probably son of Jonathan and Patience Corey, came to the Wyoming Valley about 1776 and settled in Hanover Township. His name and that of Jenks Corey appear in the Westmoreland Tax Lists for 1777 and 1778 as residents of Hanover District. Jenks Corey was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. His heirs owned Lot No. 14, 200 acres, in Hanover, in 1794, when John Franklin, Sheriff, sold the property to Christopher Murlbut on a suit brought by the latter. (See reference to Nathan Carey's grist mill, Family No. 50.) Jonathan Corey had a son, Joseph Corey, living in Salem Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Nov. 22, 1797, when he for "The parental regard I have for my son, Joseph Corey, of Salem Township," executed a deed for Lot No. 11, 100 acres, of the Fourth Division of lots in Pittston, adjoining the Wilkes-Barre line. Jonathan Corey and Joseph Corey were members of Captain John Franklin's Company of Connecticut Militia in the service of the United States at the Post of Wyoming, in April-May, 1780. (Bib.-1.)

34 lying north of Shoemaker avenue and, Aug. 5, 1795, John Corey sold to him, for five shillings, 15 acres of Lot No. 34 lying along what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., and adjoining Lot No. 33. This tract was about 22 rods wide and extended 38 rods beyond Abraham's Creek. Feb. 28, 1792, Isaac Corey sold the latter land to Alexander Swartwout. The latter sold it May 11, 1798, to Jacob Bedford and removed to what became later known as "Swartwout's Bend" in Exeter Township. Jonathan Pearce subsequently owned one-quarter of Lot 34 from the "Back Road" to the middle line of the township, and sold a piece six rods wide extending that distance to Joseph Pearce, who, May 20, 1797, sold it to Lewis Mullison. (Family No. 992—Mullison.) The other one-quarter of 34 lying between Shoemaker avenue and the middle line of the township, 13 rods wide, was sold to Samuel Raub, Jan. 1, 1812, by Jacob Bedford. John Corey and his brother, Gabriel, May 8, 1790, sold to Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter "The sole and entire right and privilege of conveying the waters of Abraham's Creek across the lands which Elnathan Corey purchased of Asahel Buck and Aholiab Buck, where water is now conveyed in order to rise the step of the hill until it intersects the line of lands belonging to the heirs of Solomon Finch, late of this county, deceased." May 3, 1791, John Corey sold to John Rosencrans for £30 the ten acres of Lot No. 34 lying between what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., and Abraham's Creek, and extending 25 rods on the avenue. The "old red" house that stood on this lot on the high ground above Abraham's Creek may have been originally the residence of Elnathan Corey and later of John Corey. John Rosenkrans lived in it and sold it to Joseph Swetland, March 11, 1800. Joseph Swetland lived there April 7, 1802, when he sold it to Captain Samuel Brees. (Family No. 989—Breese.) There is a reference in the Swetland-Breese deed of April 7, 1802, to the old burying ground on this tract. Dec. 25, 1792, John Corey sold to Reuben Mullison 70 acres of Lot No. 34 lying between Abraham's Creek, Wyoming, and Abraham's Creek, West Wyoming, and including a piece of land, 13 rods wide, extending from the "Back Road" to the middle line of the township. This tract was bounded southerly by the 10 acre tract of John Rosenkrans and the 15 acre tract of Alexander Swartwout. About 1793 John Corey removed from Kingston Township to Providence Township.

Lot 18 of the Fourth Division of Kingston Township was owned by Daniel Finch (Family No. 14—Finch), who was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and was bought, Jan. 4, 1791, by Benjamin Carpenter, from Samuel Finch, administrator of the estate of Daniel Finch. It contained 208 acres and adjoined Lot 35 of the Third Division.

On the two acres of Lot No. 35 which Isaac Schumacher bought from Benjamin Carpenter, Sept. 1, 1807, there was erected a dwelling house, a grist mill and a saw mill, and with the title to the land there was also conveyed "The sole and entire privilege of the waters and of leading to, and using for, the said mills the water from the creek called Abraham's Creek where it is now conveyed to the mills.....and to carry and convey the water from the tail of the mill to the said Abraham's Creek, over the land over which it now passes or covers." This grist mill, a sketch of which appears in the sketch of Family No. 946, was probably built by Gilbert Carpenter, a millwright, doubtless, in association with his brother, Benjamin Carpenter, and it appears very probable that on the two acres of land on which the old grist mill stood the waters of Abraham's Creek were first utilized for power purposes.

The vicinity in which Isaac Schumacher settled in the fall of 1807 or the spring of 1808 was known at that time as "New Troy," "Carpenterville," "Carpenter's Mills," and the gorge through which Abraham's Creek flowed was known as "Carpenter's Hollow." In a deed of June 1, 1780, by which Benjamin Carpenter conveyed to his son, James, title to 100 acres of Lots No. 36 and 37, the huge ledge of rocks at the north end of these lots is described as "Carpenter's Mountain." In later years the neighborhood was called Shoemaker's Mills and "Shoemaker's Hollow." (Bib.-1.) The source of the first of these names: "New Troy," is not known to the writer. Portions of Lots 34 and 35 including 437 acres were included in the "New Troy" patent, application for which was made by Gilbert Carpenter, who later sold all his interest in the patent to Jacob Bedford. The locality known by the name of New Troy apparently included the whole territory now included (1918) in the Boroughs of Wyoming and West Wyoming. "Troy Corners" appears to have been a name applied to the portion of "New Troy" lying in the vicinity of the present corner of Eighth street and Wyoming avenue in the Borough of Wyoming. Neither has the writer been able to learn the approximate date when the name "Wyoming" became generally employed to describe the section known as "New Troy." Gordon's Gazetteer of Pennsylvania, published in 1832, describes New Troy as containing forty dwellings, stores, taverns and a mill, and as having a population of about 250. The postoffice was known as New Troy, and William Swetland was the postmaster in 1832. As early as 1840-2 letters addressed to Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., were delivered to persons living in "New Troy."

It appears that there were five dwelling houses on the property bought by Isaac Schumacher in 1807. Two of these were log houses. One of them stood on land adjoining the grist mill site on the east and was, until about 1848, utilized as a "Miller's House." In that year the old house now standing on the same site was built by Isaac C. Shoemaker (Family No. 946.) The other stood on the same side of the road and near to the "Shoemaker Spring," which for more than 110 years has been an unfailing source of supply of excellent water. Six generations of the Shoemaker family have used it. William Parrish was one of the later tenants who lived in the "Log House by the spring." The present residence of J. I. Shoemaker, which includes a part of a very old house, stands on the site of a house in which Judge Benjamin Carpenter lived in the later years of his residence in Kingston Township. It was also the site of the residence of John Rosenkranz in or about 1789-90 and, doubtless, also of Solomon Finch prior to 1786. In 1807-8 it became the residence of Samuel, son of Isaac Schumacher. Another house stood on the north side of the road, on the site of the residence of the late Ira R. Shoemaker, on Lot No. 36. This was the residence of Judge Benjamin Carpenter, when he sold 100 acres of Lots 36 and 37 to his son, James Carpenter, and described the land in the deed as lands Benjamin Carpenter had lately occupied. It became the residence of James Carpenter and in 1807-8 Isaac Schumacher made it his home. It was later owned and occupied by Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., whose son, James M. Shoemaker, sold it to William Swetland Shoemaker. A little farther up the road and on the opposite, or south side, there was another house, which stood directly opposite the residence of the late Denton De Witt Durland. This house stood on Lot No. 37, bought by Benjamin Carpenter ——— from the administrators of the estate of Ozias Yale. It was owned later by Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., whose administrators sold it to Uriah Swetland, who sold it to William Swetland Shoemaker.

When Gilbert Carpenter sold to Benjamin Carpenter the two acres of land, on which the grist mill stood, there remained in his possession a strip of land about 78 feet wide, lying between this two acre tract and the line between Lots 34 and 35. March 12, 1810, Isaac Schumacher bought the strip from Jacob Bedford. In 1812 Isaac Schumacher was assessed in Kingston Township as owning 96 acres of improved land, 451 acres of unimproved land, two horses and three horned cattle with a valuation for purposes of taxation of $2,341.00. In 1809 the Shoemaker property was assessed as that of Samuel Shoemaker and as consisting of 500 acres of land. In 1811 500 acres of land were assessed as the property of Isaac Shoemaker, and a grist mill, saw mill and a house and lot were assessed as the property of Samuel Shoemaker. Without any doubt Samuel Shoemaker was associated with his father in the purchase of lands from Benjamin Carpenter and James Carpenter. The title to the grist mill passed to Isaac Schumacher about 1816, who owned the mill until 1826, when he deeded all his real estate to his sons, Jacob I. and Isaac, Jr.

Isaac Schumacher was a farmer. At the time of his purchase of the Carpenter farm the land lying to the south of what is now Shoemaker avenue was evidently a wilderness and a considerable portion of it was a cranberry marsh. And it was probably as late as 1830 to 1840 before any considerable portion of these lands were drained and brought under cultivation. The higher ground, lying between Wyoming avenue and the marsh, and that lying chiefly north of Shoemaker avenue were the only lands on the farm available for cultivation. The term "Pine Plains" appears in the deed of June 10, 1791, in connection with the description of the water rights which Gilbert Carpenter sold to Benjamin Carpenter "until it intersects the head of the canal that leads the water on to the Pine Plains, thence where it now runs into the two acres of land aforesaid." (See above.) The same term appears in a petition presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions, June 2, 1791, praying for a change in the location of a portion of the "Back Road," and which recites that it "Appears that to remove the road leading through Kingston Township from the corner of lands between Thomas Bennett (Lot 33) and Elisha Matthewson (Lot No. 32), near the verge of the 'Pine Plains,' by the houses of Isaac Corey, Isaac Gilbert, John Rosenkrans, Lewis Mullison, John Gee and Benjamin Carpenter, Esq., thence to the line of said Kingston would equally accommodate the public," etc. These quotations seem to indicate that the lands immediately north of Shoemaker avenue were, in 1791, known as the "Pine Plains." The mountain section of the farm was covered with a very heavy growth of the best of timber. Along Hicks River Creek, just over the Exeter Township line from Lot 37, and only a short distance from the valley, there were large tracts of the finest quality of white oak timber, as late as 1857. Large quantities of this timber found ready market after the completion of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad. With millions of tons of anthracite coal, underlying the whole Wyoming Valley, wood was the fuel of the people until many years later than 1807, when Isaac Schumacher settled in Kingston Township. William Taylor, born in 1812, a grandson of Isaac Schumacher, and a son of Captain George and Sarah (Shoemaker) Taylor, described to his children a method he said was employed on the Shoemaker farm in securing a supply of wood for the winter season. A huge sleigh-like device was built upon the slope of the mountain and made secure with stays. The logs were then piled upon it and when the stays were removed the whole mass plunged to the foot of the hill. In telling the story he was always careful to state that it was only when the boys had been especially "good" that they were allowed to accompany the men on these expeditions.

Isaac Shoemaker was one of the stockholders in the Wilkes-Barre Bridge Company, his name appearing in a list of subscribers to stock published in Johnson's Historical Record. He also owned a lot on Bank or River street in Wilkes-Barre, known as the "Flower Garden" lot. This lot was a part of Lot 1, of the Wilkes-Barre Town Plot, and adjoined the famous Arndt Tavern, and was probably the Flower Garden of the Arndt Tavern lot. (See Arndt Tavern in Family No. 1055.) It was doubtless sold to Isaac Schumacher by John Penn Arndt. (Family No. 1339—Arndt.) Isaac Schumacher sold it to his sons, Jacob I. and Isaac, Jr. Jacob I. Shoemaker sold it to Jacob Kutz,* whose widow, Rosanna Kutz, sold it to M. S. Brundage, who, Jan. 1, 1866, sold it to M. L. Everett. Lot No. 1 of the Wilkes-

*Jacob Kutz, born Aug. 15, 1797, died May 11, 1855, was a merchant tailor in Wilkes-Barre in 1839, and in that year, according to a card in the Republican Farmer and Democrat Journal removed from his "Stand on the Square to the East End of the Wilkes-Barre Bridge, where he is prepared to see his customers and furnish them, in his line, with work well and promptly made." He was for a number of years the collector of Tolls for the Wilkes-Barre Bridge Company. With his wife, Rosanna, born Oct. 4, 1804, died Oct. 19, 1878, he is buried in Hollenbeck Cemetery. Their daughter, Christianna, born in 1822, died in 1901 (Sunny Side Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa.), was married as second wife to Philo Bower of Wyoming, Pa. (Family No. 43.)

Barre Town Plot is situated at what is now the corner of River and South streets, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

It is probable that the only public office held by Isaac Schumacher was that of Fence Viewer, to which he was appointed in 1823, with Jacob Sharps, Lazarus Dennison and William Swetland. On the 23d day of Dec., 1826, he signed a deed by which he conveyed to his sons, Jacob I. and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., title to all his real estate. With the exception of five acres of Lot 35, which he and his wife, Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher, conveyed to Captain George Taylor, their son-in-law, this deed covered all the lands bought by Isaac Schumacher in Kingston Township.

Isaac Schumacher died in Kingston Township Sept. 8, 1829, in the 77th year of his age, and is buried in the Forty Fort, Luzerne Co., Pa., Cemetery. His wife, Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher, was living Aug. 10, 1815. The date of her death has not been preserved. She probably died before Dec. 3, 1826. Some of the children of Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher were:

1. SAMUEL, born Dec. 15, 1780, died Oct. 7, 1830.
2. JACOB I., born Jan. 7, 1785, died March 7, 1851.
3. CATHARINE, born April 7, 1787, died Oct. 15, 1861.
4. SARAH, born Feb. 16, 1789, died July 30, 1849.
5. ANNA, born March 9, 1792, died in 1861.
6. ISAAC, JR., born May 1, 1797, died Jan. 9, 1837.
7. ELIZABETH, born May 29, 1800, died March 28, 1802.
8. ROSANNA, born July 12, 1802, died May 31, 1869.
9. MARGARETHA, born June 27, 1805, died in infancy.

The will of Isaac Shoemaker was made in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Aug. 14, 1829, and was registered at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 19, 1829. Thomas Van Camp and A. C. Phillips were present when the will was signed. It names his three sons, Samuel, Jacob I. and Isaac, Jr., and his four daughters, Sally, Caty, Anna and Rosanna. It divided his personal property, consisting of sundry notes, book debts and loose property as follows: 1. To each of his three sons, Samuel, Jacob I. and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., $100.00 each; 2. To his daughter, Sally, $50.00; 3. To his daughters, Caty, Anna and Rosanna, an equal share in the residue of the estate. Mr. Jacob I. Shoemaker, 2nd, has recently placed suitable headstones, in the Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery, to mark the graves of Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher and those of Samuel and Maria Magdalene (Raub) Shoemaker. Jacob I. Shoemaker and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., were executors of the will of their father, Isaac Shoemaker.

SAMUEL SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 947—(946)

Samuel, son of Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Schumacher, was born in Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Dec. 15, 1780, and was married, in Easton, Pa., April 14, 1807, to Maria Magdalena, born Sept.

2, 1786, (or Jan. 11, 1787) baptised April 8, 1787, died July 6, 1836, daughter of Ensign Andrew and Maria Magdalena (probably Klinehans) Raub. (Raub family later.) Soon after their marriage they removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., where, with his father, Isaac Schumacher, he had purchased the Benjamin and James Carpenter farms and grist mill (Family No. 14—Carpenter) at Troy, now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa. They established their home in the Judge Benjamin Carpenter house on Lot No. 35, Kingston Township, the present (1919) residence of Jacob I. Shoemaker, 2nd. This old house was a story and a half structure and was probably one of the first frame houses built in that section of Kingston Township. In 1798 it was one of the "Preaching Places" of the early Methodist Preachers. (Bib.—96.) The old house was extensively repaired and enlarged by Isaac Countryman Shoemaker, about 1834, and, a few years ago, it was moved back, a new front was built, and the general architectural features were completely changed by Jacob I. Shoemaker, 2nd. The front portion of the original structure now forms the dining room, kitchen, etc., of Mr. Shoemaker's commodious residence. Three generations of Shoemakers have been born in this house which has now (1919) been owned by the Shoemaker family 111 years. It is apparent that Samuel Shoemaker had an interest in the Carpenter property at West Wyoming, although his name does not appear in the deed from Benjamin and James Carpenter to Isaac Shoemaker. In the year following the purchase the whole property, consisting of 500 acres of land and a grist mill, was assessed to Samuel Shoemaker. In 1811 he was assessed as owning a house and lot, a grist mill and a saw mill. (See Shoemaker's Mills later.) Samuel Shoemaker owned 5 or $5\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land, described in a deed of May 16, 1798, conveying from Gilbert C. Carpenter to Lewis Mullison (Family No. 14—Carpenter, No. 992—Mullison) as 16 rods wide and lying adjoining the lands of Benjamin Carpenter. Samuel Shoemaker doubtless bought this land from the administrator of the estate of Lewis Mullison. Oct. 7, 1815, he bought from Ezekiel Gobel (Family No. 35—Gobel) Lot No. 40, Third Division, Kingston, adjoining the Kingston-Exeter Line, the Susquehanna River and what is now Wyoming avenue. This lot was owned by James Gardner (Family No. 14—Gardner) as early as 1790, and as early as 1801 he was operating a ferry between Kingston and Pittston Townships from this lot. It was probably one of the lots of which Benjamin Follet, Sr., was an original proprietor, and on which Benjamin Follet, Jr., lived previous to the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. April 24, 1788, Benjamin Follet, Jr., of Hartford, Windsor Co., Vt., sold to Aaron Whitmore of Mansfield, Tolland Co., Conn., "one tract or parcel of land which I hold by heirship from my honored father, Benjamin Follet, late of Windham, Windsor Co., Conn., he being an original proprietor. I being heir to a seventh part, and to include the lot I lived on together with 10 acres of the Island Manokonet, set off to the said lot as part of the seventh parts." James Gardner doubtless bought this lot from

Amos Whitmore and sold it a number of years later to Ezekiel Gobel, Jr. The dwelling on this lot stood on the bank above the river and in April, 1798, David Smith of Exeter and James Gardner and Jonathan Hutchins of Kingston Township were neighbors, living along a road that apparently ran across the present site of the Mount Lookout Coal Company's barns, along the bank above the river. The famous Wyoming Agricultural Fair Grounds were established on this lot for many years. Samuel Schumacher sold this lot April 9, 1817, to Henry Hice. (Family No. 988—Hice.) He also owned 6 acres of Lot 35, adjoining lands of Isaac Shoemaker, Samuel Brees, and Reuben Mullison, and $3\frac{1}{4}$ acres, of which the present site of the West Wyoming High School was a part. Samuel Shoemaker had apparently bought the latter piece of land from Gilbert Carpenter or Jacob Bedford, and Feb. 22, 1811, Jacob Bedford executed a deed to Samuel Shoemaker to perfect his title under the patent. Feb. 2, 1828, Samuel Shoemaker conveyed to John Johnsten one-eighth of an acre of land for school purposes. (See "The West Wyoming School" later.) In 1813 Samuel Shoemaker and William Swetland established a carding machine on the Shoemaker property and, in this same year, they, also, built a "fulling mill" there. (See Shoemaker Woolen Mills later.)

The will of Samuel Shoemaker was made April 11, 1824, and was signed in the presence of Dr. Ethel Bacon and David Goodwin. It was registered by Isaac Bowman, Register, Nov. 3, 1830. He devised to his wife, Mary Magdalene, the use of all his property during the minority of his children, and suggested the appointment of his wife, Hon. Charles D. Shoemaker, Dr. John Smith and Alvah C. Phillips as guardians of his children. He died Oct. 7, 1830. His wife, Mrs. Maria Magdalena (Raub) Shoemaker died, suddenly, July 6, 1836, while upon a visit at the home of her brother, Samuel Raub, of Kingston Township. They are buried in Forty Fort, Luzerne Co., Pa., Cemetery. Their children were: 1, Charles Martin, born Jan. 11, 1808, and Catharine Ann (Caty Ann), born Jan. 14, 1816.

THE WEST WYOMING SCHOOL

The earliest reference to a school, at what is now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., discovered by the writer, is a little item in the Day Book of Jacob I. Shoemaker, under date of March 14, 1820. It appears that on that date he had paid some person "18 cents for cutting a load of wood near the school house." This school house was doubtless on the same site as the old school house now (1919) standing on the grounds of the West Wyoming High School. Feb. 4, 1828, Samuel Shoemaker conveyed to John Johnsten "In trust for school purposes one-eighth of an acre of land..... In trust for a contemplated School District to be formed of part of the Upper School District in said Kingston." From this deed it appears that the whole of New Troy was at that time known as the Upper School District of Kingston. There were undoubtedly two schools in what was known as New Troy (or New Troy and Troy Corners). One of these stood on the site of the Laycock (later Wheeler) Hotel, at the corner of what is now Eighth street, and Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa. In April, 1801, Joseph Swetland and others petitioned the Court for the appointment of "Viewers to lay out a road to begin at or near the school house, standing on the road which leads from Benjamin Carpenter's, Esq., to the Main road in Kingston, and from the said school house, on a straight line to the river." (Bib.-320.) This school house apparently stood at the corner of the present Eighth street and Wyoming avenue until 1813-14, when Lot Breese had built a tavern on the corner and had removed the school house to what was later known as the School House Lot, immediately above the house on the Steuben Jenkins homestead. Mrs. Parthena (Atherton) Gordon, daughter of Cornelius Atherton (Family No. 992—Atherton) is said to have been an early teacher in this school. Chester Tuttle (Family No. 1174—Tuttle) also taught there.

The consideration named in the deed conveying the Samuel Shoemaker lands for school purposes is five dollars, and the land is described as follows: "Beginning at a corner on the road from New Troy to Northmoreland; thence back westwardly seven perches to a corner; thence eastwardly three perches to a corner on tier of Jacob I. Shoemaker; thence eastwardly along said line to the aforesaid road; thence southerly along said road to the place of beginning." To have and to hold the said tract of land....for the use aforesaid, from the day of the date hereof, for and during the term of ninety-nine years, thence next ensuing, and fully to be completed and ended." The deed was signed by Samuel Shoemaker and John Johnsten in the presence of Alvah C. Phillips and Samuel Raub and was recorded Nov. 5, 1832. The new district organized was known as District No. 4. From various sources the writer has compiled the following incomplete list of early teachers of the West Wyoming School, for many years known as the Shoemaker District School: Mr. Leonard, 1831; Manuel Lewis Pestana, 1834; Mr. Beach, 1836; Isaac H. Baldwin, 1836-7; Cicero Hasbrouck, 1838; Winthrop W. Ketchum, 1841; Abel Marcy, 1845-6 and 1848-9; Horace Armstrong; Isaac Shoemaker Phillips, 1847 and 1853-4; Mr. Hoyt, 1848; Mrs. or Miss Watson; George Johnsten; Charles M. Johnsten; William Hatfield; Caroline Phillips; William Wickham Case; Manuel Lewis Underwood; Jane Johnsten; James Angell; Frances Jones, (daughter of Daniel); Isaac Petersen; James H. Melick; Mary Jane Durland; William P. Mathers; Walter Bodle, about 1865; George Irwin; Clinton Sisson; Mr. Stone; Gertrude Smith, about 1857-8; Emma Hutchins; Betsey Heft; the Misses Davidson; Murray Carpenter; E. A. Lawrence, 1857; Wesley De Witt; Mary Ann Marcy; David R. Love; Frank P. Hopper, 1879-1882 and 1885-86.

Three of the above named teachers served later as Superintendent of Luzerne Co., Pa., Schools. Abel Marcy was elected in 1860 and reelected in 1863. Horace Armstrong was elected in 1866 and reelected in 1869. Frank P. Hopper was elected in 1899 and reelected in 1902, 1905, 1908, 1911, 1914 and 1917.

In 1823 H. Shepherd taught a writing school in that vicinity and in 1844 there was a similar school in existence there.

In 1853 when Isaac Shoemaker Phillips (Family No. 1216—Phillips) taught the school, and was paid one dollar per day for his services, the patrons of the school were: George Alicourt, Charles Barney, Philo Bower, M. C. Bunn, Mrs. Brees, Davis Bryan, C. B. Caswell, M. Connor, Joseph Davidson, Daniel Detrick, William Durland, E. Dymond, Shepherd Goodwin, William Hartsell, Mr. Hess, John Johnsten, John Jackson, Stephen Lawrence, William McCluskey, William McAllister, Valentine Minegar, Margaret Mitchell, Anna Phillips, E. Parrish, William Parrish, P. Randall, P. Rexford, William Sax, Emily Shafer, Isaac C. Shoemaker, William S. Shoemaker, Joseph Spencer, Holden Tripp, Daniel Van Scoy.

The following named persons were assessed as teachers in Kingston Township. Perhaps some of them taught either at Wyoming or West Wyoming: Joseph Smith, 1846; Gordon Pike (Family No. 1216—Pike), 1839-40; Daniel C. Marsh, 1839; Henry Woodhouse, 1841; A. J. Kenwood, 1844; Gideon Underwood, Jr., 1844; Frederick Stewart, 1817.

THE SHOEMAKER GRIST MILL

For many years the section of Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., on which the Shoemaker Grist Mill stands, was widely known as Carpenter's Mills. The first direct reference to mills on the Shoemaker, formerly Carpenter, property, discovered by the writer, is to be found in a deed dated Jan. 15, 1791, which conveyed from John Rosencrans to Gilbert Carpenter 18½ acres of Lot 35 and which contains a clause conveying "The whole and sole right to convey and occupy the water of the creek called Abraham's Creek, where it is now conveyed, for the use of the mills and other buildings of like nature." Another clause reads: "Together with all and singular the mills, buildings, timbers, waters, mines, easements, rents, etc." The deed, bearing date Nov. 24, 1790, conveying the whole of Lot 35 from Isaac Finch of Walkill, Orange Co., N. Y., to John Rosencrans (Family No. 946—Rosencrans) of Kingston, Pa., contains no reference to water rights or mills. However, it is probable that there were mills on the property as early as 1790, and while it was still owned by the heirs of Solomon Finch. May 8, 1790, Gabriel and John Corey conveyed to Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter "The sole and entire right and privilege of conveying the waters of Abraham's Creek across the lands which Elnathan Cory (Lot 34) purchased of Asahel and Aholiab Buck, where water is now conveyed in order to rise the step of the hill, until it intersects the line of the lands belonging to the heirs of Solomon Finch (Lot 35), late of the county, deceased. (See Family No. 14—Finch.) Solomon Finch in his will, which was made Sept. 3, 1786, and probated Sept. 24, 1787, bequeathed Lot 35 to his cousin, Isaac Finch, Jr., and also gave to him his "saw mill irons." This would seem to indicate the presence of a saw mill on the property prior to 1786. The purchase of the water rights by Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter in 1790 suggests the existence of the mills at that time and that the Carpenters were interested in them. The first grist mill was probably built by Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter, who were experienced carpenters and mill builders. June 10, 1791, Gilbert Carpenter sold the mill properties to Benjamin Carpenter and, Aug. 7, 1807, Jacob Bedford, who had bought the Gilbert Carpenter patent rights to the land, confirmed the title of Benjamin Carpenter.

After the purchase of the mills and farm of Judge Carpenter, by Isaac Shoemaker, the grist mill and saw mill were owned and operated by Samuel Shoemaker until 1816, when the title appears to have been transferred to Isaac Shoemaker, Samuel Shoemaker having evidently determined to devote all his energies to the carding and fulling mill business established by him in 1813. One of the first millers employed by Samuel Shoemaker was Peter, son of Lieutenant Colonel Peter Seiler of Williams Township, who had been married to a daughter of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Schumacher, brother of Isaac Schumacher, and had bought a farm at Plainsville, Pa. He was drowned, attempting to cross the Susquehanna River on the ice, March 18, 1809, on his way from the mill to his home. (Family No. 3.) In 1819 the mill was operated by Jacob I. Shoemaker, and Dec. 23, 1826, Isaac Schumacher deeded it to his two sons, Jacob I. and Isaac, Jr. In 1829-30 they sold the mill property to John and Daniel C. Ambler, and while it was owned by the Amblers it was operated for a time by Charles Fuller. (See Family No. 1021—Fuller.) In 1834, John Ambler was assessed as owning a hemp mill. This mill probably stood on the Shoemaker property and was doubtless one of the sources of supply of hemp for the Charles Fuller rope walk. March 28, 1834, John Ambler, Jr., then of Waterford, Saratoga Co., N. Y., sold the mill property to Joseph Moss of New Berlin, Chenango Co., N. Y., for $1,500. The title probably reverted to John Ambler, as on April 12, 1839, Caleb Atherton, Sheriff, acknowledged a deed conveying title to the mill property from John Ambler to Isaac Countryman Shoemaker, who had, April 14, 1837, acquired title to such interest in the mill property as was held by Charles M., son of Samuel Shoemaker.

Isaac C. Shoemaker rebuilt and enlarged the grist mill and installed new machinery. Later his brother, William S. Shoemaker, bought a half interest in the business and under the firm name of I. C. and W. S. Shoemaker a very extensive flour business was established and large quantities of the various products of the mill were hauled by teams to Carbondale and Bethany, Pa. This firm continued in business for many years and was succeeded by that of I. C. Shoemaker and Sons, Jacob I. 2nd, and Samuel R. Later the mill was operated by Jacob I. Shoemaker 2nd, and Daniel H. Frantz, the firm being known as Shoemaker and Frantz. James Fowler leased the mill and operated it the remainder of his life. His two sons, William J. and Charles Fowler, under the firm name of James Fowler's Sons, have built up in connection with the milling business a very extensive trade as jobbers in mill products, all kinds of groceries and produce, with establishments in West Wyoming, Pa., Pittston, Pa., and Honesdale, Pa.

THE SHOEMAKER WOOLEN MILLS

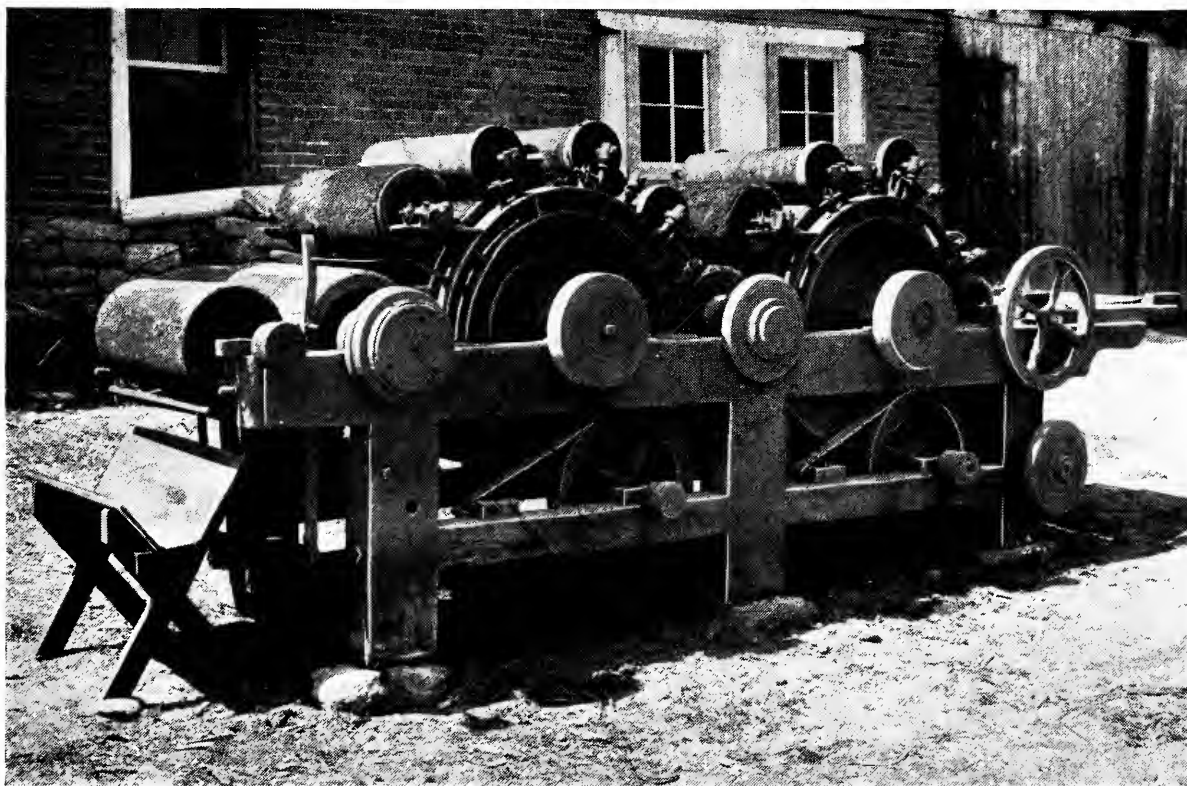

In 1813 Samuel Shoemaker, associated with William Swetland, established a business enterprise on the Shoemaker farm which was destined to grow into one of the most useful local industries in the early history of the valley. The Gleaner, published at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in its issue of June 18, 1813, carried the following announcement:

A WOOL CARDING MACHINE

The subscribers inform the public that they have erected a carding machine in the upper part of Kingston, near Shoemaker's Mills. The works are in the best order and whoever favors them with their custom may depend upon having their wool well carded. To accommodate their customers on the east side of the river, they may leave their wool at the store of Jacob and Joseph Sinton, in Wilkes-Barre; at the store of Miner Searle in Pittston, and at the store of Elias Hoyt in Kingston, from whence it will be taken and returned after carding, in Kingston and Wilkes-Barre every Monday and at Pittston on Thursday. If the wool is not greased it will be necessary to send one pound of clean fat to every 12 pounds of wool—the fat being sent would be preferred.

N. B. The subscribers are erecting a fulling mill at the same place and flatter themselves it will be the best ever erected in the county.

(Signed.) Samuel Swetland, Samuel Shoemaker.

The name "Samuel Swetland" was probably the result of a typographical error. Subsequent advertisements, pertaining to the business indicate that William Swetland shared this enterprise with Samuel Shoemaker. The Gleaner of Sept. 28, 1813, and later issues announced that the fulling mill would commence operations the 5th of Oct., when the subscribers intend work shall be done in the best manner. Cloth will be received at J. and J. Sinton's, Wilkes-Barre; Elias Hoyt and George Taylor, (Family No. 1055) Kingston, and M. Searles, Pittston, and returned when done. This notice was signed by Samuel Shoemaker and William Swetland.

The partnership between Samuel Shoemaker and William Swetland was terminated in 1814, and in the Gleaner of June 10, 1814, Samuel Shoemaker said to the public: "The subscriber has now in operation two carding machines,* where Merino and common wool will be carded by careful hands on the shortest notice." E. Carey's in Pittston, is named as an additional place where wool might be left.

In the beginning of Aug., 1814, it appears that the mills were fully equipped. On Aug. 12 of that year Samuel Shoemaker advertised in the Gleaner as follows: "The public are hereby notified that the subscriber has purchased the patent right of Biswell Hinman and Gaines' new patent cotton and spinning machine for the county of Luzerne, and offer rights by the town or single. The machine can be seen in operation at his works in Kingston (township), where he will attend on those who wish to purchase. Recommendations from the best factories in the State of New York can be procured to prove the usefulness of the machine as well for family as for public use." To how great an extent he entered into "spinning" cannot now be determined. Further details of the development of the Shoemaker Woolen Mills may be found in sketches of Family No. 948, and Family No. 987.

CARDING AND FULLING MILLS IN WYOMING VALLEY

The wool carding and fulling mill industries, at one time one of the most vital industrial factors in the life of the people of the Wyoming Valley, are now extinct. Previous to the establishment of the first fulling mill in the Wyoming Valley, about 1797-8, considerable of the business went to Easton, Pa., where, it is said prior to the outbreak of the American Revolution, Colonel Jacob Schumacher (Family No. 2) had begun the operation of a fulling mill on Bushkill Creek, in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa. As late as 1810-12 the names of Isaac Shoemaker, Samuel Shoemaker, Samuel Raub, John P. Arndt, widow of Seiler, John Sharps and Calvin Wadhams appear on the mill book of John, son of Colonel Jacob Schumacher. According to Stewart Pearce (Bib.-9) in 1810 there were in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., 25 looms producing 6,135 yards of linen, 1,827 of woolen cloth and 93 yards of cotton cloth.

*The carding machines in the Shoemaker Mills were doubtless built and installed by Jacob Plumb, a pioneer, who equipped a number of local woolen mills with their machinery. He was born, in Middletown, Conn., in 1776, and was the eldest son of Jacob, born 1751, died in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1822, and Prudence (Powers) Plumb. He removed with his parents to Chester, Mass., in 1788, and, in 1801, is said to have built the first carding machine made in the United States. About 1806 he removed to Springfield, Otsego Co., N. Y., and, about 1812, to Mount Pleasant, Pa. These were both, at that time, important centers of the wool working industry. After building machines in Mount Pleasant, Pa., he removed to the Wyoming Valley. In 1814 he was in the employ of Elijah Slater, at the Joseph Swetland mills in Mill Hollow. He was assessed, in that year, as a carding machine maker. In 1820 he was assessed as a cabinetmaker. In 1825 he owned a property on what is now Eighth street, West Wyoming, and his sons, Charles and Simon Plumb, were assessed as cabinetmakers. The Jacob Plumb property was near the point on Eighth street, West Wyoming, where the street crosses Abraham's Creek, near the Town Hall. Jacob Plumb was married to Rhoda, daughter of Charles and Susannah (Starr) Plumb. Their fourth child was Charles, who was married to Julia Anna Blackman, whose only son, Henry Blackman Plumb, author of Plumb's History of Hanover Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., was born Nov. 13, 1829, and was married to Emma L. Ruggles. Jacob Plumb died in Prompton, Wayne Co., Pa., in 1853.

There is room for little doubt concerning the name of the pioneer of the fulling mill business in the Wyoming Valley. But it appears probable that that distinction belongs to Stephen Hollister of Kingston Township, who, in 1796, was assessed as a clothier and who, in 1801, was assessed as owning a fulling mill. In 1814 he was assessed as the owner of a fulling mill and a carding mill and as a Justice of the Peace. His wife's name was Niece ———. It also appears that Toby's Creek is entitled to the claim of priority over Abraham's Creek as the scene of the location of the first fulling mill in the Wyoming Valley. However, that question may be determined in the future the earliest fulling mill in the Wyoming Valley, of which the writer found any definite record, was built by Jacob Bedford of Kingston Township, on the bank of Abraham's Creek, in the Abraham's Creek gorge, about half a mile up the creek from the present Shoemaker avenue, and at the point on the creek where the old stone bridge has stood for many years. This mill was built of stone in 1798 and its site is now occupied by a frame tenement.

In the Wilkes-Barre Gazette of Oct. 12, 1798, Jacob Bedford "Respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he is erecting a fulling mill at Carpenter's Mills in Kingston, which will be ready in a few days to run, and has engaged a workman who has been well recommended, and, from his long experience in the business in America and Europe, flatters himself he will be able to please his customers. He will color Scarlets, Greens, Blues, Browns, etc., and take spots out of Ladies' and Gentlemen's clothes, without damaging the color or quality. The persons favoring him with their custom may depend on their orders being observed with punctuality and despatch.

"N. B. For accommodation of the gentlemen who live up the river, their cloth will be received at Captain Jenkins in Exeter. And, for those who live below, at Esquire Myers in Kingston. (Dated) Sept. 28, 1798."

Godfrey Clark, who was assessed as a fuller in Kingston Township in 1799, was doubtless the expert employed by Jacob Bedford. Nov. 9, 1799, he published a card in the Wilkes-Barre Gazette in which he "Respectfully informs the public that he carries on the fulling business as usual at Carpenter's Mills. Those who wish to favor him with their custom and living on this side, will please to leave their cloth at Squire Myers'. Those on the opposite side at Butler's Store." (Signed.) Godfrey Clark.

Stephen Hollister in the Gazette in Sept., 1800, Respectfully informed the public that he still continued the fulling business in Kingston, near Hartsough's Mills and requested that patrons living on the opposite side of the river leave their cloth at Zebulon Butler's and those living up the river at David Smith's. (Exeter.)

The Jacob Bedford fulling mill was the mill owned by Azor Sturdevant in 1804, whom Stewart Pearce in his Annals of Luzerne County hailed as the pioneer fulling mill operator of the Wyoming Valley. Azor Sturdevant had doubtless purchased the mill from Jacob Bedford, together with the land lying between the Shoemaker Mill Race on the south and the Stone Bridge on the north, and lying between the road and Abraham's Creek. May 23, 1809, with his wife, Fear, Azor Sturdevant sold this property to Captain Samuel Brees, and July 21, 1809, Captain Brees advertised in the Gleaner that he had purchased the property and desired to hire a competent workman. Sept. 28, 1810, he announced that he was ready to receive cloth. According to Mr. Pearce (Bib.-3) Roswell Sturdevant was associated with Captain Brees in the early operation of the mill. In 1819-20-21 it was operated by Samuel Brees and Charles Phillips. (Family No. 1009—Phillips). Successive operators were: Samuel Breese and John Wright, 1825-1831; Breese and Ambler, 1832; John (?) Ambler and Wheeler W. Kirkendall (Family No. 1016—Kirkendall), 1833; Breese and Wright, 1836; Breese and Shales, 1841; Charles Shales, 1844. Later Alexander Clark Shaver (Family No. 50—Shaver) and James Jenkins.

In the Gleaner of Nov. 27, 1812, Lot, son of Captain Samuel Breese, announced that he had built a new fulling mill about half a mile below the older mill. About that time he had bought from Jacob Bedford a tract of land on what is now Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., and with the purchase of the land acquired the right to take water out of the "Crick" called Abraham's, in the peach orchard, belonging to Jacob Bedford, and to dig a race or trunk so as to take the water across the said lot of land in the way that shall be most convenient to the property, etc. This lot included the site where there stood, for many years, the (1) Jonathan Mooer's, (2) Breese Mooer's & Company, (3) Marvin and Ruthvin foundry, and the Lot Breese fulling mill was doubtless the first industry located on that lot. (See Abraham's Creek Industries, Family No. 946.) May 16, 1814, Lot Breese sold the property to David Goodwin (Family No. 1230—Goodwin), and in the Gleaner of Nov. 11, 1814, appears the following notice: "David Goodwin has taken the fulling mill formerly owned by Lot Breese, near Shoemaker's Mills, where he calculates to carry on the business in all its branches." May 16, 1816, David and Sarah (Chapin) Goodwin sold the property to Peter Setzer and, carrying a date of Sept. 9, 1816, there appeared a card signed by Jacob Setzer in the Gleaner of Oct. 4, 1816, announcing the purchase of a fulling mill lately owned by David Goodwin, in the upper part of Kingston Township. He also announced that he was putting the mill in complete repair and would be ready to receive cloth for dressing as soon as Sept. 15. He had also engaged a first class workman. Lord Butler's store (Later Robinson and King), the store of Elias Hoyt (in Kingston) and E. Carey's store in Pittston are named as places to leave cloth. April 6, 1830, Peter Setzer and his wife, Caty, then of Falls, Pa., sold the property to John and Daniel C. Ambler. (See Abraham's Creek Industries, Family No. 946). Oct. 25, 1830, John and Daniel C. Ambler sold this part of Lot No. 35 to Ezra Breese and Jonathan Mooers. April 5, 1832, John Ambler and W. A. Merrett announced in the Wyoming Republican that in their fulling mill in Upper Kingston they had installed a new and superior carding machine, shearing machine and other machinery.

The Stephen Hollister Fulling Mill, referred to above, was in operation in 1800 and, doubtless, earlier and was located on Lot 15, Third Division Lots, Kingston, Pa. May 15, 1813, Stephen Hollister and his wife, Niece, sold it to Joseph Swetland and his son-in-law, James Hughes. (Family No. 3—Swetland.) Swetland and Hughes announced in the Gleaner of June 11, 1813, that a wool carding machine would commence operations in the mill formerly owned by Spencer and Hollister, and there would be constant attendance by Daniel D. Spencer and Philo C. Curtis. In the deed from Hollister to Swetland and Hughes, there is this clause: "Reserving 142 perches of land hitherto conveyed to John Bowman.....together with the privilege of using the water as the same is at present, conveyed by a flume or race to the trip hammer of said Bowman, when said water shall not be required by Swetland and Hughes." Joseph and Clarasy Swetland sold this mill property, April 28, 1817, to George Royal, William Royal and Reuben Holgate for $2,000. (See Family No. 3—Swetland-Royal), and Dec. 26, 1821, William Royal, a clothier of Kingston, assigned his interest in the estate of his father, George Royal, and his mother, Mary Royal, to Jacob and Edward Royal, Victuallers, of Germantown, Philadelphia Co., Pa. The assignment included all his rights in Kingston lands and in the factory, machinery and appurtenances, and on the same day Jacob and Edward Royal executed a power of attorney to William Royal, their brother.

John P. Arndt (Family No. 1339) announced in the Gleaner of June 16, 1809, that a new double carding machine would be in operation in his still house, Wilkes-Barre, about the 20th day of June, that year. Nathali Hurlbut had a fulling mill on the Lackawanna River in Pittston Township in 1809. In Oct., 1814, Hezekiah Parsons opened a new fulling mill on Laurel Run. (Gleaner.) For many years the Jacob Rice fulling mill at Trucksville, Pa., was in operation and was finally developed into a woolen mill. William Wheeler Kirkendall, for a number of years a skilled wool worker at Wyoming, Pa., and for a time owner of a one-half interest in the Bedford-Sturdevant-Breese Mill, was a clothier at the Rice Mills. The shell of this old mill was standing in 1917. Chester Shales (Family No. 1216—Shales) built a fulling mill at Huntsville, Luzerne Co., Pa., which was ready for business May 1, 1832. (Bib.-78.) Some of the early "clothiers" of Kingston Township whose names may be found on the Tax Lists are: Stephen Hollister, 1796; Godfrey Clark (fuller), 1799; Stephen Herman, 1801; Azor Sturdevant, 1804-1809; Daniel Spencer, 1813; Samuel Breese, 1814; Lot Breese, 1811-1814; Christopher Miner, 1814; Isaac Hollister, 1814; David Goodwin, 1814; Amos Farman (Shoemaker Mill), 1815; Alvah C. Phillips (Shoemaker Mill), 1816; Reuben Holgate, 1816; George A. Royal, 1816; William Royal, 1816; John Breese, 1819; Noah Phillips, 1819; Charles Phillips (brother of Noah), 1823; John Wright, 1827; David Amey, 1829; Charles M. Shoemaker (Shoemaker Mills), 1829; William Wheeler Kirkendall, 1830; William Booth, 1833; Chester Shales, 1834; Moses B. Phillips (Shoemaker Mills), 1839.

THE RAUB FAMILY (ROBB RABB-RAPP-RAUP-ROPE-ROOPE)

The ship Loyal Judith of London, Robert Turpin, Master, sailing from Rotterdam, had among her passengers Philip Raup, age 51 years; Hantz Jurg (Johannes George) Raup, age 27 years, and Michael Raup, age 22 years, who qualified as British subjects, by taking the Oath of Allegiance, at Philadelphia, Sept. 25, 1732. Peter Roope, 30 years of age, came to Philadelphia on the ship Harle, Ralph Harle, Master, and took the Oath of Allegiance Sept. 1, 1736. The Harle also sailed from Rotterdam. These were all probably members of the Philip Raup family and settled in the vicinity of Easton, Northampton Co., Pa.

I. Philip Raup, born about 1681, came to America on the ship Loyal Judith, and took the Oath of Allegiance to the British Crown at Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25, 1732. Some of his children were probably: 1, Johannes George, born about 1705, (see later); 2, Peter, born about 1706, (see later); 3, Michael, born about 1710, (see later); 4, John, married to Maria Barbara ———, had a son Johannes, born March 16, 1750, and baptised April 1, 1750, John Jacob Kockert and Anna Margaret, sponsors; 5, Jacob, married to Catharine (or Elizabeth) ———, whose daughter, Barbara, born Feb. 9, 1746, was baptised Feb. 23, 1746, Paul Rieser and Barbara Brotzman, sponsors; 6, Maria Sarah; 7, probably a daughter, married to Christian Ealer.

II. (1). Johannes George Raub, probably son of Philip Raub, came to America with Philip Raub on the ship Loyal Judith, and qualified at Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25, 1732. He was born about 1705, in Germany, and died between Dec. 6, 1780, and Feb. 3, 1781. His name appears in the Horse and Wagon Census of Northampton Co., Pa., in 1758 (Bib.-19), as a resident of Williams Township and as the owner of two horses and a wagon. In 1772 the Proprietary Tax of George (Johannes George) Raub was £10 12s. That of his son, Andrew, was £7 14s, and that of his son, Leonard, was £6 9s 4d. In 1780 George Raub was assessed at $1,004, his son Andrew at $1,072, and his son Leonard at $1,430. In the same year William (George William), son of Johannes George Raub, then living in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., was assessed at $1,520. In 1790 Andrew Raub, Sr., son of Johannes George Raub, and his sons, Andrew, Jr., Henry and Godfret (Johan Gottfried), all lived in Williams Township, and Leonard Raub, son of Johannes George Raub, also lived there at that time.

Johannes George Raub was married to Maria Barbara ———, (perhaps Klinehans), and some of their children were: 1, Maria Eva, described as a daughter of Johannes George Raub, when, July 17, 1750, she served with Michael, born in 1733, son of Peter Raub, as sponsors for Elizabeth, born June 7, 1750, daughter of Jacob and Anna Margaretta (Raub) Zug, and granddaughter of Peter Raub, not named in her father's will. No further record; 2, Andrew, born April 25, 1734, died June 19, 1809, (see later); 3, Leonard, (see later); 4, Maria Barbara, born July 1, 1739, baptised Aug. 15, 1739, or July 1, 1740, (Bib.-23 and Bib.-200), Maria Sarah Raub, sponsor, married, Dec. 5, 1758, to Valentine, oldest son of Elias Beidelman, in Smithfield, and described as the eldest daughter of George Raub, (Bib.-23), in Williams Township, (see Family No. 1253—Beidelman); 5, George William, born Feb. 10, 1741, baptised April 5, 1741, (Bib.-23 and 200) died between Oct. 31, 1814, and June 1, 1815, (see later); 6, Maria Dorothy, born Feb. 15, 1743, baptised March 6, 1743, John George and Dorothy Klinehans, sponsors (Bib.-23 and 200), married to William Nyce, lived in Allen Township, Northampton Co., Pa., in 1782; 7, Elizabeth, born Aug. 28, 1744, baptised July 1, 1745 (Bib.-23), Dorothy Klinehans, sponsor, not named in her father's will, no further record; 8, and 9, Jacob and Margaret, born May 2, 1747, baptised May 3, 1747, Jacob and Anna Margaret Gukert or Kuckert, sponsors; Jacob*, probably died early; Margaret was married to William Hantz and lived in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J., in 1782; 10, John, born March 16, 1750, baptised April 1, 1750, Michael Myer and Elizabeth, sponsors, probably died early. The will of George Raub (Johannes George) of Williams Township, was made Dec. 6, 1780, and was probated, at Easton, Pa., Feb. 3, 1781. He gave to his wife, lands, adjoining lands of Frederick Klinehans, Michael Raub and the Delaware River, 168 acres. To his son, Andrew, he gave the farm where Andrew lived. To his son, Lennert (Leonard) he gave the farm where Lennert lived. The will also names his son, William (George William), whom he appointed sole executor; his daughters, Barbara Dorothy and Margaret, his brother-in-law, Christian Eacker, and his son-in-law, Valentine Beidelman, whom he also appointed sole executor. Michael Raub and Christopher Raub signed the will as witnesses. Mrs. Maria Barbara Raub, wife of Johannes George Raub probably died before Dec. 4, 1782, when her son, Andrew, bought from the other heirs the 168 acre farm bequeathed to her by her husband.

III. (2). Andrew, son of Johannes George and Maria Barbara (perhaps Klinehans) Raub, was born April 25, 1734, and died June 19, 1807. He served as Ensign of Captain Anthony Lerch's First Company of the Fourth Battalion of Northampton Co., Pa., Militia in the War of the American Revolution. One of his reports may be found in Series V of the Pennsylvania Archives. (Bib.-229.) He became one of the foremost citizens of Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., and owned extensive tracts of farm lands, lying in the vicinity of Raubsville, Pa., and including the historic Raub Cemetery, near that place. He was a member and an official of the early Williams Township Lutheran Church according to the rites of which several of his children were baptised. His sons, John Jacob, Johannes and Daniel, however, were baptised by the pastor of the First Reformed Church of Easton, Pa. Dec. 24, 1778, he bought from his father, Johannes George Raub, 192 acres of the 365 acre tract of land in Williams Township, which the latter had bought, Oct. 14, 1765, from William Allen of Philadelphia. This farm he sold Dec. 14, 1785, to Isaac Shimer (Family No. 1—Shimer), a tailor, of Williams Township for £800. Dec. 4, 1782, he bought from the other heirs of his father's and mother's estate, the 168 acre farm at Raubsville, Pa., which had been bequeathed to his mother by his father. A portion of the farm he sold to his son, Godfrey. He also sold other tracts of land to George Henry Klinehans and Peter Seiler. (Family No. 3—Seiler). After his death the Raubsville farm was sold, April 5, 1810, for £2,983 and 10s to Solomon Fry. One-half an acre was reserved for the burying ground.

Andrew Raub was married to Maria (or Anna) Magdalena ———. She was born Oct. 1, 1745, and died Sept. 16, 1803. According to the record of his death (Bib.-200), Andrew Raub died with palsy. He and his wife and his father and mother were doubtless buried in the Raub Cemetery, Raubsville, Northampton Co., Pa. The children of Andrew and Maria Magdalena Raub were (order of birth of older children not certain): 1, Henry; 2, Andrew Jr.; 3, Catharine; 4, Johannes Gottfried, born Feb. 24, 1768, died April 6, 1851; 5, Susanna, born Feb. 19, 1770, baptised March 19, 1770, no further record; 6, Margaret, born July 13, 1772, died Aug. 2, 1829; 7, Elizabeth, born Jan. 23, 1774 baptised Aug. 14, 1774, George Wilhelm and Catharine Raub, his wife, sponsors, no further record; 8, John Jacob, born Feb. 10, 1777, baptised April 6, 1777, John Jacob Pittinger and Eva Engle, sponsors, no further record; 9, Johannes, born Sept. 12, 1779, died Nov. 10, 1833; 10, Samuel, born June 6, or 13, 1782, died April 29, 1858, at Wyoming Pa.; 11, Daniel, born Nov. 30, 1784, died Dec. 11, 1869; 12, Maria Magdalene, born Sept. 2, 1786, died July 6, 1836, at Wyoming, Pa. Of these children the following are named in the deed of April 5, 1810: (1), Henry; (2), Andrew; (4), Godfrey; (9), John; (10), Samuel; (11), Daniel; (3), Catharine; (6), Margaret; (12), Mary.

IV. (1) Henry,* son of Andrew and Maria Magdalena Raub, was married to Elizabeth ———. In 1810 they lived in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J. One of their children was David, born Nov. 30, 1786, baptised Dec. 14, 1786, Andrew, Sr., and Magdalena Raub, sponsors.

IV. (2). Andrew, Jr., son of Andrew and Maria Magdalena Raub, was married to Catharine ———, and lived in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J., in 1810. Some of the children of Andrew, Jr., and Catharine Raub were: 1, Maria Magdalene, born Dec. 6, 1790, baptised Dec. 9, 1794 (?), Andrew Raub, Sr., and wife, sponsors; 2, Samuel, born Feb. 10, 1792, baptised Jan. 17, 1794, Andrew Raub, Sr., and wife, sponsors; 3, George William, born Aug., 1797, baptised May 20, 1798, George William Raub and consort, sponsors; 4, Carl, born July 12, 1803, baptised Sept. 16, 1803, Gottfried and Margaret Raub, sponsors. An Andrew Raub, whose wife's name was also Catharine had a son, David, born April 26, 1794, baptised June 1, 1794, for whom George Heinrich Raub and Christiana Raub were sponsors, and a son, Johannes, born Oct. 5, 1795, baptised Nov. 15, 1795, for whom Adam Scherer and Margaret Elizabeth (Raub) Scherer, his wife, were sponsors.

*A Henry Raub and his wife, Anna Elizabeth, had a son, John Jacob, born April 20, 1804, baptised May 5, 1804, for whom Adam and Margaret Elizabeth (Raub) Scherer were sponsors. Adam Scherer and Margaret Elizabeth Raub were married Jan. 31, 1781. (Bib.-200.) A Henry Raub was married in 1804 to Catharine, born Sept. 4, 1780, baptised Sept. 16, 1806, died Sept. 21, 1828, daughter of George Taylor. (Bib.-200.) A Henry Raub and his wife, Catharine, had a daughter, Luci, born Dec., 1807, for whom Jacob M., born March 15, 1771, died Sept. 21, 1863, who with his second wife, Mary, born May 23, 1796, died Dec. 30, 1869, is buried in the cemetery at Williams Township Church, and Sybilla Raub, born Oct. 10, 1779, died Feb. 11, 1825, (Raubsville Cemetery) were sponsors. This Henry Raub was doubtless of the family of Michael Raub. A Henry and Catherine Raub had a son, Andrew Carpenter Raub, born July 10, 1816, baptised Sept. 6, 1816, for whom Jacob Carpenter (Family No. 1252—Carpenter) and his wife were sponsors. A Henry Raub and his wife, Maria, had two daughters, Rebecca, born Dec. 20, 1803, and Anna, born Oct. 25, 1805, both of whom were baptised Sept. 16, 1806. A George Heinrich Raub, son of Michael and Elizabeth Raub, was born Feb. 26, 1780. A Henry A. Raub and Elizabeth, his wife, sold to Daniel Raub of Easton, Pa., Jan. 31, 1820, a stone messuage and 23 acres of land, situated along the Delaware Canal in Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., which Daniel Raub sold, April 1, 1833, to Jacob Carpenter of Greenwich, N. CHARLES MARTIN SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 948—(947)

Charles Martin, son of Samuel and Maria Magdalena (Raub) Shoemaker, was born Jan. 11, 1808, and was baptised "Carl," Nov. 15, 1808, by the pastor of the Lutheran Church of Easton, Pa., Colonel Jacob and Elizabeth (Everhard) Shoemaker (Family No. 2A), sponsors.

When Charles Martin Shoemaker was about 5 years of age his father, Samuel Shoemaker, established a fulling mill and carding machine on his property at Troy, now Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., and in early young manhood he began a career which was characterized, throughout, by devotion to the wool working industry. When his father died, in 1829, he succeeded him in the operation of the business at what is now West Wyoming, and, in that year, he was assessed as a clothier and as operating the mill. In the Wyoming Republican of May 1, 1832, he announced that he had made complete repairs and had also purchased a first rate double carding machine. In 1835-6 he was assessed as owning 14 acres of land, a fulling mill and a clothier shop. In 1837 his interest in the property was purchased by his brother-in-law, Isaac Countryman Shoemaker. In 1840 he was assessed as the owner of ten acres of land. From 1837 to 1851 he was continuously in the employ of Isaac Countryman Shoemaker, who developed the woolen mill into an important industry. He thus became familiar with the latest and best wool working machinery of that day and became an expert, especially as a machinist. In Sept., 1851, he removed with his family to McHenry Co., Ill., toward which, at that time, there was a steady flow of emigration from Luzerne Co., Pa. He bought a farm, near the village of McHenry, in that county, which he sold the following year and bought another near Crystal Lake, in the same county, in 1852 or 53. This farm was his home until April 3, 1868, when he sold it and removed to Rockville, Kans. Upon his removal to McHenry Co., Ill., he entered the employ of the Stalp Woolen Mills Co., of Aurora, Ill. He next was employed by the Elgin Woolen Mills Co., operated by George Renwick and Co., and later was, for a number of years, with the Carpentersville, Ill., Woolen Mills, operated by Angelo Carpenter. He was frequently called to different points in the middle west to repair and adjust wool working machinery, for spinning, weaving cloth, and finishing broadcloth.

In his earlier years and while a resident of Troy, now West Wyoming, Pa., Charles M. Shoemaker was a Lieutenant in a local Militia Company, and a few years before his removal to Illinois he became a member of Monument Division, No. 348, Sons of Temperance. This was the famous temperance organization which bought a piece of land on what is now Eighth street, Wyoming, Pa., and then built a Temperance Hall. The building is still standing (1916) and has been owned for a number of years by the Reynolds estate and occupied as a residence and tenement. Charles M. Shoemaker became a member of this organization Oct. 11, 1848-9, and June 17, 1854, his "Clearance Card," signed by Thomas Hutchins, W. P., and Henry Polen, R. S., was issued to him. He finally purchased a home in Rockville, Kans., where he died Oct. 10, 1871. His widow, Mrs. Daphne (West) Shoemaker, an accomplished home maker, survived him twenty-three years, living throughout her widowhood with her daughter, Mrs. Harriet D. (Shoemaker) Thomas-Morehead.

Charles Martin Shoemaker was married, at Wyoming, Pa., March 28, 1829, to Daphne S., born Jan. 8, 1809, daughter of Jared and Lucy (Smith) West, (see West and Obadiah Smith families later). In early life she displayed considerable talent as a writer. In 1848 she became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Wyoming, Pa., and, although more than sixty-five years have elapsed since her removal from the Wyoming Valley, she is still fondly remembered by some of its oldest citizens. She died at Elgin, Ill., Nov. 8, 1894, in the 86th year of her age.

Immediately after his marriage Charles M. Shoemaker took his bride to the home of his parents, the present residence of Jacob I. Shoemaker 2nd, and there their oldest children were born. Subsequently they established a home of their own near the present site of the West Wyoming, Pa., High School. The house in which they lived was badly damaged by the flood in Abraham's Creek in the 50's. The children of Charles M. and Daphne (West) Shoemaker were: 1, Maria Louise, born Nov. 4, 1830, not married, died in Rockville, Kans., Feb. 19, 1869; 2, Samuel M. Raub, born Jan. 24, 1832, died Oct. 24, 1878; 3, Andrew Godfrey, born Nov. 29, 1833; 4, Mary Elizabeth, born Nov. 13, 1835, died March 21, 1911; 5, William Jared, born June 13, 1838, died, not married, at Crystal Lake, Ill., Aug. 13, 1859; 6, James Jerome, born June 10, 1840, died Nov. 3, 1861, not married; 7, Charles Thomas, born Sept. 17, 1844, died June 26, 1878; 8, Diantha Antoinette, born April 15, 1846; 9, Catharine Anna, born Dec. 27, 1847, died Dec. 29, 1848; 10, John Nelson, born April 16, 1849, died March 6, 1864; 11, Harriet Daphne, born March 6, 1851, died March 5, 1919.

In the cemetery at Wyoming, Pa., may be found this headstone inscription: "Eli Wheelock, died Nov. 12, 1848, aged about 63 years. This monument was provided by voluntary subscription procured by his friend, Charles M. Shoemaker." Eli Wheelock was, for a long term of years, an employe of the Shoemaker family.

In 1859 they removed to Kansas and settled at Rockville, Miami Co. Their new home, situated near the Kansas-Missouri border, was the scene of many thrilling incidents throughout the Civil War. When Governor Carney called for volunteers to serve in the Kansas Home Guard, a militia organization charged with the duty of repelling the invasion of Kansas, by Missourians under the command of General Price and other Confederate officers, Andrew Godfrey Shoemaker enlisted and served throughout the war as a Lieutenant under the command of Captain Hiner. He was a blacksmith and while working in his shop, during those trying days, his faithful gray horse, Jack, was kept, saddled and bridled, at the door, ready to respond, instantly, to the call of any emergency. This faithful servant of the patriotism of his master's country lived to be 33 years of age. In his later years Captain Hiner wrote to Andrew Godfrey Shoemaker, "When I think of you it is with the kindest feeling, because you did so much for the men who risked their lives in protecting the border of Kansas against the Bushwhackers and rebels during the rebellion. I remember you did your duty so well as a soldier, and then shod our horses free of charge, making the nails out of the back of old scythes. Then we were men, but now we are old and decrepit, our wives dead, and our children scattered."

CATHARINE ANN (SHOEMAKER) SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES
NOS. 985-987—(946)

Catharine Ann (Caty Ann), daughter of Samuel and Mary Magdalena (Raub) Shoemaker, was born Jan. 14, 1816, and died April 5, 1881. She was married, May 25, 1837, to Isaac Countryman, son of Jacob I. and Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker. (See Family No. 987.)

JACOB I. SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 986—(946)

Jacob I., son of Isaac and Catharine Elizabeth (Carpenter) Shoemaker, was born in Williams Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Jan. 7, 1785, and was baptised "Jacob" in the Reformed Church of Easton, Pa., Feb. 13, 1785, Jacob Meuxel and Elizabeth Gress, both single, sponsors. Later in life, in order that his name might not become confused with that of other Jacob Shoemakers he adopted the form Jacob I. Shoemaker. His uncle, Ludwig Knauss, Jr., (see Family No. 1902) of Easton, Pa., was a saddler and early in life he learned that trade. About 1805-7 he removed to Montgomery Co., N. Y., where a number of his cousins, sons and daughters of Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Shoemaker of Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., (Family No. 2) had settled. March 20, 1810, he bought from Henry Lieber of the town of Canajoharie, N. Y., 26 acres of the Rutger Bleecker patent, at Frey's Bush, in the town of Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y. Upon this property he established himself in the saddlery and harness business, and continued there for about six years. Oct. 16, 1816, he sold his land to Peter Plantz and Feb. 20, 1817, he bought from Jacob Bedford* two parcels

*Jacob Bedford was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1762, and died in Abington Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Aug. 23, 1849. He came to Wyoming Valley, Pa., about 1796-7 and was married, Dec. 6, 1797, by Lawrence Myers, Esq., of Kingston Township, to Catharine ("Kitty"), eldest daughter of Hon. Benjamin and Mary (Ferrier) Carpenter of Kingston. (Family No. 14—Carpenter.) Mrs. Catharine (Carpenter) Bedford died soon after their marriage, and Jacob Bedford was married (2), May 16, 1799, to Deborah, born at North Castle, Westchester Co., N. Y., Feb. 8, 1773, died at Waverly, Pa., April 3, 1869, daughter of James and Sarah (Smith) Sutton. (See Smith and Sutton Family No. 43.) Deborah Sutton, then a child of five years of age, was with her mother and a younger sister in Forty Fort at the time of the battle of Wyoming. The family escaped from the valley by means of a rude boat, hastily constructed, and in which a party of 15 reached Middletown. (Bib.-1.) Mrs. Deborah (Sutton) Bedford was one of the earliest members of the Ross Hill, Plymouth, Pa., class of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is frequently quoted both on the early history of the Wyoming Valley and on that of the Methodist Episcopal Church throughout that section.

In 1798 Jacob Bedford, a hatter by trade, built what was the earliest or the second earliest fulling mill in Kingston Township and one of the first mills of that type, of which a record remains, in the Wyoming Valley. This old mill stood for many years near the Stone Bridge crossing Abraham's Creek and on the northern end of Lot No. 35 of the Third Division, Kingston Township. A large tenement house standing on the right side of the road, near the Stone Bridge, occupies the site of the mill. (See Abraham's Creek Industries, Family No. 946.) In 1799 he was assessed as a hatter, the owner of a house and the owner of a fulling mill in Kingston Township. In 1801 and 1804 he was assessed as a hatter. Oct. 24, 1797, he bought, from Josephus Barber, the lot at the corner of what is now Shoemaker avenue and Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., containing about one and one-half acres of Lot No. 35. He established his home and his "Hatter Shop" on this lot. June 8, 1807, he bought from Gilbert Carpenter (Family No. 14—Carpenter) his interest in the "New Troy" patent covering lands lying in Lots Nos. 33, 34 and 35, in the Third Division. This patent was applied for by Gilbert Carpenter and was issued to Jacob Bedford, July 14, 1807. In 1807, or about that time, Jacob Bedford removed to the former residence of Gilbert Carpenter, which stood on the northeast corner of the present Shoe-of land in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. One of these was situated at the southeast corner of what is now Shoemaker avenue and Eighth street in the borough of West Wyoming. The other contained three acres and included the road now running from Wyoming, Pa., to Carverton, Pa. It adjoined the property of Samuel Shoemaker on the west and extended twenty-eight and seven-tenths perches along the line of what is now Shoemaker avenue and twenty-one and one-half perches along the line between Lots 34 and 35. Upon the first of these lots there stood a building which is described in the deed as "Bedford's Hatter Shop."* Upon the other there was a frame house which was later, 1833-4, made a part of the "Shoemaker Hotel."

In the Jacob Bedford Hatter Shop, Jacob I. Shoemaker established himself in the saddlery and harness business and a few items appearing upon the pages of his day book are as follows: July 24, 1817, Jacob Carns (Jacob maker avenue and West Eighth street, West Wyoming. Dec. 5, 1803, he bought from Benjamin Dorrance, Sheriff, one acre of land in Pittston bounded by lands of William Slocum and Thomas Duane and a 40 acre tract in Pittston on the Lackawanna River and adjoining lands of Ebenezer Marcy, with a grist mill and saw mill, also a two-thirds interest in 12 acres of land in Providence. This land and improvements had been the property of Lieutenant Colonel Robert Faulkner, a pioneer miller of Plymouth and of Pittston, and also a tavern keeper at Pittston. James Kain of Showangunk, Ulster Co., N. Y., Jan. 12, 1799, bought from Robert Faulkner a two-thirds interest in the mill privileges. These he sold to Jacob Bedford, Feb. 8, 1803. This 40 acre tract had been sold to Robert Faulkner by Jonathan Marcy. Jacob Bedford sold 37 acres of this tract to Peter Hallock of Dutchess Co., N. Y. Jacob Bedford was granted a license as a tavern keeper in Pittston in 1808, and he was also a tavern keeper in 1817-18.

In 1817 he sold to Jacob I. Shoemaker of Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., both the northeast and the southeast corners of the present Shoemaker avenue and Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. He bought from Thomas P. Curtis one acre of land, part of Lot 38, of the Third Division, lying on the south side of the present Wyoming avenue in Wyoming, Pa., long known as the Henry Cortright property and now and for many years occupied by Mrs. Robert P. Chapin. David Perkins had sold this one acre lot to Thomas B. Curtis, who sold it to Jacob Bedford, who sold it July 21, 1818, to Fisher Gay and Harris Jenkins. They sold it to Solomon Frantz and he sold it to Adam Frantz, who sold it to Theophilus Larned, from whom it was purchased by Cornelius Cortright, Sept. 4, 1837. The latter deeded it to Benjamin Cortright in trust for his brother, Henry, and his wife, Sarah (Beidelman) Cortright, Dec. 10, 1837, and Sept. 25, 1841, Thomas F. Atherton and Jesse B. Schooley bought half of it. Jan. 27, 1810, Jacob Bedford sold to James Landon twenty-six and two-thirds acres of the northern end of Lots Nos. 34 and 35. This included the site of the Gilbert Carpenter saw mill. James Landon evidently operated the same mill for a number of years. This land was afterwards owned by Uriah Swetland, who sold it to William Swetland. Oct. 17, 1823, Jacob Bedford lived in Clifford Township, Pa., when he sold to Elijah Shoemaker 40 acres of Lot No. 39 of the Fourth Division, in Kingston. His will was made in Abington, Pa., in 1839, and was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 5, 1849. It names his daughter, Hannah Smith, and his son, Dr. Andrew Bedford.

*The "Hatter Shop." This old building which was destroyed by fire recently, and the site of which is now occupied by the William Carey building, was probably the boot and shoe shop of Josephus Barber, who bought the lot from John Rosencrans after 1790 and sold it Oct. 24, 1797, to Jacob Bedford, who was assessed as a "hatter" in Kingston township in 1801 and 1806. Here Jacob Bedford, evidently, for some years, worked at his trade. About 1817 Jacob I. Shoemaker established his saddlery and harness business there. John Frazer evidently had a boot and shoe repair shop in the same building in 1821. In that year George Taylor (Family No. 1055) had a pair of shoes made for $2.25, Betsey Knouse (Family No. 1902) had a pair of shoes made for 62½c. and a pair of boots for $2.00, and Jacob I. Shoemaker paid $2.50 for "foxing" a pair of boots and 50c. for "heeling and soleing Isaac's shoes." It appears that Jacob I. Shoemaker discontinued the saddlery business about 1823. In 1825 John Gardner was a cabinet maker in Kingston Township and probably occupied the hatter shop. The shop was then changed into a store building and in 1831 was occupied by G. Prentiss and Courtland R. Condit, merchants, doing business as S. Prentiss and Company. This firm was dissolved in 1833 and was succeeded by Parmalee and Tuttle, of which firm Chester Tuttle was the junior member. His partner was Charles W. Parmalee. July 1, 1833, they were succeeded by Tuttle and Mooers, Jonathan Mooers being associated with Chester Tuttle. (Family No. 1174.) This partnership lasted less than one month and July 27, 1833, Chester Tuttle bought the interest of his partner and Sept. 24, 1833, sold this business to Isaac Countryman Shoemaker. (Family No. 987.) After the death of Jacob I. Shoemaker the title to this corner lot upon a portion of which Joseph Davidson and Charles Barney for many years served the community as cabinet makers, passed to his daughter, Helen, and she with her husband, D. R. Prendergast, sold it, June 30, 1863, to William Church. (Family No. 992—Church.) Almon Church, administrator of the estate of William Church, sold it, Feb. 3, 1865, to David Maginnis, who later sold it to Daniel Van Scoy. (Family No. 994.) In the deed from Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast to William Church what is now Eighth street, West Wyoming, is called Willow street.

In 1819, Jacob I. Shoemaker was assessed as a miller, a saddler and a harness maker. It is apparent, from various entries in his day book, that he operated the grist mill, on the Shoemaker property, for several years. In 1819 he paid Joseph Tuttle $36.00 for mill stones and in 1820 a Mr. Ships (evidently David Ships, millwright) was employed, for several weeks, in making repairs in the mill. Alexander Lord, a carpenter, was also employed on the property for several weeks in 1822. There are also a number of "Mill accounts" in his day book. Nov. 5, 1818, a Mr. Shiser, who had been employed by Jacob I. Shoemaker for several weeks, was charged with 6 quarts "Granberries" and 10 quarts "Granberries," 62½c, thus confirming the statement of many older citizens that a considerable portion of the flats lying between the present D., L. & W. R. R. tracks and Shoemaker avenue was a cranberry marsh.

The other parcel of land bought by Jacob I. Shoemaker from Jacob Bedford in 1817 is described in the deed as the "lot on which said Bedford now resides." The old house which stood on this property until 1912, when it was destroyed by fire, was a story and a half structure with a large open wood shed in the rear. It fronted on what is now Shoemaker avenue, but stood well back on the lot from the present line of that thoroughfare. What is now West Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., passed within a few feet of the old house. This house was the residence of Gilbert Carpenter, a noted early local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church. (See Family No. 14—Judge Benjamin Carpenter.) Prior to his ownership Gabriel Corey, a weaver (see Family No. 946—Corey), had probably lived there, having bought that part of Lot 34 from his brother, John Corey, April 2, 1788, and sold it to Gilbert Carpenter, Dec. 25, 1790. It was, also, in all probability the home of Elnathan Corey, father of Isaac, John and Gabriel Corey, who had bought the Lot 34 from Asahel and Aholiab Black. In 1816–17 this house became the home of Jacob I. and Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker, and there several of their children were born.

Jan. 22, 1818, Jacob I. Shoemaker bought from George Chahoon and his wife, Polly, of Wilkes-Barre, twenty acres of land along the present Shoemaker avenue, in West Wyoming. This land, a part of Lot 35, adjoined the lands of his father, Isaac Shoemaker. Shoemaker avenue is described in this deed as "The back road leading from Shoemaker's Mills to Scovell's." Dec. 23, 1826, Isaac Shoemaker, Sr., executed deeds by which he conveyed title to all his real estate to his two sons, Jacob I. and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr. Included in the transfer of title was the "flower garden" plot of the famous Arndt Tavern in Wilkes-Barre. The two brothers, May 15, 1828, divided the lands, Jacob I. Shoemaker acquiring title to 261 acres and his brother Isaac, Jr., 288 acres. Jacob I. Shoemaker, Feb. 16, 1847, bought from Chester Tuttle (Family No. 1174) one-half of Lot 37 in Exeter Township, 146 acres. This land was originally certified to Ezra Dean. This farm has been known for many years as the "Morning Star" farm, and upon it there is situated the famous "Mount Lookout."

In connection with the management of his hotel Jacob I. Shoemaker was extensively engaged in farming. Wheat, corn, rye, oats, etc., were the principal products. It appears that the only public office he ever held was that of tax collector for Kingston Township in 1828. He was a man of medium stature, very energetic and, despite the fact that he was lame, kept a personal supervision over all his varied business interests. The cause of his lameness is not known, but he required the assistance of a cane. He was born of German descent, grew to young manhood in a community almost exclusively German in speech, went into the same type of a community in Montgomery Co., N. Y., was married there to a descendant of one of the oldest Palatine families in New York, and spoke with a German accent all his life.

Jacob I. Shoemaker was married (1), Nov. 14, 1809, at Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., to Elizabeth, born June 4, 1787, baptised June 17, 1787, Reformed Church, Stone Arabia, N. Y., Isaac Bickert (Pickard?) and Elizabeth Gunterman (Countryman), sponsors, daughter of William and Maria (Countryman) Wohlgemuth. (See Family No. 471—Countryman and Family No. 382—Wohlgemuth). The children of Jacob I. and Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker were: 1, Isaac Countryman, born Aug. 27, 1810, died Jan. 18, 1875; 2, Mary Ann, born Oct. 19, 1812, died March 14, 1870; 3, Catharine, born May 15, 1815, died July 16, 1816; 4, Rosanna G., born Sept. 25, 1817, died April 29, 1899; 5, William Swetland, born Feb. 19, 1820, died July 17, 1884; 6, Margaret, born May 30, 1822, died Nov. 23, 1856; 7, Sally, born March 31, 1825, died May 11, 1878. Mrs. Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker died in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Jan. 4, 1838, and was the first person buried in the Wyoming, Pa., Cemetery, (see later.) Jacob I. Shoemaker was married (2), July 12, 1842, to Mrs. Elizabeth (Chapin) Shoemaker, daughter of Solomon and Catharine (Shales) Chapin, (see Family No. 1216—Shales and Family No. 1216—Chapin) and widow of his brother, Isaac Shoemaker, Jr. Their daughter, Helen, was born May 24, 1843. Jacob I. Shoemaker died March 7, 1851, and was buried beside his first wife in what is now the Wyoming Cemetery. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Elizabeth (Chapin) Shoemaker—Shoemaker removed to Kingston, Pa., where she first established her home on the southwest corner of what is now College street and Market street. This was her home at the time Wyoming Seminary was destroyed by fire, March 15, 1853. She later bought a house and lot on West College street, Kingston, Pa., where she lived the remainder of her life. A number of her relatives, young folks attending the Wyoming Seminary, found "home comforts," away from home, under her kindly care, during their student days.

THE SHOEMAKER HOTEL, WEST WYOMING, PA.
Established About 1828

Among these were, Jacob I. (2d) and Samuel R. Shoemaker and Isaac, son of Colonel Ira Tripp of Scranton, Pa. Dr. George Peck, the famous Methodist preacher and Presiding Elder, and his wife, lived for many years with her. Mrs. Elizabeth (Chapin) Shoemaker-Shoemaker was born Oct. 18, 1800, died in Kingston, Pa., Aug. 4, 1882, and is buried beside her first husband, Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery.

THE SHOEMAKER HOTEL

About 1823-4 Jacob I. Shoemaker built the original Shoemaker hotel at the corner of what is now West Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue. This was a two-story building with ceilings about seven feet, which stood about 15 to 20 feet in front of the old house referred to above and fronted along what is now Shoemaker avenue. The ground floor contained a reception room, dining room, parlor, and the inevitable barroom. A large double fireplace, between the parlor and dining room furnished heat for those rooms. The second floor was fitted up for sleeping rooms. The business developed so steadily and the demand for accommodations became so strong that about 1833-4 the Shoemaker Hotel, as known by Wyoming's oldest citizens, was built. This latter building was attached both to the old house referred to above, and the original hotel building so that the hotel completely covered the corner lot. The roof of the original hotel was raised to conform to that of the new building and the "old house" became the culinary department of the hotel. The building, as completed in 1833-4 was heated throughout with fireplaces on both floors, and was fitted up with the usual hotel accessories of the day, including an elaborate ballroom. The Shoemaker Hotel, throughout its history, was one of the popular public houses of the Wyoming Valley. Among its patrons were many of the raftsmen who floated logs and lumber from long distances up the Susquehanna River and who, returning on foot, left the river road at "Troy Corners" (Wyoming), and took the route across the mountains to Tunkhannock and other points north. The hotel was especially famous for its meals and the genial hospitality which was extended to travelers from far and near. Jacob I. Shoemaker became a famous host, not only on account of his successful management of the business and the popularity of the hotel, but also for his ability as an entertainer. He was widely famed as a violinist and the hotel became a popular resort for sleighing and dancing parties from the Wyoming Valley and the surrounding country. He continued the management of the hotel throughout his life, and after his death the property passed to his daughter, Sally, who was married to Holden Tripp. They removed from their home in Providence (Scranton), Pa., conducted the hotel for a number of years and then sold it to John Pollock, who changed the name to the "Pollock House." It became in succession the property of John Smith, George Carey and Andrew Hardish, the present owner of the land. Two fires in 1912 destroyed the "old house," and the older part of the hotel. What remained after the second fire, of the newer part of the hotel has been remodeled into a store and dwelling, while a new hotel has been built on the corner.

Two garden plots furnished fresh vegetables for the old Shoemaker Hotel. One of these was situated where the business block of Jacob I. Shoemaker 2d. now stands, at the corner of West Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue. The deed conveying title to this plot refers to that present day street as a "supposed road." It was not until many years later than 1817 that the bridge across Abraham's Creek, on Shoemaker avenue, was built. And until a comparatively recent time, well within the memory of men now (1916) living, all the traffic to and from all points down the Valley, on what was then called the "back road" followed the west bank of Abraham's Creek to Eighth street, the road lying back of the site of the new Town Hall at West Wyoming, Pa. The original hotel barns, sheds, etc., were all located on this lot and occupied the space to the north of the garden. The large barns, which for many years stood on this lot, and which were built by Jacob I. Shoemaker, were used exclusively for his farm products, after the building of the "Red Barn," for hotel traffic, at the southwest corner of Eighth street and Shoemaker avenue. The second garden plot occupied the land where the Town Hall, at West Wyoming, Pa., now stands and was practically destroyed by the disastrous freshet in Abraham's Creek in the 50's.

THE WYOMING, PA., CEMETERIES

1. There was a burying ground at an early date, at what is now the corner of Wyoming avenue and Eighth street in the borough of Wyoming, Pa., whose exact boundaries it is very difficult to determine, and which was probably one of the oldest burial plots in Kingston Township. It was located in the southwest corner of Lot 34 of the Third Division of Lots, and it is very probable that the greater portion of it now lies between the lines of Eighth street. This street was laid out, originally, as a three rod road, of which two rods were taken from Back Lot No. 35 and one rod from Back Lot 34, and a narrow road, leading to the Abraham's Creek Gorge, in the mountains, was open between these lots at as early a period as is indicated by any land records now available. It was doubtless open from the time of the earliest settlements at "New Troy," (Wyoming, Pa.) The first settlements on Lots 35, 36 and 37, with the exception of one house, near the Exeter Line, on 37 (see Family No. 946), were all made along what is now Shoemaker avenue in West Wyoming, Pa., doubtless owing to the fact that only a narrow strip of land on the southern ends of the lots could be cultivated. The whole stretch of flat land extending from Abraham's Creek nearly to Shoemaker avenue and through the entire length of the borough of West Wyoming was a huge marsh, portions of which were not reclaimed until after 1840. The old burying ground was doubtless situated between this narrow road and the Oehmig store, which stood about 40 feet southwest from the present corner of Wyoming avenue and Eighth street in 1815-16. It is quite evident that it lay almost wholly to the east of the present Schooley building from the fact that when the cellar for that building was excavated, a few years ago, traces of only two or three graves were discovered. Originally it doubtless was a long narrow strip of land lying along this road and burials had been made in it in the vicinity of the "Sons of Temperance Hall," now the property of the Reynolds estate. At the time of the serious mine cave in the operations of the Mount Lookout Coal Company, March 1, 1897, two skulls were found, near the sidewalk line, on Eighth street, in front of the Reynolds property.

There is an article dealing with the history of this old burying ground on page 78, volume 6, of Johnson's Historical Record, the data for which was furnished by Mrs. Elizabeth (Bennet) Polen, wife of Henry Polen and daughter of Andrew Bennet. (Family No. 988—Polen, No. 1313—Bennet.) Mrs. Polen was born in 1812. The article states that "After the massacre and before the little band of fugitives started on that sad flight, back to New England, a little party went and hunted up the bodies of near relatives and carried them to a spot which is located next to Laycock's Hotel, and buried them. The little plot contained about one-eighth of an acre of land and the road now running back to the mountains runs over part of it, as the road formerly was but a narrow lane. The corner lot below the hotel is over what the street does not cover. After the settlers came back they used this plot for the burying ground for the families in that section and it was called the Eomig (Oehmig?) pronounced Emmig) burying ground. It was used until 1800 when Thomas Bennet gave a plot in Forty Fort for the Forty Fort graveyard." It is a little difficult to understand why this burying ground should have been called the Eomig (Oehmig?) burying ground. That name does not appear anywhere in the annals of Upper Kingston Township prior to 1800. Christian G. Oehmig removed, after 1800 and probably about 1815, from what is now Kingston to what was then "New Troy," and in 1816 was assessed as a merchant there. In 1815 Captain Samuel Breese deeded the lot on which the Oehmig store stood to Benjamin Smith in trust for Esther Oehmig (the wife of Christian G. Oehmig). Dr. Miner also refers to this old burying ground when, in speaking of the Corey family, he states: "The father died long since in Kingston and his remains are buried on or near the spot where the tavern stood on the northeast corner at New Troy." This statement is doubtless correct, at least in part. The burial plot was on Lot 34 which was bought by Elnathan Corey from Asahel and Aholiab Buck prior to 1778, and, until May 3, 1791, was owned by the heirs of Elnathan Corey. The only reference to this burying ground, in any legal document, discovered by the writer may be found in the deed from Joseph Swetland to Samuel Breese, April 7, 1802, conveying title to part of Lot 34, extending from the present Wyoming avenue to Abraham's Creek. The description of this plot has this clause: "Beginning in the line of the Great Road near the Burying Ground by the East Corner of said lot." Most of the bodies were removed from this old burying ground many years ago.

2. The Cemetery Association of Wyoming, Pa. The history of this association begins with the setting apart of a portion of Lot 36, for church and burial purposes, by Jacob I. Shoemaker, at about the time of the death of his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker, Jan. 4, 1838. Mrs. Shoemaker's grave was dug by Richard Newman. (See Family No. 992.) The original burial plot occupied the southeast corner of Lot 36 along what is now Wyoming avenue, in Wyoming, Pa., and had a frontage of about 100 feet and a depth of about 215 feet. In the northeast corner of this plot there was erected the first Presbyterian Church built in Kingston Township, a small frame structure, (see later). All the subsequent additions to the original burying ground were parts of a 16 acre tract of Lot 36 which Jacob I. Shoemaker sold to James Jenkins, March 21, 1840, and which James Jenkins sold to John Sharps, April 11, 1842. April 13, 1848, John Sharps sold four acres of this land to Dr. George Wurts, who, Oct. 8, 1850, sold the portion of it which is now the John Sharps plot in the cemetery to the latter, who in his will devised it to his family for burial purposes. William Wurts of Carbondale, probably a brother of Dr. George Wurts, bought a part of this George Wurts tract and with his wife, Lucretia, July 12, 1854, conveyed the title to Isaac C. Shoemaker, Thomas Hutchins and Jesse B. Schooley, "Trustees of Wyoming Cemetery," reserving a plot 12 feet square, where the child of Dr. George Wurts was buried. George and Margaret Wurts sold one-half acre of the four acre tract to Isaac N. Bloodgood, Dec. 22, 1849, who, with his wife, Martha R., on March 2, 1850, sold it to Samuel P. Huey of Danville, Columbia Co., Pa. Samuel P. Huey and Lydia Y., his wife, sold it to George Lazarus, who, with his wife, Margaret (Barber) Lazarus, on July 8, 1855, conveyed title to Isaac C. Shoemaker, Jesse B. Schooley and Thomas Hutchins, as "Committee of the Cemetery" of Wyoming, Pa., "in trust for said cemetery." Included in the Wyoming Cemetery is a lot two perches wide and six perches and eleven feet long, about one-twelfth of an acre, lying in the rear of the lot sold by Dr. George Wurts, Dec. 22, 1849, to I. N. Bloodgood, which George and Harriet Wurts sold to John J. and James L. Breese, Jan. 29, 1851, and upon which John Sharps, June 22, 1852, granted to John J. and James L. Breese a release of all judgments against George Wurts. This land was evidently bought by the Messrs. Breese for burial purposes. John Sharps had sold the land to Dr. Wurts, Dec. 22, 1849.

Articles of incorporation for the Cemetery Association of Wyoming were filed at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 30, 1864. They were duly attested by M. J. Philbin, Prothonotary, May 1, 1865, and were signed by Isaac C. Shoemaker, Holden Tripp, Thomas Hutchins, John Brees, J. B. Schooley, J. D. Green and Steuben Jenkins. The name of William S. Shoemaker appears among those of the petitioners. The six trustees named in the articles are: Isaac C. Shoemaker, Jesse B. Schooley, Thomas Hutchins, Steuben Jenkins, William S. Shoemaker and John Brees. At a meeting of the trustees, held April 7, 1866, Isaac C. Shoemaker was elected President, John Brees was elected Secretary, and Thomas Hutchins, Treasurer.

Charles Dorrance, on May 18, 1885, conveyed to Albert Polen, Jacob I. Shoemaker, John A. Hutchins, Robert H. Weir, G. F. Townend and Nice H. Minegar, trustees, title to the Almon Church property, 128 feet on Wyoming avenue, and extending to the tracks of the D., L. & W. R. R. Thomas P. Wilcox had bought this property from John Sharps, April 13, 1848, and he and his wife, Sarah, Aug. 7, 1851, sold it to Margaret Ann (Sharps) Breese, who, April 27, 1852, conveyed title to Phebe A. Jones, from whom title passed to Eli Whitney, who, Oct. 29, 1869, sold it to Almon Church. Charles Dorrance bought the property Sept. 7, 1878. June 13, 1889, Mary Jane Dailey sold 3,630 square feet of land to the association, part of a two acre tract sold by John Sharps to Henry Woodhouse, Sept. 29, 1851, part of which had been sold, by the latter, to Isaac Shoemaker Phillips and which Henry Woodhouse, with his nephew and niece, Isaac S. and Louise (Woodhouse) Phillips, (see Family No. 1216—Chapin-Phillips) sold to Mrs. Sarah Dailey, who, Jan. 20, 1896, sold it to Mary Jane Dailey. Robert T. Pettebone of Wyoming and Mrs. Kate (Pettebone) Dickson, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 30, 1900, conveyed to Jacob I. Shoemaker, Nice H. Minegar, G. F. Townend, W. S. Jacobs, E. G. LaFrance and A. C. Shoemaker, trustees, 61,689 square feet of surface, being part of a two acre tract sold by John Sharps to Henry Woodhouse, July 21, 1860. Following the latter purchase the borough of Wyoming, Pa., vacated a part of Pettebone street, about 5,000 square feet, title to which also passed to the Cemetery Association. On the lands bought from Mr. Pettebone and Mrs. Dickson there had stood for many years the old school house which had done service for a long term of years, for the rising generations of Wyoming. This old building had been removed from its former location on the Steuben Jenkins homestead on Wyoming avenue. Its removal from the grounds of the Cemetery Association was made imperative by the very extensive improvements which are now (1916) rapidly nearing completion. The present (1916) trustees of the association are: Jacob I. Shoemaker, President; Albert C. Stevens, Secretary; Dr. Archibald Shoemaker, Treasurer; Nice H. Minegar, G. F. Townend and E. G. LaFrance.

THE WYOMING PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The first church building erected in Wyoming, Pa., and the first Presbyterian Church building erected in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., was the small frame chapel which, about 1833-7, was erected on the southeast corner of Lot 36, on lands owned by Jacob I. Shoemaker. A well defined tradition credits Mrs. Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker, wife of Jacob I. Shoemaker, with having presented this lot to the Presbyterians. It is said in Munsell's History of Luzerne Co., p. 307, that on the 12th of Dec., 1837, Jacob I. Shoemaker, for a consideration of $50.00, deeded to the "Trustees, Elders and Pastor of the Presbyterian Congregation of Kingston, for the exclusive use of that congregation, 2,400 square feet of land." In the chapel erected on this lot Presbyterian services were held from about 1837 to about 1854, when the building was so badly damaged by lightning, that the services were subsequently held, for a few years, in the building of the Luzerne Presbyterian Institute. The damaged chapel was subsequently sold to Rufus Carver (see Family No. 992—Carver), who removed it to another lot, remodeled it, and made it his home. The church lot is now a part of the Wyoming Cemetery. According to Munsell the lot was deeded to the Presbyterians, Dec. 12, 1837. Mrs. Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker died Jan. 4, 1838.

The Wyoming Presbyterian Church was organized from the membership of the "Presbyterian Congregation of Kingston," in May, 1847. The latter congregation was chartered May 19, 1819, and its first members were transferred from the membership of a "Distinctly Congregational organization in Wilkes-Barre" called the "Church of Christ of Wilkes-Barre and Kingston," and which, in 1834, was known as the Presbyterian and Congregational Society of Wilkes-Barre. About 1807 the historic Forty Fort Church was built at Forty Fort, Pa. According to Hon. Steuben Jenkins this was "The first finished church edifice in which religious services were held, not only in Wyoming, but throughout Northeastern Pennsylvania." (Historical Record, Vol. 2, p. 109.) It was built and occupied by the Methodists and Presbyterians. The Historical Record, Vol. XIV, p. 68, has a copy of a subscription list, dated Kingston, Pa., Nov. 1, 1810, which reads:

"We, the subscribers, do hereby promise to pay to Aaron Dean, Eleazer Parker, Elias Hoyt or Henry Buckingham (a collecting committee) either in cash, meat, or good merchantable grain at the market price, in half yearly payments, the several sums annexed to our respective names, as a salary for the support of Rev. Ard Hoyt, who is (in consideration thereof) to preach the gospel one-half of the Sabbaths for the year ensuing in the meeting house in Kingston:

"$12, Nehemiah Ide; $10, Henry Buckingham, Eleazer Parker; $6, Luke Swetland; $5, Oliver Pettebone, Aaron Dean; $4, Isaac Carpenter (Family No. 1252), Philip Myers, Elisha Atherton, John Bowman (in blacksmith work), Isaac Shoemaker (Family No. 946); $3, John Gore, Jacob Taylor, Johanna Fish, Horace Parker, Joseph Swetland; $2, Thomas Pace (hauling stone), Joseph Tuttle (order on Thomas for leather), Elijah Ayres, David Perkins, George Taylor (Family No. 1055), Peletiah Pierce, Thomas Bartlett, Samuel Breese, John Shaver, Samuel Shoemaker (Family No. 947); $1, Amos Brown, William Currie, Jr., John Covert, Joseph Dennis, Jeremiah Fuller, Jehiel Fuller, Samuel Atherton, Elisha Atherton, Adam Shafer, Jacob Wilson." This subscription was doubtless taken to support Presbyterian services in the Forty Fort Church. The first officers of the Presbyterian Congregation of Kingston were: Daniel Hoyt, Moderator; Daniel Hoyt and William Ticknor, Deacons; Henry Buckingham, Clerk, a Congregational form of government. In 1823 John Gore, Henry Hill, Abel Hoyt, George Albright and Elijah Loveland were elected and ordained Elders and the church became Presbyterian in government.

At a meeting held at Wyoming, Feb. 10, 1847, when Henry Hoyt served as chairman and Charles Fuller as secretary, it was resolved: (1), That the interests of the cause of Christ demand an organization distinct and separated from the church at Kingston and; (2), That we will make application to the Presbytery to organize us into a church and congregation under the name, style and title of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church. Thomas F. Atherton, Peter Barber and Charles Fuller were named as a committee to solicit subscriptions and to circulate the petition for the new organization. The signers of this petition were: Peter and Mary Barber (Family No. 1292—Barber), George W. and Elizabeth Barber, Lewis G. and Rebecca Ensign (Family No. 988—Hice), Charles and Maria Fuller (Family No. 1021—Fuller), Henry and Edith Hice (Family No. 1216—Chapin—988—Hice), Ann M. Hunt, Andrew and Magdalena Miller (Family No. 988—Miller), R. E. and Sarah Ann Marvine, Henry L. Marvine (Family No. 1041—Marvine), Almira A. Mitchell, Judith M. Oehmig (Family No. 1324—Oehmig), Christine Polen (Family No. 989—Polen), Robert F. and S. A. Rupell, Sarah Schooley (Family No. 1314—Schooley), Margaret Schooley, Lucinda Smith (Family No. 1324—Smith), Catharine Turner (Family No. 1216—Kern—Turner), Dr. George and Harriet A. Wurts. The request of the petitioners was granted by the Presbytery and Rev. John Dorrance, Rev. Thomas P. Hunt, Rev. N. G. Parke and Elder Charles D. Shoemaker were appointed a committee to constitute and organize the Wyoming Presbyterian Church. The organization was effected May 4, 1847, and Henry Hice, Charles Fuller, R. E. Marvine and Lewis G. Ensign were elected ruling Elders and were duly inducted into office. The early ruling Elders of this church, in addition to the four just named, were: John C. Grier, elected in 1851; Robert E. Ruthven, 1851; Edward A. Lawrence, 1857; James P. Atherton, 1862; Thomas Hutchins, 1870; George Hattie, 1879. The early pastors of the church were: Alexander Heberton; I. Delville Mitchell, D. D., 1847, and 1855; Paul Eugene Stephenson, 1850; Rev. N. S. Prime, D. D., 1854; Thomas P. Hunt, 1854 and 1856; W. L. Moore, 1857; Frederick L. King, 1858; Henry Rinker, 1859; H. H. Wells, 1862; Albert B. King, 1863—1873; Lewis H. Boehler, 1873; W. Scott Stites, 1873—1877; N. I. Rubinkam, summer 1877; George Wells, Esq., 1878; W. A. Beecher.

At a meeting of the Session held May 18, 1847, on motion of Elder Lewis G. Ensign, seconded by Elder Charles Fuller, a resolution was proposed "That it be a standing rule of this session not to receive into the communion of the church any individual who, at the time of his or her application is concerned in the vending of intoxicating liquors, or who is in the habitual use of them as a beverage." Action was postponed until a subsequent meeting in order "that the resolution may be adopted by a full meeting of the session." At a meeting held May 29, 1847, with all the members present the resolution was unanimously adopted.

"Parochial School No. 1," under the control of the session of this church was organized with F. P. Smith of Wilkes-Barre as teacher. The school was opened Nov. 22, 1847, in a building which stood near or on the present site of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Wyoming. Twenty-five pupils were enrolled at the beginning. This school was afterwards consolidated with the Presbyterian Institute, which was opened in May, 1849, Rev. Dr. J. D. Mitchell becoming the first principal. Land was bought in the rear of the present site of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church, a substantial building was erected and for many years the institute was a prosperous and exceedingly useful educational institution. The trustees to whom David and Sarah Perkins, Aug. 27, 1849, deeded an undivided half interest in an acre of land, were Thomas P. Hunt, Thomas F. Atherton and James P. Atherton.

The "parsonage lot" on which the manse was erected in 1850, was donated, according to the "Minutes of the Session," by the "venerable David Perkins and his daughter, Jane Ann Carpenter," widow of Balser Carpenter. (Family No. 1313A.) The new manse was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Stephenson and his family "Wednesday, Nov. 27, 1850." The land was conveyed by David and Sarah Perkins and Jane Ann Carpenter to Henry Hice, Robert T. Rupell (who subsequently removed to Hazleton, Pa.), Thomas F. Atherton and Steuben Jenkins, Trustees, and was part of Meadow Lot No. 1, Second Division, Kingston Township. In 1854 the congregation "resolved to build a brick church on the fine lot, secured for them by the zeal of the Rev. Dr. Prime, north of the Institute avenue." This land was part of Lot 33 and the westerly line of "Institute avenue" lay along the original boundary between Lots 33 and 34. Aug. 14, 1855, John and Jerusha Brees conveyed to Thomas F. Atherton, Steuben Jenkins, William Henry, William S. Shoemaker and Lewis G. Ensign, trustees of the Presbyterian Congregation of Wyoming, one acre of land, fronting on Wyoming avenue, and adjoining lands of the Presbyterian Institute. The consideration named in the deed is $1,000, the coal was reserved and provision was made that in the event that a public road should be laid out to the creek, within ten years, the Presbyterian Church would "lay off one rod." William Henry, William S. Shoemaker, Lewis G. Ensign, Thomas F. Atherton and Steuben Jenkins were appointed a building committee. The new church was dedicated Oct. 22, 1857. It is today (1916) one of the most substantial buildings in the county, an enduring monument to the diligence of the building committee, and the honesty of the builder.

ISAAC COUNTRYMAN SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 987—(986)

Isaac C., son of Jacob I. and Elizabeth (Wohlgemuth) Shoemaker, was born at Frey's Bush, Minden, Montgomery Co., N. Y., Aug. 27, 1810, and was baptised Sept. 22, 1810, by the Rev. John D. Gross, John and Margaret (Wohlgemuth) Countryman, sponsors. He removed, with his parents, to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in 1817, and was married at New Troy (Wyoming), Pa., May 15, 1837, to Catharine Ann (Caty Ann), born Jan. 14, 1816, died April 5, 1881, daughter of Samuel and Maria Magdalena (Raub) Shoemaker. (Family No. 947.)

Isaac C. Shoemaker entered upon a long and highly successful business career, Sept. 24, 1833, when he bought from Chester Tuttle the general store business of the latter, at the corner of what are now known as Shoemaker avenue and Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. This store business was conducted in the building which had been owned and occupied, as a Hatter Shop, by Jacob Bedford and later, as a Saddler's Shop, by Jacob I. Shoemaker. The store building was owned by the latter and the annual rental amounted to $35.00. The store itself was evidently a typical country store of the period. Among the books and papers of Isaac C. Shoemaker the writer found the Account Book of this old store, which affords highly interesting reading.

The fabrics sold ranged from Muslin at 14c per yard to Black Broad Cloth at $8.00 per yard. The stock included, also, something of an assortment of books including Family Bibles, which sold for $2.50 and $3.50. In the winter of 1833-4 a number of heads of families supplied themselves with Family Bibles. Among these were Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., Abram Bird, Charles M. Shoemaker, John Jenkins, William Wheeler Kirkendall, Peter Polen, Elisha Harris, Samuel Derrah, and Henry Newman.

In 1833 much of the merchandise shipped from New York and other points to Wyoming Valley merchants was forwarded to Carbondale, Pa., via the Delaware and Hudson Canal Co.'s canal and gravity railroad. In the account book of the Isaac C. Shoemaker store are various references to the hauling of freight by teams from Carbondale to New Troy and Wilkes-Barre. Hollenback and Rutter were at that time leading wholesale merchants of Wilkes-Barre, and in 1833-4-5, they paid Isaac C. Shoemaker for hauling freight for them from Carbondale to Wilkes-Barre. These teams doubtless hauled flour and other produce from "New Troy" to Carbondale, then a new town which was experiencing a rapid development, and hauled freight on the return trip. The first item of this sort in the old account book is dated Nov. 23, 1833, when Robert P. Chapin (Family No. 1216—Chapin) was credited and Hollenback and Rutter were charged $5.31 for hauling 2,128 pounds of freight from Carbondale to Wilkes-Barre.

There are also many references in this book to the flour barrel industry of that day. The old saw mill, which was probably the first mill erected on the Shoemaker property, seems to have been continued in operation, in part at least, as late as 1840. It was finally replaced by a cooper shop. But in 1833, it is apparent from this old book, that some part of the old mill was utilized as a cooper shop. In 1833-4 Isaac C. Shoemaker bought large quantities of staves and heading from Isaac Petersen and Isaac and Draper Ellison. Draper Ellison was doubtless the cooper in 1833. In July, 1835, Oliver Bebee bought staves and heading from Isaac C. Shoemaker and sold flour barrels to him. He was also, probably, a cooper. Flour barrels sold for 25c in 1834 and for 31c a little later. Joseph Tuttle, John Jenkins, Henry Courtright, Abram Frace, Jacob I. Shoemaker and Fisher Gay bought flour barrels in 1834. In 1839 Christian Atherholt, in 1840 Samuel Ellison and James Shandley, in 1841 Charles Woolver and William Cosner, and in 1842 Henry W. Boughton, all furnished Isaac C. Shoemaker with flour barrels. Jacob and Peter Brong, 1844-9; School Teacher Abel Marcy, 1847; William Cosner, 1847; School Master Hoyt, 1848; Isaac Vought, John Vought, James Anderson, John Bryant, John Goodwin, John D. Jackson, Samuel D. Jackson, also supplied barrels for the Shoemaker Mills, 1844-8. Jacob Brong was regularly employed as a cooper about 1844-9, also Peter Brong, who removed to Bowman's Creek in 1847, but returned to the Wyoming Valley a little later.

Isaac C. Shoemaker and Dan Parmlee, constituting the firm of Parmlee and Company, had a small grist mill on the Shoemaker property in 1833-4-5 and perhaps later. Letters Patent for a "new and useful improvement in the machine for grinding grain, etc., were granted to them April 16, 1833. From the Letters Patent it appears that "The improvement, which the said Dan Parmlee and Isaac C. Shoemaker claim as their own, is in the hollow spindle being made in two parts for the purpose of preventing heat, and for the great convenience in attaching the other machinery to it. Also the convenience in leveling the lower stone, and by means of the joint in the spindle, the surface of the stones, working more accurately together, without straining the spindle or any part of the machinery. Also the facility with which four mills of the same dimensions may be run by the same cog wheel which carries over, and also the turning both stones with a single belt." The Letters Patent was signed by "Andrew Jackson, President of the United States," with the seal of the United States affixed, was attested by Edw. Livingston, Secy. of State, and certified by R. B. Taney, Attorney General.

Soon after, or at about the time, this patent was granted, a small grist mill was installed on the Shoemaker property. Nov. 14, 1834, Jacob Allaback was credited $4.00 for "Making a Mill Moddle," and March 31, 1835, Charles Barney was given credit on the books of Isaac C. Shoemaker for $1.00 for work done for Parmlee and Co. at the "Little Mills." March 19, 1836, Philip Sine, a miller (see Family No. 988—Sharp-Sine), issued an order on W. Hays, "You will please to deliver to Dan Parmelly, or bearer, a pair of small mill stones, left with you by Charles Parmelly and myself in the fall of 1832. Also deliver to him all the appliances belonging to said mill stones." Elias Hoyt signed this order as a witness to the signature of Philip Sine. Nothing is now known concerning the exact site of this "Little Mill" nor how much business it ever did.

Among the wholesale houses with which Isaac C. Shoemaker dealt, 1833-6, were J. V. Williamson, of Philadelphia; Rhodenbaugh and Co., of Easton, Pa., and Hollenback and Rutter, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In a bill of the latter firm for 1833 there appear three interesting credits as follows: Nov. 16, 1833, Cr. by freight on 35 C. O. Q. 17 lbs. goods from Easton at 50c., $17.55; Nov. 26, 1833, Cr. by freight on 55 C. O. Q. 02 lbs. goods from Carbondale at 25c., $13.75; Cr. by freight on 18 C. 1Q 18 lbs. goods from Carbondale at 25c., $4.60, illustrating the old hundred weight, quarter and pound system in vogue.

Isaac C. Shoemaker continued in business as a merchant until about Sept. 1, 1836, and April 14, 1837, he bought the interest of Charles M. Shoemaker (Family No. 948) in the ten acres of land on which the grist mill, fulling mill and dwelling house (Samuel Shoemaker) stood. Aug. 14, 1837, he announced in the *Republican Farmer and Democrat Journal that:

"Having purchased a share in the carding and fulling establishment, heretofore occupied by Samuel Shoemaker and others, half a mile west of 'New Troy Corners,' he is putting the same in complete repair," etc.

The operation of the woolen mill by Isaac C. Shoemaker was begun in May, 1837. A large mill pond was made and new trunks laid to the factory at a cost of $125. The factory was completely overhauled and new machinery was installed. There was added to the former equipment of the mill, in 1838, a shearing machine $112, a carding machine $300, a single carding machine and condenser $200, a spinning jack $75, and two weaving looms $110. The shearing machine was bought from John Phillips of Laurens, Otsego Co., N. Y., representing Parsons and Wilder of Hoosick Falls, N. Y. The weaving looms, single carding machine and condenser and the spinning jack were bought from Timothy Hurlbut of Truxton, Cortland Co., N. Y., in the winter of 1837-8. Feb. 2, 1838, the following bank bills were paid to Timothy Hurlbut:

Among the papers of Isaac C. Shoemaker is an itemized statement of a "Trip to Truxton." Truxton was a small town in Cortland Co., N. Y., a few miles northeast of Cortland, N. Y., and was, at an early date, a center of the wool working industry in that section of New York. The statement follows:

Apl. 19, 1838	Toll at Warren's Gate	$.12½	Bill at Perry's, Truxton	$1.75

To the expenses of the trip it was necessary to add $6.40 in discounts, making the total expense approximately $25.00, all of which with the exception of $1.00 paid for pickers and 37½c. for a box were traveling expenses.

The woolen mill, after the installation of the new machinery, was in full operation early in the year 1838. The operations included the process of cleaning, dyeing, carding and spinning wool and weaving, fulling, and dressing or finishing cloth. Some business was done in cleaning and dyeing garments and some in dyeing yarn and stockings. A considerable trade was carried on in "wool rolls, warps," etc. Among the products of the mill, the manufacture of which was begun in 1838, were satinette, cassimere, flannels, twilled blankets, fullled cloth, and yarn for carpets and stockings. From the beginning of the operation of the mill, by Isaac C. Shoemaker, it enjoyed a wide and constantly expanding patronage. The earlier operations of the mill had been confined to the service of local patrons, while many neighboring sections also had fulling mills. Under the management of Isaac C. Shoemaker the mill extended its services until it reached practically the whole of Northern Luzerne Co. and, also, into some parts of Susquehanna and Wyoming Cos. It had some regular patrons from Mehoopany, Pa., the vicinity of Eatonville, Pa.; Plymouth, Pa.; and Hanover, Pa., and a very large patronage from the vicinity of Scranton, Pa. Northmoreland sent many patrons to the mill, while Wilkes-Barre, Pittston, Plains and Kingston, naturally contributed the larger share of the patronage. In 1839 among the stations where wool was received for the mill were Reynolds and Co., Kingston; Shoemaker's Store, Kingston; Pittston Ferry; Birds (probably Abram) and Jenkins, in Pittston; Drakes, at Old Forge; Hollenbeck and Rutter, Wilkes-Barre; Coon's, and the following in the vicinity of what is now Scranton, Pa.: Ira Tripp, Joseph Fellows, William Merrifield, John Knapp's, and J. Griffin. Later wool was bought for the Shoemaker Mills by William H. Richmond, Bilger and White, Thompson and Stott, 1847, (Jesse G. Thompson and James Stott), Thompson and Freeman, 1857; Voyle and Davis, 1852; Gillespie, Pierce and Co., 1847; John M. Poor and Mills, 1852; Richmond and Robinson, 1846; Solomon Arnold and Co., 1856; Evans and Murray, all of Carbondale; Church and H. S. Phinney, 1859; Gould Phinney, 1847; C. H. Wells and Chittenden, 1851; George Cone and Co., and Thomas Arnold were buyers in Dundaff, Pa.; Brundage and Winton of Clifford, Pa.; Wright, Wall and Park, of Waverly, Pa.; Gardner and Couch, 1855, of Providence, Pa.; William Merrifield, of Providence, and William W. Winton and Co., of Hyde Park, were other buyers. It is doubtless true that this mill had the largest patronage and served the widest field of any woolen mill in Northeastern Pennsylvania, prior to the Civil War.

The business of the mill was gradually extended, various enlargements were made and additional machinery was installed. In 1844 an additional shearing machine was bought from S. Parsons of Hoosick Falls, N. Y. In 1847 a heavy 48-inch, 6 treadle loom was bought from Alfred Jenks of Bridesburg, Pa., and in 1854 a jack was bought from William Williams and Co., of Worcester, Mass., for $325, and a carding machine, a loom and a picker were bought from Alfred Jenks and Son for $486. In 1857 Jesse Torr, of Philadelphia, installed knitting machines in the mill. He was probably the pioneer commercial hosiery maker of the Wyoming Valley. For about five years woolen and cotton hosiery and knit coats were products of the mill. At that time, about 1852-7, linsey and white check flannels (Welsh flannel) were also made. In 1862 woolen half hose were inventoried at $2.30 per dozen, men's long hose at $3.25 per dozen, women's white hose at $2.50 per dozen, women's black hose at $2.50, women's gray hose at $2.50 per dozen, boys' half hose at $1.88. Half hose (cotton) were inventoried at $1.70 to $2.50 per dozen and woolen mittens at 32c. per pair. Twilled blankets (cotton warp with wool filler) were also made at this time.

The period from 1837 to 1841 was one marked by constant repairs and improvements to the Shoemaker property. About 1838-9 Isaac C. Shoemaker repaired and later remodelled and very extensively enlarged the Samuel Shoemaker homestead in which he lived. The house was finally made into a two-story structure and a large addition was built on the rear. These changes were necessitated, in part, by the need of accommodations for many of his mill employes, who, in addition to their wages, were entitled to their board and who, during the terms of their employment, made their home with their employer. Among those employed upon the repairs and improvements 1837-1841 were the following: Charles Barney, carpenter and millwright; John Clark, mason; Joseph Davidson, carpenter; William Durland, carpenter; Draper Ellison; Shepherd Goodwin, carpenter; Samuel Graves; Nice Hinkle; George, Henry and Charles Kern, carpenter; William Love; James Jones; Daniel Jones; Owen Martin, mason; David Mascho; Anthony Milford; Eli Neyhart; Richard Newman; Miles C. Orr, carpenter; William Parrish, Isaac S. Phillips; William Polen, carpenter; Patrick Reynolds, mason; James Shaw; James Shandley; Anthony Smith; Eli Swetland; Obadiah Smith; Daniel Turner, Aaron Van Camp; Abram Van Scoy, mason; Alexander Clark Shaver, wheel-wright.

The price of some shop supplies in 1837 were: Alum, 10c lb.; emery, 25c lb.; glue, 20c lb.; camwood, 7½c lb.; tallow 11-12½c lb.; wool grease, 12½c lb.; lamp oil, $1.12½ gallon; charcoal, 7c bushel; soap, $3-$4 per bbl.; anthracite (stone) coal,* $2.00 per ton; wood, $1.00 per cord; oil for wool grease, $1.00 per gal.

*The earliest reference to the use of anthracite coal in the Shoemaker records is to be found in a blacksmith shop account of 1833, the shop being charged with several tons of "Stone Coal from Pace's Bed." This old coal bed was doubtless situated in the vicinity of what is now Larksville, Luzerne Co., Pa. There is recorded at Wilkes-Barre a lease which doubtless refers to this "bed" and which is probably one of the earliest royalty leases recorded in the history of the anthracite coal industry. It bears date of Dec. 15, 1815, and was acknowledged before Noah Wadhams, J. O. P., March 22, 1816. The lease reads as follows:

"Know all men by these presence that I, Peggy Lark, of the Township of Plymouth, Luzerne County and State of Pennsylvania, do lese and let to William Pace of the town and county aforesaid, and to his heirs and assigns, the sole right and priviledge of raising and caring of coal of off the farm I now live on, on the following conditions, viz.: he is to have the above mentioned one year from the date clear of rent, then he is to pay me for every tun of corse cole, such as is fit to send to market, twenty-five cents for each tun and to furnish said Peggy Lark† at her now dwelling house Sufitiant Cole for one grate, so long as her shall occupy such Cole Qurry and is to injoy said privilege so long as he or his assigns shall wish to keep it. According to the Historical Record (Vol. VI, p. 83) Larksville, Pa., was named for Peggy Lark, who lived to the remarkable age of 106 years.

There are also references to the use of anthracite coal in the Isaac C. Shoemaker store accounts of 1833. Oct. 26, 1833, he credited himself "by one ton stone coal $1.25 In 1837 coal

†Peggy Lark was doubtless the widow of Peter Lark, born about 1766, died in Kingston in Jan., 1804, aged 38 years. William Pace, to whom the coal bed was leased was probably her son-in-law and Hannah Colbert, her daughter. (See Family No. 928—Pace.)

Bridges, toll gates and ferries all made demands upon the purses of the people of this period. At the famous old Wilkes-Barre bridge Isaac Bowman was Collector of Tolls in 1838, and the charge for crossing and recrossing" the bridge was \$5 per year. In 1839 Jacob Kutz was the collector and the charge was the same. In 1842 Jacob Kutz was the collector and the rate was \$4 per year. G. H. Teets was the collector in 1858-9. In 1835 John Jenkins is named in connection with the Pittston ferry, and in 1836, when David Jenkins was the "Ferry Man," the ferry charges were: "Light wagon, 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; "two-horse wagon, 25c.;" "two ferryings, 50c.;" "two ferryings, 75c." George Romalye (see Family No. 35—David Smith) also operated a ferry in 1847. The Isaac C. Shoemaker ferriage bill, at George Romaly's ferry, from May 2, 1847, to Nov. 29, 1847, was \$8.38. The charge for two-horse wagons was 25c. and for one-horse wagons, 18-19c. The Miller, later Sharp's ferry, between New Troy and Port Blanchard, was also in operation at this time. Isaac C. Shoemaker's ferriage bill at Andrew Miller's ferry, Jan. 28, 1848, was \$20.12. John Pace operated a ferry in 1857.

In 1837 spinners were paid "10c. a run." Weavers were paid 10c. per yard for flannel and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per yard for heavier cloth. The prices of some of the finished products of the factory, 1837-1841, were: Flannel, 75c. yard; brown flannel, 52-56c. per yard; fulled cloth, \$1 to \$1.50 per yard; black cloth, \$1.25 to \$1.75 per yard; red flannel, 80c. yard; kersey, \$2 per yard; satinette, \$1 to \$1.25 per yard; yarn, 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per pound; warps, 10c. per yard; wool rolls, 62 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per pound; bottle green cloth, \$1.62 $\frac{1}{2}$ per yard; brown fulled cloth, \$1.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ per yard; light brown mixed fulled cloth, \$1.00 per yard.

In 1839 the manufacture of wool into the various products of the mill was begun. Very much of this business was done "on shares." Some of the prices, paid in cash, for dyeing and manufacturing were: Dyeing, yarn, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per pound; dyeing stockings, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per pair; dyeing cloak, 37 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dyeing frock, 25c. Carding and spinning yarn, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per run; carding and spinning carpet yarn, 20c. per pound; dressing cloth, 22c. to 25c.; weaving and finishing flannel, 33-45c.; kersey, 40c.; satinette, 42c. to 56c.; fulled cloth, 45c. to 56c.; mixed fulled cloth, 56c. per yard.

Some of the prices paid for labor in 1839 were: Carpenters, $1 to $1.25 per day; masons, $1.12 to $1.25 per day; wheel-wrights, $1.75 per day; domestic help, 75c. to $1 per week; man and team, $2 per day; chopping wood, 75c. per day; laborers, 75c. to $1.00 per day; farm labor, $10 to $12 per month.

The firm of I. C. Shoemaker and Son was organized March 10, 1860, when Jacob I. Shoemaker became associated in business with his father.

was delivered by Joseph Jaquish from John Cobert's (Coobert, Colbert, Covert) bed at Plymouth for \$1.25 per ton. In 1839 "coal" from this bed cost \$1.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ per ton at the bed and "checkered coal" from the same bed cost 75c. per ton. Among those who furnished coal to Isaac C. Shoemaker were Phineas Waller, 1838; Andrew Raub, 1838; John Cobert, 1837; James Macfarlane, 1839; Erastus Hill, 1839; Francis Yates, 1841; John Stout, 1841; George Cooper, from Bellow's bed, 1841; from Swallow's bed, 1841; John Blanchard, 1841; Thomas Waller, 1841; John Husselton, 1844; Levi Hoyt, 1848; Maltby's bed, 1849; Bowkley's, 1849; Christopher Heibner, 1849; William Henry, 1852; from the outcrop, on Lot 35, Kingston, along what is now West Eighth street, West Wyoming, now, 1917, owned by J. I. Shoemaker; Wilson Hoyt, 1852; Daniel Swallow, 1852; Van Netten and Linn, 1852; Gilbert P. Reilay, 1856. David Perkins also had a coal bed in 1846.

THE SHOEMAKER GRIST MILL, 1920

Samuel R. Shoemaker was admitted to the firm April 1, 1862, and the firm name became I. C. Shoemaker and Sons. In 1864 very extensive improvements were made to the factory and modern machinery was installed at an expense approximating $3,000. At this time Furbush and Gage of Philadelphia furnished a burring machine, one set of cards ($1,325.00); one grinder and one 240 spindle jack. Alfred Jenks and Son, also of Philadelphia, furnished two 40-inch looms. The patent charges on this machinery amounted to $218 and the Government tax was $52.25. I. C. Shoemaker and Sons continued the business until 1875, the year of the death of Isaac C. Shoemaker. It was conducted for a few years, following his death, by his two sons under the firm name of Isaac C. Shoemaker's Sons. They discontinued the business soon afterwards. In the settlement of the estate of Isaac C. Shoemaker the factory property fell to Jacob I. Shoemaker. It was leased for a short time by a Mr. Weber. The old factory, with considerable of its machinery, is still standing. (1920.)

The grist mill on the Shoemaker property at West Wyoming, Pa., which was built as early as 1798, was sold, Aug. 20, 1829, by Jacob I. Shoemaker and Isaac Shoemaker, Jr., to John Ambler, Jr., and in 1830 it was assessed as the property of John and Daniel Ambler. In 1833-6 it was assessed as the property of John Ambler, Jr., and on the two acre lot on which it stood there was also a saw mill and a hemp mill. The latter was probably one source of supply for the Charles Fuller "Rope Walk." (See Family No. 1021—Scovell-Fuller.) Charles Fuller operated the mill in 1834 and it was assessed as his property in 1839. March 28, 1834, John Ambler, Jr., then of Waterford, Saratoga Co., N. Y., executed a deed by which he conveyed title (without encumbrances) of the grist mill property to Joseph Moss of New Berlin, Chenango Co., N. Y. It is evident that the title reverted to John Ambler, Jr., from whom it was sold by the Sheriff, at the suit of John Vandewaker, to Isaac C. Shoemaker. The claim of E. W. Sturdevant against the same property was bought by Isaac C. Shoemaker in 1839.

The mill, bought in 1839, was doubtless the original mill erected by Benjamin Carpenter or Gilbert Carpenter as early as 1798. (See Family No. 14—Carpenter.) Benjamin and Gilbert Carpenter were both builders and Gilbert Carpenter was also a millwright. Prior to its sale to John Ambler, Jr., in 1829, it had been owned by the Shoemaker family for twenty-two years and the only reference in the Shoemaker accounts to any extensive repairs or improvements to the mill, in that time, is an item under date of 1819, referring to a purchase of mill stones by Jacob I. Shoemaker from Joseph Tuttle, and reference to repairs, also in the account book of Jacob I. Shoemaker, by David Ships, millwright, in 1822. It is very probable that the grist mill was entirely rebuilt in 1841. Immediately upon acquiring possession of the property Isaac C. Shoemaker made extensive repairs upon it in 1839. Alexander Clark Shaver was the wheelwright, and William Durland and Charles Kern, carpenter, assisted him. April 24, 1841, Eli Neyhart had been employed four days "grinding mill stones and tearing down the mill." The new mill built on the old site was very much larger than the old one. It was "raised" Saturday, May 29, 1841, and was "opened" for business Aug. 21, 1841. The work on the mill was finished Sept. 29, 1841. William Hartsell was a contractor for the stone work and among his employes were: Mr. Miller, Mr. Kern, W. H. Stroh, William Reel and Mr. Beidelman. Charles Mathers, a millwright, (see Family No. 947—Mathers) had charge of the installation of the machinery and was assisted by John Bartholomew millwright, John Lott, William Haines and probably Joseph Davidson and John Mathers millwright, John Bilbee, Samuel Breese carpenter, Barney Garney, James Flynn, Samuel Graves, Shepherd Goodwin carpenter, John Johnson, Thomas Graham La France, Joseph Hendrix, Caleb Main, Owen Martin mason, Anthony Milford, Isaac S. Phillips, James Shoemaker, Obadiah Smith, Aaron Van Camp, Abram Van Scoy mason, and Daniel Van Scoy found employment during the period of rebuilding. Stephen Lord, Eli Neyhart and Henry Polen did the framing. Daniel Gore, Daniel Turner (see Family No. 1216—Kern), William Sharps, Peter Sharps (Family No. 988—Sharps), John Jenkins, Daniel Van Scoy (Family No. 994—Van Scoy), George Lazarus (Family No. 33—Lazarus and Family No. 1292—Barber), and Daniel Jones (Family No. 988—Jenkins Jones) furnished teams. Winthrop W. Ketcham painted the mill.

Isaac C. Shoemaker sold to his brother, William S. Shoemaker, July 6, 1841, a one-half interest in the grist mill for $2,000, and the firm of I. C. and W. S. Shoemaker was organized to conduct the business of the mill. This partnership continued until June, 1861, when Isaac C. Shoemaker paid William S. Shoemaker $2,000 for his interest. The Shoemaker Grist Mill, under the management of I. C. and W. S. Shoemaker soon acquired a wide market for its products and enjoyed a large measure of popularity with the trade on account of the high quality of the flour it produced. Bethany, Pa.; Carbondale, Pa.; Dundaff, Pa.; Clifford, Pa.; Hyde Park and Providence, (now Scranton) Pa., were points to which large quantities of flour were hauled by team. Wilkes-Barre and Pittston were profitable markets nearer home. Some of the local charges for the grist mill products were: Rye flour (wholesale), $4.50 bbl., 1842; bran, 18½c. bu. (retail), 1842; wheat flour (wholesale), $6.50 per bbl., 1842; chop (retail), 37½c. bu., 1842; corn meal, $1 per 100, 1841; shorts, 25c. bu. (retail), 1842; mixed feed, 40c. bu. (retail).

Jan. 29, 1848, Isaac C. Shoemaker entered into an agreement with William S. Shoemaker by which the former was bound to build a new mill house on the mill property. The house occupied by William Sax was specified as a "model in the construction of this house with the exception of the pantry, which shall be left entirely out of this." The house was to be a "good substantial dwelling house to be placed just below the site of the old mill house." (Doubtless the old log house built for a mill house at the time of the erection of the mill.) This house, which is still standing (1916), was built by Alvah Shales assisted by Joseph Tuttle Love prior to July 4, 1848. The old mill house was sold May 4, 1848, to William Durland for $12.00.

For a number of years I. C. and W. S. Shoemaker did an extensive business as dealers in dried apples. In 1852 the prevailing sales prices were from $1.62½ to $1.75 per bushel, and the total sales for that year were $655.02. Martin Long, Wilkes-Barre; Blackman and Clark, W. H. Lockwood, Brown and Co., J. and R. Carter, Scranton and Platt, Scranton; N. Rutter, Bowkley and Bryce and Rexford and Fuller were leading purchasers.

In June, 1861, Isaac C. Shoemaker and his son, Jacob I. Shoemaker, under the firm name of I. C. Shoemaker and Son, took over the milling business of I. C. and W. S. Shoemaker and the latter firm was dissolved. Samuel R. Shoemaker was admitted to the firm in 1862. The firm of Shoemakers and Tripp was organized Aug. 31, 1865, Holden Tripp (Family No. 1042A) having bought a one-half interest in the milling business. This partnership was dissolved Dec. 1, 1868, and the business was conducted by I. C. Shoemaker and Sons until 1873, when it was taken over by Shoemaker and Frantz, Daniel H. Frantz purchasing a one-half interest. In 1875, following the death of Isaac C. Shoemaker, the partners were Jacob I. Shoemaker, Samuel R. Shoemaker and Daniel H. Frantz. Jan. 1, 1876, Mr. Frantz retired from the firm to enter the milling business in Wilkes-Barre, and Jacob I. and Samuel R. Shoemaker managed the mill until 1878, when Jacob I. Shoemaker assumed control of the property. Steam was substituted for water power in this mill in Jan., 1875. Peter Alpaugh was the first fireman-engineer.

Isaac C. Shoemaker was an expert salesman of woolen products. As the business of the woolen mills grew in volume he found it necessary to find an outlet for some of the products of his mills. For many years he traveled, in a wagon especially constructed for that purpose, through sections of Luzerne Co., including the present Lackawanna, Schuylkill and Carbon Counties. A Mr. Holmes was also an early salesman. Manuel Lewis Underwood was a salesman in 1865. Aaron Wrighter Van Tuyl entered the employ of I. C. Shoemaker and Sons in Aug., 1863, as a salesman, and was employed by I. C. Shoemaker's Sons in 1877, having served, as they needed his services, during 14 years.

In addition to his other business enterprises Isaac C. Shoemaker conducted the business of his farm. He brought the land he had inherited from his father, together with some additional tracts he bought, to a high state of cultivation. He was one of the pioneer growers of the famous Wyoming strawberries, which for many years outclassed all other berries in the local markets. Another of his farm specialties was his piggery where a high grade of stock was maintained and from which prize winners were sent annually to the agricultural fairs. He was also an extensive owner of real estate and coal lands. About 1848 a row of little cottages was built on what is now West Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. It was known for many years as "Satinette Row," having, it is said, been built exclusively from profits derived from the manufacture of that popular fabric. The barns on the Isaac C. Shoemaker farm were built in 1853 by William Durland and Charles Barney. The brick house was built in 1866 by William Dickover and was the residence of Isaac C. Shoemaker at the time of his death. Later it became the residence of James Fowler. Subsequently it was occupied by the Wyoming Sanitarium under the management of C. Ben Johnson. It has been for a number of years the residence of Edward Shoemaker. The original office of the woolen mill was a stone building which stood a few feet in front of the site of the brick office building, which was built by William Dickover in 1868. "Bunty," the Revolutionary cannon, abandoned by General Sullivan's army, the rivalry for whose ownership stirred the ambitions of the "younger set" of Forty Fort and Wyoming, found a resting place beneath the floor of this old stone building. While the new office building was in course of construction, "Bunty," having been removed from its hiding place, was discovered by some "patriots" from Forty Fort. An invasion was planned and executed and the old cannon was carried away in triumph. After having burst on a battle field, been cruelly abandoned to its fate, been lost and found, stolen and buried, resurrected and fired and stolen again, "Bunty" has at last reached that haven of historical relics, "where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest," the vault of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society at Wilkes-Barre. (See Historical Record, IV., 188.)

An important addition was made to what is now the Borough of Wyoming, Pa., April 8, 1856, when Thomas F. Atherton, James Jenkins and Isaac C. Shoemaker bought from John Sharps, Jr., a three-fourths undivided interest in the John Sharps, Jr., farm. This tract, which had been owned successively by Benjamin Follet, Frederick Follet, Jonathan Hutchins and Christian Miller, consisted of 67 acres and was laid out in building lots. It extended from the river to Wyoming avenue, including all the land lying between them with the exception of the Andrew Miller homestead and the Henry Polen homestead. The latter was doubtless a part of a one acre tract which Christian Miller and his wife, Sarah, sold to Thomas Bird, March 19, 1814, and which Thomas Bird and his wife, Polly, sold to Peirce Smith, Feb. 27, 1819. The tract also extended from near the present line of Seventh street to a line midway between Fourth and Fifth streets. In 1873 Monument avenue was Monument street, Sharps avenue was Market street, Susquehanna avenue was River street, Fifth street was Walnut street, Sixth street leading to the ferry was Main street, Seventh street was Miller street and Eighth street was Railroad street. The John Sharps, Jr., interest in the coal underlying this tract was later bought by Isaac C. Shoemaker, and William S. Shoemaker bought the coal interest of Thomas F. Atherton and James Jenkins.

Isaac C. Shoemaker was for many years identified with the work of the District School, which was known as Kingston School, District No. 4, and in 1843 was a collector of taxes in Kingston Township. In 1845 he served as Assessor. During a part of the Civil War he was Treasurer of a fund raised, in Kingston Township, to assist in maintaining the quota of volunteers under the various calls of President Lincoln. He was a stockholder and a director of the Ferry Bridge Co. at Pittston, Pa., and was one of the original subscribers to the stock of the Wyoming Shovel and Edge Tool Co., and of the People's Savings Bank of Pittston, Pa., which was organized in 1872. He was elected a director of the latter institution in 1874. He served for a number of years as a trustee for the Cemetery at Wyoming, Pa., and when the Cemetery Association of Wyoming, Pa., was organized became its first President, serving from 1866 to 1875. In 1857 he was elected a trustee of Wyoming Seminary, the now famous college preparatory school of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in 1853, with Payne Pettebone, George Swetland and Amos York Smith, he furnished the funds necessary to the building of the Union Hall on the Seminary Campus. He was elected Vice President of the Wyoming Bible Society, March 9, 1857. In 1852, and for several years, Isaac C. and William S. Shoemaker owned a victualling tent and outfit which was conducted in connection with the Camp Meeting* in Kingston Township.

It appears that Moses B. Phillips and Isaac S. Phillips, at different times, had charge of the tent.

The fall and winter of 1847-8 are still remembered by some of the older residents of Wyoming as the time when one of the most remarkable religious awakenings in the history of the Wyoming Valley occurred. Rev. Thomas H. Pearne was the preacher-in-charge on the Wyoming Circuit of the Oneida Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. As a result of the meetings he conducted, in the newly acquired chapel, both the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches received large accessions to their membership. April 2, 1848, Isaac C. Shoemaker was received on probation in the Methodist Episcopal Church and his wife, Catharine Ann, was received April 16, 1848. He was received in full connection Oct. 8, 1848, and his wife was received March 14, 1851. He became one of the most active members of the church, and served as Class Leader, Sunday School Superintendent, Steward and Trustee. Feb. 7, 1852, Isaac C. Shoemaker, Payne Pettebone and Amos York Smith were elected delegates to represent the local church at a convention to be held in Philadelphia, March 3, 1852, in the interest of Lay Representation in the General Conference. His term of office as a Class Leader, then, probably, the most important office in the local church to which a layman was appointed or elected, extended, like those of Payne Pettebone, Jacob Sanders and Henry Cook, over a long term of years.

*The earliest reference to camp meeting in the old Shoemaker account books are two items in the accounts of Chester Tuttle's store, Aug. 30, 1833, Eli Swetland was charged 15c. for "one jug when going to Camp Meeting" and Aaron Van Camp was charged "To cash lent to go to camp $2.00."

His class, known as the "Back Street" class or "Back Road" class, and so named because most of its members lived in the vicinity of what was then called the "Back Road," now Shoemaker avenue, West Wyoming, Pa., met in the school house on what is now West Eighth street, West Wyoming. He was also an active member of the Wyoming Bible Society. (See later.)

Isaac Countryman Shoemaker died at what is now West Wyoming, Luzerne Co., Pa., Jan. 18, 1875. His wife, Mrs. Catharine Ann (Shoemaker) Shoemaker was born Jan. 14, 1816, and died April 5, 1881. Their children were: 1, Helen, born and died in 1838; 2, Jacob I., born April 7, 1839; 3, Samuel Raub, born May 1, 1841, died May 2, 1901; 4, Rosanna, born Sept. 4, 1843, died early; 5, Mary Alice, born Oct. 15, 1845; 6, Frances Ann Pearne, born Nov. 24, 1849, died May 13, 1916; 7, Isaac Charles, born April 10, 1852, died Feb. 7, 1860; 8, Katie Irene, born June 12, 1856, died Sept. 26, 1861.

In the settlement of the estate of Isaac Countryman Shoemaker, who died intestate, the property was divided equally between his four surviving children, Jacob I. Shoemaker, Samuel Raub Shoemaker, Mrs. Mary Alice (Shoemaker) Van Scoy and Mrs. Frances Ann Pearne (Shoemaker) Browncomb. Samuel R. Shoemaker thus came into possession of the eastern half of the farm and Jacob I. Shoemaker, after purchasing the interest of his sisters, acquired title to the factory and grist mill, and the western half of the farm, excepting the Isaac C. Shoemaker residence and about two acres of land. Later he bought the interest of the other heirs in the latter property. The anthracite coal underlying the Isaac C. Shoemaker lands remained an undivided asset of his estate.

THE WYOMING METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Services under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church were held at, and in the vicinity, of Wyoming, Pa., as early as 1790. The pioneer preacher of that faith in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., was Anning Owen* (see Family No. 1313—Perkins-Ferrier), who came to the Valley from Orange Co., N. Y., and who, according to Dr. George Peck, in his History of Wyoming, participated, with his brother-in-law, Benjamin Carpenter, (see Families Nos. 1313 and 14—Perkins-Ferrier-Carpenter) in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. According to Dr. Peck they were also eye witnesses of the brutal murder of Elijah Shoemaker by the Tory, Windecker. (Bib.—8.) After the battle of Wyoming Anning Owen returned to Orange Co., N. Y., and came again to the Wyoming Valley, took up his trade, that of a blacksmith, and began to hold religious services. As a result of these services the first Methodist Episcopal Class in the Wyoming Valley was organized on Ross Hill, in Plymouth, in 1788, and soon after its organization Jonathan and Samuel Carver became members. Judge Benjamin Carpenter and his wife, Mary (Ferrier) Carpenter were also early members of the class. The original members were: Anning and Jane (Ferrier) Owen, Mr. Gray and wife, Stephen Baker and wife, Abram

*The Rev. Anning Owen was received on trial in the Ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church about 1795, and was received into full connection in 1797. He was an Elder in 1798. He was appointed to service as follows: 1796-7, Seneca, N. Y.; 1798, Albany, N. Y., circuit, under Freeborn Garretson, Presiding Elder; 1799, Flanders, N. Y.; 1800, Bristol, Chesapeake District, Philadelphia Conference; 1801, Wyoming Circuit; 1802, Northumberland Circuit; 1803, Strasburg and Chester, Chesapeake District, Philadelphia Conference; 1804, Dauphin, Pa.; 1805-6-7, Presiding Elder, Susquehanna District, Baltimore Conference (including the Wyoming Valley); 1808, Lycoming, Susquehanna District, Baltimore Conference; 1809, Canaan, Schuylkill District, Philadelphia Conference; 1810, Cayuga, Cayuga District, Genesee Conference; 1812, New Amsterdam, Genesee Conference; 1813, Superannuated, Genesee Conference. (Bib.—236.)

Adams, Mrs. Wooley and Nancy Wooley, Mrs. Ruth Pierce, Alice and Hannah Pierce, Darius Williams and wife, Captain Ebenezer Parrish and wife. Joseph Brown and Mrs. Deborah (Sutton) Bedford joined the class soon after it was organized. In 1793 the Rev. William Colbert and the Rev. Anthony Turn were appointed to the Wyoming Circuit and, April 27, 1793, the Rev. Mr. Colbert held services at two places in what is now Wyoming, Pa. The first of these services was held at the home of Philip Jackson, nearly opposite where the Wyoming Monument now stands. The other was held at the home of John Rosencrans, later the Captain Samuel Brees home, on the lot now (1918) owned by the heirs of the James M. Schooley estate. Bishop Asbury was expected to preach at the home of Captain John Satterthwaite on July 5, 1793. Captain John Satterthwaite bought Meadow Lot No. 6, from William Slocum, Jan. 21, 1793, and his house in the summer of that year was doubtless nearly opposite the present site of the William Swetland homestead. A Fourth of July celebration at the home of the Captain, on the day previous to that appointed for the Bishop to preach, was so obnoxious to the church people that they refused to visit the home of the Captain. The meeting was held at Rosencrans. In 1795 a memorable Quarterly Meeting was held at the home of Philip Jackson. In 1798 services were held at the home of Squire Carpenter, now, 1918, the residence of Jacob I. Shoemaker. In 1803 Solomon Chapin, who lived in what was later Wyoming, was a steward of the Wyoming circuit. (Bib.—96.) For a complete list of the preachers of the Wyoming Circuit from 1798 to 1849, see Chaffee's History of the Wyoming Conference.

It followed naturally from the extent of the territory comprised in the early circuits of the Methodist Episcopal Church, that the chief responsibility for the maintenance of the church and the support of the services should fall upon the shoulders of the laymen. This statement is as true with reference to the preaching as it is with reference to the other features of church work. To the local preachers of early Methodism that church owes an incalculable debt of gratitude. They were the "Minute Men" of early Methodism. Gilbert Carpenter, a millwright and carpenter, brother of Judge Benjamin Carpenter, of the Luzerne Co. Courts, and Benjamin Carpenter, Jr., his nephew, both in the Wyoming Valley and surrounding country and in Delaware Co., Ohio, where they removed in 1807-8; Samuel Carver, Jabez Carver, and Oliver Lewis, a blacksmith, were among the consecrated men who "held up the hands" of the regularly appointed preachers in all the section in and about Wyoming, Pa. The Carver neighborhood, now known as Carverton, was undoubtedly first evangelized by Gilbert Carpenter, who, also, in 1798, held services at Charles Harris' home (Harris Hill).

Prior to 1841-2 services at Wyoming, Pa., were held at the homes of the people. In 1840 the Christian Church, of which Noah Wadhams and Joseph Stever, probably both of Plymouth, Pa., were trustees, had begun the erection of a chapel on a lot which was sold by Judge William and Laura (Smith) Hancock to James Jenkins, July 16, 1844. This enterprise became involved in financial difficulties and April 6, 1841, the property was sold by Caleb Atherton, Sheriff, to John R. Coudry. The deed was acknowledged in open court by George P. Steele, Sheriff, April 13, 1842. John R. Coudry assigned all his interest in the property, April 16, 1842, to Ezra Brees, John Goodwin and Philo Bower, Trustees, for $250 specie. John R. Coudry and Susan T., his wife, having made an assignment to Volney L. Maxwell for the benefit of his creditors, on Oct. 6, 1842, Volney L. Maxwell and Lydia, his wife, again deeded the property to Ezra Brees, John Goodwin, Philo Bowers, George M. Peck and John K. Jenkins, Trustees, for $10 specie, "In trust that they shall finish or cause to be finished the above Christian Chapel for the use of the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States of America, according to the rules and discipline which from time to time may be agreed upon and adopted by the ministers and preachers of said church at their General Conference in the United States of America. And in further trust and confidence that they shall at all time and forever hereafter permit such ministers and preachers belonging to the said church as shall from time to time be duly authorized by the General Conference of its ministers and preachers or by the Annual Conference authorized by the said General Conference, to preach and expound God's Holy Word therein," etc. The deed provides further that there shall be at least five trustees forever.

In Aug., 1842, James Jenkins (see Family No. 988—Jenkins) entered into an agreement with Ezra Breese, John Goodwin and Philo Bowers, in trust for the Methodist Episcopal Church to "set off a certain piece of land in the village of New Troy to be used as a place of public worship by the above mentioned Methodist Episcopal Church and to keep them in quiet and peaceful possession of the same as long as said lot shall be used as a place of public worship by said church, and when not so used the said lot to become the property of James Jenkins, his heirs and assigns, without encumbrance, on condition that he, his heirs or assigns, pay or cause to be paid to the Methodist Episcopal Church $150 toward the purchase of another lot of ground or the building of another house to be used as a place of worship by the said church in the village. But if the said church do not build another house of public worship in the village then the said church is to have no claim on the said James Jenkins for the $150." It was provided further that two gates, one on each side of the house now on said lot, should be built in the fence and that Mr. Jenkins should have the privilege of erecting other gates in the back part of the fence. This lot was "To be 54 feet in from the road, i. e., 12 feet on each side of the house and 84 feet deep, or from the road back." Written on the deed is the following, without date: "I hereby agree to set to the Methodist Episcopal Church a certain piece of land (on the back end of the M. E. Church lot) six feet wide and about 50 feet long." Signed James Jenkins. The agreement between Mr. Jenkins and the three trustees was signed in the presence of Thomas F. Atherton and Elisha A. Coray.

A subscription was taken Aug. 28, 1849, for the purpose of "Building a parsonage house for the use of the Preacher of the New Troy Station, also for digging well, fencing lot, furnishing house, also for building stabling and sheds for the accommodation of the Preacher, the Church, and Congregation attending for worship at the M. E. Church."

The total amount subscribed was $1,146.75. The individual subscriptions were: Bowers, Philo, $15; Breese, Ezra, $15; Bennett, Ziba, $10; Chapin, Charles, $50; Gay, John, $2; Goodwin, John, $25; Hartsell, William $10; Hurlbut, Lyman, $2; Jones, Daniel, $60; Keim, Jacob, $1; Love, Joseph, $5; Love, William, 75c; Pettebone, Payne, $175; Polen, Peter, $55; Polen, Albert, 50c; Perrin, Lorenzo, $2; Shoemaker, Isaac C., $135; Shoemaker, W. S., $5; Shoemaker, Elizabeth, $1; Shaw, James, $2; Schooley, J. B., $5; Smith, Amos York, $100; Swetland, William, $450; Van Scoy, Daniel, $20.

In a deed, dated April 3, 1851, James and Elizabeth Jenkins for a consideration of $450 conveyed title, to the lot on which the parsonage was built, to William Swetland, Amos Y. Smith, Philo Bowers, Ezra Brees and John K. Jenkins, trustees. This lot is described as "Beginning at a stake in the highway 16 rods south of the line late of Thomas Bird." The lot was four rods long on what is now Wyoming avenue, and twenty rods deep. It had been bought by Cornelius Atherton from David Perkins and in a deed of Nov. 10, 1820, is described as a part of Lot 38, bounded on the northeast by lands of Jacob Bedford. It was sold by Isaac Bowman, Sheriff, Nov. 10, 1820, to Solomon Brown, of Pittston, Pa., who, Feb. 13, 1822, conveyed title to John Benedict. William Tompkins, administrator of the estate of John Benedict, sold it to James Jenkins April 22, 1840. In 1850 the property of the New Troy Methodist Episcopal Church consisted of two lots with a frontage of about 125 feet on what is now Wyoming avenue, the finished chapel, the parsonage and the sexton's house. The latter building stood where the Hancock brick building now stands and was doubtless the residence of a Cornelius Atherton in 1820. Henry Courtright (2d) and Sarah, his wife, Dec. 1, 1849, entered into an agreement with John K. Jenkins, William Swetland, A. Y. Smith, Philo Bower and Ezra Brees, trustees, to establish a lane to the barn and church shed, then in course of erection. Henry and Sarah Courtright at that time owned the property adjoining the parsonage lot on the northeast and later owned by Mrs. C. E. Laycock.

A petition was filed, Jan. 6, 1853, in the Luzerne Co. Court praying that a charter be granted to the society. The petition was signed by Anson A. Church, William Swetland, Samuel Pugh, Isaac C. Shoemaker, Daniel Jones, Charles Chapin and Ezra Brees. The charter was granted April 11, 1853. Payne Pettebone, Isaac C. Shoemaker, Daniel Jones, Daniel Van Scoy, Nathan Van Horne, Jacob Saunders and A. W. Van Tuyl were trustees of the New Troy Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church to whom James Jenkins, May 1, 1873, executed a deed for the land bounded by lands of Mrs. C. E. Laycock, William S. Shoemaker, James D. Green and by Wyoming avenue. This deed was evidently given to remedy any defects in the title to the property. The consideration named was $100.

Jan. 31, 1882, the church property, including the parsonage and sexton house, was sold to William Hancock for $4,900.00, and Jan. 31, 1882, Payne and Catharine (Swetland) Pettebone executed a deed to the Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church for two pieces of land, parts of Meadow Lot No. 1, and situated between what are now Eighth and Ninth streets, Wyoming, Pa. The first of these pieces of land had a frontage of 150 feet on Wyoming avenue and was 165 feet deep. The second piece adjoined the first lying in the rear, and was about 150 feet long and 102 feet deep. The coal underlying the second piece had been reserved in a deed by William S. Shoemaker to Amos F. Barnum, Oct. 11, 1871. The price paid by the church for these two pieces of land was $4,300.

John Perkins (See Family No. 1313—Perkins) was the original owner of Meadow Lot No. 1, under title from the Susquehanna Company. He was killed in Plymouth by Indians, Nov. 7, 1778, and letters of administration upon his estate were granted Sept. 12, 1787, by Timothy Pickering, Esq., "Register for the Probate of Wills and Granting Letters of Administration in and for the County of Luzerne in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," to Benjamin Carpenter, Esq., of Kingston. March 26, 1791, Benjamin Carpenter, administrator, sold Meadow Lot No. 1, to David, son of John Perkins, and March 30, 1824, David and Sarah Perkins conveyed title to a part of Lot 1 to John, son of David and Sarah (Ferrier) Perkins. John and Eunice (Miller) Perkins sold two pieces of Lot No. 1, each having a frontage of six perches on what is now Wyoming avenue. The first of these, and, upon a portion of which the old Wingard, later Barnum, house now stands, is described in a deed, from John and Eunice Perkins to Edward D. Whiston, Jan. 22, 1833, as lands of Charles M. Orr. (See Family No. 3—Swetland.) Charles M. Orr was a blacksmith and removed to Walled Lake, Oakland Co., Mich. His wife was Sarah, daughter of Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland. It seems probable that the title to this land reverted to John Perkins, who, July 7, 1834, sold it to George Wingard, born Dec. 29, 1811, died April 11, 1843, (Forty Fort Cemetery). Henry Woodhouse, administrator of the estate of George Wingard, sold it to Thomas F. Atherton, Nov. 15, 1845. At that time there was a frame house, frame barn and a blacksmith shop on the property. Thomas F. Atherton sold it to David B. Polen, June 12, 1846, from whom a title passed by deed in 1853, and Sheriff's deed in 1867 to Peter Polen, who, Sept. 20, 1866, conveyed title to 134 feet fronting on Wyoming avenue to Amos F. Barnum and, Feb. 7, 1869, also assigned the Sheriff's deed to Amos F. Barnum. Dec. 23, 1881, title was conveyed by John H. and Ruth S. (Barnum) Sutphin (see Family No. 1001—Barnum). Henry C. and Elizabeth (Fuller) Doud, (see Family No. 1010—Fuller and Family No. 1001—Barnum) and William B. and Francis M. Sutphin, heirs of Amos F. Barnum, to Mrs. Caroline M. Pettebone for $5,300. The second of these two pieces of land, and upon which the parsonage now (1919) stands was sold by John and Eunice (Miller) Perkins to Edward D. Whiston, Jan. 22, 1833. Edward D. Whiston was married to Harriet, daughter of Belding and Sally (Gay) Swetland and was for some years a merchant at Wyoming. (See Family No. 3—Swetland.) Edward D. and Harriet (Swetland) Whiston conveyed title to John Jenkins Hyde, a shoemaker, and, Sept. 4, 1837, John J. and Eliza Ann (Stevens) Hyde, (see Family No. 988—Jenkins) sold the property to Jonathan A. Atherton, a shoemaker, (see Family No. 992—Atherton), who with his wife, Ellen Sophia (Bennet) Atherton, Oct. 4, 1838, sold it to Alfred Brace. (See Family No. 38—Brace.) Alfred Brace sold it to Thomas F. Atherton and he sold it to Nathan Gaines and Phineas B. Fields. Nathan Gaines was assessed in 1841 as a carriage maker and was later the owner of the axe factory on Abraham's Creek. (See Abraham's Creek Industries.) June 23, 1841, Nathan Gaines and Perces, his wife, and Phineas B. Fields conveyed title to James Jenkins, who sold it to James Harris Jenkins. At the time of this sale there was a dwelling house and a shop on the property. It was sold Aug. 14, 1850, by James Harris and Mary E. (Miller) Jenkins to D. B. Polen. Title to about 35 feet of this plot passed to Peter Polen by deeds of 1853 and 1867. David B. and Sarah (Brown) Polen sold about 65 feet of it to Daniel Jones. This portion of the plot, about 65 feet, and adjoining lands now (1916) owned by Dr. A. B. Smith, was owned by the George W. Jenkins estate in 1870. George W. Jenkins was married to Emily, daughter of Abram and Susannah (Young) Rinker and, Nov. 7, 1871, Abram Rinker, guardian of Anna, daughter of George W. and Emily (Rinker) Jenkins, who later became the wife of William C., son of Charles B. and Laura (Campfield) Baldwin of Wyoming, Pa., sold the lot to Amos F. Barnum. He removed the old house that stood on the lot and built a new one which became his residence. The heirs of Amos F. Barnum, named above, sold the property to Mrs. Caroline M. Pettebone, Dec. 23, 1881. The Pettebone estate still (1917) holds title to 50 feet of the plot sold by John and Eunice (Miller) Perkins, to Charles M. Orr or George Wingard. The old house which stood where the parsonage now stands and which was replaced by the Amos F. Barnum residence was probably built by Edward D. Whiston. The Barnum residence was removed to the rear of the lot, and fitted up as a home for the church janitor. The "parochial" school of the Presbyterian Church, to which reference is made elsewhere, was probably established in a building which had been used as a shop, and which stood to the east of the present parsonage site. The parsonage was built, on the site of the Barnum residence, by Rozelle Brothers and, with the church sheds and other outbuildings, cost approximately $9,000. In 1892-3 the present grade and street line of Wyoming avenue were established reducing the depth of the church lot about four feet.

Upon the lot deeded to the Wyoming Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Jan. 31, 1882, by Payne and Carolina M. (Swetland) Pettebone the Wyoming Methodist Church was built by Mrs. Catharine (Seiler) Swetland, widow of William Swetland, Mrs. Caroline M. (Swetland) Pettebone and her husband, Payne Pettebone at a cost approximating $25,000. The bell in the church was presented by Mrs. Alice (Shoemaker) Van Scoy and Mrs. Frank Pearne (Shoemaker) Brownscomb as a memorial of their parents, Isaac C. and Catharine Ann (Shoemaker) Shoemaker. The church was dedicated July 18, 1883. Rev. Thomas H. Pearne, D. D., preacher in charge of the Wyoming circuit in 1847, was one of the preachers.

Sunday School services, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, were held for a number of years in the "Shoemaker" school house at West Wyoming at an early date. Henry Marvine is remembered as one of the teachers about 1845. Dec. 1, 1856, Isaac C. Shoemaker and Mary, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Dutcher) Raub (see Family No. 947—Raub) were appointed, by the Official Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as a committee to "canvass the territory and see how much can be raised toward furnishing the school with books, etc." March 2, 1857, Isaac C. Shoemaker was authorized to "commence when he thought most practicable." From 1857 to 1888 Sunday School and other religious services were held in the school house. In 1888 the Isaac C. Shoemaker Memorial Chapel of the Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church was built, at a cost of about $2,500, on West Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. Ezra Brees was one of the early active workers of the church in the Shoemaker neighborhood and for many years had charge of the Friday evening services in the school house. He is still remembered as he appeared, going to the service, carrying lantern and candle.

April 6, 1857, action was taken by the Official Board requesting the Annual Conference to change the name of the appointment from New Troy to Wyoming. In April of 1864 William Swetland was granted the privilege of fitting up the basement of the church, at his own expense, "for the purpose of a school." This school was in session in 1865 with Gilbert Wolf as teacher.

About 1906-7 the church and parsonage were thoroughly repaired and renovated at an expense approximating $10,000. A handsome pipe organ, costing $2,000, was placed in the church. Jacob I. Shoemaker paid one-half the cost of the organ. The other half was contributed by Andrew Carnegie. The original inspiration that led to this enterprise came from a voluntary contribution, by Dr. A. C. Shoemaker (Family No. 993), of $1,000.00 with the request that it be expended in renovating the church.

THE WYOMING BIBLE SOCIETY

The Rev. Barlow Weed Gorham, then the pastor of the Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church, reported Nov. 11, 1850, to the Official Board of the church, that the Rev. P. E. Stevenson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, had suggested the "holding of a union meeting for the purpose of organizing a Bible Society." Out of the suggestion there grew the Wyoming Bible Society (auxiliary to the Pennsylvania Bible Society), which, for nearly 60 years, performed an invaluable service for Upper Kingston and Lower Exeter Townships of Luzerne Co., Pa. THE WYOMING SEMINARY

At the session of the Oneida Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 9, 1843, David Holmes, Jr., Lucien S. Bennet, Thomas Myers, Madison F. Myers, Lord Butler, Sharp D. Lewis and the Rev. Dr. Silas Comfort were appointed "Trustees of a contemplated Seminary of learning," to be located either in Wilkes-Barre or Kingston, according to the amount of subscriptions obtained in each place, in a given time, Kingston, having provided the largest subscription, became the chosen location. At the first meeting of the Board of Trustees David Holmes, Jr., was elected President, Rev. Silas Comfort Secretary, and Madison F. Myers, Treasurer. The first building, a brick structure three stories high and 37×70 feet, was erected and was opened for students in 1844. This building cost about $5,000. The Rev. Reuben Nelson, A. M., was the first principal and the Seminary opened with two teachers and 55 pupils. From this beginning it has grown into one of the most efficient and popular institutions of learning in the State of Pennsylvania, and one of the greatest preparatory schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Nearly all sections of the United States are represented in its student body and pupils from various foreign lands are also frequently found enjoying full fellowship at Wyoming. Swetland Hall was built about 1849 by William Swetland. In 1853, while plans were being considered for the enlargement of the main building, the Seminary was burned. William Swetland then rebuilt Swetland Hall, the Administration building was rebuilt by the Seminary authorities and Union Hall was built by Payne Pettebone, George Swetland, Isaac C. Shoemaker and Amos York Smith. About 1850 Bennet Library was endowed by Ziba Bennet.

The Wyoming College of Business, the Commercial Department of Wyoming Seminary, was added in 1863 and Professor W. S. Smythe, afterwards Principal of Cazenovia Seminary, at Cazenovia, N. Y., was the first principal. He was succeeded by Professor Levi L. Sprague. In 1882 Professor Willis L. Dean, the present highly efficient head of the Business College, succeeded Dr. Sprague. To no other institution are the business interests of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valleys so heavily indebted, as a source for an unfailing supply of bright young men and young women, thoroughly trained in the fundamentals of American business.

Centenary Hall was completed in 1867 at an expense of $25,000. The corner stone of Nelson Memorial Hall was laid Nov. 22, 1887. The building was completed at a cost of $30,000 and was dedicated June 10, 1888, the Rev. Dr. Jacob Embury Price preaching the sermon. In 1894 Abram Nesbitt built the Nesbitt Science Hall at a cost of $35,000. Wyoming Field, the athletic grounds of the Seminary, was bought and fitted up in 1894 at an expense of $22,000. The Caroline M. Pettebone Gymnasium was built by Mrs. Caroline M. (Swetland) Pettebone, daughter of William Swetland and widow of Payne Pettebone, in 1897, at a cost of $33,000. The officers of the Board of Trustees in 1917 were: Abram Nesbitt, President; Colonel Frank G. Darte, Vice President; Rev. Dr. George M. Bell, Secretary; Rev. Dr. Levi L. Sprague, Treasurer.

In May, 1872, the Rev. Dr. Reuben Nelson was elected Senior Book Agent of the Methodist Episcopal Church with offices at the Methodist Book Concern in New York, and the Rev. David Copeland was elected to succeed him as Principal of the Seminary. In 1882 the Rev. Dr. Levi L. Sprague was elected Principal and the more than 36 years of his administration have witnessed a wonderful development of every feature of the work of this justly famous school. Following the death of Isaac C. Shoemaker the Board of Trustees of Wyoming Seminary paid tribute to his memory in these words:

"Whereas, The Board of Trustees of the Wyoming Seminary have heard with deep regret of the melancholy decease of one of our number, Isaac C. Shoemaker, Esq., and,

"Whereas, He has long been associated with us as a member of this Board and as a Life Director of this Institution, and,

"Whereas, It is eminently fitting that we should give some expression of our esteem for our departed brother, therefore,

"Resolved, That we hereby express our high appreciation of the character of the deceased, and unanimously bear testimony to the fidelity and punctuality with which he discharged the duties growing out of his relations to this Institution and to the practical judgment he so strikingly evinced in the counsels and meetings of this Board, as well as the deep interest he felt, and the unwavering and liberal support he invariably gave, in sustaining the interests of the Seminary.

"Resolved, That, as a token of respect for the character and memory of the departed, the Seminary Chapel be suitably draped in mourning and the usual exercises of the school be suspended on the occasion of the funeral.

"Resolved, That we hereby convey to the family and relatives of our departed friend and brother our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of deep affliction, and prayerfully commend them to the care and succor of the God of all grace, who is a very present help in every time of need.

JACOB I. SHOEMAKER; FAMILIES NOS. 988—(987)

Jacob I., son of Isaac Countryman and Catharine Ann (Shoemaker) Shoemaker, was born, at New Troy, now West Wyoming, Pa., April 7, 1839, and was baptised June 18, 1848, by the Rev. Thomas H. Pearne of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In early childhood he attended the district school, known, locally, as the "Shoemaker School," and, also, for a time, attended the "parochial" school of the Presbyterian Church at Troy Corners, now Wyoming, Pa. At the age of 10 years, in 1849, he entered Wyoming Seminary at Kingston, Pa., and, in his earlier years there, lived in the home of Dr. Reuben Nelson, the principal. Later he and his brother, Samuel R., while students at the Seminary, lived with their grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth (Chapin) Shoemaker-Shoemaker. With the exception of about one year he attended the Seminary until 1857, when he entered the employ of his father.

As a child Jacob I. Shoemaker became familiar with the operation of some of the machines in his father's factory, and before he was 10 years of age he had learned to reel stocking yarn. While a student at Wyoming Seminary he spent his Saturdays and vacations in work upon the farm and in the factory. He acquired a knowledge of single entry bookkeeping from Young C. Smith, then an instructor in the Seminary, and later was taught the mysteries of "double entry" bookkeeping by Henry Angell, an expert accountant of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg R. R., at Kingston. He began work on his father's books while yet a student at the Seminary and, after leaving that institution, became his father's bookkeeper. He also learned to operate all the machines in the factory and mastered all the processes by which the raw wool was manufactured into rolls, warps, yarns, flannels, fulled cloth and blankets. Upon attaining his majority, in 1861, he entered into partnership with his father in the operation of the farm, factory and grist mill. They did business under the name of I. C. Shoemaker and Son. In 1862 his younger brother, Samuel R. Shoemaker, was admitted to the firm and the firm name became I. C. Shoemaker and Sons. In 1869 they suffered a serious loss through the burglarizing of the office safe on the night of April 30. The principal loss consisted of bonds and interest warrants of the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad Company, certificates of stock of the Pittston Ferry Bridge Company, and about $300 in cash. The securities were later located in New York, but their recovery was rendered impossible by a technicality in the New York laws. The firm of I. C. Shoemaker and Sons continued in business until the death of Isaac C. Shoemaker in 1875. I. C. Shoemaker's Sons conducted the various enterprises until the settlement of their father's estate when, in the division of the property, as finally adjusted, Jacob I. Shoemaker became the owner of half the farm including the factory and grist mill. In 1882 steam power for the operation of the factory was introduced and the plant was leased to F. W. Weber, who manufactured yarns, hosiery, etc., until 1884, when the factory was closed finally.

Jacob I. Shoemaker was a member of the firm of Shoemaker and Tripp and Shoemaker and Frantz, who operated the grist mill. He enlarged it into a full three-story building and installed a number of modern milling appliances. In March, 1883, he leased the mill property to James Fowler, who operated it for a number of years. The firm of James Fowler and Sons was later organized. Since the death of James Fowler, Feb. 9, 1901, the mill has been operated by his two sons, William J. and Charles Fowler, retaining the firm name of James Fowler and Sons. Under their progressive management the business has been continued to a high plane of success. They have added to the milling business a very extensive and constantly expanding jobbing business in grain, groceries and provisions and now (1918) operate, in addition to the Wyoming plant, large and thriving business enterprises of a similar type in Pittston, Pa., and Honesdale, Pa.

Jacob I. Shoemaker erected a store building at the corner of Shoemaker avenue and West Eighth street, West Wyoming. John Hunlock had a store in this building for several years and until the building was burned. Mr. Shoemaker almost immediately built the present Shoemaker block on the site of the former store. He entered into a partnership with William H. Patterson, and under the firm name of Shoemaker and Patterson they conducted a general store for about 10 years. Mr. Shoemaker retired from the firm and Mr. Patterson continued the business until he sold it to the Westmoreland Coal Company. Emil Freeman succeeded the latter and he sold his business to Rudolph Hertz, who at the present time occupies the store. Lieutenant Charles H. Reilay Post, No. 567, G. A. R., and May Lodge, No. 767, I. O. O. F., occupy a lodge room in the Shoemaker block. For a short time Jacob I. Shoemaker was a member of the firm of Shoemaker and Jacobs, being associated with Fred S. Jacobs in a store in the Polen building on the old site of the Christian G. Oehmig store of 1815, on Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa. Simpson and Watkins, operators of the Mount Lookout Colliery, bought out this business and established a company store in the building.

About 1904 Mr. Shoemaker remodelled and extensively enlarged the "Samuel Shoemaker" house in which both he and his mother were born. The main building was moved back, after the addition on the rear, erected by Isaac C. Shoemaker, was torn down, and a new front was built on the house. The older portion of his residence was the residence of Judge Benjamin Carpenter in 1808, when Isaac Shoemaker bought the farm, and has been continuously the residence of the Shoemaker family 109 years. Probably its only rival for consecutive occupancy by the same family, in the whole section in and about Wyoming, is the Dennison homestead, now owned (1918) by Richard B. Reilay, a descendant of Colonel Nathan Dennison. It is believed, on excellent authority, that the latter home was built by Benjamin Carpenter, whose daughter, Elizabeth, was married to Lazarus, son of Colonel Nathan and Elizabeth (Sill) Dennison. (See Family No. 14—Carpenter.)

Mr. Shoemaker has never, literally, retired from business, but has always been and still remains one of the most active men in the community in which he lives. His various investments and banking interests, his duties as trustee and in public office, his every day interest in the welfare of the community, the church, and the several fraternal and patriotic organizations with which he is identified, have served to keep him among the busy men of his day. He has served as executor or administrator of many estates and has been a vital factor in every institution with which he has been identified. He was elected Vice President of the First National Bank, of Wyoming, Pa., about the first of the year 1824.

In answer to the call of Governor Curtin, at the time of the invasion of Pennsylvania by General Robert E. Lee, he enlisted, July 1, 1863, "to serve for three months unless sooner discharged" in Company E of the 49th Pennsylvania Militia. This regiment, which was sometimes called an "Emergency Regiment," was commanded by Colonel Murphy and was recruited at Harrisburg, Pa. The regiment was first stationed at Fort Lincoln, near Harrisburg, but was subsequently removed to Danville, Pa. It was later ordered to Philadelphia, Pa., where in Independence Square, Sept. 2, 1863, Jacob I. Shoemaker was honorably discharged by order of Governor Curtin. Company E of this regiment was commanded by Captain Joseph Hileman, a veteran of the Mexican War.

Lieutenant Charles H. Reilay Post, No. 567, Grand Army of the Republic,* was instituted Nov. 5, 1887. Mr. Shoemaker was one of the charter members and was appointed Adjutant at the institution of the Post. He was elected Junior Vice Commander in 1889, Senior Vice Commander in 1890, and Post Commander in 1891. He has served as Adjutant from 1896 to 1924. He has represented Reilay Post at the State encampments

*Reilay Post, No. 567, G. A. R., was named for Lieutenant Charles H., son of Gilbert and Sarah (Denison) Reilay. He was born at Milo, Yates Co., N. Y., July 12, 1842, and was a grandson of Lazarus and Elizabeth (Carpenter) Denison. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., and, Aug. 26, 1862, was mustered into the United States Service as Sergeant of Company A, 143d Regiment, Pa. Vol. Inf. He was promoted to Second Lieutenant Feb. 4, 1864, and to First Lieutenant Feb. 5, 1864. He was killed, while in command of Company E, of the 143d Regiment, at Laurel Hill, May 10, 1864. The first officers and charter members of Lieutenant Charles H. In Aug., 1914, he was elected President of the Seven County Veterans' Association, at their reunion held at Valley View Park, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

At the State Encampment, held in Greensburg, Pa., in June, 1923, he was elected Department Commander of the Department of Pennsylvania, G. A. R., for the year ending the second week in June, 1924. He served with distinction, and on the evening of June 10, 1924, at a Campfire held in Irem Temple, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the place designated for holding the sessions of the encampment, a valuable badge was presented to him by his staff and comrades. Before adjournment, the encampment, on June 12, 1924, unanimously approved a resolution directing the appointment of a committee to prepare and present to the retiring Department Commander a suitable testimonial, which was later presented to him.

May Lodge, No. 767, Independent Order of Odd Fellows,* was instituted June 26, 1871. Jacob I. Shoemaker was one of the charter members and was the first Secretary of the Lodge. He has served in all the offices of the Lodge and has been Treasurer during the last 40 years. He was initiated by Oneida Lodge, No. 371, at Dallas, Pa., prior to the organization of May Lodge. He has frequently represented the latter in the Grand Lodge and was appointed District Deputy Grand Master of Luzerne Co., Pa., in Shoemaker, Secretary; John S. Alling, Assistant Secretary; Stephen D. Robbins, Treasurer; Thomas Hutchins, Trustee; Johnson V. Backer, Trustee; Samuel R. Shoemaker, Trustee; Frank Holmes, E. M. The lodge was instituted by D. D. G. M. Seigfried Sutto of Scranton, Pa. Nice H. Minegar was initiated, under a dispensation, at the time of the institution of the lodge. Until 1886 this lodge met in the Thomas Hutchins building, later the Masel Bakery, on Eighth street, Wyoming, when they removed to the Shoemaker block in West Wyoming.

1881. He was one of the petitioners who applied for a charter under which the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home at Sunbury, Pa., was instituted, Aug. 7, 1896, and is one of the Charter Directors. He has served continuously as a Representative and as a Director of that institution from the date of its institution, and was for many years a member of the Committee on Supplies.

Jacob I. Shoemaker is also an active member of Wyoming Lodge, No. 468, Free and Accepted Masons. He was initiated June 6, 1884, and served as Secretary from 1885 to 1888. He was elected Worshipful Master in 1891, and since his retirement from that office has served the Lodge as Chaplain for about 27 years. He has represented the local Lodge very frequently in the Grand Lodge and was sent as its representative to the extraordinary session of that body which commemorated the centennial of the death of George Washington.

The Wyoming Shovel and Edge Tool Company of Wyoming, Pa., was chartered in 1874, its Board of Directors consisting of Payne Pettebone, George M. Richart, William S. Shoemaker, Steuben Jenkins, James P. Ather-ton, Thomas Hutchins, James D. Green, William Allen and John Sharps. The first officers were: Payne Pettebone, President; Steuben Jenkins, Secretary, and Jacob I. Shoemaker, Treasurer. Mr. Shoemaker was one of the original stockholders and, in 1877, became a member of the Board of Directors. He served as Treasurer throughout the life of the original company and, after the resignation of Steuben Jenkins, Feb. 4, 1876, was also elected Secretary. He was also, for a short time, connected with the Wyoming Terra Cotta Works, and, as bookkeeper, rearranged their accounts and introduced the double entry system.

Jacob I. Shoemaker succeeded his father, Isaac C. Shoemaker, as a Director of the People's Savings Bank of Pittston, Pa., in 1875, and served until March 29, 1909, when this bank was consolidated with the Union Savings Bank of Pittston, the new bank having been chartered as the People's Union Savings Bank. He has served as a Director of the consolidated bank continuously and until the present time. He was, also, an original stockholder of the First National Bank of Wyoming, and was elected a Director in 1910 and in each succeeding year.

He succeeded his father as a Director of the Ferry Bridge Company of Pittston, Pa., in 1875, and served until the property of this company was bought by Luzerne Co. He served as Secretary of the Cemetery Association of Wyoming from 1875 to 1886, and has, since the latter year, been the President of the Association. Under his administration additions have been made to the lands of the Association and a number of costly improvements have been successfully undertaken. He was the Treasurer of the Wyoming Bible Society from 1870 to 1891, and was also President of that organization from 1891 until 1910, when the society was merged into the American Bible Society. He has been for 49 years a Trustee of Wyoming Seminary. He succeeded his father, Isaac C. Shoemaker, as Trustee, in 1875. His service as Trustee, together with that of his father, who served from 1857 to 1875, extends through 67 years of the 75 years of the history of that great institution. From 1849, when he entered Wyoming Seminary as a student, Mr. Shoemaker has always maintained a strong interest in every feature of its work. He has also always taken an active interest in the public schools and has always been a warm-hearted advocate of the public school system. Prior to the chartering of the Borough of Wyoming, Pa., in 1885, he had served, for a term of three years, as President of the Kingston Township School Board. During his administration the first brick school house at Forty Fort was built.

April 16, 1898, Jacob I. Shoemaker was commissioned by Governor Daniel H. Hastings to serve five years as Justice of the Peace. May 1, 1903, Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker also commissioned him to serve five years, and April 22, 1908, Governor Edwin S. Stuart commissioned him for five years. The latter commission was extended to Jan. 1, 1914. Wyoming Borough was chartered in June, 1885, and the following officers were elected July 15 of that year: Burgess, William Hancock; Council, John P. Smith, President, John A. Hutchins, John Sharps, Jacob I. Shoemaker, Dr. Charles P. Knapp and John Dougher. Mr. Shoemaker served continuously as a Councilman of Wyoming Borough until the Borough of West Wyoming was chartered. He has served the latter Borough as Councilman from the date of its organization until 1920 and has held many terms of office as President.

From early childhood Jacob I. Shoemaker has been interested in the work of the Church of Jesus Christ. Prior to 1847 the Shoemaker family preference appears to have favored the Presbyterian Church. Following the great religious awakening of that year the family of Isaac C. Shoemaker became affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. Shoemaker remembers attending services, as a child, in the Presbyterian Chapel which stood at the upper line of the present grounds of the Wyoming Cemetery, and also remembers attending Sunday School, as a child, in the basement of the old Methodist Episcopal Church. According to the minutes of the Official Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church it appears that many years before he became a member, he was active in various of the enterprises of the church. For a number of years he was a member of the choir, and was also Treasurer of an annual festival fund. It is worthy of note that in 1869 he reported to the Official Board that the total receipts of a festival recently held amounted to $276.86, with expenses amounting to $77.48, leaving a net balance of $199.38. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church July 22, 1888. He had been elected a Trustee in 1884, in 1889 was Treasurer of the Board, and was elected President of the Board of Trustees in 1894 and has been re-elected each year. For many years he has been one of the leading financial supporters of the church and one of the most regular attendants upon the services. The Men's Brotherhood of the Wyoming Church was named for him, the Jacob I. Shoemaker Chapter. He has represented the local church in several lay Electoral Conferences and, since the death of his wife, has been the Treasurer of the Shoemaker Memorial Chapel Sunday School. He was for many years a manager of the Wyoming Camp Meeting Association while that institution was a "going concern." He served many years as President. He is still identified, as a manager, with the Association.

In 1880 Mr. Shoemaker was a member of Monument Lodge, No. 2, 130 Knights of Honor. This lodge was organized March 29, 1880, and has, long since, ceased to exist. Its first officers were: Dr. Charles P. Knapp, Past Dictator; Jacob I. Shoemaker, Dictator; George S. Richmond, Vice Dictator; Robert K. Laycock, Assistant Dictator; Richard E. Hutchins, Reporter; George H. Barker, Financial Reporter; Samuel R. Shoemaker, Treasurer; Merritt Sax, Chaplain; Nelson Hoffman, Guide; Robert Smallcomb, Guardian; John Wilde, Sentinel; Robert K. Laycock, George S. Richmond and J. P. Smith, Trustees; Charles P. Knapp, M. D., Medical Examiner.

Jacob I. Shoemaker has added considerably to the real estate he acquired through the settlement of the estate of his father, Isaac C. Shoemaker. The portion of the original Shoemaker farm he inherited he devoted exclusively to truck gardening and fruit growing—a considerable acreage is now devoted to the growing of peaches. The farm has been under lease to Mr. Joseph L. Dymond for 33 years. He has a one-half interest in 15 acres of land in Lot 35, including the "outcrop" coal opening, which was operated by William Henry, and which was owned by William Goodwin, Mrs. Captain Samuel Breese and Mrs. Alexander Clark Shaver in succession. He bought from his son, Edward, the Van Tuyl property on Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa. On this property the Lot Breese fulling mill stood, and on it there was situated, for many years, a foundry and plaster mill.

The coal underlying the lands of the estate of Isaac C. Shoemaker was first leased to Frederick Koerner in 1876 and to John R. Davis and Edward L. Fuller in 1880. Both of these leases were surrendered. It was then leased to Cowan and Dininny in 1882, who paid royalty but mined no coal. An attempt to sink a shaft, by this company, on the Shoemaker property near Shoemaker avenue having resulted in a failure this lease was also surrendered. In 1887 an option was given to the Pennsylvania Coal Company. This was also forfeited. James N. and Nicholas E. Rice leased the property in 1888. They assigned the lease to Simpson and Watkins, who organized the Mount Lookout Coal Company. A shaft was sunk on the Schooley property in Exeter Township and in 1892 the first coal was hoisted. The Pittston, Marcy, Top Ross, Bottom Ross and Red Ash veins underlie the lands of the Isaac C. Shoemaker estate. The Temple Iron Company succeeded the Mount Lookout Coal Company as operators, when the holdings of Simpson and Watkins were taken over by the former company. Since the leasing of the coal by James N. and Nicholas E. Rice, whose lease included, in addition to the holdings of the Isaac C. Shoemaker estate and the William S. Shoemaker estate, many smaller tracts of coal, Jacob I. Shoemaker has served as Trustee for the lessors, has received, from the operating companies, all payments for coal mined and has distributed the same.

For 60 years Mr. Shoemaker has been a steadfast Republican. He cast his first ballot for Abraham Lincoln, the Republican candidate, in 1860, and since that date he has always cherished the ideals of the Republican party and has been one of its staunch supporters. Apart from his service to his home community he has never aspired to public political office, but has been content to remain a "true blue" member of the rank and file of the Republican party.

He was the leader in the movement to organize the Michael Shoemaker Association, and was elected President. The Association was organized to encourage the holding of family reunions and to facilitate the securing of data for this publication. Several reunions were held under its auspices.

Jacob I. Shoemaker was married, by the Rev. Henry Hunter Wells, Dec. 23, 1863, to Mary Margaret, daughter of John, Jr., and Catharine Bethiah (Breese) Sharps, of Wyoming, Pa. (Family No. 989—Breese.) (Sharps family later.) Mrs. Catharine Bethiah (Breese) Sharps was a daughter of Lot and Falla (Jenkins) Breese, (Jenkins family later). Mary Margaret Sharps was born Oct. 27, 1843, and was baptised, June 23, 1863, by the Rev. Albert B. King, of the Wyoming, Pa., Presbyterian Church. At that time she united with that church and was an active member until 1895, when she withdrew, and united with the Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church, of which her husband was a member. She served for many years as President of the Ladies' Aid Society of the latter church and was also an active worker in the Missionary Societies. She devoted a great deal of time and effort to the various interests of the Sunday School at Shoemaker Memorial Chapel and served as Superintendent, as a teacher and as Treasurer. She was a member of the Wyoming Monument Association of Wyoming, of Harmony Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and of the Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to Conyngham Post, Grand Army of the Republic, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. She died at West Wyoming, Pa., Nov. 18, 1908, and is buried in the Shoemaker plot in the Wyoming, Pa., Cemetery.

The children of Jacob I. and Mary Margaret (Sharps) Shoemaker are: 1, Fannie Sharps, born Oct. 14, 1864; 2, Edward Nelson, born Aug. 1, 1867; 3, John Sharps, born Aug. 22, 1877, died Nov. 21, 1878; 4, Nellie Baldwin, born Oct. 17, 1869, died July 6, 1871; 5, Harry, born Nov. 15, 1880.

THE SHARPS FAMILY (SHARPENSTEIN-SHARFENSTEIN-SHARPEN- STONE-SCHERP-SCHERB)

In the earliest records of that portion of the State of New Jersey, variously described as the Province of West New Jersey, the Western division of the Province of New Jersey, the Western division of the State of New Jersey, etc., there appears frequently the name of Hugh Sharp, (see under Family No. 271) one of the proprietors, who was apparently of English ancestry. There appear also in those records the names of various persons named Sharpenstone, Sharpenstein, Sharffenstein, Sherb, Sharps and Sharp, who were clearly of German ancestry, and undoubtedly of the same family as the Sharps or Sharpenstein family named, in the Documentary History of New York, as among the Palatines sent to New York by Queen Ann in 1708-1711. One Jacob Sharps is thus named, with Jacob Shoemaker and Christian Hagabour, in connection with a grant of 6,000 acres of land, in 1710 and 1724, in the Hudson River Valley of the Colony of New York. Some of this family evidently went from the Hudson Valley to the Schoharie Country and from there to the Mohawk Valley.

Jacob Sharpenstein, evidently of this family, served as a private in Captain Snook's Company of Colonel Fisher's Regiment of Tryon Co., N. Y., Militia, and there is filed at Fonda, N. Y., the will of one Jacob Sharpenstein which was made May 16, 1821, and probated April 15, 1822. This Jacob Sharpenstein lived in the town of Florida, Montgomery Co., N. Y., and his will names his wife, Mary, sons, John, Matthias, Samuel, Benjamin, John and Peter, and daughters, Gertrude, Rebecca, Ann, Mary, daughter married to ——— Staley, and daughter married to ——— Buskirk.

In Dr. Chamber's "Early Germans of New Jersey" there may be found extensive sketches of Sharpenstein families in Morris Co., N. J. Among these is the family of Matthias Sharpenstein and that of John Peter Sharpenstein. He expresses his conviction that these Sharpenstein families were connected with the family of the same name in Sussex Co.,* N. J.

The earliest available records of the Sharpenstone, Sharpenstein, Sharffenstein, Sherb or Sharps family in what is now Warren Co., N. J., and was formerly Sussex, and before Sussex, Morris and Hunterdon Co., is that of a family consisting of at least three brothers: 1, Jacob; 2, Christian; 3, John, and one sister, 4, Mrs. Christianna (Sharpenstein) Schultz.

II. (1). Jacob Sharpenstein, of this family, is named in the will of his brother, Christian, (see later) who also names Henry, the oldest son of Jacob Sharpenstein. He may have had a daughter, Elizabeth (Sharps) Woolever.

II. (2). Christian Sharpenstone (Scherb) was born in March, 1722, died May 29-31, 1794, and was buried in one of the Greenwich, N. J., Cemeteries. (Bib.-22.) He was married to Helena ———, and their home was near the Johnson Iron Works, in Greenwich, N. J., in 1764. In the Pennsylvania Journal of Aug. 30, 1764, an Edward Murphy, living on the "Derham Road, near Tehekin Creek, in Bedminster Township, Bucks Co., Pa., published a card offering a reward of £5 for the apprehension of one Daniel McAfee, described as wearing a thickset olive colored coat, a red jacket and breeches, but has blue coat and jacket also." He has followed weaving for some time past at Christian Sharp's house, near Mr. Johnson's Iron Works, in Hunterdon Co., W. J." (Bib.-185.) The will of Christian Sharpenstone was made Sept. 27, 1793, and was probated July 31, 1794. It is filed at Trenton, N. J. He gave his whole estate to his wife, Helena, during her lifetime. He also named his brother, Jacob, and Henry, oldest son of Jacob; his sister, Christianna Schultz; his nephew, Peter; his nephew, John; his niece, Elizabeth, wife of William Woolweaver; his grandnephew, Christian Shipman (to whom he had already conveyed 50 acres of land); David Hawk on account of services rendered. He also gave £50 to the "German Presbyterian Meeting House at the Straw." He provided that, after the decease of his wife, the residue of his estate should pass to his grandnephew, Christian Sharpenstone, son of his nephew, John Sharpenstone. The will of Christian Sharpenstone makes no reference to any children. His wife, Helena, and his nephews, Peter and John Sharpenstone, were named executors.

II. (3). John Sharpenstone, father of Peter and John Sharpenstone, who are named as nephews in the will of Christian Sharpenstone, was married to Margaret Barbara ———. He bought, March 29, 1758, from William Lovett Smith, 150 acres of land in Greenwich Township, Sussex Co., N. J. In this deed, which was recorded some 50 years later at Newton, Sussex Co., N. J., he is described as a cord winder. The 150 acre farm, which he bought, was part of a 750 acre tract, described as lying on the "north side of the Muskenetkung River." John Bacon, of Chesterfield, Burl-

*Burlington Co., of the Province of N. J., was erected in 1694, Hunterdon Co., named for Provincial Governor Robert Hunter, was set off from Burlington in 1713, Morris Co. was organized from Hunterdon March 15, 1738-9, and was named for Governor Lewis Morris, Sussex Co. was set off from Morris in 1753. Warren Co. was erected from Sussex in 1824. The present counties of Warren, Sussex, Morris, Mercer and Hunterdon were all included in the territory of Hunterdon Co. in 1738-9.

ington Co., N. J., in making his last will and testament May 19, 1711, had devised "All the residue of his estate to his three children, John, Elizabeth and Mary Bacon. Elizabeth Bacon had been married to Robert Smith of the city of Burlington, N. J., and Mary Bacon had been married to Joseph De Cew (De Cou) of Trenton, N. J. July 1, 1748, John Bacon and Joseph and Mary (Bacon) De Cew released 273 acres of this tract to Robert Smith. Robert and Elizabeth (Bacon) Smith conveyed title to John Smith, and he, July 24, 1754, sold to William Lovett Smith, who March 24, 1758, sold 150 acres to John Sharps, "cord winder," for £100. At the June term of the Court of Common Pleas for Sussex Co., N. J., for 1758, John Sharps was appointed collector for Greenwich. (Bib.-337.)

John Sharps (or Sharpenstone) died in middle life in Greenwich Township, Sussex Co., N. J. His will was made June 1, 1770, probated Aug. 8, 1770, and is filed at Trenton, N. J. It refers to his wife to whom he bequeathed £100, and names his oldest son, Peter, not 24 years of age; his son, John, and refers to other children, not named. His wife, his son Peter and Matthias Shipman are named executors and Robert Martin, Alexander White and Christian Sharps signed the will as witnesses. An account of his estate was filed Jan. 10, 1774, and among other items appears one referring to a payment of £100 to Barbara Sharps "legacy as per will," and also one payment of 12s 6d to Cornelius Van Over. In the records of the original Lutheran Church of Easton, Pa., where there is recorded the baptism of Peter, son of John Sharffenstein, July 1, 1751, the name of Peter's mother is recorded Margaret Barbara. Some of the children of John and Margaret Barbara (——) Sharps were (order of birth uncertain): 1, Peter, born Jan. 23, 1751, died June 21, 1827, (see later); 2, John, born Sept. 6, 1752, died Oct. 3, 1831, (see later); 3, Margaret, named in the will of her brother, Peter, married in 1781, to Philip Weller; 4, Jacob, named in the will of his brother, Peter, born Sept. 28, 1755, died Nov. 18, 1843, (see later); 5, Catharine, married to Matthias, Jr., son of Lieutenant Colonel Matthias and Margaret (——) Shipman, (see Family No. 1292—Shipman), three of whose children were: (i), Christian, named as grandnephew in the will of Christian Sharpenstone, (see above); (ii), Johannes, born Dec. 21, 1793, baptised March 20, 1794; (iii), Matthias, 3d, born July 11, 1796, baptised Aug. 12, 1796, (Bib.-200); 6, perhaps Elizabeth, named in will of Christian Sharpenstone as niece, married to William Woolweaver (Woolever?); 7, Christopher, born July 19, 1767, died Sept. 20, 1853, named in the will of his brother, Peter, married (1), June 20, 1789, to Margaret Klein, son Gottfried, born Aug. 3, 1793, baptised Sept. 15, 1793, Gottfried and Elizabeth Klein, sponsors, married (2) to Elizabeth Barnes, born July 19, 1788, died April 5, 1864, and with his second wife buried in the Belvidere, N. J., Cemetery. On the same lot is the grave of William R. Sharps, who died, aged 51 years, and that of his wife, Harriet C., born 1810, died April 10, 1852.

III. (1). Peter, son of John and Margaret Barbara (——) Sharpenstein (Sharps), was born in Greenwich, Morris, later Sussex Co., N. J., June 3, 1751, was baptised in the Lutheran Church, July 1, 1751, Christian and Helena Sharpenstone, sponsors, and died in Greenwich, N. J., June 21, 1827. He was married to AnnaMargaret ———, born Nov. 17, 1770, died March 19, 1830. He was a farmer and an extensive land owner and among his holdings were lands on the Pohatcong Creek. His home was near what is now Carpentersville, Warren Co., N. J. In 1797 he represented his district in the New Jersey Assembly. With James Hyndsman he was an administrator of the estate of Brigadier General William Maxwell and was named by him an executor of his will. The will of Peter Sharps was made Sept. 5, 1818, probated July 2, 1827, and is filed at Trenton, N. J. It names his wife, Margaret, his brothers, Christopher, John and Jacob, and his sister, Margaret Weller. He gave to his faithful friend, Cornelius Pauleson, a dwelling house and a farm "adjoining Abraham and Jacob Carpenter, toward Balser Carpenter's." (See Family No. 1252—Carpenter.) The will of Anna Margaret Sharps, his widow, was made Oct. 3, 1827, and probated April 28, 1830. It names William, Mary, Matilda, Lenah and Cornelius Pauleson, and gave the residue of her estate to Joseph and John Pauleson. William Pauleson was named as executor. Neither the will of Peter Sharps nor that of his widow names or refers to any children. They are buried in the St. James (Straw) Cemetery near Phillipsburg, N. J. Peter Sharps' headstone reads: "Peter, son of John and Barbara Sharps," etc. In his will Peter Sharps gave 10 shares of Easton, Pa., Bank stock to his nephew, Peter, son of Jacob and Margaret (Shafer) Sharps, and in a codicil, added later, he gave five shares to his nephew, Peter Sharps, son of Philip and Margaret (Sharps) Weller.

III. (2). John, son of John and Margaret Barbara (——) Sharps, was born in Greenwich, Hunterdon, later Sussex Co., N. J., Sept. 6, 1752, and died there Oct.

3, 1831. He was married (1) to Christianna Van Over, who was born in 1754, and died Nov. 16, 1821. He became one of the most extensive land owners in Sussex Co., N. J. Among his holdings were the site of the present City of Phillipsburg, N. J., and the rich flat lands adjoining it. May 9, 1795, he bought from Andrew Pearce of Virginia, one-half interest in the residue of a 1,215 acre tract of land for which an order for a survey of Joseph Kirkbride had been made March 10, 1714-15. Joseph Kirkbride had sold this tract to John Hutchinson, his son-in-law, Sept. 10, 1723, and John Hutchinson had sold it to John Pearce, father of Andrew Pearce, Oct. 13, 1755, who conveyed it to his sons, John and Andrew, March 19, 1776. Andrew Pearce conveyed to John Sharps for $500 a one-half interest in 399 acres of land. Feb. 6, 1797, John Pearce and Anna, his wife, of Elizabeth Township, Allegheny Co., Pa., sold to John Sharps the other one-half interest in this property, which he had agreed to sell to him Aug. 2, 1792. This land is described as lying in "Dudder's Land" on the Lopitcung Creek. March 4, 1800, he bought from William Fox for $200 all his interest in the lands of John Peter Fox, father of Wilhelm, 104 acres. John and Christiana (Van Over) Sharps sold 23 acres of the lands they had purchased from Andrew and John Pearce to Valentine Beidelman of Greenwich, N. J., (see Family No. 1253—Beidelman) and on these lands the famous Beidelman Mills were built. Jan. 15, 1807, John and Christiana (Van Over) Sharps deeded to their son, John, 351 acres of land at a valuation of £4,000, and on the same day they deeded to their son, Christian, 371 acres at a valuation of £3,500. May 9, 1816, John Sharps bought from George Beidelman (see Family No. 1253—Beidelman) a stone messuage and farm for $12,800, which, Dec. 1, 1817, he, with his wife, Christiana, deeded, at the same valuation to his son-in-law, Robert Robins, who was married to his daughter, Margaret. (See Family No. 1264—Robins.) May 1, 1824, John Sharps bought from Jacob and Elizabeth Sommer of Germantown, Pa., 79 acres of Lot 17 in the Third Division of lots in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and 45 acres of the same division. These Kingston Township lands John Sharps and his second wife, Jamima (Cornell) Sharps, deeded, Oct. 2, 1829, to his son-in-law, Isaac Carpenter, who was married to his daughter, Elizabeth, at a valuation of $2,700.00 as the share of his daughter, Elizabeth, in his estate. Mrs. Christianna (Van Over) Sharps, the first wife of John Sharps, Jr., died Nov. 16, 1821. He was married (2), Feb. 18, 1823, to Jamima Cornell. His will was made Dec. 28, 1829, and probated Oct. 15, 1831. It names his wife, Jamima, and sons, Peter and Jacob, and his daughter, Lucinda, not 18 years of age. It also names his grandsons, John Sharps and Isaac, sons of Philip Fine, Esq. Adam Ramsay and S. Kennedy signed the will as witnesses and Peter and Jacob Sharps, his sons, were named as executors. Included in the inventory of his estate were notes of hand signed by James C. Helme (Family No. 1312), Isaac Carpenter (Family No. 1311) and Robert Robins (Family No. 1264—Robins).

Some of the children of John, Jr., and Christianna (Van Over) Sharps were (order of birth not certain): 1, Christian, born Nov. 12, 1773, died Oct. 16, 1836; 2, John, born about 1775, married to Elizabeth ———, son John, born Sept. 14, 1801; 3, Peter; 4, Elizabeth, born Feb. 2, 1782, died Sept. 17, 1853, married to Isaac S. Lucinda, daughter of John Sharps, Jr., born after 1811, was doubtless daughter of John and Jamima (Cornell) Sharps. John Sharps, his wife Christianna and some of their children are buried in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Greenwich, N. J., near Phillipsburg, N. J.

III. (4). Jacob, son of John and Margaret Barbara (——) Sharps, was born in Greenwich, Sussex, now Warren, Co., N. J., Sept. 29, 1755, and died in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Nov. 18, 1843. He was married to Margaret Shafer. (See Family No. 50—Shafer Shaver.) Jacob and Margaret (Shafer) Sharps lived in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J. Their homestead was situated on the Pohatcong Creek and adjoined that of Jacob Sharps' brother, Peter. His wife was living in 1814 when, with her, he deeded 83 acres of land at a valuation of $4,212.00 to his son, John, but was probably deceased April 2, 1816, when he deeded 80 acres of land, adjoining lands of Abraham Carpenter and C. Melick to Balser Carpenter (Family No. 1252) for $5,085. In 1816 Jacob Sharps came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., and Sept. 24, of that year, bought from George and Sarah (Shoemaker) Taylor 42 acres of land in Exeter Township. This land was part of Lot 5 of the Thomas Jenkins patent and is situated along what is now the western boundary line of the borough of West Pittston and is a part of that borough. Sept. 25, 1824, William Love of New Troy, bought 12 acres of this tract, and Feb. 20, 1826, William Polen bought 30 acres of it and located his home there. Jacob Sharps, Jan. 6, 1820, came into possession of the Captain George Taylor property at what is now Wyoming, Pa. This was the Captain Taylor tavern with barns, sheds, and five acres of land. The tavern was later remodelled and, for a number of years, was the home of John, son of Jacob Sharps. The building, now more than 100 years old, is still in good condition and constantly occupied. It is the last of the old taverns, which more than a century ago, did a thriving business in what is now Wyoming, Pa. June 18, 1821, Jacob Sharps bought from Eunice Atherton and Samuel Carver, administrators of the estate of Elisha Atherton, Sr., 311 acres of Lots 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the Third Division in Kingston, for $6,501.00. Sept. 25, 1821, he sold to Elisha Atherton, 2d, 165 acres of these lands and in 1828 he sold 53 acres of Lots 7 and 8 to his son, Peter. In 1827 and 1831 he sold parts of them to his son, John, and Dec. 3, 1838, John Sharps sold parts of Lots 5, 6, 7 and 8 to his son, Jacob Sharps, 2d. Thomas Pringle bought these last mentioned lands Dec. 31, 1840. James Sharps of Wyoming, Pa., has, in his possession, the rifle of his great-grandfather, Jacob Sharps. It is of French manufacture and an exceedingly fine piece of work. Jacob Sharps' will was made April 9, 1835, and probated Nov. 6, 1843. He was a member of St. James' Lutheran Church at Phillipsburg, N. J., and, in 1772, was one of the signers of the Articles of Faith. He is buried on the lot of his son, John Sharps, Sr., in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery. He died in his 89th year.

Albright,* who removed from Sussex Co., N. J., to Kingston, Luzerne Co., Pa., about 1820 and in 1827 was assessed there as owning four pieces of land, aggregating 52 acres. He was one of the Elders of the Kingston, Pa., Presbyterian Church. He sold at least part of his lands to John Sharps about 1826-7 and removed, probably, to Barton, Tioga Co., N. Y. Two of the children of George M. and Mary (Sharps) Albright were: (1), Mary Magdalene, born about 1803, baptised at "Straw" Lutheran Church, Phillipsburg, N. J., Jan. 16, 1804, died Jan. 20-21, 1902, aged 98 years (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), married to Andrew, born June 24, 1802, died Feb. 11, 1882, son of Christian and Sarah Miller,† of Kingston Township; (2), Caroline M., married at New Troy, now †Christian Miller, born Oct. 22, 1777, died Oct. 6, 1841, who came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., about 1807, was probably a son of Christian, born Sept. 23, 1746, and Catharine (Jenkins) Miller, who were married (Bib.-23) Jan. 12, 1773. Christian or John Christian Miller, born Sept. 23, 1746, was a son of Christian and Maria Barbara Miller, of Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., some of whose children were: 1, Catharine Elizabeth, born Jan. 16, 1739, died Aug. 12, 1829, aged 90 years, 7 months, 7 days, married, Oct. 5, 1755, to John Schneider; 2, John Christian, born Sept. 23, 1746, baptised March 8, 1747, John and Susanna Best, sponsors; 3, Maria Catharine, born July 30, 1748, baptised July 3, 1749, Jacob and Maria Catharine Maurer, sponsors; 4, Barbara, born July 15, 1751, died Nov. 20, 1833, aged 82 years, 4 months, 5 days, married to Deiterich Sickman. Christian Miller of Forks Township was married (2) to Catharine ———. His will was made in Forks Township, Northampton Co., Pa., Jan. 26, 1789, and was probated at Easton, Pa., April 9, 1789. It names his wife, Catharine, his children, Isaac, Abraham, Frederick, John, Christian, Jacob, and his three sons-in-law, George Bittenbender, John Snyder and Deeter Sickman. At Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 27, 1816, Jacob Miller was appointed administrator of the estate of Catharine Miller, with Christian Miller and Fisher Gay on his bond in $1,200.00.

Other Christian Millers named in Easton, Pa., church records and those of the "Straw" Lutheran Church at Phillipsburg, N. J., are Christian Miller and Catharine Enslie, married Nov. 21, 1782. (Bib.-200): Christian Miller and Mary Elizabeth Reel (Reelin), married July 27, 1773, (Bib.-23); Christian Miller and his wife, Anna Maria, a daughter Elizabeth, born Sept. 6, 1781, baptised May 20, 1782, and Christian Miller and Catharine had a son Isaac, born Feb. 13, 1778, baptised May 10, 1778. (Bib.-22.)

Another Christian Miller enlisted at Reading, Pa., in 1776, and served under Captains Miller, Withington and Isaac Budd Dann and Colonel Cooke of the 14th Pennsylvania Regiment, and Colonel Thomas Craig of the 3d Pennsylvania Regiment in the Continental Line in the War of the American Revolution. He participated in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth, and was discharged, at Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17, 1781. He was born in Oct., 1743, and died April 21, 1820-1. His wife, Anna, born in 1746, was living in 1820. He was living in Sugar Loaf, Luzerne Co., Pa., April 9, 1818, when he applied for a pension, his claim being allowed. (Bib.-12 and 239.)

Wyoming, Pa., Aug. 30, 1836, to Alexander Hamilton, son of John Penn and Elizabeth (Carpenter) Arndt, (Family No. 1339—Arndt), of Green Bay, Wis.; 5, Mary Margaret, born Sept. 10, 1788, baptised Oct. 12, 1788, (Bib.—200) died in April, 1862, (Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.,) married (1) to Jacob, born July 17, 1782,

I. Christian Miller, born Oct. 22, 1777, died Oct. 6, 1841, probably came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J. He was married to Sarah, born Oct. 19, 1782, died Oct. 17, 1878. (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery.) June 29, 1807, Christian Miller bought from Jonathan Hutchins, then of Pittston, 70 acres of land, including the whole of Lot No. 39, and part of Lot No. 38, of the Third Division, in Kingston Township. Lot 38 was laid out in the form of a triangle. Its base extended along what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., from a short distance above the Henry Polen (deceased) residence (1919), to and including nearly all the land occupied now by the Wyoming Methodist Episcopal Church. In order to square the line of the church property with Wyoming avenue the line between that property on Lot 38, and that of Dr. Charles P. Knapp, who then owned the part of Lot 1, Second Division, adjoining Lot No. 38, an adjustment was made through the purchase by the church authorities of a triangular piece of land fronting on Wyoming avenue. The apex of triangular Lot No. 38 rested upon the Susquehanna River at or near the point where the Miller-Sharps ferry crossed the river. The Warrantee map of Kingston, consulted by the writer, shows a road following the 38-39 line to the river, the entire length of those lots. The portion of Lot No. 38 bought by Christian Miller extended to the present lower line of Seventh street, known for a number of years as Miller street, Wyoming. The portion of 38 lying below that point was owned by David Perkins, from whom it appears probable Jonathan Hutchins had bought part of the lot. It appears that Lot No. 38 was the first lot, at what is now Wyoming, which was sold in small parcels for building purposes. Colonel Erastus Hill and his mother, Mrs. Christiana Hutchins, had bought an acre of land on Lot No. 38 and had erected the house in which Mrs. Christiana Hutchins was licensed to keep a tavern in 1808-1810. Henry Hutchins, her second husband, and probably a son of Jonathan Hutchins, had been licensed to keep a tavern in Kingston in 1801. Without much doubt this one acre of land included the present Henry Polen homestead. It appears that in the adjustment of the estate of Mrs. Christiana Hutchins her son, Colonel Erastus Hill, in order to prevent any possible criticism, released, in Orphans' Court, all his interest in the property to his mother's estate. It was apparently bought by Christian Miller, who, with his wife, Sally, sold it, March 19, 1814, to Thomas Bird, who was married to Polly, sister of Colonel Erastus Hill, and a daughter of Gamaliel and Christiana Hill, later married (2) to Henry Hutchins. The Thomas Bird corner at what is now the lower line of Seventh street, Wyoming, is a familiar land mark in various deeds pertaining to the transfer of title to portions of Lot 38. The Christiana Hutchins tavern of 1808-10 stood between that point and the upper line of the Polen property, and probably on the site of the Polen house. Thomas and Polly (Hill) Bird sold this property, Feb. 27, 1819, to Peirce Smith. He sold it, verbally, to Dr. John Smith and Dr. John and Mehetable (Jenkins) Smith and Peirce and Adah (Jenkins) Smith, Oct. 15, 1839, deeded it to Dr. George Wurts, who also bought the Dr. John Smith residence, at New Troy. (Families Nos. 1217—Hill; 1217—Bird; 1324—Smith.) The portion of Lot No. 38 lying below the present corner of Seventh street and Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, was owned by David, son of John Perkins, (Family No. 1313—Perkins) at an early date, although it is apparent he was not the original owner. It may, however, have been owned by his father.

Third Division, Kingston, Lot No. 39, lying between Lot No. 40 and Lot No. 38, and between what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, and the Susquehanna River, was part of the estate of Captain Benjamin Follet, who came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Windham, Windham Co., Conn., with the company of original settlers in 1762, and who was, also, one of the "First Forty" settlers in 1769. (Bib.-1.) His name appears as the owner of one-half a right in the Indian deed of July 11, 1754, conveying lands to the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., where the name of Joseph Follet, also of Connecticut, also appears, as the owner of a full right. It also appears in the "List of the Proprietors of the Five Townships" in Westmoreland, and as that of a member of the "Committee of Settlers," June 17, 1770. It may also be found in the "Lists of Settlers in 1769, 1771, and 1772." He was appointed Collector of Taxes for Kingston, Dec. 7, 1772, and Dec. 18, 1772, was appointed to serve as an Inspector in connection with the enforcement of an embargo against the shipment of grain down the river. (Bib.-1.) He probably died before 1776. In 1776 the name of Esther Follet, (the name of his widow) and Benjamin and Eliphalet Follet, his sons, appear on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Kingston District, and in 1777 and 1778 the names of Esther Follet and Eliphalet Follet appear there. The holdings of the estate of Benjamin Follet are described in Orphans' Court proceedings of March 27, 1793, as consisting of a House Lot in Kingston, Meadow Lot No. 26, Back Lot No. 39, including part of Monockonock Island, and Lot No. 19 of the Fourth Division. It appears that Lot No. 14, Third Division, Kingston, or at least part of it was also part of the estate of Captain Benjamin Follet. It is described in a deed of Jan. 11, 1790, conveying title of Back Lot No. 13 from Zebulon Butler to Lord Butler, as owned by Anning Owen and the heirs of Benjamin Follet, deceased, late of Kingston. One-half of Lot No. 14 was sold Aug. 26, 1786, by Nicholas Cox of Kingwood, Hunterdon Co., N. J., for £80 to Anning Owen of Goshnin (Goshen), Orange Co., N. Y., and Benjamin Carpenter of Westmoreland Township. The other half of Lot 14 was sold Aug. 6, 1793, by Esther Follet of Coventry, Tolland Co., Conn., to Belden Swetland of Sharon, Litchfield Co., Conn. April 17, 1788, Benjamin Carpenter and Belding Swetland sold their interest in part of Lot 14 to Anning Owen. The children of Captain Benjamin and Esther Follet, named in Orphans' Court proceedings of June 3, 1789, were: 1, Eliphalet, deceased; 2, Benjamin, Jr.; 3, Polly (Follet) Winchester; 4, Lydia (Follet) Fuller; 5, Frederick; 6, Roger. Frederick Follet was appointed administrator of his father's estate. (1) Eliphalet Follet, who was appointed Lister for Westmoreland, March 1, 1774 (Bib.-1), owned House Lot No. 34, Kingston. In a deed of July 13, 1792, Thomas and Elizabeth Wigton in conveying title to Town Lot No. 35, described it as bounded on the north (northeast) by lands of the heirs of Eliphalet Follet. He was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and his children, named in Orphans' Court proceedings, of June 3, 1789, were: Martin, Charles, Betsey, James and Eliphalet, Jr. (2) Benjamin Follet's name appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for Kingston in 1772 and 1776. Describing himself, as of Hartford, Windsor Co., Vt., April 24, 1788, he sold to Aaron Whitmore of Mansfield, Tolland Co., Conn., "one tract or parcel died April 1, 1819, son of Christopher and Mary (Shipman) Melick, (Families Nos. 1531—Melick; 1292—Shipman). Their daughter, Jane, for whom Sherman Loomis was appointed guardian, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 5, 1823, was born in 1809, in Sussex Co., N. J., and died in Northmoreland, Pa., Dec. 8, 1843, not married. Her will

of land which I hold by heirship from my honored father, Benjamin Follet, late of Windham, Windham Co., Conn., he being an original proprietor, I being heir to one-seventh part, and to include the lot I lived on, together with 10 acres of the Island of Manockonet, set off to the said lot as part of seventh part." No record appears in Wilkes-Barre of any transfer of this property by Aaron Whitmore. Amariah Winchester of Ameniah, Dutchess Co., N. Y., was administrator of the estate of Benjamin Follet, late of Luzerne Co., Pa., June 9, 1819, when he sold certain lands in Northmoreland Township. (5) Frederick Follet was a member of Captain Robert Durkee's First Westmoreland Independent Company and afterwards of Captain Simon Spalding's Company of the 24th Regiment Connecticut Militia in the Continental Line in the War of the American Revolution. According to Mrs. Deborah (Sutton) Bedford's narrative (Bib.-8) he was stabbed nine times, scalped and left for dead in the battle of Wyoming, but recovered from his injuries. He was in the Wyoming Valley April 1, 1793, when he signed, as a witness, a deed conveying title to Lot 5, Third Division, in Plymouth, from Daniel, Jr., and Stephen Allen to William Gallup. He described himself as of Partridgefield, Berkshire Co., Mass., March 29, 1793, when he sold to Jonathan Hutchins of Pittston, Luzerne Co., Pa., "Back Lot No. 39, lying in two pieces, beginning at David Perkins' Corner, and on the Main road through Kingston Township, on Perkins' land. Thence southeast to the Susquehanna River, thence up stream to lands of James Gardner (Family No. 14—Gardner), thence Gardner's line to the road, together with 10 acres of land on Monockonock Island, on the lower end of said Island, which formerly belonged to my father, Benjamin Follet." In Orphans' Court proceedings at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 27, 1793, Frederick Follet took over the claims of all the other heirs to his father's estate, acknowledging his indebtedness to the heirs named above. Some Thankful Follet, with Benjamin Wheeler, signed, as a witness, a deed, executed the 14th day of Aug., in the 13th year of the reign of King George, and acknowledged before Zebulon Butler, July 4, 1774, conveying title from Timothy Rose to Solomon Johnson, of Wilkes-Barre, of Town Lot No. 18, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Of Monockonock Island, lying in the Susquehanna River opposite Wyoming, it appears that the lower end of the island, 10 acres, was owned by Captain Benjamin Follet, then by Frederick Follet, then by Jonathan Hutchins who, May 30, 1797, describing the 10 acres as bounded northeast by lands of Samuel Carey, and southwest by the Island called "The Hammick," sold it to David Perkins, who, April 18, 1837, sold it to Benjamin Courtright. The upper end of the island was owned by John Perkins, first, (Family No. 1313—Perkins) was sold by Aaron Perkins, Jan. 5, 1790, to Philip Jackson, "on one side bounded by lands belonging to Samuel Carey and otherwise by the Susquehanna River," "As fully as to John Perkins, late deceased, was surveyed." Philip Jackson sold the upper end of the island bounded on the south by lands of Samuel Carey, Jan. 15, 1793, to John Satterthwaite, who, apparently, sold it to James Scovel.

Aug. 14, 1812, Christian Miller bought from Jacob Bedford 60 acres of Lot No. 34, Third Division of Kingston, which was later sold by Samuel Van Loon, Sheriff, as the property of Jacob Bedford and Asa Dimock to George Cahoon, who, Feb. 5, 1818, executed a deed to Christian Miller for the same property. He also bought part of Lot No. 34 from Solomon Chapin. Christian Miller, his wife, Sarah, and several of their children are buried in Forty Fort Cemetery. Their children were (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Andrew, born June 24, 1802, died Feb. 11, 1882, married to Mary Magdalene, born about 1803, died Jan. 20-21, 1902, daughter of George M. and Mary (Sharps) Albright, whose children were: (1), Mary E., married, April 25, 1847, to James Harris, son of James and Elizabeth (Breese) Jenkins, (Family No. 988—Jenkins); (2), Carrie H., born 1846, died Oct. 12, 1892, married to Ferree Lightner, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery); 2, Eunice, born Sept. 3, 1804 died Jan. 2, 1880, married to John, born July 11, 1792, died April 23, 1828, son of David and Sarah (Ferrier) Perkins, Family No. 1313—Perkins); 3, Sarah, married to Valentine Cook, son of James, Jr., and Lydia (Washburn) Atherton, living, Oct. 28, 1841, and Aug. 1, 1848, in Delaware Co., Ohio; 4, Mary, married to Calvin Gifford, living Oct. 28, 1841, and Aug. 1, 1848, in Ithaca, Tompkins Co., N. Y.; 5, Elizabeth, married to Benjamin Gifford, removed to Dryden, Tompkins Co., N. Y., and living, Aug. 1, 1848, in Ithaca, N. Y.; 6, Caroline, married to Daniel J. Moffett, living in Dryden, Tompkins Co., N. Y., Feb. 23, 1848; 7, Susanna, born Feb. 15, 1814, died March 9, 1815, (Forty Fort); 8, John, born March 11, 1816, died April 14, 1817; 9, Amy, married to Lewis Mulford, living in Delaware Co., Ohio, Aug. 1, 1848; 10, Frances (Fanny), born March 13, 1820, died Sept. 15, 1845, (Forty Fort Cemetery). In a deed of Aug. 1, 1848, Valentine C. and Sarah (Miller) Atherton and Lewis and Amy (Miller) Mulford describe themselves: "(1) as heirs of Christian Miller, deceased, and (2) afterwards as heirs of the Christian Miller who died without will." Christian Miller of Wyoming died intestate, Oct. 6, 1841.

The Miller Ferry at New Troy, now Wyoming, was established before April, 1816, and was in service about 100 years. Without any doubt this was the ferry referred to in a petition presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions at Wilkes-Barre in April, 1816, and signed by George Taylor, Jacob Bedford, Thomas Bird, Abraham Goodwin, Jr., David Goodwin, Fisher Gay, Ezekiel Gobel, James Jenkins, John Jenkins, Abraham Johnsten, John Kelly, James Landon, William Love, Samuel La France, Caleb Main, Christian G. Oehmig, Adam Oehmig, David Perkins, Elihu Parrish, Samuel Raub, Zephaniah Space, and Isaac Schumacher. The petition recites that "Some years since a road was laid out from the Main road through Kingston Township, to the river, running through lands of David Perkins, and intersecting a road (8th street) from Isaac Shoemaker's Mills in Kingston. And whereas the inhabitants, having experienced some inconvenience in that part of the road running through the lands of David Perkins, believe a public road to commence at the Main road, Kingston, and to run through lands of Christian Miller (Lot 39) to the river, to be subject to two swing gates, will be more advantageous to the inhabitants aforesaid, as it will intersect an eddy at the river, will accommodate those of the vicinity for receiving and sending lumber, and also, will accommodate a FERRY—now erected at that place." This road, now known as Sixth street, Wyoming, Pa., but known for a number of years as Main street, was ordered laid out 50 feet wide. The ferry was operated by Andrew Miller, for a number of years, and was sold by him to John Sharps (Family No. 988—Sharps) and later, and until it was abandoned, after about 100 years' service, was operated by his son, James Sharps.

made in Northmoreland, Nov. 17, 1843, and probated at Tunkhannock, Pa., May 22, 1844, names her mother, Mrs. Margaret Loomis, and her half-brothers and sisters, Sherman Loomis, Jr., John Sharps Loomis, Lucy Loomis, Mary Edith Loomis and Martha Margaret Loomis. Mrs. Mary Margaret (Sharps) Melick was married (2), Aug. 10, 1820, to Sherman Loomis,* born in Lebanon, Conn., May 17, 1787, died in Northmoreland, Pa., March 18, 1867, (Centermoreland Cemetery), and their children were: (1), Lucy, born June 25, 1821, died Jan. 25, 1882, married, April 6, 1852, to Jeze-reel De Witt, Jr., living in 1861, in Densmore, Lee Co., Iowa; (2), Sherman, Jr., (2), born Aug. 19, 1823, living 1918, married to Martha Cooley; (3), John Sharps, born June 12, 1825, died March 3, 1906, married, June 20, 1847, to Sarah Hazard; (4), Mary Edith, born Nov. 1, 1827, died Oct. 22, 1845, (Centermoreland Cemetery); (5), Martha Margaret, born June 13, 1834, died Feb. 26, 1915, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), not married, lived for many years with her niece, Mary Reeves, at Wyoming, Pa.; 6, Edith, born June 3, 1791, died Sept. 28, 1847, (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery), married to Henry Hice, (see later); 7, Peter, born Dec. 6, 1797, died Dec. 8, 1889, (see later).

IV. (1). John, son of Jacob and Margaret (Shafer) Sharps, was born in Greenwich, Sussex Co., N. J., Feb. 9, 1776, and died, at Wyoming, Pa., March 16, 1868. He was married in Greenwich, N. J., to Martha (probably) daughter of Jacob Welsh. In 1816 John Sharps, whose name appears in certain Luzerne Co., Pa., deeds as John I. Sharps, sold the farm his father had sold to him, in Greenwich, N. J., to Balser Carpenter (see Family No. 1252—Carpenter) for $5,055, and removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa. April 6, 1816, he bought 77 acres of Lot 11, of the lands of Charles Chapman, in the Third Division in Kingston, and later, in 1831 and 1835, he bought from Dr. Elthel B. Bacon and Benjamin Reynolds 68 acres of Lots 5, 6, and 7 in the Third Division. He also bought lands from Roswell Wells. He lived for some time on the farm where his son, Jacob Sharps (2d) subsequently built his residence, now the Nesbitt West Side Hospital, on Third Division Lot No. 10, a part of which Jacob Sharps, Sr., sold to him, March 1, 1827. He later removed to Wyoming, Pa., and after remodelling the Captain George Taylor tavern made that his home during the remainder of his life. He also bought several tracts of land in Exeter Township. One of these which he bought from Harris Jenkins of Exeter, Sept. 26, 1832, was a farm of 107 acres, part of Lot 6. He sold it Dec. 3, 1838, to his son, William. He also bought April 11, 1842, the land where the Wyoming Cemetery is now situated from James Jenkins and Elizabeth. (See Family No. 986, Wyoming Cemeteries.) This land he plotted into building lots, title to a number of which subsequently passed to the Cemetery Association. It is probable that the only public office John Sharps filled was that of Overseer of the Poor for Kingston Township, an office he held for a number of years. Mrs. Martha (Welch) Sharps, who was born April 29, 1781, died at Wyoming, Pa., June 26, 1844. John Sharps was married (2) to Mrs. Sarah Sine,† born Sept. 4, 1779, died April 8, 1858, widow of Philip Sine, a miller, who

*Sherman Loomis was of Northmoreland, Pa., Sept. 4, 1818, when Isaiah Loomis of Lebanon, Windham Co., Conn., sold to him Lots Nos. 9 and 10, of the Fourth tier, in Northmoreland, Luzerne Co., Pa., about 300 acres. Jan. 5, 1810, Benjamin Smith of Kingston, had agreed to sell these lots to Isaiah Loomis and Feb. 24, 1816, Zerviah and John Smith, administrators of the Benjamin Smith estate, executed the deed. From John W. Lippitt Sherman Loomis also bought 15 acres of land in Lot 10, Third tier, Northmoreland, part of the Orange Fuller homestead. March 26, 1826, Sherman Loomis sold to Schuyler Besteder, (Family No. 14—Gardner) of Warwick, Orange Co., N. Y., parts of Lots 9 and 10, Fourth tier. The first wife of Sherman Loomis, Betsey (Champlin) Loomis, born Dec. 2, 1787, died March 8, 1820, (Northmoreland Cemetery at Centermoreland, Pa.). The will of Sherman Loomis, made in Northmoreland, Wyoming Co., Pa., July 31, 1862, and probated at Tunkhannock, Pa., March 23, 1867, names the following children, then living: Isaiah C., Stephen P., William W., Elizabeth R. (Loomis) Reeves, Lucy (Loomis) DeWitt, Sherman Loomis, Jr., 2d, John Sharps, Martha Margaret. The only children of Sherman and Betsey (Champlin) Loomis were: 1, Isaiah C.; 2, Stephen P.; 3, William W., noted local preacher, Methodist Episcopal Church, Mayor of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., born July 14, 1815, died May 2, 1894, (Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre), married (1), by Rev. (Eley) Drake, born Feb. 10, 1786, died Jan. 13, 1872, and granddaughter of Jacob, born about 1751, died Dec. 28, 1816, and Elizabeth Eley, born about 1759, died Aug. 1, 1799, (Hollenback Cemetery, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.), married (2) to Elizabeth R., born July 22, 1821, died March 3, 1869, daughter of Jeremiah (3rd) and Frances C. (Williams) Blanchard, (Family No. 33—Blanchard), married (3) to Lavina M. Wilcox, born Aug. 28, 1832, died Nov. 12, 1903; 4, Elizabeth R., born in May, 1817, died in May, 1903, married, Feb. 10, 1841, by Rev. E. H. Snowden to Joseph Reeves, lived in Wyoming, Pa., where her daughter, Mary, who, for many years, was a school teacher there, still resides (1920); 5, Sherman, Jr., (1), born April 11, 1819, died Jan. 5, 1820, (Centermoreland, Pa., Cemetery). See "The Loomis Family in America."

†There is recorded at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the will of Isaac Sine, of Sugar Loaf Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., which was made Sept. 10, 1831, and was probated Oct. 14, 1831. It names his wife, Sarah, his sons, Philip, Achilles, Matthew and George, and his daughter, Elizabeth. Some of the children of Philip and Sarah Sine were: 1, Peter, who was married to Martha Ann, born April 5, 1820, died Nov. 20, 1875, (West Pittston, Pa., Cemetery), daughter of Benjamin and Sarah

He was a merchant miller at Meshoppen, Pa., and later removed to Lemon Township, Wyoming Co., Pa. (Family No. 1016—Lott.)

*I. John Pettebone, ancestor of the Pettebone family in the Wyoming Valley, Pa., was a native of France and was among the Huguenot refugees in the British Isles, whence he emigrated to America between 1640 and 1650. He was a freeman at Windsor, Conn., in 1658 and was one of the first settlers of Simsbury, Conn. He was married, at Windsor, Conn., Feb. 16, 1664, to Sarah, daughter of Begat Eggleston. He died at Simsbury, Conn., July 15, 1713, and his wife died there about one week earlier. Their children were: 1, John, born June 16, 1665; 2, Sarah, born Sept. 24, 1667; 3, Stephen, born Oct. 3, 1669, (see later); 4, Samuel, born Sept. 2, 1672, died Feb. 11, 1747; 5, Rebecca, born March 9, 1675, died Oct. 13, 1731; 6, Henry, born June 20, 1677; 7, Ann, born March 11, 1679; 8, Benjamin, born May 28, 1682, died March 12, 1705; 9, Joseph, born March 11, 1688, died Sept. 14, 1762.

II. (3). Stephen, son of John and Sarah (Eggleston) Pettebone, born Oct. 3, 1669, was married (1) to Deborah, daughter of Samuel Bissell, and their children were: 1, Stephen, Jr., died Dec. 11, 1750; 2, Jacob, born 1710, died Nov. 19, 1772; 3, Noah, born April 16, 1714, died March 25, 1791, (see later); 4, David, born April 18, 1716, died Oct. 3, 1791; 5, Thankful, born Dec. 19, 1721.

III. (3). Noah, son of Stephen and Deborah (Bissell) Pettebone, born at Simsbury, Conn., April 16, 1714, was married (1) to Huldah Williams. In 1762-3 he removed to Amenia Precinct, Dutchess Co., N. Y., where, about 1765, Mrs. Huldah (Williams) Pettebone died. He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., in July, 1771, and bought from Asahel Buck, then of Amenia, and later of the Wyoming Valley, Pa., Meadow Lot No. 22 in Kingston Township. Upon this lot he erected a log house and established his home. In the spring of 1772 he was joined by his two sons, Noah and Stephen, and shortly afterwards he was married (2) to Phebe Tubbs. Later he brought, from Amenia to the Wyoming Valley, his three married daughters and his youngest son, Oliver. The name of Noah Pettebone appears in the Westmoreland tax lists of 1776-7-8 in Kingston District. In 1778, when 64 years of age, he was enrolled member of the First Alarm List Company of the 24th Connecticut Militia, and at the time of the battle of Wyoming, Pa., July 3, 1778, was on duty at Forty Fort. In 1779 he returned for a time to Amenia Precinct, Dutchess Co., N. Y., but in 1781 he again came to the Wyoming Valley, where he died March 28, 1791. His second wife, Mrs. Phebe (Tubbs) Pettebone, died between the years 1784 and 1791.

The children of Noah and Huldah (Williams) Pettebone were: 1, Esther, born June, 1747, died May 1, 1833, married to William Allsworth of Dutchess Co., N. Y., later of Providence, Luzerne Co., Pa.; 2, Huldah, born Aug., 1749, married to Benjamin Atwater, of Providence; 3, Noah, Jr., born Nov., 1751, private in Third Company, 24th Connecticut Militia, killed in the battle of Wyoming, Pa., July 3, 1778, was married to Lucy, daughter of Obediah Scott, and settled in Huntington, now Luzerne Co., Pa. IV. (8). Oliver, son of Noah and Huldah (Williams) Pettebone, was born in Simsbury, Conn., May 13, 1762, and died in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., March 17, 1832. He came to the Wyoming Valley in 1772-3, and bought lands lying near the farm of his father. He was in Forty Fort when it was surrendered to the British, July 3, 1778, and returned to Amenia Precinct, Dutchess Co., N. Y. He was married, Dec. 21, 1783, to Martha, born July 25, 1763, died Dec. 25, 1833, daughter of Dr. Barnabas and Mary (Burrows) Payne, and they settled first in Livingston Manor, N. Y. In the spring of 1788 they removed to the Wyoming Valley. He was Captain in the Pennsylvania Militia, a member of the Kingston Town Committee for the sale of lands, and, in 1802-5, was one of the County Commissioners. He, his wife and a number of their descendants are buried in Forty Fort Cemetery. The children of Oliver and Martha (Payne) Pettebone were: 1, Oliver, Jr., born Sept. 9, 1784, died Dec. 6, 1813, married to Trumenda, daughter of Nathaniel and Lucy (Gallup) Gates, (Family No. 1324—Gates) whose

V. (3). Elizabeth, daughter of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps, was born Sept. 30, 1803, and died July 8, 1847. She was married, Jan. 26, 1825, by the Rev. Enoch Huntington, to Hon. Henry, born Oct. 5, 1802, died May 5, 1861, son of Oliver and Martha (Payne) Pettebone, and is buried with her husband and children in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery.

children were: (1), Oliver Gates, married, Dec. 15, 1835, to Elizabeth, born Jan. 20, 1815, died July 28, 1857, daughter of Joshua and Eleanor (Gay) Pettebone; (2), Esther, married to Daniel C. Marsh. Mrs. Trumenda (Gates) Pettebone was married (2) to Freeman Thomas of Plymouth, (Family No. 988—Thomas); 2, Esther, born Sept. 15, 1785, died Sept. 25, 1835, married, Feb. 25, 1814, to George Trucks; 3, Payne, born Jan. 24, 1787, died Aug. 13, 1814, (see later); 4, Joshua, born Aug. 31, 1788, died March 29, 1877, (see later); 5, Marcia, born Nov. 3, 1790, died July 24, 1865, married, May 10, 1807, to Samuel Thomas, born Feb. 2, 1787, died at Wyoming, Ill., July 13, 1879. He was a merchant and owned and operated a tannery in Kingston Township as early as 1811. July 13, 1811, Oliver and Martha Pettebone sold to Samuel Thomas and Payne Pettebone, Sr., 20 acres of Lot 16, Third Division, Kingston, described as situated on the southwest side of the road leading from the Main Road to Hartough's Mills, near the stream that crosses the road and about two perches south from the tan house now occupied by Thomas and Pettebone. Payne Pettebone, Sr., was assessed as a tanner in 1809. This was probably the same tannery owned by Samuel Thomas and operated by William Hancock (and probably Platt Hitchcock), which, according to the Wyoming Herald of Friday, Feb. 10, 1825, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $700. Samuel Thomas was Captain of the Wyoming Matross, an artillery company, at Detroit, in the War of 1812. Later he was active in the Pennsylvania State Militia and became a Brigadier General, before his removal to Illinois. (See Bib.-55, p. 249). Some of the children of General Samuel and Marcia (Pettebone) Thomas were (order of birth not known to writer): i, Penelope, born March 30, 1808, died Dec. 14, 1832, (Forty Fort Cemetery) married, as first wife, to David Baldwin, by the Rev. Enoch Huntington, June 8, 1826, and had one son, Andrew S., died March 11, 1827, aged 4 weeks and 2 days, a daughter Ann, died April 29, 1832, aged 10 months and 2 days, and a daughter Marcia (see Family No. 996); ii, Mary Ann, married, Sept. 11, 1832, to Thomas Whitney Smith; iii, Martha P., married March 6, 1834, to John Agard; 6, Lucy, born Sept. 12, 1792, died Jan. 12, 1842, married, July 11, 1811, to Colonel Erastus Hill, born July 6, 1787, died Sept. 24, 1867, son of Gamaliel, born about 1770, died in Sept., 1796, and Christianna Hill, born about 1769, died Sept. 10, 1810, in Kingston, (Forty Fort Cemetery), (see Family No. 1217—Bird). Gamaliel Hill was assessed in Exeter Township, in 1796, and as a carpenter of West Stockbridge, Mass. Mrs. Christianna Hill, widow of Gamaliel Hill, was married to Henry Hutchins, as her second husband. See reference in sketch of Christian Miller in Family No. 988. Colonel Erastus Hill owned Third Division Lot No. 30, Kingston, which had been owned by Colonel Thomas Dyer, who deeded it, Oct. 5, 1797, to his son, Thomas Dyer, Jr., who sold it, Aug. 8, 1801, to Joseph Swetland. Colonel Thomas Dyer was of Windham, Conn., in 1797, and owned a full right in Kingston, including House Lot No. 11, Meadow Lot No. 11, Third Division, Lot No. 30, Fourth Division Lot No. 32, all of which he deeded to his son, Thomas Dyer, Jr., of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The Payne Pettebone residence, Wyoming, is on Lot No. 30; 7, Mary, born Oct. 21, 1794, died Jan. 19, 1869, married to Darius Landon; 8, Nancy, born Nov. 13, 1796, died May 14, 1888, married to Sylvanus Moore, living in Putnam Co., Ill., in 1832; 9, Noah, born July 27, 1798, died Dec. 11, 1866, (see later); 10, Huldah, born Feb. 14, 1801, died Nov. 25, 1801; 11, Henry, born Oct. 5, 1802, died May 5, 1861, (see later); 12, Martha, born Dec. 30, 1804, died Feb. 26, 1838, married, by Rev. Enoch Huntington, March 28, 1830, to John I. Adams, who in 1830 was editor of the Republican Farmer and Democrat Journal, Wilkes-Barre, and who, in 1832, lived in Lenawee Co., Mich.; 13, Stephen, born Feb. 2, 1807, died Aug. 5, 1810.

On the Pettebone plot in Forty Fort Cemetery there may be found the grave of Penelope Morris, born about 1763, died April 8, 1832, aged 69 years, who was, perhaps, the mother of General Samuel Thomas and probably the wife of Timothy Morris, who, Oct. 15, 1793, bought from David Perkins House Lot No. 25, Kingston, and who, Aug. 9, 1795, sold the same lot to Isaac Dow Tripp. Oct. 19, 1795, Timothy Morris of Kingston bought from Ezekiel Brown of Wilkes-Barre, for £25, a tract of land "Beginning at the northeast corner of Captain Bowman's lot, whereon his house now stands, and running westerly along his line till it intersects a redoubt, built by Sullivan's Army, on the top of a hill, supposed to be about 16 rods. Thence along the course of the hill five and one-half rods. Thence easterly in a parallel line with Bowman's fence till it intersects the main road from Wilkes-Barre Town Plot to Pittston. Thence south, the course of the road, five and one-half rods to the place of beginning." This piece of land was part of a tract of 50 acres sold by the Rev. Jacob Johnson to Ezekiel Brown.

Oliver Pettebone sold to L. Beatty, of Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 1, 1811, five acres of Lot 20, Third Division, Kingston, forty perches long and 20 perches wide, including a "Bed or quarry of stone coal now opened." The consideration was $500.

V. (3). Payne, son of Oliver and Martha (Payne) Pettebone, was born Jan. 24, 1787, and died Aug. 13, 1814. He was married, by the Rev. Ard Hoyt, Nov. 27, 1810, to Sarah, born April 4, 1793, died April 27, 1869, (Forty Fort Cemetery) daughter of Joseph and Mary (Lee) Tuttle. (Family No. 1174—Tuttle.) He was assessed as a tanner in Kingston Township in 1809, and in 1811 was a partner of General Samuel Thomas, operating a tannery in Kingston Township. His widow, Mrs. Sarah (Tuttle) Pettebone, was married (2) to David Perkins, Jr. (Family No. 1313—Perkins.) The children of Payne and Sarah (Tuttle) Pettebone were: 1, Stoughton, born April 9, 1812, died, Niagara Falls, N. Henry Pettebone, son of Oliver and Martha (Payne) Pettebone, of whose career a comprehensive sketch appears in Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., p. 1152, was born Oct. 5, 1802, and died May 5, 1861. He was married, by Rev. Enoch Huntington, Jan. 26, 1825, to Elizabeth, born Sept. 30, 1803, died July 8, 1847, daughter of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps. *I. John Jacobs was born in 1748 and died March 15, 1831. He was a taxpayer in Hanover District, now Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1778, and his name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for that year. He was a soldier in the War of the American Revolution. He was married to Elizabeth Pensel, who was born in 1738 and died Dec. 6, 1843, aged 105 years. Her name appears in the Census of Pensions of 1840, and she is there represented as 100 years of age, a resident of Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and as living there with John Jacobs. (Bib.-14.) In 1790 their family living at home apparently consisted of four sons under 16 years of age and two daughters. (Bib.-10.) May 2, 1792, John Jacobs bought from Edward Inman (Family No. 1007—Inman) one-half of Lot 22 in the Second Division of Hanover. In 1792 and 1796 he was assessed in Hanover in the latter year upon 26 acres of land, a log house, two horses and one head of cattle. In 1799 there appeared upon the tax lists the names of John Jacobs, John Jacobs, Jr., (constable and owner of a frame house), Samuel Jacobs, a blacksmith, and Benjamin Jacobs, a single man. These were doubtless all members of the same family. One of the daughters of John and Elizabeth (Pensel) Jacobs was probably Eleanor, born in March, 1776, died Aug. 25, 1855, who was married to Peter, born Feb., 1787, died Aug. 13, 1840, son of William and Sarah (Johnson) Coolbaugh. (See Pioneer and Patriotic Families of Bradford Co., Pa., Vol. I., for Coolbaugh family.)

II. (1). John, Jr., son of John and Elizabeth (Pensel) Jacobs, was born Aug. 3, 1774, and died April 30, 1853. He was a constable in Hanover Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1799. He was married, Oct. 3, 1799, by James Campbell, to Eleanor, born Dec. 3, 1777, died Aug. 20, 1841, daughter of Daniel McMullen of Hanover Township, and later, in 1802, of Mount Pleasant Township, Wayne Co., Pa.

Daniel McMullen, who died June 19, 1804, at Mount Pleasant, Pa., is said to have been in Wilkes-Barre in 1778 and to have taken part in the battle of Wyoming, Pa., July 3, 1778, (see Johnson's Historical Record, II, 5) in the Company of Captain James Bidlack. In 1790 Daniel McMullen had in family, living at home, two males under 16 and three females. He was of Mount Pleasant Township, Wayne Co., Pa., May 10, 1802, when he conveyed title to Lot 48 of the Third Division in Newport Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., to "Joseph Reeder, having the custody of the children of Adrian Lines, deceased." Adrian Lines, son of Conrad, born about 1738, died Sept. 6, 1815, in his 78th year, and Clarasey Lion, born about 1741, died April 7, 1817, (Hanover Green Cemetery) had doubtless been married to a daughter of Daniel McMullen, and his children living in 1812 were: Conrad, Samuel, Abraham, Rachel and Clarrey, the last three of whom were minors. Some of the children of Daniel McMullen were (order of birth not known): 1, Eleanor, born Dec. 3, 1777, died Aug. 20, 1841, married to John Jacobs, Jr.; 2, James, married to Phebe ———, living in Mount Pleasant, Wayne Co., Pa., in 1823, (Bib.-282) among whose children was a son, Silas K., born 1809, died 1860, who was married to Lydia, born Sept. 1, 1812, daughter of Jacob Conkling, whose sons, Silas A., born Oct. 9, 1836, married, in 1866, to Louise A. Hubbard, and William J., born March 12, 1844, married, Dec. 6, 1868, to Mary A. Thorp, were children were: 1, Martha, born Dec. 7, 1833, died Sept. 13, 1836; 2, George, born July 4, 1835, died Sept. 10, 1836; 3, Henry Pettebone, born Dec. 5, 1836, died Sept. 6, 1884, (Newton Centre, Pa., Cemetery) married to Emma Reynolds, died May 1, 1903; 4, John Sharps, born Aug. 29, 1838, died Sept. 5, 1912; 5, Lewis Drake, born March 5, 1841, died June 30, 1844; 6, Noah Pettebone, born July 29, 1845; 7, Mary Alice, born Oct. 21, 1848, died May 13, 1851; 8, William Sharps, born June 24, 1851, married to Elizabeth Breese, daughter of Hon. Stephen and Catharine M. (Breese) Jenkins, (Family No. 988—Jenkins); 9, Helen, born June 30, 1852, married, Jan. 24, 1872, to Thomas B., son of Henry and Elizabeth (Bennett) Polen. (Family No. 989.)

I. The name of Nathan Jones appears in the Westmoreland Tax List for 1776 as a resident of the North District (Exeter and Providence). It also appears on a road petition presented to the Luzerne Co. He removed, with his father, to Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1816, and was married there to Margaret, born 1800, died March 29, 1848, daughter of Henry and Mary (LaBar) Kirkendall. Dec. 10, 1828, he bought from his father, Jacob Sharps, 53 acres of Lots 7 and 8 in the Third Division of Kingston and settled on what was later known for many years as the Pringle farm.

*On page 90, Vol. V, of the Historical Record is an article, reprinted from the Wilkes-Barre Record of March 20, 1894, which refers to the old house on the Pringle property. The house is described as nearly 100 years old at that time and is said to have been built by Peter Sharps, born Dec. 6, 1797. It appears to the writer that, if this house was nearly 100 years old in 1894, it was built by Elisha, son of James and Elizabeth (Borden) Atherton, who bought 80 acres of Lot 7 from Arthur Eicke, July 15, 1791, and who bought Lot 8 from his father, James Atherton, April 24, 1801. The Elisha Atherton estate held title to Lots 7, 8, 9 and 10, in the present borough of Kingston, until June 18, 1821, when these lots, containing 311 acres, were sold to Jacob Sharps.

According to the article in the Historical Record, the old house is "Said by architects to Peter Sharps removed from Kingston to Tunkhannock about 1836. He bought two tracts of land lying near or in the present borough of Tunkhannock from James Kelley and Maria, his wife, for $2,000, May 29, 1836. One of these lay between the Susquehanna River and the highway from Tunkhannock to Braintrim and contained 37 acres. The other was a 60 acre tract which Isaac Harding had sold to George Harding, Dec. 1, 1818. He also bought, March 17, 1840, from Abel and Affa (Harding) Marcy, 50 acres adjoining his other lands. Later he acquired title to farm lands in Northmoreland and in the vicinity of Wyalusing, Pa. He was prominently identified with the Methodist Episcopal Church of Tunkhannock and served as Class Leader and Steward. After the death of his wife, Mrs. Margaret (Kirkendall) Sharps, he removed to his farm in Northmoreland, then occupied by his son, Jacob. His will was made June 8, 1887, and was probated April 14, 1890. He and his wife are buried in Gravel Hill Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa. The children of Peter and Margaret (Kirkendall) Sharps were: 1, Elizabeth, born Feb. 18, 1823, died Aug. 8, 1861; 2, Jacob, born 1825, died 1906; 3, Charles G., born July 6, 1828, died Sept. 8, 1858, not married; 4, John, born 1831, died Jan. 30, 1871; 5, William, born June 12, 1836, died Dec. 31, 1836.

L. Beach, Mrs. H. E. Walker, Agnes V., Ruth C., Olive A., Robert S. and Benson S. Stephen Olin Jones served in Company G, 177th P. V. I., in the Civil War and for many years filled various responsible clerical positions in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. After the death of her husband, William Benson Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth (Sharps) Jones was married (2), as his second wife, to Abram, born Aug. 21, 1817, died Dec. 17, 1873, son of Peter and Mary (Swazy) Ryman, whose first wife, Jamima, born Sept. 7, 1808, died May 7, 1858, was a daughter of Philip and Mary (La Bar) Kirkendall-Kunckle. (See Family No. 1016—La Bar and Family No. 1016—Kirkendall.) She died soon after her second marriage and is buried on the Peter Sharps plot in Gravel Hill Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa.

Mrs. Sallie R. (Jacques) Sharps was married (2) to Wesley Barnes and died in Oakland, Calif., in 1913-14.

THE ROBERTS FAMILIES (ROBERD)

1. Elias Roberts, formerly of Farmington, Conn., was one of the "First Forty" Settlers sent to the Wyoming Valley by the Susquehanna Company of Hartford in 1769, and was also one of the company of settlers placed under arrest by the Pennsylvania authorities, taken to Easton, Pa., and there imprisoned in the jail. His name with that of his son, Elias Roberts, Jr., appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists of 1776 as a resident of Kingston District. An Elias Roberts was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. The children of Elias Roberts of Farmington, Conn., and Kingston, Pa., were (order of birth not known): 1, Elias, Jr., named in Westmoreland Tax List 1776, sold lands in Kingston Township to Peter Tift (Third Division Lot No. 8), transfer of title to Tift in text of deed, Roswell Wells to John Pierce, May 28, 1788; 2, Gideon of Bristol, Hartford Co., Conn., Nov. 26, 1787, who be the very best example of Colonial architecture yet standing in the Wyoming Valley." It stood on 'Pringle street at the head of Chestnut street,' and from about 1870 to 1894 had been occupied by Thomas P. Culver, whose wife was a granddaughter of Thomas Pringle." Thomas Pringle bought this property from Jacob, son of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps, Dec. 31, 1840.

drew Lot No. 16 in Providence, 400 acres, and sold it to Elias Roberts, whose heirs sold it to Seth Roberts, who sold it to Eliachim Roberts, who sold it Nov. 3, 1791, to Henry Tuttle, Jr., (Family No. 1174—Tuttle) said to have been a pioneer clock maker in Bristol; 3, Amasa of Bristol, Hartford Co., Conn., Nov. 26, 1787; 4, Eliachim of Bristol, Conn., Nov. 26, 1787, of Kingston, Pa., in 1791, bought the interest of his brothers and sister in his father's lands, from his brother, Seth, Aug. 15, 1788; 5, Seth, of Bristol, Hartford Co., Conn., born Aug. 15, 1788; 6, Hiram of Egremont, Berkshire Co., Mass., July 16, 1787, bought the interest of Amasa and Phebe Hart, heirs of Elias Roberts, which he sold July 16, 1787 to Seth Roberts, July 12, 1787, sold to Seth Roberts Meadow Lot 22, Plymouth, which "my father, Elias Roberts," bought from Perrin Ross; 7, Phebe, married to Amasa Hart, who, with her husband, sold a one-eighth interest in the estate of Elias Roberts to Hiram Roberts; 8, probably Thomas, named in Historical Papers written by Mrs. Miles L. Peck of Bristol, Conn., "A Wyoming Heroine of the Revolution," read by Mrs. Katharine (Searl) McCartney in the commemorative exercises at the Wyoming Monument and published in Johnson's Historical Record, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Vol. VII, pp. 119-23. The writer has failed, however, to discover any reference to Thomas, son of Elias Roberts, in any Wyoming Valley record. It is probable that none of the children of Elias Roberts remained permanently in the Wyoming Valley. Seth Roberts, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 22, 1787, with William Stark and Samuel Allen on his bond in $400, was appointed administrator of Elias Roberts' estate.

2. Roberts families in Plymouth, Pa. The Westmoreland Tax Lists for Plymouth District show the following named persons resident there. In 1776, 1777, and 1778, Hezekiah, Daniel and James Roberts; in 1776 Ebenezer Roberts, who in 1778 was a private in Captain Samuel Ransom's, Second Independent, Company of the 24th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, in the Continental Service in the War of the American Revolution, for whose estate John Leonard was appointed administrator, Oct. 11, 1793, with Lemuel Gaylord and Abraham Pyke on his bond in $250. In 1777 and 1778 Mary Roberts and James Roberts, 2d. May 10, 1777, Hezekiah Roberts of Plymouth sold to Daniel Roberts of Plymouth, one-third part of one whole right of land in Plymouth, of which Jacobus Cole was the original owner, who sold it to Perrin Ross, by whom it was sold to Hezekiah Roberts. This right consisted of Meadow Lot No. 7 of the Lower Tier; Lot No. 7 of the Third Division, and the undivided lands. July 15, 1791, Daniel Roberts sold his interest in the right to Jacob Roberts. In 1792 Jacob, Hezekiah, Jr., James, Stephen and William Roberts were assessed in Plymouth Township. Aaron and Sale Roberts were assessed in Kingston the same year. Sale Roberts and Sale Roberts, Jr., were privates in Captain John Franklin's Company in the service of the United States at Wyoming Post in 1780. Aaron Roberts, born March 20, 1768, died Oct. 15, 1831, his wife, Elizabeth, born May 26, 1777, died Jan. 30, 1829, and Edward Roberts, died Dec. 8, 1816, aged 21 years, 11 months, 15 days, are buried in Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery. (See family Samuel Roberts later.)

1. Hezekiah Roberts, Sr., of Plymouth, with his wife, Jamima, Oct. 9, 1809, executed a deed to William Currie, Jr., for a consideration of $4,000, conveying title to five tracts of land, in Plymouth, called Hermitage, Portsmouth, New Holland and Inverness. He removed to Delaware Co., Ohio, about 1809-10, and his will, made in Sunbury, Delaware Co., Ohio, was probated at Delaware, Ohio, Nov. 18, 1822. It names his wife, Jamima, his only son Hezekiah and his daughter, Catharine (Roberts) Rogers, married to Jonah, Jr., son of Jonah and Deliverance (Chaffee) Rogers, of Plymouth, Pa. (Rogers family following.) It also names the following children of Catharine: 1, Deliverance Chaffee (Rogers) Pringle, married to Daniel C. Pringle; 2, Catharine (Rogers) Brunson, married to Ira, son of Levi and Mary (Reynolds) Brunson; 3, Hezekiah Thompson Rogers; 4, Simeon Ford Rogers, married to Amanda, daughter of Levi and Mary (Reynolds) Brunson; 5, Jonah Rogers, Jr., married to Mary, daughter of John and Nancy (Jackson) Whiteman. Hezekiah, son of James Roberts; Hezekiah, 3d, son of Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., and Hezekiah Thompson Rogers, the latter two named as grandsons of Hezekiah Roberts, Sr., were "especially remembered for my name." A bequest of $100 was made to Asenath Roberts. Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., his son Hezekiah Roberts, 3d, Hezekiah Thompson Rogers and James Roberts were named executors. Thomas W. Wigton and David Welch signed the will as witnesses.

A James Roberts, of Plymouth, was married, Feb. 2, 1806, by Elder Davis Dimock, to Jamima Point, apparently a widow, whose name appeared as a taxpayer in 1792.

Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., of Plymouth, referred to above, was probably married to Catharine, daughter of Matthias and Rebecca Van Loon,* of Plymouth. With his wife, Catharine, Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., sold to Freeman Thomas of Lower Saucon, Northampton Co., Pa., for £1,000, Lots Nos. 11 and 12 and part of Lot 9, Mountain Tier, Meadow Lots, Plymouth, and 82 acres of Lot No. 52. Lot 52 was part of a tract called Avondale, so named in the certificate of the Commissioners, bearing date of Nov. 10, 1808. Avondale, Luzerne Co., Pa., enjoys the unique distinction of having retained to this day the descriptive title given officially to the tract of land 110 years ago. On this lot, the writer believes, Freeman Thomas began mining operations and drove the famous Grand Tunnel. See Bib.-55, p. 327, for portrait and sketch of Freeman Thomas.

*The Van Loon family of Plymouth, Pa., undoubtedly descendants of the Van Leuwen-Van Leuven family of Kingston, (Esopus) Ulster Co., N. Y., of which Andreis Pieterse and Maritje (Davidse) Van Leuven were apparently the founders. They had a son, Johannes, baptised Aug. 12, 1688. (Bib.-242.) The Plymouth family may have been descendants of Nicholas and Rachel Van Loon of Loonenburgh, Albany Co., N. Y. That Nicholas Van Loon was one of the proprietors of the Loonenburgh, Albany Co., Patent. His will, made at Loonenburgh, Sept. 8, 1748, and probated Nov. 1, 1748, names his wife, Rachel, his sons, Jurie (George), Isaac, William, Mathys (Matthias), and Abraham, and his daughters, Mary, married to Casper Van Hosen, and Elsie. Mathys Van Loon, of Loonenburgh, made his will Sept. 14, 1781, and it was probated March 10, 1783.

Some members of the Plymouth Van Loon family came to the Wyoming Valley as early as 1776. In Dec., 1787, Abraham Pyke, Indian fighter, veteran of the War of the American Revolution, and later, a pensioner of the Federal Government, recovered 50 shillings damages from Nicholas Van Loon and Joshua and Samuel Bennett, whom he charged with "trespass and with force and arms entering his close and tearing down his dwelling." (Bib.-320.) According to Colonel Wright (Bib.-55), Matthias, Nicholas and Abraham Van Loon came from Esopus, N. Y., to Plymouth in 1794. Nicholas was there in the summer or fall of 1787 and Matthias was a resident of Plymouth in 1776. The name of Matthias Van Loon appears in the Federal Census of 1790 as a resident of Luzerne Co., having in family himself, one male under 16 and one female. The name of Nicholas Van Loon, having himself, one male under 16 and two females in family also appears in the 1790 census, Matthias and Nicholas Van Loon were taxpayers in Plymouth in 1792, and Matthias, Nicholas and Abraham in 1796. Abraham Van Loon probably went to Plymouth about 1794-5. Colonel Wright describes the three men as brothers, and names Stephen, John, who removed to Ohio, and Jeremiah, who also removed to Ohio, as sons of Abraham. An Abraham Van Loon, living in the Town of Woodstock, Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1790, then had in family himself, three males over 16 and five females. An Abraham Van Loon died in Plymouth, Pa., in Sept., 1804.

April 20, 1793, Abraham and Nicholas Van Loon bought from Benjamin Harvey Meadow Lot No. 4, Upper Tier of Plymouth and, April 7, 1801, Abraham sold his interest in the lot to Nicholas. Aug. 10, 1801, Nicholas Van Loon bought from Amos Parks and his wife, Grace, parts of Lots Nos. 37 and 38 in Salem Township, situated on the Susquehanna River, and, April 12, 1802, Nicholas Van Loon and his wife, Experience, sold to James McNeal, James Dodson, Jacob Smethers, Jr., and their Associates, proprietors of the Rocky Island Fishery, so much of Lots 38, 41 and 42 of the First Division in Salem as was necessary to accommodate.....in landing their hauls and craft, while employed in fishing. The consideration named was a one-seventh interest. To this same company, on the same day, and for a similar consideration, Nathan Beach leased a similar right for the term of 999 years, along the bank of the river, the full width of Lots 43 and 44 in Salem, two perches deep. Jan. 11, 1834, Abraham Van Loon and Sarah, his wife, of Bath, N. Y., sold to John Van Loon of Plymouth, a one-sixth interest in a house lot adjoining lands of Benjamin Reynolds in Plymouth.

The will of Matthias Van Loon was made in Plymouth, Dec. 18, 1804, and it was probated Jan. 28, 1806. It names his wife, Rebekah, his son, Evert, deceased; his sons Nicholas and Abram, his daughter Catharine (Van Loon) Roberts, probably married to Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., and his grandsons, Stephen and Matthias Van Loon. In 1815, Matthias, Aaron, Stephen and Abram Van Loon lived in Plymouth and paid a Federal tax there. Matthias Van Loon was married to Temperance, daughter of Thomas and Keturah (Tuttle) Lamoreux. (Family No. 1019—Lamoreux.) Stephen Van Loon was married to Hannah Lamoreux, sister of Temperance. Matthias removed to Bradford Co., Pa., and his children, all living in Bradford Co. in 1853, were: 1, Thomas and his wife, Caroline; 2, Evert and his wife, Elizabeth; 3, James and his wife, Cynthia; 4, Joshua and his wife, Hannah; 5, Elijah and his wife, Susanna; 6, Rebecca, married to Jairus H. Watson; 7, Martha, married to Samuel Brown.

Abraham Van Loon, born about 1774, died May 25, 1838, doubtless son of Matthias Van Loon, was married to Elizabeth, born Dec. 4, 1774, died June 19, 1848, daughter of Thomas and Charity (Lamoreux) Davenport, of Plymouth. (Family No. 1041—Davenport.) July 10, 1821, Elijah Shoemaker, of Kingston, sold to Daniel Davenport, of Plymouth, in trust for Abraham Van Loon and Elizabeth, his wife, for the term of their natural life, and then to their heirs, 127 acres, part of Lot 32 of the Single Tier of Northmoreland, and lying along the Susquehanna River. Abraham Van Loon, his wife and some of their children are buried in the Swartwood Cemetery, Exeter Township. Three of the daughters of Abraham and Elizabeth (Davenport) Van Loon were: 1, Rebecca, born Dec. 5, 1799, died March 9, 1856, married to Isaac, born Dec. 17, 1793, died Sept. 3, 1855, son of Hezekiah and Abigail Smith; 2, Hannah, born March 20, 1806, died July 26, 1884, married to Morehouse, born about 1800, died Sept. 14, 1860, brother of Isaac Smith; 3, Catharine, born Jan. 21, 1809, died Jan. 22, 1893, married to Dr. Alfred Brace. (Family No. 38—Brace.)

Nicholas Van Loon of Plymouth was married to Experience Parks. Their daughter, Hannah, born Sept. 22, 1787, was baptised in the Deer Park, Minisink Valley, N. Y., Dutch Reformed Church, Oct. 26, 1788. (Bib.-240.)

Matthias Van Loon was in Plymouth as early as 1776, his name appearing on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Plymouth District in 1776, 1777, and 1778. His name also appears in the text of a deed executed Feb. 12, 1788, by Captain Asaph Whittlesey conveying title to Meadow Lot 35, lying on the Lower Shawnee Meadow, to Jesse Washburn.

Freeman Thomas was born Oct. 18, 1779, and died May 23, 1867. He was married (1) to Frances L. Carroll, born June 5, 1779, died July 9, 1843, daughter of John Carroll. His second wife was Mrs. Trumenda (Gates) Pettebone of Kingston and later of Plymouth, widow of Oliver Pettebone, Jr., and daughter of Nathaniel and Lucy (Gallup) Gates. (Family No. 988—Pettebone, No. 1324—Gates, No. 1324—Gallup.) A monument to the memory of Freeman Thomas, who, according to Colonel Wright, (Bib.-55) died in Northumberland Co., Pa., stands in Shawnee Cemetery, Plymouth, Pa. The year of his death (1847) in Colonel Wright's Sketches, is clearly a typographical error. Some of the children of Freeman and Frances (Carroll) Thomas were: 1, William Freeman, born Oct. 2, 1806; 2, Sarah, born Sept. 25, 1811, married to Charles Morris; 3, Harriet B., born March 11, 1816, married to Thomas Mast; 4, Rebecca A., born May 1, 1819, died April 1, 1858, married to Perry Fisher; 5, John R., born March 5, 1822, died Dec. 22, 1863; 6, Caroline, born April 23, 1824, died Oct. 22, 1882, married to Giles Fisher; 7, Maria, born Dec. 29, 1828, married to George W. Morris. See Colonel H. B. Wright's Historical Sketches of Plymouth, Pa., for interesting sketches of Freeman Thomas and various members of the Van Loon family.

Hezekiah, Jr., and Catharine Roberts were residents of Harlen, Delaware Co., Ohio, May 16, 1812, when they executed a power of attorney to Benjamin Carpenter, 2d, (Family No. 14—Carpenter) authorizing him to satisfy the mortgage on the Avondale property. A Hezekiah Roberts, Town Key Keeper, of Plymouth, is pleasantly referred to by Colonel Wright, in his sketches, p. 289.

2. Samuel Roberts, for the partition of whose estate, in Plymouth, a petition was presented to the Orphans' Court in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 17, 1792, owned a House Lot No. 1, a Meadow Lot No. 12, Lots 6 and 7 in the Fourth Division, and Lot No. 15 in the Fifth Division, all in Plymouth. He was survived by his widow, Elizabeth, who was living Dec. 29, 1792, and by at least five sons: 1, Benjamin, born in April, 1761, died Jan. 16, 1843, (South Eaton Cemetery, Wyoming Co., Pa.) who was a weaver by trade and lived in Cornwall, Orange Co., N. Y., May 5, 1791, when, with his wife, Jamima, he sold to Moses Atherton (Family No. 992—Atherton), blacksmith, of Plymouth, Pa., his interest "in the lands owned by my father, Samuel Roberts." He was a resident of Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1790, and then had in family, living at home, himself, six males under 16 years of age and two females. He removed from Cornwall, N. Y., to what is now Eaton Township, Wyoming Co., Pa.; 2, Stephen, (see later); 3, Samuel, born Nov. 7, 1766, died Nov. 23, 1840, (see later); 4, Moses, who in 1790 had in family himself, one male under 16 and one female, (Bib.-10) probably removed from Plymouth before 1796; 5, Aaron, born March 20, 1768, died Oct. 15, 1831, lived in Kingston Township, and with his wife, Elizabeth, born May 26, 1777, died Jan. 30, 1829, is buried in Forty Fort Cemetery. Their children were: (1), Edward, born Dec. 23, 1794, died Dec. 8, 1816, (Forty Fort Cemetery); (2), Miner, married to Sally ———; (3), Burton, married to Eliza ———; (4), Hannah, married to Cornelius Moore, the latter three living April 2, 1836.

II. (2). Stephen, son of Samuel and Elizabeth Roberts, was assessed in Plymouth in 1792, in 1798 lived in Northmoreland when he sold lands to Samuel Marvin, and later returned to Plymouth. Dec. 18, 1807, with Zerah Marvin, he bought 960 acres of land on the east branch of Shickshinny Creek, from Jacob and Maria Kachline, of Salsbury, Northampton Co., Pa., and Oct. 15, 1789, he bought from Lemuel Gaylord, administrator of the estate of Aaron Gaylord, ten acres of land in Plymouth and 300 acres in Huntington Township. These latter lands he deeded to Lemuel Gaylord, the same day. April 23, 1819, his name was placed on the Federal Pension Roll for services rendered in the War of the American Revolution, in the Connecticut Continental Line. (Bib.-12.) He was married to Rebecca, daughter of Elisha and Sarah Richards.

Elisha Richards was killed in the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and Rufus Lawrence was appointed administrator of his estate, Nov. 29, 1787, with James Bidlock and Nathan Tubbs on his bond in $400. April 2, 1778, Elisha Richards sold to Rufus Lawrence and Aaron Gaylord, Lot No. 32, Third Division, Plymouth, 35 acres. This deed was acknowledged before Asaph Whittlesey, J. O. P., and was signed by Asaph Whittlesey and John Heath as witnesses. Elisha Richards was survived by his widow, Sarah, and seven children, all of whom were living March 3, 1792, and are named in Orphans' Court proceedings at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., of that date. The children of Elisha and Sarah Richards were: 1, Elisha, Jr., oldest son, of Norfolk, Litchfield Co., Conn., Jan. 22, 1790, sold his interest in his father's estate to Jeremiah Coleman; 2, David, a cooper, in Middletown, Conn., Aug. 27, 1791; 3, Rebecca, married to Stephen, son of Samuel and Elizabeth Roberts; 4, Rhoda; 5, Solomon; 6, Abiah; 7, Mabel, probably died before July 10, 1802. Mrs. Sarah Richards, widow of Elisha, who probably died before July 10, 1802; her sons, David and Solomon, and her daughters, Rhoda and Abiah, all lived in Middletown, Conn., Aug. 27, 1791, when Lemuel Gaylord bought their interest in the Elisha Richards lands.

III. (3). Samuel, Jr., son of Samuel and Elizabeth Roberts, was born Nov. 7, 1766, and died Nov. 23, 1840. He sold his interest in his father's estate to Hezekiah Roberts of Plymouth. He was married in 1789 to Sarah Ogden, born in Fairfield, Conn., in Dec., 1770, died in Falls Township, Wyoming Co., Pa., Nov. 27, 1844, daughter of David and Thankful (Couch) Morehouse.

David, son of Jabez and Sarah (Ogden) Morehouse, was born about 1740, and died June 3, 1820. His wife, Thankful (Couch) Morehouse, was born about 1747, and died Feb. 10, 1821. His will was made April 17, 1820, and probated, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 20, 1820. David and Thankful (Couch) Morehouse were early settlers in what is now Falls Township, Wyoming Co., Pa. Some of their children were: 1, Sarah Ogden, born in Dec., 1770, died Nov. 27, 1844, married, in 1789, to Samuel Roberts, Jr.; 2, Millie, married to ——— Williams; 3, Betsey, married to Wake-man (?) Taylor. (See Taylor Family No. 35.) They are buried in the Roberts Cemetery on the Morehouse homestead near Falls, Wyoming Co., Pa.

Samuel and Sarah Ogden (Morehouse) Roberts settled first in Hanover Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and resided there Dec. 3, 1793, when Stephen and Elizabeth (Jacques) Jenkins (Family No. 988—Jenkins) sold to him for £25, 100 acres of Lot 53 in Putnam Township, situated near Teague's Creek and adjoining lands of Solomon Avery, Esq., and the town line, and also, Jan. 17, 1794, when he bought from Thomas and Nancy Smiley, of Plymouth, part of a tract of land in Putnam, also situated near Teague's Creek, which had been "appropriated" to Asahel Atherton as an addition to Lot No. 44, and had been sold by Asahel and Amy (Jenkins) Williams—Atherton, his wife, (Family No. 988—Jenkins, No. 994—Williams) to Thomas Smiley, Dec. 3, 1793. The latter of these two farms Samuel Roberts sold Nov. 29, 1794, to Eseck Wheelock, of Gloucester, Providence Co., R. I. In 1799 Samuel Roberts bought from Daniel Taylor (Family No. 35—Taylor) of Providence, Luzerne Co., Pa., 60 acres of Lot No. 4 in Providence, bought by Daniel Taylor from Joseph Washburne, and 100 acres, which Daniel Taylor had bought from Thomas Pickett. Samuel Roberts removed to Providence Township and remained there until Nov. 10, 1803, when he sold his Providence lands to Constant Searle, (Family No. 993—Searle) and removed to Pittston Township. Aug. 25, 1812, he bought from Shepherd and Catharine (Goodwin) Patrick (Family No. 1230—Goodwin) of Northmoreland, later Eaton Township, Lots No. 21 and 22, which Jacob Patrick had sold to Shepherd Patrick. Mrs. Zuriah Patrick, widow of Jacob Patrick, released her interest in these lots to Samuel Roberts, Dec. 29, 1812. Lots Nos. 21 and 22 extended 70 perches along the Susquehanna River and included what is now known as the South Eaton Cemetery. Nov. 11, 1826, Samuel Roberts executed a deed by which he conveyed sixty square rods of this land for "Purposes of school and meeting house and burying ground and for no other purpose," to John Wilson, Newton Smith, Laton Roberts, Morehouse Roberts, Forbes Lee, Daniel Lee, Jackson Smith, Henry Warren, John Wilson, Jr., and Azor Thurston, reserving one-sixth for his own use. Oct. 6, 1794, he had bought from John and Lydia Bradner 150 acres of land "improved and now in the possession of John Bradner, and Dec. 27, 1796, he had bought from them 300 acres, bounded north on lands of Jacob Patrick, south on Roberts' land, extending south one-half mile along the Susquehanna River, and west one mile. On the farm he bought from Shepherd Patrick, Samuel Roberts lived for a number of years. He sold 65 acres of Lot 22 to his son, Henry Roberts, March 20, 1822; 61 acres of it to his son, Laton Roberts, March 20, 1822, and 65 acres of it Oct. 3, 1834, to his son, Samuel B. Roberts, who, Feb. 17, 1835, bought 126 acres of it from Henry and Laton Roberts. About 1839 Samuel Roberts, Jr., and his wife removed from Eaton Township to the home of their son, Henry Roberts, in Falls Township, Wyoming Co., Pa. He died there Nov. 23, 1840, in his 75th year. His widow died there Nov. 27, 1844, in her 74th year. They are buried in the Roberts Cemetery on the Morehouse homestead near Falls, Wyoming Co., Pa. The will of Samuel Roberts, Jr., was made June 26, 1840, and was probated, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 5, 1841, and names all the following children excepting Junia E., (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Morehouse, married to Susan ———, probably removed to Trenton, Delaware Co., Ohio, where his father owned a farm which he gave to Morehouse and Susan Roberts in a codicil to his will Sept. 8, 1840; 2, Henry, born July 28, 1794, (see later); 3, Sally H., born about 1796, died Sept. 6, 1835, aged about 30 years, married to John Wilson, Jr., (see below); 4, Julia Ann, married to Clark, Jonah and Mary (Whiteman) Rogers are buried in Lehman, Pa., Cemetery; 2, Simeon Ford, a Justice of the Peace in 1832, married to Amanda, daughter of Levi and Mary (Reynolds) Bronson, whose daughter, Charlotte Antoine, born Dec. 10, 1828, died Oct. 22, 1829, is buried in the Levi Bronson Cemetery at Hillside, on Toby's Creek, Luzerne Co., Pa.; 3, Hezekiah Thompson Rogers, who probably removed to Delaware Co., Ohio, and was named by his grandfather, Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., as one of the executors of his will, (see Hezekiah Roberts, Jr., above); 4, Deliverance Chaffee, married to Daniel Pringle, living in Plymouth, Pa., in 1819; 5, Catharine, who died July 22, 1833, and who was married to Ira, son of Levi and Mary (Reynolds) Bronson.

IV. (2). Josiah, son of Jonah and Deliverance (Chaffee) Rogers, was born about 1769 and died June 11, 1814. With his wife, Mary, born about 1773, died Jan. 27, 1857, aged 84 years, 1 month; he is buried in the Centermoreland Cemetery, Northmoreland, Wyoming Co., Pa. He was doubtless a member of Captain John Franklin's Company of Militia in the service of the United States at the Post of Wyoming in April-May, 1780. After 1792 when he was assessed in Plymouth Township, and probably before 1796, he removed to Northmoreland Township, now Wyoming Co., Pa., many of whose earliest settlers went there from Plymouth Township. Some of the children of Josiah and Mary Rogers were: 1, Colonel Josiah, born 1791, died May 17, 1853, married to Abigail, born March 2, 1794, died Oct. 9, 1859, whose daughter, Lydia Ann, was married, in 1849, to Joze, son of Rev. Joel Rogers; 2, Ariel, born Jan. 27, 1794, died April 13, 1874, married (1) to Malinda, born Sept. 2, 1799, died March 19, 1835, daughter of Daniel and Mary (Rowland) Weed-Brace (Family No. 38—Brace), married (2), in 1836, to Cynthia, born Nov. 24, 1798, died May 28, 1861, daughter of Henry and Rachel (Gore) Courtright. (Family No. 35—Courtright.) Ariel Rogers and his wives are buried in the Centermoreland Cemetery; 3, Joseph Wheeler, married (probably) to Hannah, daughter of Lewis and Sarah (Benedict) Jones, (Family No. 1328—Benedict) who, July 6, 1825, bought from Lewis Jones and Sarah, of Exeter Township, 110 acres of land on which he, Joseph Wheeler Rogers, then lived, and who, Oct. 6, 1840, bought from John W. and William White and their wives, Mary and Lydia, of Huntington, Lot 35, 96 acres in Huntington, and at about that time removed to Huntington Township; 4, Hannah, married to Uriah Rogers, probably son of Joze, (above); 5, Sarah, a minor in Jan., 1817; 6, Jonah, a minor in 1817; 7, David B. W., minor in 1817, married to Eliza ———; 8, Deliverance Chaffee, born March, 1805, died Nov. 6, 1825, married to Severn Brown, (Centermoreland Cemetery); 9, Bethiah, born March 3, 1806, died May 1, 1839, married to David Westover, (Centermoreland Cemetery); 10, Joze, born March 14, 1812, died May 25, 1834, (Centermoreland Cemetery). These children of Josiah and Mary Rogers are named in Orphans' Court proceedings at Wilkes-Barre, Jan., 1817. In a deed of April 7, 1801, by which he conveyed all his interest in the estate of Jonah Rogers, his father, to Joel Rogers, his brother, Josiah Rogers described himself as the second son of Jonah Rogers.

IV. (4). Elihu, son of Jonah and Deliverance (Chaffee) Rogers, was born Sept. 14, 1771, died Jan. 28, 1817, and is buried in the Brace Cemetery, near Orange, Pa. He was assessed in Plymouth Township in 1796, the name appearing as Elisha. He removed to what is now Franklin Township and owned extensive tracts of land there. April 24, 1816, he sold to Conrad Kunkle 80 acres of land lying in the southwest corner of Exeter Township, (see Family No. 1016—Kunkel). April 24, 1816, he bought from Daniel and Mary Brace (Family No. 38—Brace) eight acres of Lot 1 in Northmoreland. Elihu Rogers is said to have built the first frame house in Orange, Luzerne Co., Pa. He was survived by his widow, Rhoda, and several children. Some of them were: 1, Almanza, (see later); 2, Lenora, born April 10, 1798, died Sept. 22, 1814, (Brace Cemetery, Orange, Pa.); 3, Elihu, Jr., married to Beersheba Styles. He was, with Artimadorus Ingersoll, Jr., one of the administrators of the estate of Captain Artimadorus Ingersoll, born about 1762, died Sept. 21, 1839, married to Sally Newberry, born May 10, 1769, died Oct. 28, 1841, (Eaton Cemetery, Orange, Pa.), who served in the Massachusetts Continental Line and was placed on the Pension Roll of Soldiers of the American Revolution, Sept. 7, 1819, (Bib.-11);

4, Jacob D., married to Elizabeth G. Harding, (Family No. 992—Harding); 5, Joel, born Dec. 20, 1806, died July 23, 1829, (M. E. Cemetery, Orange, Pa.); 6, Rhoda, married to Joseph M. Lord.

V. (1). Almanza, son of Elihu and Rhoda Rogers, was married (1) to Mrs. Malinda (Fuller) Tyrrell, daughter of Jehiel and Hannah Fuller. (Family No. 1010—Fuller). She had a son, Burton Tyrrell, who was born Dec. 15, 1811, and died July 16, 1841, (M. E. Cemetery, Orange, Pa.) and in the same cemetery where he is buried there is also the grave of Almanza R. Tyrrell, born May 18, 1835, died Dec. 16, 1868. Almanza Rogers and his wife, Malinda, Feb. 8, 1828, sold to Orange Fuller all their interest in the estate of Jehiel Fuller, together with all their interest in the Widow Calkins' farm, "when she was done with the same," and all the right to the widow's third. Mrs. Malinda (Fuller) Tyrrell-Rogers was born July 28, 1792, and died Dec. 20, 1834, and is buried in the M. E. Cemetery at Orange, Pa. Almanza Rogers was married (2), March 10, 1836, to Sarah Parker. They conveyed by deed, for a consideration of $1, to Oliver Lewis, Benjamin Chandler, John C. Winter, Harry Jaquish, Almanza Rogers and Daniel Bodle, Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, May 10, 1837, 42 perches of land, the survey of which began at the corner of a stone wall south of the meeting house. Almanza Rogers was a merchant at Orange, Pa., and it is said that his use of pincers for the purpose of detecting defective shingles in the bunch, caused the hamlet, now generally known as Orange, to be called Pincherville. It is so named in certain deeds of about 1847. Almanza Rogers owned considerable real estate in and about what is now Franklin Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. Among his holdings were 66 acres adjoining lands of Ira Hallock and Daniel Brace, which he sold April 11, 1839, to Alanson Seward of Wantage, Sussex Co., N. J. He removed from Franklin Township to Illinois.

IV. (7). Rev. Joel, son of Jonah and Deliverance (Chaffee) Rogers, was born March 17, 1780, and died July 29, 1850. (Goss Cemetery, Harveyville, Luzerne Co., Pa.) He was an Elder of the Baptist Church and was a prominent figure in the real estate transactions in Wilkes-Barre, Plymouth and Huntington Townships. He was married (1) to Polly Linn, born about 1777, died July 31, 1814, (Wadham's Cemetery, Plymouth, Pa.). He was married (2), Aug. 30, 1815, to Mary Jackson, born Nov. 24, 1784, died Oct. 7, 1836, and was married (3) to Amey Bonham, born June 6, 1790, died Aug. 19, 1849. The home of "Elder" Joel Rogers was first established in Plymouth, Pa. About 1816 he removed to Wilkes-Barre and about 1827 he removed to the Huntington Valley. With his second and third wives he is buried in the Goss Cemetery at Harveyville, Pa. Some of the children of "Elder" Joel Rogers were (all by his second marriage): 1, Jozey, born July 24, 1816, married to Lydia Ann, daughter of Colonel Josiah and Abigail Rogers of Northmoreland. He died in Denver, Colo., June 11, 1890; 2, Dr. Joel Jackson, born March 4, 1818, died March 21, 1902, married, April 13, 1851, to Sarah Caroline, born 1824, died June 29, 1916, (Trucksville, Pa., Cemetery), daughter of Rev. Jacob and Sarah (Cook) Rice, (Family No. 1016—Rice); 3, Lydia, born Dec. 24, 1819, died in Franklin Co., Ohio, Sept. 13, 1844; 4, Lewis W., born May 22, 1822, died at Milton, Pa., Aug. 3, 1845; 5, Stephen, born April 17, 1824.

THE JENKINS FAMILY

I. John and Susanna Jenkins were of Sandwich, Mass., as early as 1655, when John Jenkins made a contribution toward building a place for public meetings. They were members of the Society of Friends. Some of their children were: 1, Elizabeth, born April 30, 1649; 2, Zachariah, born July, 1651; 3, Job Cooke, born April 14, 1655; 4, Thomas, born 1657.

II. (2). Zachariah, son of John and Susannah Jenkins, was born in July, 1651, and died about Jan. 1, 1723. He was married at Sandwich, Dec. 11, 1686, to Rebekah Abiah, born Dec. 10, 1666, died Feb. 10, 1712, (Bib.-257) daughter of Frances and Mary (Barber) Allen of Sandwich, Mass. They removed from Sandwich to Greenwich, R. I., about 1708, and May 2, 1710, he was admitted a freeman of the Colony of Rhode Island. (Bib.-251.) He had been admitted freeman of East Greenwich, Oct. 22, 1709. III. (5). John, born at Sandwich, Mass., April 5, 1697, son of Zachariah and Rebekah Abiah (Allen) Jenkins, died in East Greenwich, R. I., in March, 1742. He was of Kingston, R. I., May 1, 1722, when he was admitted a freeman of the Colony of Rhode Island and of East Greenwich, May 3, 1726, when again admitted a freeman. (Bib.-251.) He was a member of the General Assembly of the Colony of Rhode Island in 1735 and 1738. (Bib.-251.) He was married about 1721 to Lydia ———, and their children were: 1, Amy, born Feb. 3, 1722-3; 2, Benjamin, born Aug. 10, 1724, went to sea in 1745 and never heard from; 3, Lydia, born April 3, 1726, married, by William Spencer, Justice, Feb. 19, 1743, to Henry, son of William Spencer of North Kingston, R. His widow, Mary, and three daughters were living in Savannah in 1797; 9, Anna, married to James, son of William and Amy (Harding) Angell, of New London, Conn., July 21, 1760. Mrs. Lydia Jenkins, widow of John Jenkins, was married (2), Dec. 16, 1746, by Henry Tibbitts, Justice, to Stephen Wilcox. (Bib.-257.)

Four of the sons and one of the grandsons of John and Lydia Jenkins were among the earliest settlers of the Wyoming Valley in Pennsylvania. Their names appear as follows:

1. John Jenkins, became a member of the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., Oct. 8, 1753; name as John Jenkes, thought by Mr. Harvey (Bib.-1) to refer to John Jenkins, grantee on Indian deed of July 11, 1754; one of the original settlers in 1762 and of the "First Forty" in 1769; name on Memorials of 1769 and 1772 petitioning for erection of a county; one of the Proprietors of the Five Townships in 1770; a defendant in the Northampton Co. Court at Easton, Pa., in Sept., 1770; name on List of Settlers in 1772; John Jenkins, Sr., on the Exeter Tax List for 1776; John Jenkins, Esq., on the Exeter Tax List for 1777 and 1778; on the Westmoreland Tax List in 1780; one of the original Proprietors of Exeter Township.

2. Stephen Jenkins, one of the "First Forty" in 1769; "actually on the ground," June 2, 1769; on memorials petitioning for erection of a county Aug. 29, 1769, and Oct., 1772; one of the "Proprietors of the Five Townships" June 17, 1770; on list of settlers in May, 1772.

3 and 4. Palmer and Jonathan, on list of Proprietors of the Five Townships, June 17, 1770.

5. John Jenkins, Jr., on the List of Settlers in May, 1772, and on petition for erection of a county in Oct., 1772.

IV. (4). John, born at East Greenwich, R. I., Feb. 6, 1727-8, son of John and Lydia Jenkins, was married at Gardner's Lake, New London, Conn., Aug. 1, 1751, to Lydia, born March 20, 1727, died Oct. 22, 1804, daughter of Stephen and Frances (Congdon) Gardner. (Family No. 988—Gardner.) He was a school teacher, surveyor and conveyancer. In 1772 he drew House Lot No. 14, with other lands in Kingston District. He erected his dwelling house upon the bank of the Susquehanna River in Exeter Township, and within the limits of the present borough of West Pittston. It stood some ten or twelve rods above the northwest end of the present Pittston Ferry Bridge. He was a representative from the town of Westmoreland, present at the session of the General Assembly of Connecticut in May, 1776 and in May and Oct., 1777. From June 1777 till June 1778 he held, by appointment of the General Assembly, the office of Chief Judge of the Westmoreland Co. Court. In May, 1784, when several hundred Yankees were expelled from Wyoming by the Pennamites, Judge Jenkins and his family, were among those who were thus outraged and they fled to Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y. Colonel John Franklin, referring, in his diary to this expulsion, says: "Two aged gentlemen, John Jenkins, Esq., and a Mr. Gardner (see Family No. 14—Gardner), who were cripples, were obliged to hobble through the dismal road with crutches." (Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley, pp. 467 and 8051, which see, also, for numerous references to Judge John Jenkins). Judge John Jenkins died at Scotch Town in the town of Walkill, Orange Co., N. Y., and was buried there. The children of John and Lydia (Gardner) Jenkins were: 1, Colonel John, born Nov. 27, 1751, O. S., died March 19, 1827; 2, Stephen, born Feb. 22, 1753, died Sept. 20, 1808; 3, Benjamin, born July 18, 1754, died March, 1787; 4, Amy, born Jan. 12, 1757, died March 24, 1834; 5, Captain Thomas, born Jan. 19, 1761, died April 22, 1812; 6, William, born Oct. 30, 1764, died Nov. 1, 1846. lived near Elmira, N. Y.; 7, Wilkes, born July 18, 1767, died April 1, 1838, lived near Elmira, N. Y.

V. (1). Colonel John Jenkins, son of Judge John and Lydia (Gardner) Jenkins, was born at Gardner's Lake, New London, Conn., Nov. 27, 1751, O. S., and died at his home on the Wyoming Battle Field, in Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., March 19, 1827. He served as Lieutenant in the American Army in the War of the Revolution and had an annual allowance of $240, from April 20, 1818, as a pensioner of the War of the American Revolution. (Bib.-12.) Later he served as Colonel in the Luzerne County Militia. In 1793 he was Lieutenant Colonel of the Second Regiment in which Waterman Baldwin and Constant Searl served as Major. In 1795-6 he served as one of the County Commissioners of Luzerne Co., and in 1803 was a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly. He built his home on the site of Fort Wintermute, in Exeter Township. The writer has not been able to learn whether the Wintermute farm was a part of the estate of Judge John Jenkins, or had been bought by his son, Colonel John Jenkins. It appears highly probable, however, that it was part of the estate of the former. Including this farm the Jenkins family owned all the land lying along the Susquehanna River from a point about 200 rods northeast of the Exeter-Kingston line to a point beyond the site of the old Scovel-Carpenter tavern, at the head of the valley, including the whole of the present borough of West Pittston, Pa., and nearly all of the borough of Exeter, as well as a considerable portion of Exeter Township lying beyond the limits of the two boroughs. Lot No. 2, Exeter, which adjoined the Wintermute-Jenkins farm, had been sold by Jonathan Dean, Esq., of Rhode Island to David Smith, previous to the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. March 18, 1819, Colonel John Jenkins sold Lot No. 3, Exeter, fifty rods wide and 460 rods deep, about 150 acres, to his son-in-law, Lot Breese, and his daughter, Rachel Jenkins, who later became the second wife of David Goodwin, (Family No. 1230—Goodwin). Fort Wintermute* stood on Lot No. 3, Exeter.

*Wintermute—The Wintermute (Windermoet, Wintermoet, Wintermuth, Wintermout, etc.) family came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Sussex Co., N. J., about 1772. Wintermute Island in the Susquehanna River and Fort Wintermute, which stood on Lot No. 3, in Exeter Township, were named for this family. "Sept. 14, 1772, Nicholas Phillips of Wyoming conveyed to Philip Wintermute of Mountain Township (Montayne Township?), Sussex Co., N. J., for £45, certain lands in Kingston Township and 116 acres north of Kingston (in what subsequently became Exeter Township), in Wyoming Valley, together with a dwelling house in which said Phillips then lived; said lands having been purchased by Phillips from Zebulon Butler, to whom they had been surveyed by John Jenkins, Surveyor, by order of Major John Durkee. This was the land on which Wintermute's Fort was subsequently erected and upon which the battle of Wyoming was fought." (Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, p. 1050.) Several members of this family were affiliated with the Dutch Reformed Church at Walpack, N. J., and Deer Park, Ulster Co., N. Y., in the Minisink Valley. From the records of these churches (Bib.-240) it appears that some of the early Wintermutes of the Wyoming Valley were:

1. Philip (name appears as Philip and Jury (George?) Philip), Windermoet, married (1) to Maria Juliana Huber (Hubrelin, Hover, Hoever), some of whose children were baptised as follows: 1, Johan Christoffel (Christopher), April 27, 1745, Johan Christoffel Dennemarken and Christina Elizabeth Barnhardin, his wife, sponsors; 2, Johannes, Oct. 25, 1747, Johannes Merckel and Ann Elizabeth Snauber, sponsors; 3, Abraham, Aug. 19, 1750, Abraham Westbrook and Sarah Westbroeck, sponsors; 4, Petrus, Oct. 7, 1753, Petrus Kortrecht and Maria Van Garden, sponsors; 5, Elizabeth, (1) Nov. 26, 1756, Johannes Westvael and Elizabeth Windemoet, sponsors; 6, Elizabeth (2), Jan. 28, 1759, James Megaurde and Elizabeth Majerin (Majer), sponsors; 7, Benjamin, Dec. 27, 1761. Philip Windermoet also apparently had two other sons, both older than the above named children, viz.: Philip, Jr., and Loendert (Leonard). Loendert was married to Phoebe Comstock and two of their children were baptised: 1, Philip, Nov. 13, 1763, Philip and Maria Wintermant, sponsors, and 2, Elizabeth, May 29, 1765, Johannes Beemer and Elizabeth Beemer, sponsors. Philip, Sr., was married (2) to Maria Hoogeling. They were parents of Benjamin, listed above.

2. Johan Jory Windermoet was married to Margarette Elizabeth Barnhardin and two of their children were baptised Sept. 11, 1746: 1, Maria Margaret, Johannes Snauber and his wife,

Colonel John Jenkins was married, June 23, 1778, in Fort Jenkins, Exeter District, now Luzerne Co., Pa., by the Rev. James Finn,* (Bib.-51) to Bethiah, born Sept. 14, 1752, died Aug. 12, 1842, daughter of Jonathan and Rachel (Otis) Harris,†

Elizabeth Windemoet, sponsors; 2, Maria Juliana, for whom Jory Philip and Maria Juliana (Huber) Windemoet were sponsors. He was probably a brother of Philip, Sr., or Jury Philip Windemoet.

3. Jury Wintermote, Jr., was married to Catharine Kortrecht, and four of their children were: 1, Elizabeth, baptised Dec. 16, 1764, Stoffel Wintermote and Elizabeth Kortrecht, widow, sponsors; 2, Mary, born Nov. 2, 1767, baptised Nov. 20, 1767, Johannes and Mary Wintermote, sponsors; 3, Lidia, baptised Feb. 10, 1773, Samuel Williamson and Lidia Kortrecht, sponsors; 4, Greitit, baptised Aug. 24, 1777, Margaret Week, sponsor.

The name of Philip Wintermute appears in the list of settlers at Wyoming, June 27, 1772, and on the Tax List for Exeter District, in 1776, 1777 and 1778. The name of John Wintermute (perhaps John Jory above) appears in the same lists for those years. The name of Philip Wintermute, Jr., is on the Exeter list for 1776, and that of Christopher Wintermute is on the Exeter lists for 1777 and 1778. According to Mr. Harvey (Bib.-1), Abraham, Peter and Benjamin Wintermute were also in Exeter in 1776 and 1777. These were sons of Philip Wintermute, Sr., (see above).

John Wintermute owned 300 acres of land, presumably in Exeter District. He joined Colonel Butler of the British Army in 1778 and served until the close of the war as a Corporal in the "Rangers." He and his family were living in Niagara, Canada, in Aug., 1787. (Bib.-1.)

A Philip Wintermute was in Fort Erie Township, District of Nassau, Province of Quebec, Canada, Oct. 2, 1792, when he executed a power of attorney to Leonard Wintermute (see Leendert above), a farmer of New York, for the sale of 300 acres of land lying on the "Capouse Creek, above Tripp, Esq.'s, farm." (Bib.-281.) Philip Wintermute, Sr., John Wintermute, Abraham Wintermute, Peter Wintermute, Philip Wintermute, Jr., Christopher (Stoffel) Wintermute, and Benjamin Wintermute were Tories in the War of the American Revolution. Abraham, John and Peter Wintermute were Corporals, and Abraham, Benjamin and Philip Wintermute, Jr., were privates in Colonel Walter Butler's infamous Butler's Rangers. Two of the Wintermutes, thoroughly familiar with the whole outlying section of the Wyoming Valley, led the British, Tory and Indian forces into the Wyoming Valley and brought about the surrender of Fort Wintermute to Major Butler. (See Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre, Vol. II, pp. 992 and 1050, and New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, Vol. XXXI, p. 12.)

*The name of James Finn appears on the Westmoreland Tax List for the North District (Exeter and Providence) in 1777. He was an Elder of the Baptist Church, and was an original owner of at least 300 acres of land in Exeter. June 2, 1792, he sold to Richard Halstead, Jr., three tracts of land in Exeter, the survey for which began at the northwest corner of Pittston Township and extended 124 rods up the river. He is described in this deed as James Finn, Gentleman. Sept. 26, 1792, he sold to William Danielson 700 acres of land in Exeter, "Beginning at a post on the bank of the river at the corner of lands of Richard Halstead," etc. This tract is described as consisting of "100 acres I bought from Isaiah Halstead, 300 acres laid out on a one-half proprietor right I bought from David Marvin (Family No. 1041—Marvin), and 300 acres laid out on a right of which I was the original owner." In a deed of Aug. 21, 1793, by which William Danielson (or Donaldson) conveyed title to this land to John Tripp the tract is described as extending 160 rods on the river. These lands lay in the vicinity of the present Coxton, an important freight yard of the Lehigh Valley Railway Company, and at least part of them were included in the 1,200 acre tract of which John Phillips is named warrantee. June 13, 1792, James Finn was of Pittston, Luzerne Co., Pa., when he bought from Edward Mott of Preston, New London Co., Conn., for £36, Lot No. 42 of the First One Hundred Acre Lots of Pittston, bounded west (?) on the Lackawanna River, north on lands of Jeremiah Blanchard, (Lot No. 41), east on the Back Road, and southerly on lands of James Brown (Lot 43), also one pine lot and the whole of the undivided land in the township, "on the settling right laid out and held by Isaac Tracey and his heirs, in my name or behalf, as I was a full proprietor." Aug. 27, 1792, he bought from Jeremiah Blanchard certain water rights, across Lot 41, which are more fully described in sketch of Barnum Family—No. 1001. James Finn built a sawmill on Lot 42 and May 25, 1794, sold to his son, Solomon Finn, "one equal one-fourth part of my sawmill now standing on Lot 42 and one-fourth of my right, title of a mill seat or mill seats, dam or dams, and ditch or raceway, water and waterworks, and ten acres of Lot 42." James Finn sold to Eliphalet Stephens, Jr., "all of my Lot No. 42, except ten acres sold to Solomon Finn, together with one-half my sawmill, one-half my right to a mill seat, and all the right I have, or ever had, to dig ditches on Jeremiah Blanchard's land." It appears very probable to the writer that one daughter of James Finn was Sibbel, the wife of Richard Halstead, Jr., and that one of his daughters was married to Eliphalet Stephens, Jr. James Finn was of Tunkhannock Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Aug. 30, 1797, when his will was made. "Reserving out of said land so much thereof as is enclosed or intended to be enclosed for a burying ground." He also owned Lot No. 53 in Putnam, which he sold, Dec. 3, 1793, to Samuel Roberts of Hanover, Pa., (Family No. 988—Roberts) and Lot 52 in Putnam, which he owned at the time of his death. His administrators sold this latter lot to Stephen Barnum and he sold it later to Jabez and Benjamin, sons of Stephen Jenkins. Lot 53 is described as being in the Township of Putnam, and some of the landmarks named in the deed were: "The corner of Solomon Avery's land;" "The Town Line;" "Near Tague's Creek." On Feb. 21, 1831, Jabez Jenkins conveyed title to 300 acres of Lot 52, Putnam, to Eunice Atwater and, May 14, 1822, sold part of Lot 52 to his brother, Benjamin.

Stephen Jenkins appears to have been an active pro-Yankee in the Yankee Penamite controversy and his name appears in various of the court proceedings which grew out of that strife. His brother, Colonel John Jenkins, Stephen Jenkins, Martin Dudley, Joseph Kilburn, Thomas Kinney, Nathan Abbott, Jr., Ephraim Tyler and Darius Parks were charged in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Sept., 1788, with abetting the riot, rout, unlawful assembly, assault and battery, and the false imprisonment of Timothy Pickerings for 19 days, etc. John Tuttle (Family No. 1174—Tuttle) was held as a witness. (See Harvey's "Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley.") In Jan., 1792, he was appointed Constable for Tunkhannock Township and, at the same session of the Court of Quarter Sessions, he was appointed with Asahel Atherton, Elisha Harding, John Harding, Joseph Earl and John Jenkins, viewers to lay out a road from Buttermilk Creek through Tunkhannock Township, "being about one-half mile above Justus Jones' mill standing on said creek to the line of Wyalusing Township." His name appears as Assessor with Solomon Avery, Esq., and Elisha Harding, as assistants, on the Tax List for Tunkhannock in 1792. In 1804 he was appointed Constable for Exeter Township. His sons, Thomas and Jabez, were appointed administrators of his estate. The children of Stephen and Elizabeth (Jaques) Jenkins were, (order of birth not certain): 1, Palmer, deceased in 1819, married to Polly ———. Their son, John, living, Jan. 1, 1819, in Gates, Genesee Co., N. Y., and their son, David, also living there Feb. 2, 1820, both of full age; 2, Thomas, living in Tunkhannock Township, July 3, 1813; 3, Samuel, and his wife, Cynthia, living in Elmira, Chemung Co., N. Y., Nov. 15, 1816; 4, David, living at Caneadea, Allegany Co., N. Y., Sept. 19, 1816; 5, Jabez, born June 13, 1784, (see later); 6, Benjamin, born about 1787, (see later); 7, Sally, married to Joseph Whitaker, living at Greece, Monroe Co., N. Y., April 5, 1823; 8, Hugh, a minor in 1807; 9, Mary, born about 1792, married to Calvin Daily,* living in Tunkhannock Township, July 17, 1813; 10, Amy, born Dec. 9, 1795, died Feb. 10, 1831, married to Elisha Harding, (Family No. 992—Harding); 11, Bethia, married to Archbald Jenkins, living at Southport, Tioga, Co., N. Y., Feb. 24, 1824; 12, Lydia, born about 1799, living, not married, April 5, 1828, at Eaton, now Wyoming Co., Pa.

VI. (5). Jabez, son of Stephen and Elizabeth (Jaques) Jenkins, was born June 13, 1784, and died Dec. 14, 1861. He was married to Permelia, born about 1786, died July 25, 1851, aged 66 years, daughter of Stephen and Ruth Barnum. (Family No. 1001—Barnum.) They established their home near what is now La Grange, Wyoming Co., Pa., and he became a prosperous farmer and a leading citizen of Wyoming Co. With his wife and his mother he is buried in the Jackson Cemetery

*In the Gardner Memorial Cemetery at Ransom, Lackawanna Co., Pa., there is standing the tombstone of Mary Daily, who died May 14, 1790, in the 90th year of her age. The writer does not recall having found, in any other cemetery, in the Susquehanna River Valley, between Mehoopany and Shickshinny, a tombstone marking the last resting place of any other persons born as early as 1701. This Mary Daily was doubtless the mother of Samuel Daily, who lived on Lot 20 in Exeter in 1786. July 14, 1786, he bought from Clement West and Prudence, his wife, of Exeter, in the settlement of Wyoming, one-half of Lot 20, 150 acres, in Exeter Township, abutting on the Susquehanna River and lying parallel to the lot owned by the heirs of John Gardner, (Family No. 988—Gardner) and upon which Samuel Daily was then living. April 29, 1788, he bought the other half of the lot, 150 acres, from Clement West, then of Walkill, N. Y. John Phillips and Joseph Daily witnessed the signing of the first of these deeds and Timothy Pickering and Timothy Johnson the signing of the second. This land had been drawn on a half share or right in the Susquehanna Company, which Elisha Hollister sold to Eleazer Burnham of Glassenburg, Hartford Co., Conn., who sold it, Feb. 28, 1774, for £15 to Joseph Washburne of Kent, Litchfield Co., Conn. Aug. 16, 1774, Joseph Washburne of Westmoreland assigned it to Eleazer West of the same town, and John Bennett and Gideon Church (Family No. 1313—Bennett, and No. 992—Church) signed the deed as witnesses. At Shongunch (Shawangunk, Ulster Co., N. Y.?), Jan. 16, 1786, Eleazer West assigned the claim to Clement West of Westmoreland.

Samuel Daily had at least three sons: 1, Samuel Daily, who lived in Walkill, Orange Co., N. Y., March 11, 1795, who described himself as one of the heirs of Samuel Daily, late of Exeter, and who then sold to, 2, Joseph Daily one equal third part of one certain half right of land in Exeter. "The lot on which my honored father, Samuel Daily, lived." John Phillips and Sally Wilson were witnesses; 3, David, who was assessed in Tunkhannock Township in 1792, and who, Dec. 12, 1796, sold to Thomas Williams "one-third of the one-half lot which belonged to my honored father." Joseph Daily and John Phillips were witnesses. It was doubtless this Samuel Daily, Sr., who was married before Jan. 7, 1794, to Mrs. Content Hadsell, widow of James Hadsell, of Exeter, who was killed by Indians July 1, 1778. (See Family No. 992—Hadsell.) The farm of 203 acres owned by Joseph Daily appears on the Warrantee Map as lying on the Susquehanna River and bounded upstream by a tract of 261 acres of which Richard Gardner was the Warrantee. William Slocum owned 221 acres adjoining Richard Gardner, Abraham Bradley was the Warrantee on 140 acres adjoining Slocum. Comfort Shaw owned 118 acres adjoining Bradley and Ebenezer Williams' (Family No. 992—Harding) farm of 118 acres adjoined that of Shaw. Peleg Comstock (Family No. 1021—Comstock) was Warrantee on 226 acres lying back from the river between the Ebenezer Williams farm and the present Newton Township line.

David, son of Samuel Daily, was assessed in Tunkhannock Township in 1792 and was living there Jan. 1, 1817, when, with his wife, Betsey, he sold land in Northmoreland Township to Nathaniel Fitch. (Family No. 988—Fitch.) Two of their sons were, apparently, Calvin, who was married to Mary, daughter of Stephen and Elizabeth (Jaques) Jenkins, and Luther, who was married to Minerva, daughter of Levi and Rebecca Townsend, of Falls Township. (Family No. 994—Townshend.) David Dailey lived in the portion of Tunkhannock Township which, in 1824, was formed into Falls Township.

at La Grange. Their children were: 1, Ruth, born 1811, died 1880, married to Stephen G., born 1805, died 1868, son of Elisha and Martha (Rider) Harding, (Family No. 992—Harding); 2, Mahala, born Jan. 29, 1813, died Sept., 1863, married to Thomas A., son of George and Sally B. (Avery) Miller, (Family No. 1017—Miller); 3, Palmer, born Nov. 2, 1814, died Nov. 26, 1894, married to Jane Brown, born April 26, 1816, died Aug. 6, 1890, (Sunny Side Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa.), daughter of James, Esq., born Sept. 12, 1791, died June 29, 1861, and Martha Brown, born March 26, 1796, died March 31, 1837, (Mary, born April 3, 1800, the second wife of James Brown, Esq., was drowned in the flood in Bowman's Creek, April 29, 1850; Palmer and Jane (Brown) Jenkins adopted a son, Washington E. Avery, born May 7, 1851, died Aug. 25, 1855, and also adopted a daughter; 4, Elijah, born Sept. 20, 1816, died July 25, 1857, married, at Wilkes-Barre, Oct. 17, 1844, to Nancy Fitch of Falls, Pa., daughter of Nathaniel Fitch,* born Aug. 4, 1823, died July 15, 1875, who was married (2), in 1861, to Newman Miller, (Family No. 1017—Miller). Elijah and Nancy (Fitch) Jenkins are buried in Gravel Hill Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa. Their children were: (1), Frances, born 1845, died 1897, married to Daniel J. Bardwell, born 1836, died 1895, (Sunny Side Cemetery, Tunkhannock), (Family No. 988—Jones—Bardwell); (2), Permelia, born Oct., 1849, died March 8, 1881, married to John Flummerfelt; (3), Sarah; 5, Mary, born July 21, 1818, died Oct. 22, 1857, married to Thomas, born July 11, 1808, died Aug. 16, 1887, son of David and Sarah (Mitchell) Osterhout (Family No. 50—Osterhout), buried in Jackson Cemetery, La Grange, Pa.; 6, Caroline, born Feb., 1820, died Nov. 19, 1858, married, as first wife, to Newman, born July 7, 1809, died July 12, 1893, (Jackson Cemetery, La Grange, Pa.), son of Thomas and Rachel (Newman) Miller, (Family No. 1017—Miller and No. 1017—Newman); 7, Jonathan, born Dec. 18, 1821, died April 2, 1894, married to Alzina Forman, (Jackson Cemetery, La Grange, Pa.); 8, Zenus Barnum, born Aug. 16, 1823, died Aug. 17, 1877, married to Climena, born Sept. 20, 1825, died June 30, 1869, daughter of Damon and Synthia (Taylor) Stevens, (Family No. 1312—Stevens and No. 35—Taylor), buried in Eatonville, Pa., Cemetery; 9, Martha, born March 13, 1826, died Aug. 24, 1900, married to John, born Nov. 16, 1819, died Oct. 12, 1898, son of Daniel and Susan (Ferver) Lee (Family No. 994—Lee), buried in South Eaton, Wyoming Co., Pa., Cemetery; 10, David Barnum, born Feb. 4, 1828, died April 23, 1858, married to Sarah A., born Feb. 6, 1835, died Nov. 20, 1865, daughter of Charles, born Dec. 3, 1802, died July 18, 1885, and Sarah Ann (Stark) Harris, born May 16, 1810. (Eatonville, Pa., Cemetery.) (Family No. 1021—Harris.)

VI. (6). Benjamin, son of Stephen and Elizabeth (Jaques) Jenkins, was born about 1785, and died June 16, 1852, aged 67 years. He was married to Mary (or Polly) Van Fleet, who was born in Sept., 1798, and died Feb. 16, 1870. Benjamin Jenkins was a farmer. His farm was situated along the highway leading from Tunkhannock to Vosburg in Wyoming Co., Pa. In his will, which was made in Tunkhan-

*The name of Jonathan Fitch appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists in 1776-7-8 as a resident of Wilkes-Barre District, and also on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for 1780-1. Sept. 12, 1783, describing himself as of Wyoming he sold to John Ryon, for 40 Spanish milled dollars, "One certain dwelling house in which I now live and one and three-quarters acres of land, with the well and other privileges." Abner or Abram Kelly and Henry Harding signed the deed, which was attested, before Timothy Pickering, by Henry Harding, Dec. 31, 1788. In 1792 the name of John Fitch appears on the Tunkhannock District Tax List. Two other members of the Fitch family were: 1, Gideon, born in 1771, died Feb. 11, 1843, (see Family No. 1334—Fitch), and 2, Nathaniel, born Feb. 12, 1782, died Sept. 14, 1839, who, Jan. 1, 1817, bought from David and Betsey Daily certain lands in Northmoreland Township. The Nathaniel Fitch homestead farm with private burial plot, is situated in what is now Falls Township, Wyoming Co., Pa. Nathaniel Fitch was married to Sarah, born June 28, 1785, died Feb. 6, 1856, daughter of Paul and Sarah Burt (Cornwal) Keeler (Family No. 12—Keeler), and his children were: 1, Seymour, born Aug. 29, 1802, died July 15, 1855, married to Elizabeth ———, born Dec. 21, 1811, died June 7, 1866; 2, Nathaniel, Jr.; 3, Giles, born June 9, 1804, died Oct. 14, 1890, married to Emily G., born July 19, 1806, died Aug. 5, 1873; 4, Margaret; 5, Morgan, born in 1809, married, in 1828, to Mary A. Nathaniel and Sarah (Keeler) Fitch and their children, Seymour, Spencer, Allen and Mary, are buried on the homestead, Giles and Abigail are buried in Roberts' Cemetery, nearby.

Jacob Sickler, born Oct. 14, 1773, died Nov. 9, 1830, and his wife, Hannah Chatfield, are buried in Roberts' Cemetery, near Falls, Pa. His will was made in Falls Township, Nov. 4, 1830, and was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 15, 1830. It names his wife, Hannah, and part of his children, viz.: 1, William; 2, Jacob, Jr., born March 17, 1810, died May 21, 1855, married to Abigail Fitch; 3, John; 4, Miles; 5, Elizabeth, born Feb. 2, 1817, died Nov. 26, 1893, married to Spencer Fitch; 6, Hannah.

nock Township, May 6, 1852, and was probated at Tunkhannock, Pa., June 28, 1852, he reserved a portion of the farm as a family burial plot, and there he and his wife and several of their children are buried. March 14, 1822, Benjamin Jenkins bought from his brother, Jabez Jenkins, for $500, part of Lot 52 on Teague's Creek, an equal undivided half of Teague's Flat and a one-half interest in a saw mill. The deed conveyed title to about 300 acres. Lot 52 had belonged to Stephen Jenkins, their father, had been sold by the administrators of his estate Jan. 10, 1812, to Stephen Barnum (Family No. 1001—Barnum), who had conveyed the title later to Jabez and Benjamin Jenkins. Bennett B. Harding and his wife, Mary Matilda, are buried on the Benjamin Jenkins homestead.

V. (3). Benjamin, son of Judge John and Lydia (Gardner) Jenkins, was born July 18, 1754, and died in Exeter, Pa., in March, 1787. His death is said to have been caused by cruelties inflicted upon him by Pennamites. He was married, in 1777, to Affa Baldwin, who was born Dec. 4, 1760, was married (2) to John, son of Stephen and Amy (Gardner) Harding (Family No. 992—Harding), and died March 23, 1832, (Harding Cemetery, Exeter, Pa.). On Aug. 23, 1799, on petition of Benjamin and Mary Jenkins and Davis and Betsey Dimock, children and heirs of Benjamin Jenkins, the Orphans' Court of Luzerne Co. appointed John Jenkins guardian to Benjamin F. and Mary Jenkins and Davis Dimock as guardian to his wife, Betsey, late Betsey Jenkins.

VI. (1). Benjamin F., son of Benjamin and Affa (Baldwin) Jenkins, was born in Exeter, now Luzerne Co., Pa., Sept. 27, 1778, and died in Eaton, now Wyoming Co., Pa., Jan. 11, 1839. He was married to Elizabeth Carey, who was born in Feb., 1775, and died Aug. 13, 1831, (or July 30, 1831). They are buried in the Eatonville, Pa., Cemetery. VI. (2). Elizabeth, daughter of Benjamin and Affa (Baldwin) Jenkins, was born in 1780 and died Dec. 1, 1852. She was married, June 5, 1797, to Elder Davis, born at Rocky Hill, Conn., (Hartford Co.) May 27, 1776, and died at Montrose, Susquehanna Co., Pa., Sept. 27, 1858, son of Lieutenant David and Sarah Green Dimock. Lieutenant David Dimock served in the Connecticut Militia in the War of the American Revolution. In 1819 he was a Federal Pensioner. He died Feb. 14, 1832. His wife, Mrs. Sarah Green Dimock, died in 1812, aged 66 years. Lieutenant Dimock came to Pittston, Luzerne Co., Pa., and, in 1795, owned land there. David Dimock, James Brown, Jr., and Dr. Nathaniel Giddings were members of a Committee of Proprietors of Pittston who, Sept. 6, 1798, leased a mill site, bounded by the Lackawanna River on the north, Smith's Forge on the south and lands of the heirs of Ebenezer Marcy on the west, to Robert Faulkner. Three of the sons of Lieutenant David and Sarah (Green) Dimock were: 1, David, Jr., who was in Clifford, Pa., March 24, 1817; 2, Major Asa S., of the 129th Regiment, Pennsylvania Militia, who removed to Herrick, Susquehanna Co., Pa., and three of whose sons were: Warren, Shuball and Asa, Jr.; 3, Elder Davis Dimock.

Elder Davis Dimock and his wife, Betsey (Jenkins) Dimock, settled first in Exeter, Luzerne Co., Pa., where he acquired title to extensive tracts of farm lands. They later removed to Montrose, Susquehanna Co., Pa. Elder Davis was a noted preacher of the Baptist Church and it is also said of him that he was a physician. He gave to the struggling Baptist Church of his day a service extending from the date of his ordination, Aug. 20, 1803, throughout his long life. Ten of the twelve children of Elder Davis and Betsey Elizabeth (Jenkins) Dimock were, (order of birth not known to writer): 1, Sarah, married, April 19, 1815, to Nehemiah Scott; 2, John H.; 3, David; 4, Benjamin J., married, Oct. 8, 1821, to Betsey Mowry; 5, Betsey, married, Feb. 23, 1823, to Hubbard Avery, died Aug. 18, 1836; 6, Davis, Jr., died Jan. 13, 1842, married, Oct. 4, 1832, to Mariah Ward; 7, Lydia C., married, Oct. 23, 1832, to Leonard, son of Roger and Catharine (Scott) Searl, (Family No. 993—Searl); 8, Mary, born April, 1810, died Jan. 6, 1819; 9, Asa Green, born 1814, married, April 7, 1833, to Mary Bennit; 10, Gordon, born Feb. 26, 1821.

VI. (3). Mary, daughter of Benjamin and Affa (Baldwin) Jenkins, was born Sept. 14, 1787, and died Sept. 19, 1867. She was married, Jan. 26, 1809, by Elder Davis Dimock, to John, born in Jan., 1786, died March 29, 1867, son of Major Waterman and Celinda (Hazen) Baldwin,* of Pittston Township. Some of their children

*William Baldwin, Asa Baldwin, John Baldwin and Mrs. Affa (Baldwin) Jenkins-Harding were doubtless all children of Major Waterman and Celinda (Hazen) Baldwin. Major Waterman Baldwin was born at Norwich, Conn., Jan. 8, 1758, and died at Elmira, N. Y., April 21, 1810. (Bib.-3.) He was married to Celinda Hazen. He came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., where, June 7, 1777, he enlisted as private in the Second Independent Company of Westmoreland Militia, commanded by Captain Robert Durkee, and served under Captain Durkee and later under Captain Simon Spalding in the Connecticut Continental Line, in the War of the American Revolution. His brother, Thomas Baldwin, was Third Sergeant in the Company of Captain Durkee and a Sergeant in Captain Simon Spalding's Company. (Bib.-1 and 3.) Walter Baldwin was also a private in Captain Durkee's Company. Waterman Baldwin also served as a scout during the expedition of General John Sullivan. After the war he settled in Pittston District, now Luzerne Co., Pa., where he became a prominent citizen, and the owner of many tracts of land. He also owned a settling right in Athens, then Luzerne Co., Pa. He was an innkeeper at Pittston in 1788-89-90-91 and in 1795. In 1791 and 1792 Jonathan Davis was the innkeeper there. In 1796 Robert Faulkner and in 1797, 1798, 1800 and 1801 Amos Fell were licensed innkeepers at Pittston. It appears that he operated a ferry at Pittston in 1789. He served in 1793 as Major of the Second Regiment of Luzerne Co., Pa., Militia. About 1799 he removed to Elmira, N. Y., and was subsequently appointed Indian Agent by the United States Government (Bib.-3), and took up his residence at Starkil, N. Y., where he remained until 1809. (See History Lodge No. 61, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., by Oscar J. Harvey, p. 25). He became a member of Lodge 61, F. and A. M., Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 13, 1796.

Among the real estate transactions of Waterman Baldwin were the following: April 23, 1789, Jeremiah Blanchard to Waterman Baldwin, one acre of the Town lot "I drew by lottery in the first allotment of Pittston and whereon Waterman Baldwin's house now stands;" April 23, 1789, James Brown, Jr., to Waterman Baldwin, a three acre lot bounded south on lands of Isaac Allen, east on lands of Elijah Silsbee, north on the Main road to Baldwin Ferry, "with English grain growing thereon;" March 20, 1790, Stephen Preston to Waterman Baldwin, Lot 32 of the 100 acre lots, "beginning at the corner of the Widow Wilcox land, and running east on her line to Miller's Mill Creek," etc.; Oct. 18, 1782, Peter Hogeboom, executor of the will of Jeremiah Hogeboom, (name on Westmoreland Tax List for Pittston in 1776), two parcels, the first situated near the old Fort called (1792) Lackawanna Fort, bounded east by the road as it formerly run, south by the Fort Plot, west by the lot formerly owned by Solomon Strong, north by lands formerly owned by Noah Adams, being one and one-half of the lots called Fort Lots, also an house lot, being in the south part of the old Fort, and which is the same land Jeremiah Hogeboom purchased from Isaac Adams. perhaps John. Mrs. Amy (Jenkins) Williams was married (2) to Asahel, son of James Atherton (Family No. 992—Atherton), and, after her second marriage lived in Putnam Township and probably died there.

V. (5). Captain Thomas, son of Judge John and Lydia (Gardner) Jenkins was born Jan. 19, 1761, and died April 22, 1812. He is buried in the Jenkins Cemetery at West Pittston, Pa., He was married to Eleanor Shontz, who died at Walled Lake, Oakland Co., Mich., in April, 1842. Thomas Jenkins was in Jenkins' Fort, July 1, 1778, when it was surrendered to the British, and fled, with his mother and her family, to Connecticut. He returned to the Wyoming Valley in 1782 and was among the settlers driven out by the Pennamites in May, 1784. Later in the same year, or early in 1785, he again came to the Wyoming Valley, where he remained until his death. (Bib.-1.) Oct. 3, 1799, Lieutenant Colonel Robert Faulkner issued a call for an assembly of Captain Taylor's and Captain Stevens' Companies of the 2d Regiment of Luzerne County Militia at the house of Thomas Jenkins in Exeter. (Bib.-338.) In 1800 he was Captain of a company in this regiment.

Captain Thomas Jenkins inherited from his father the portion of the present borough of West Pittston which lies along the Susquehanna River and from about the present line of Luzerne avenue in the borough, including the site of Fort Jenkins. His lands adjoined, on the west, the lands of his brother, Stephen. He also owned a tract of 500 acres, on which his name appears as warrantee, lying in the valley back of West Pittston. James Scovel bought from Thomas Jenkins, Sept. 17, 1801, 48 acres of Lot 7 in Exeter and the tract is described as "The Lot Scovel now lives on." This was evidently the site of the famous old Scovel Tavern at the head of the valley, kept by James Scovel in 1798 and, later, by his wife, Thankful Scovel, 1810-1816. His son-in-law, Charles Fuller, kept it in 1819-1821. It was sold, by Thankful Scovel, in 1834, to Balser and John (Sharps) Carpenter. (Family No. 1311—Carpenter.) Jenkins' Ferry, which crossed the Susquehanna River, one of the very old ferries in the Wyoming Valley, was also the property of Captain Thomas Jenkins. It is said to have been established by John Jenkins, Isaac Tripp and Jonathan Dean in 1772. (Bib.-56.) The ferry was operated from the foot of what is now Exeter street, West Pittston, and was continued in service until about 1850, when the First Ferry bridge was built. It was operated by David Jenkins, son of Thomas Jenkins, in 1836. (See Bridges, Toll Gates and Ferries, Family No. 987.) Mrs. Laney (Eleanor) Jenkins, widow of Thomas Jenkins, sold to Amos York Smith (Family No. 1324—Smith) about 60 acres of land in what is now West Pittston, Pa., by whom it was plotted into building lots. The present York avenue extended through this tract. Captain Thomas Jenkins served Exeter Township as Supervisor in 1796-8 and 1801-2, as Overseer of the Poor in 1804, and in 1800 and 1803 served on the County Committee of Freeholders. In 1792 he was appointed Assessor of Exeter Township. The township that year did not include the present townships of Newton and Ransom, but was bounded by the Susquehanna River. The Tax List, as returned by Thomas Jenkins, who was assisted by Captain Stephen Harding and Mr. Peter Harris, who were appointed "At a meeting legally warned and held at the house of Mr. Peter Harris," contains only 25 names, including those of three single freemen.

The children of Captain Thomas and Eleanor (Shontz) Jenkins were: 1, Polly, married (1) to James Slocum, married (2) to Joel Smith, two children, William and Joel, married (3) to Joseph Shaw, (Family No. 36—Shaw); 2, Benjamin, born Nov. 26, 1792, died May 28, 1861, (see later); 3, Adah, born May 21, 1794, died Aug. 24, 1866, married, March 5, 1817, to Peirce, born Dec. 15, 1795, died Oct. 25, 1884, son of Benjamin and Wealthy Ann (York) Smith, both of whom are buried in the Walled Lake, Oakland Co., Mich., Cemetery, (see Family No. 1324—Smith); 4, Mehetable, born March 18, 1796, died July 6, 1862, married to Dr. John, born Nov. 4, 1789, died Aug. 24, 1869, (Forty Fort Cemetery), son of Benjamin and Wealthy Ann (York) Smith, (Family No. 1324—Smith); 5, David, married March 31, 1822, to Mary Hallock, (Family No. 38—Hallock); 6, Thomas, removed to Michigan; 7, Frances, married to Joseph Beach son of Joseph and Mary (Lee) Tuttle, (Family No. 1174—Tuttle); 8, John, born July 25, 1806, died Feb. 16, 1866, married to Lydia, born Dec. 7, 1810, died Dec. 18, 1889, (Mt. Zion Cemetery, Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa.), daughter of Peter and Mary (Allshouse) Barber, (Family No. 1292—Barber); 9, Cathran, born Nov. 29, 1808, died Dec. 9, 1890, married to Daniel, born May 30, 1807, died Oct. 24, 1876, son of Nathan and Catharine (Osterhout) Jones, (Family No. 988—Sharps-Hice Jones).

VI. (2). Benjamin, son of Captain Thomas and Eleanor (Shontz) Jenkins, was born Nov. 26, 1792, and died May 28, 1861. He was a carpenter and joiner and also a farmer. He was married to Sarah, born Nov. 7, 1794, died Feb. 28, 1872, daughter of John and Mary (Bennett) Tuttle. (Family No. 1174—Tuttle.) They are buried in Jenkins Cemetery, West Pittston, Pa. Vandenburg, born 1850, died 1915, are also buried; 7, Catharine, born Oct. 10, 1824, died Jan. 16, 1896, (Jenkins Cemetery, West Pittston, Pa.), married to John Baker, who was born in Cambria Co., Pa., and died at Wapakneta, Ohio; 8, Holden Tripp, born Aug. 9, 1826, died Feb. 7, 1837; 9, Mary, born Dec. 10, 1826, died June 6, 1869 (Walled Lake Cemetery, Oakland Co., Mich.) married to Jacob, son of Henry and Anna (Linnabury) Kern (Family No. 1216—Kern), lived in Commerce, Oakland Co., Mich.; 10, Sarah, born Dec. 7, 1832, died June 9, 1861, married, at Wyoming, Pa., June 26, 1849, by the Rev. *Knapp. John Knapp, a carpenter, of Minisink, Orange Co., N. Y., Nov. 21, 1792, bought from Richard, Jr., and Sibbel Halstead of Pittston, 300 acres of land in Exeter Township, adjoining the Pittston Line and lands of John Scott, and Feb. 19, 1793, William Knapp, Sr., and John Knapp, both of Orange Co., N. Y., bought from John Carey and Lucy, his wife, 30 acres of land in Pittston, lying along the Lackawanna River. "Beginning on the bank of the Lackawanna River three or four rods east from the Red Spring and running northerly to the Exeter and Pittston line, thence in company with said line to a corner of Daniel St. John's land." John Knapp sold 93½ acres of his 300 acre purchase to Joseph Horsefield of Bethlehem, Northampton Co., Pa., March 4, 1796, and on the same day William, Sr., and John Knapp sold to Joseph Horsefield six acres of the 30 acres they bought from John and Lucy Carey. April 2 of the same year they sold to him an additional acre. William Knapp of Pittston was deceased Jan. 18, 1815, when his heirs sold to William Knapp of Lenox, Susquehanna Co., Pa., for $1.00 all their interest in 203 acres of land in Exeter, which is described in the deed as the "same tract of land our deceased father, William Knapp, died possessed." This was apparently the remainder of the 300 acre tract John Knapp bought from Richard Halstead, Jr., in 1793. The heirs named in the deed are: John Halstead, Rachel Halstead, Jonathan Knapp, John, Daniel, Amans and Ira Seeley, Isaac and Moses Smith, William Knapp and Nathaniel Davis. John Morrison appeared before Eri Adams, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Sussex Co., N. J., Jan. 21, 1815, and declared he saw John, Daniel, Amans and Ira Seeley, Isaac and Moses Smith and Nathaniel Davis sign the deed, suggesting that these were grandchildren of William Knapp, living in Sussex Co., N. J. Peter Rynearson declared, in Susquehanna Co., Pa., that he saw Jonathan Knapp and Rachel Halstead sign the deed, suggesting that they were then residents of Susquehanna Co., Pa.

A William Knapp, of Providence Township, Feb. 26, 1803, bought from William Case 23 acres of Lot 24 in Providence Township and in what is now the borough of Dunmore. This was probably the William Knapp to whom Warren Buttolph, of Blakely Township, sold four acres of Lot 26, also in the present borough of Dunmore, together with a fulling mill and carding machine. This old fulling mill was owned by John Waters in 1816 and he, with Isaac Hart, owned the carding machine. In 1818 Isaac Hart sold to John Waters a one-half interest in a sawmill built by Isaac Hart on Lot 26. June 14, 1816, John Waters sold to Loami Mott of Middleton, Susquehanna Co., Pa., for $1,000, all his right and title to the fulling mill on Lot 26 and a one-half interest in the carding machine. March 14, 1818, Loami Mott and his wife, Polly Mott of Middleton, Susquehanna Co., Pa., sold to Rufus Bennett of Hanover, for $1,000, all rights in the fulling mill on Lackawanna Creek on Lot No. 26, also one undivided half interest in the carding machine owned and occupied by Loami Mott and Isaac Hart. Rufus Bennett bought a half interest in John Waters' sawmill on Lot No. 26, April 5, 1821, and, in the same year, bought from John Waters and his wife, Zulina, an additional quarter acre of land. In 1823 Rufus Bennett and his wife, Hannah, sold their interests in the property to Henry Champion of Hillsdale, Columbia Co., N. Y., who evidently sold it to Warren Buttolph of Blakely, Pa., who, with his wife, Mary, sold the property to William Knapp.

I. Zephaniah Knapp, born May 8, 1736, died Jan. 21, 1816, lived in Walkill, Orange Co., N. Y., in 1790, and had in family living at home, himself, three males over 16, one male under 16 and three females, presumably four sons and two or three daughters. March 4, 1793, he described himself as a joiner and as of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., when he bought from John Finch, a blacksmith (Family No. 14—Finch), of Pittston, Lot No. 50, 130 acres of the last division of lots in Pittston, together with the pine lot which belonged with it. This lot is described as part of the original right of Noah and Isaac Adams. A warrant from the commissioners was executed to Zephaniah Knapp, Oct. 6, 1802. He assigned the warrant to his son, Joseph Knapp, July 11, 1815, who, in turn, assigned it to his son, Zephaniah Knapp 3d. Zephaniah Knapp is buried in Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa. Three of his sons were: 1, Joseph, born Nov. 29, 1762, died Aug. 10, 1833; 2, Benjamin, born Aug. 30, 1772, died Oct. 23, 1849; 3, Zephaniah, Jr., born May 13, 1778, died Oct. 30, 1861.

At the close of the war he became identified with coal mining interests and from 1865 to 1876 was Superintendent of the Greenwood Colliery. In 1877 he became Superintendent of the Spring Brook Railroad, a lumber line. He was a member of the mercantile house of John S. Jenkins and Co. from 1871 to 1876, and was in business alone from 1879 to 1882. THE STEPHEN GARDNER FAMILY

I. Stephen Gardner, probably a son of John Gardner of Kingstown, R. I., and probably born about 1675, was a resident of Kingstown, Feb. 24, 1704, when his son, Stephen, was born. His son, II, Stephen Gardner, Jr., was of North Kingstown, R. I., May 4, 1725, when, at the session of the General Assembly, he was admitted a freeman of the Colony of Rhode Island. A John Gardner, of North Kingstown, was also admitted a freeman of the Colony of Rhode Island at the session of the General Assembly held the third Tuesday of Feb., 1723-4, and a John Gardner, of Kingstown, was admitted a freeman, May 1, 1722. On this latter date John Jenkins, of Kingstown, the father of Judge John Jenkins, who was married to Lydia, daughter of Stephen Gardner, Jr., (Family No. 988—Jenkins) was admitted a freeman, together with William, Peleg, Jr., Richard, Benjamin and Joseph Mumford, all of Kingstown, R. I. (Bib.-25.) Stephen Gardner, Sr., removed from Kingstown, R. I., and settled in the town of Colchester, New London Co., Conn., near a sheet of water which became known as Gardner's Lake. He is named in a letter written April 9, 1739, by John Richards, to Governor Talcott, and printed in Vol. V of the Collections of the Connecticut Historical Society, among the Talcott papers, as a grantee of 437 acres of land owned by the Mohegan Indians and granted to Stephen Gardner by "Old Uncas." The Gardner name also appears in the same letter in connection with

He was married to Nancy, born April 5, 1786, died May 14, 1869, daughter of Joseph and Catharine (—) Fellows, of Providence Township, now Scranton, Lackawanna Co., Pa. He is described as Zephaniah Knapp, Jr., of Pittston, in a deed of Oct. 5, 1815, by which Joseph Fellows conveyed to him title to lands on the west bank of the Lackawanna River, in Providence Township, adjoining lands of Philip Heermans and Preserved Taylor. He lived in the "Hyde Park" section of what is now Scranton, Pa. His will was made at Hyde Park, Nov. 28, 1861, and probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 27, 1862. He was an early member of the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., and at a meeting of that company, held at Windham, Conn., July 18, 1753, it was reported that Stephen Gardner, Jr., Stephen Gardner, Jr., (3d), and Jonathan Gardner, brother of Stephen, Jr., had each paid his "two dollar" assessment to S. Gray. (Bib.-16.) The names of Stephen Gardner, Jr., Stephen Gardner, Jr., (3d), and Jonathan Gardner, as well as that of Ephriam Gardner, all of Connecticut, appear on the Indian deed of July 11, 1754, conveying lands at Wyoming to the Susquehanna Company of Hartford. He was appointed to serve with Ezekiel Peirce and John Smith as members of a Journeying Committee and early in Oct., 1753, they set out from Connecticut to visit the Wyoming Valley. The name of Stephen Gardner, Jr., appears in the List of Original Settlers of the Wyoming Valley in 1762, in Mr. Harvey's list of the "First Forty" Settlers in 1769, and on the petition of Aug. 29, 1769, praying the General Assembly of Connecticut to "Errect and Establish a County here on this River (Susquehanna). (Bib.-1.) The name of Christopher Gardner appears in a list of June 2, 1769, as that of one of 195 Settlers, "actually on the ground," at Wyoming. Stephen Gardner's name is in a List of Settlers in May, 1772, and the name of a Simeon Gardner is also in that list. Stephen Gardner, Jr., died in 1776. (1). Henry, Jr., died in 1610, son of Henry and Agnes Sherman, was married to Susan Hills, and the second son of their eleven children was Samuel, born in 1573, died in 1615. III. (2). Samuel, born 1573, died 1615, son of Henry and Susan (Hill) Sherman, of Dedham, England, was married to Philippa or Phyllis ———, and the youngest of their seven children was Philip, born Feb. 5, 1610.

Some of their children were: 1, William, married (1) to Mary ———; (2) to Margaret; 2, Benjamin, (see later); 3, John, married to Mary, daughter of Jeremiah and Mary (Gereardy) Smith, (see later); 4, James, born April 19, 1686, married (1) to Margaret Eldred, Captain Stephen Harding, born about 1724, died Dec., 1789, (same cemetery), (see Family No. 992—Harding); 3, Lydia, born March 20, 1727, died Oct. 22, 1804, married to Judge John Jenkins, born Feb. 6, 1727–8, died Nov., 1784, son of John and Lydia Jenkins, (Family No. 988—Jenkins); 4, Esther (Gardner) Crocker, born Dec. 26, 1729; 6, Sarah, born Feb. 10, 1731, married to Thomas Jenkins; 6, Hannah, born Nov. 7, 1733, married in 1753, to Thomas Jones; 7, Stephen, 3d, born March 27, 1735, (see later); 8, Mary, born Dec. 20, 1737, married to Israel Jones; 9, Thomas, born Sept. 4, 1740, (see later); 10, Mehitable, born Nov. 11, 1745, married to James Angell.

III. (4). Stephen, 3d, son of Stephen, Jr., and Frances (Congdon) Gardner, was born March 27, 1735, and died in Aug., 1811. He was married (1) to Frances Brown and (2), after 1778, to Mrs. Alice (Fuller) Abbott, born about 1740–1, died in June, 1816, in her 76th year, (Family No. 35—Abbott). Aug. 9, 1757, Stephen Gardner, Jr., was a private in Captain George Holmes' Company in the Connecticut Militia, and a Stephen Gardner appears to have been Clark (clerk?) of Captain Daniel Cone's (of East Haddam) Company of Colonel Jonathan Trumbull's Twelfth Regiment, Conn., and served from Aug. 9 to Aug. 24, 1757, in an expedition which marched for the relief of Fort William Henry in the French and Indian War. It also appears that Stephen Gardner was Clark (clerk?) of Major, (later Lieutenant Colonel) and Captain Joseph Spencer's, (of East Haddam) Third Company of the Second Connecticut Regiment, commanded by Major Joseph Spencer, from April 4 to Nov. 18, 1758. Israel Harding was a Second Lieutenant and Lemuel Harding (Family No. 992—Harding) a Drummer in the same company. (Bib.—339.) Stephen Gardner, 3d, was an early member of the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., and his name appears as a grantee on the Indian Deed of July 11, 1754. It also appears as Stephen Gardner on the Westmoreland Tax Lists as a resident of Exeter District in 1776, 1777 and 1778. In Sept., 1788, a Stephen Gardner appeared in the Court of Common Pleas at Wilkes-Barre as a complainant against Joel Holcomb, charging that Holcomb had "Entered into one certain messuage and lot of land, with the appurtenances in Plymouth Meadow Lot No. 6, Upper Tier, Plymouth, which Daniel, Elizabeth, Jesse, Joseph, John and Perrin Ross, heirs of Perrin Ross, late deceased devised to the said Stephen Gardner, for a term which is not expired, and ejected him "from said farm." (Bib.—316.) In 1790 he had in family, himself, one male over 16 and three females, living at home. He owned 300 acres of land in Exeter, which, Dec. 20, 1794, he sold to Abner Tuttle. (Family No. 1174—Tuttle.) This tract lay within 15 rods of Kinyon's Creek, and the deed also refers to land of Stephen Harding, lands laid out to Joseph Black and to lands of Benjamin Kingdon (Kinyon). Abner Tuttle sold 160 acres of this tract, June 16, 1797, to Andrew Montanye (Family No. 1217—Montanye), and, in describing the land, referred to Kinyon's Creek, lands of Stephen Harding, Comfort Kinyon, northwest corner lands of Thomas Gardner, lands of Benjamin Kinyan and Joseph Black. Nov. 23, 1842, Abner Tuttle, then of Steuben Co., N. Y., sold 173 acres of this tract adjoining lands of Andrew Montanye, to Joseph Whitlock. (Family No. 994—Whitlock.) This Stephen Gardner farm lay near the present Wyoming-Luzerne Co. line.

The Andrew Montanye, Jr., homestead, on the road from Exeter to Orange, through Lockville, is part of it. The Lockville (Dymond Hollow) Church and Cemetery are also on the same tract. It lies back of Lots Nos. 16, 17 and 18, Exeter. May 10, 1794, Stephen Gardner was of Providence Township when he bought from John Tripp of Exeter (Family No. 1001—Tripp) 150 acres of Lot No. 15 on the west bank of the Lackawanna River. He also owned Lot No. 35, 413 acres on the east bank of the Lackawanna River; now in the city of Scranton, in 1794. Dec. 17, 1794, he bought from Henry Tuttle, (Family No. 1174—Tuttle) of Kingston, Pa., Lot 16, 400 acres, in Providence, and, Feb. 13, 1797, he sold to Jesse Gardner, who was probably his son, Lot No. 16, excepting 50 acres he had sold to David Wilcocks. Jesse Gardner married (2) to Dorcas Westcott, Nov. 15, 1739, married (3) to the widow, Mary Dorcas Taylor; 5, Elizabeth, married to John Wells; 6, Susanna, married to David Northrup.

II. (2). Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Albro) Congdon, was married (1), Dec., 1701, to Frances, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Holden) Stafford, and their children were: 1, Benjamin (3d), born Oct. 20, 1702; 2, Frances, born Dec. 6, 1703, married to Stephen Gardner, Jr., (Family No. 988—Gardner); 3, Joseph, born Feb. 15, 1705; 4, John, born Sept. 23, 1706; 5, Sarah, born June 26, 1708; 6, William, born Nov. 6, 1711; 7, James, born May 13, 1713; 8, Elizabeth, born April 8, 1715; 9, Mary, born March 10, 1713; 10, Susanna, born Feb. 7, 1720; 11, Strikely, born Dec. 11, 1722.

II. (3). John, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Albro) Congdon, was at Kingstown, R. I., May 17, 1710, when, with others, he bought 2,000 acres of vacant land in Narragansett. He was married to Mary, daughter of Jeremiah and Mary (Gereardy) Smith, and some of their children were: 1, Jeremiah, married to Ann Chapel, of New London; 2, Mary; 3, John, married to Mehitable, daughter of Stephen and Amy (Sherman) Gardner; 4, James. (Bib.—183.)

and his wife, Christianna (Simrell) Gardner, sold 350 acres of Lot 16, Providence, to John Hollenback of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for $200.00. Stephen Gardner, 3d, was of Wilkes-Barre, Jan. 29, 1803, when he sold to David Barnum Lot No. 35, Providence, for $500.00. It appears highly probable to the writer that one of the children of Stephen and Frances (Brown) Gardner, was Jesse Gardner of Providence, referred to above. This Jesse Gardner was married to Christianna, daughter of William, born in Orange Co., N. Y., 1743, died in Greenfield, Pa., 1814, will probated in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Bethia (Owen) Simrell, born Goshen, N. Y., 1749, died Greenfield, Pa., 1832. Jesse Gardner removed from Providence to Greenfield. The children of Jesse and Christianna (Simrell) Gardner were: 1, Stephen, married to Abigail ———; 2, Alanson; 3, William, born Nov. 23, 1799, married to Susan Barringer; 4, Nathaniel, married to Mary Mitchell; 5, Fanny, married to Daniel Layton; 6, Bethiah (Gardner) Hosford; 7, Horton, married to Almira Whitmore; 8, James; 9, Charles, died early; 10, Henry; 11, John, married (1) to Edith Barringer, married (2) to Mrs. Elizabeth (Clark) Tingley. Stephen Gardner, 3d, and his second wife, Mrs. Alice (Fuller) Abbott, are buried in the Gore burial plot, surrounded on three sides by huge masses of rock waste from the nearby anthracite coal mines, in Plains Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. (See excellent reproduction of photograph, of July, 1904, of this historic burial plot, opposite p. 722, Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre.) A Frances Garder is named on the Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Tax List for 1799. William Simrell* was an early inn keeper in Greenfield.

III. (9). Thomas, son of Stephen, Jr., and Frances (Congdon) Gardner, was born Sept. 4, 1740. In 1790 he was a resident of Exeter Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and had in family living at home, himself, one male over 16, one male under 16 and five females. He owned and lived upon a farm in the vicinity of Kinyon's Creek and near the Stephen Harding homestead, in Exeter Township, where he was assessed in 1792, 1796, 1799, and 1802. A Thomas Gardner, living in Luzerne Co., Pa., was reported to be 89 years of age, Nov. 27, 1833, when his name was placed on the Federal Pension Roll for services rendered in the Artillery Service of the New York Continental Line. (Bib.-12.)

II. (3). Peregrene (or Peregrine), son of Stephen and Amy (Sherman) Gardner, was born Jan. 24, 1707, and was married to Susanna Robinson. His name appears on a petition, to the General Assembly of Connecticut, in Oct., 1736, relating to the location of a ferry across the New London River between New London and Norwich. (Bib.-254.) It also appears in the List of the Proprietors of the Five Townships in Westmoreland, June 17, 1770, and in the Lists of Settlers in July and Oct., 1771. It also appears in "A list of ye persons that were here in ye Siege (that) belongs to Wilkes-Barre," as the owner of Town Lot No. 36, in 1771. (Bib.-1, p. 713.) He was the owner of three rights of land in Wilkes-Barre District in 1772, and a copy of the bond he executed, Feb. 11, 1772, in connection with one of these rights, may be found on page 719 of Mr. Harvey's History of Wilkes-Barre. On or about April 30, 1772, he drew First Division Meadow Lots Nos. 13, 32, and 33; Second Division House Lots Nos. 9, 50 and 49; Third Division Back Lots 34, 13, and 18; and Fourth Division, Five Acre Lots Nos. 33, 32 and 5. (Bib.-1.) In 1778 House Lot No. 9 was owned by Rev. Jacob Johnson; House Lot No. 50, by Jonathan Slocum and House Lot No. 49, by Benjamin Wheeler. His name appears on the Westmoreland Tax Lists for Wilkes-Barre District in 1776, and in the same year the name of his son, John, appears in the Tax Lists for the North District, Exeter and Providence. (Bib.-1.) The children of Peregrene and Susanna (Robinson) Gardner were: 1, Stephen, born Aug. 1, 1734; 2, Mary, born March 14, 1736; 3, John, born May 9, 1737 (see later); 4, Peregrine, Jr., born March 12, 1739, served as Sergeant in Captain Simon Spalding's Westmoreland Independence Company in the Connecticut Continental Line in the War of the American Revolution; 5, Ruth, born Oct. 25, 1742; 6, Robinson, born Nov. 27, 1743; 7, Hannah, born Dec. 10, 1745; 8, William, born Aug. 13, 1747.

John, son of Peregrene and Susannah (Robinson) Gardner, was born May 9, 1737, was captured by Indians in Exeter, July 2, 1778, and, after frightful tortures, was burned to death by his captors, at Painted Post, N. *The will of William Simrell of Greenfield Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., probated Nov. 12, 1814, names his wife, Bethiah, and the following children: 1, Thomas; 2, William, Jr.; 3, Nathaniel, married, Dec. 12, 1813, by Elder John Miller, to Lydia Wall; 4, Mary (Simrell) Corwin; 5, Margaret (Simrell) Eldredge; 6, Sarah (Simrell) Wetherbee; 7, Eleanor, married by Elder John Miller, Dec. 5, 1813, to Nathaniel, son of Isaac and Sarah (Tompkins) Finch. 1776, 1777 and 1778. He and his father, Peregrene Gardner, were included in the company of settlers against whom a presentment was made, by the Grand Jury, to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton Co., Pa., at Easton, about the middle of Sept., 1770. He settled in what was then Exeter District, now Ransom Township and near the present Ransom, Lackawanna Co., farm. His wife and a number of his descendants are buried in the Gardner Memorial Cemetery on the old Gardner farm at Ransom, Pa. It is evident that a number of the pioneer settlers of that portion of Old Exeter were also buried in that plot. John Gardner was married to Elizabeth Mumford, born Feb. 28, 1743, who apparently lived with her son, John Gardner, Jr., Dec. 6, 1830, and died Aug. 24, 1834. John and Elizabeth (Mumford) Gardner had at least six children, five of the following list being named in Orphans' Court proceedings at Wilkes-Barre in 1795. Six of their children were: 1, Mumford, who was a private in Captain Robert Durkee's First Independent Company, 24th Connecticut Militia, in the Continental Line, in the War of the American Revolution, who died June 12, 1777, (Bib.-1); 2, Richard, born Feb. 8, 1767, died July 4, 1859, (see later); 3, Thankful, born 1770, married to William Spencer, and living in East Haddam, Middlesex Co., Conn., Feb. 16, 1795, when, with her husband, she released, to John Gardner of Exeter, her interest in her father's estate, Isaac and Lucretia Spencer signing the deed as witnesses; 4, John, born Jan. 9, 1773, died May 30, 1836, (see later); 5, Betsey, born 1778, named in Orphans' Court proceedings in 1795. A Betie Chapman, who died in Nov., 1829, is buried in the Gardner Memorial Cemetery.); 6, Benjamin, born in 1775, married, in March, 1802, to Mary Decker, was living in Pittston in 1803 and was assessed in Exeter in 1802. May 9, 1803, Benjamin Gardner deeded to Edward Hadsell, 14 acres, adjoining lands of Hadsell on the north, the River Susquehanna on the east, the lands of John Hadsell on the south, stipulating that "Constant Daily, (widow of James Hadsell) (Family No. 992—Hadsell), married (2) to Samuel Daily (Family No. 988—Daily), is to enjoy the benefit and income of this piece of land during her natural life." Two of the children of Benjamin and Mary (Decker) Gardner were: (1), Catharine, born Dec. 7, 1805, died May 22, 1885, married to Peter Polen (Family No. 989—Polen), and (2), Mary, married, Jan. 1, 1856, to Benjamin P. Price of Pittston, Pa. A Theyne Gardner, who lived in the same section of Exeter Township, with Richard Gardner, Nov. 20, 1792, and Nov. 28, 1792, signed petitions pertaining to proposed changes in township lines.

IV. (2). Richard, son of John and Elizabeth (Mumford) Gardner, was born Feb. 8, 1767, and died July 4, 1859. He was married to Lydia Chapman, born about 1769, died May 23, 1828. Some of their children were (order of birth not certain): 1, John, born June 24, 1789, died Nov. 20, 1867, married, Nov. 24, 1811, to Rosina, born 1790, died Feb. 21, 1863, daughter of Peter Harris, Jr., of Exeter, (Family No. 1021—Harris). His will, made in Tunkhannock, Sept. 4, 1865, and probated there Nov. 20, 1867, names all the following children excepting Samuel. John and Rosina (Harris) Gardner were buried in Gravel Hill Cemetery, Tunkhannock, Pa. Their children were, (order of birth not known to writer): (1), Samuel, married (1) to Sarah Laphy, whose son George W., born March 28, 1832, died Aug. 30, 1907, was married to Rosalia Smith, born Oct. 6, 1838, died Feb. 26, 1871, (Milwaukie, Pa., Cemetery), two of whose children were: (i), Harriet, born Oct. 13, 1862, married to John, son of Peter and Elizabeth (Breese) Sharps, (Family No. 988—Sharps), and (ii), James S., married Dec. 14, 1891, to Stella Palmer. Samuel Gardner was married (2), May 5, 1845, to Margaret Johnson, and their son, Elias A., born April 18, 1847, was married to Martha, daughter of Reuben and Elizabeth Cooper. Samuel Gardner also has a son, Samuel, Jr., living in Pittston and a daughter, Mrs. Matilda Musselman, also of Pittston, Pa.; (2), Phebe (Gardner) Leighton, probably married to George Leighton; (3), Ruth G., married to Nathan Leighton; (4), Lydia Malvina Gardner; (5), Peter Harris Gardner; (6), John R. Gardner; (7), Mary, married to Adna Wood; (8), Caroline Calista, married to I. C. Miles; (9), Nancy, married to F. B. Davidson; (10), Sarah Samantha, married to George Seamans; (11), Angeline Gardner; 2, Lisha, probably born about 1791, died in his 20th year, about 1811, (Gardner Cemetery); 3, Benjamin, baptised about 1793, a merchant, died Oct. 24, 1879, married, in June, 1834, to Mrs. Sally Owens; 4, Richard, Jr., born Feb. 9, 1794, died March 31, 1797, (Gardner Cemetery); 5, Mumford, born March 18, 1797, died Feb. 17, 1814, (Gardner Cemetery); 6, Samuel, born Oct. 12, 1798, died Dec. 7, 1891, married (1) to Margaret ———, some of whose children were: Nancy, Mary, Jane, Sarah Ann, George, David, born Oct., 1829, died Aug. 19, 1836, (Jenkins Cemetery, West Pittston). He was married (2) to Margaret Smith, born April 23, 1821, died Feb. 25, 1895.

They are buried in Newton Centre, Pa., Cemetery; 7, Celinda Gardner, born about 1800, living in 1880; 8, Anna (Gardner) Harding; 9, Betsey, born Nov. 29, 1803, died March 19, 1877, married, Nov. 21, 1830, to Elisha H., born Aug. 18, 1803, died March 7, 1887, (Mt. The will of Richard Gardner was made March 13, 1852, in Ransom, Pa., and was probated in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 4, 1858.

IV. (4). John, Jr., son of John and Elizabeth (Mumford) Gardner, was born Jan. 9, 1773, died May 30, 1836, and is buried in Gardner Memorial Cemetery at Ransom, Pa. He was married to Mary Heron, who was born Aug. 22, 1774, and died Oct. 19, 1850. John Gardner, Jr., bought, Feb. 16, 1795, the interest of his sister Thankful, the wife of William Spencer of East Haddam, Conn., in their father's estate in Exeter. He also owned one-half of Lot No. 20, Exeter, formerly owned, in part, by Samuel Daily, (Family No. 988—Daily) who was married, as second wife, to Content, widow of James Hadsell. This land had been patented to Thomas Parks, May 18, 1812. John Gardner, Jr., sold it, Aug. 30, 1830, to Thomas Williamson of West Chester, Pa. The deed recites that the Thomas Parks* land had been divided into three equal parts and severally set off to Asher Parks, Aaron T. Parks and Eunice Parks, married to Amos Hadsell, and had by them been sold to John Gardner. He also owned Lot No. 21, 261 acres, Exeter, which he sold, Dec. 13, 1829, to his daughter, Lucretia Gardner. Dec. 6, 1830, his daughter, Lucretia Gardner, had executed a life lease of Lot 21 to John Gardner for $20 per year and the support and maintenance of Elizabeth Gardner, mother of the lessee and grandmother of the lessor. Oct. 12, 1832, James and Lucretia (Gardner) Knapp executed a deed conveying Lot No. 21, Exeter, lying along the Susquehanna River, to John Gardner. The will of John Gardner of Exeter was made March 11, 1833, a codicil was added April 15, 1833, and it was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 19, 1836. After the death of her husband Mrs. Mary (Heron) Gardner bought 10 acres of the Ebenezer Marcy farm, part of Lot 38, Pittston Township, and removed there. Her will was made Oct. 13, 1850, and probated Oct. 24, 1850. She provided for the placing of tombstones at the graves of Mrs. Elizabeth (Mumford) Gardner, John Gardner, Jr., Mary (Gardner) Harding, her daughter, Harry Gardner, her son, and at her own grave. She died Oct. 19, 1850, and is buried in Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa. The children of John, Jr., and Mary (Heron) Gardner were: 1, Joseph, married to Lucina, daughter of Eliphalet and Jerusha (Dolph) Smith,† who had three sons, Eliphalet, John and

*The heirs of Thomas Parks, who died before Sept. 11, 1820, were: Moses Parks; 2, Eliza Parks, married to Reuben Reynolds; 3, Aaron T. Parks, married to Elizabeth; 4, Eunice, married to Amos Hadsell; 5, Asher Parks.

THE THOMAS SMITH FAMILY

†I. Thomas Smith, who was married to Mary Green, settled in Newport Township, Luzerne Co., Pa. He was of that township, Nov. 10, 1790, when, with William Hebard, he bought from Zachariah Hartsouff of Kingston Township and Hanover, two acres of land situated on the main road through Hanover (perhaps on Solomon's Creek), "beginning on the westerly line of Lot No. 8, First Division of Hanover," together with all privileges to operate with stills and potash works and all the utensils, etc. He was of Hanover Township, Aug. 11, 1791, when he bought from Captain Caleb Bates of Pittston, 300 acres in the "Gore" and lying between Exeter, Providence, Pittston and the Lackawanna River, and bounded by the Pittston and Exeter lines and by lands of Constant Searl. He removed to the "Gore" and there spent the remainder of his life. He is referred to in a deed drawn by Dr. William Hoover Smith as Captain Thomas Smith. With his wife, Mary (Green) Smith, born in June, 1736, died Jan. 2, 1810, he is buried in Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa., his grave being marked by a tombstone, the face of which has flaked off. Two of the children of Thomas and Mary (Green) Smith were their sons, 1, Eliphalet, and 2, Deodat.

II. (1). Eliphalet, son of Thomas and Mary (Green) Smith, was born about 1773, and died June 22, 1840. He served as a Corporal in the Connecticut Service in the War of the American Revolution and in 1820 his name was on the pension roll of the Federal Government. (Bib.-13.) He was commissioned Coroner of Luzerne Co., Pa., by Governor Simon Snyder, Oct. 29, 1813. Feb. 4, 1814, he bought from Calvin Cone of Providence, Pa., an innkeeper, the 200 acre farm where Calvin Cone then lived in Providence, and which Robert Secor sold to Calvin Cone, May 26, 1809. He sold this farm, Oct. 2, 1814, to his brother, Deodat Smith. It appears that Eliphalet Smith inherited one-half of the lands owned by his father, Thomas Smith, and in 1832 executed a partition deed with his brother, Deodat Smith, who, in 1855, June 16, bought these lands from Eliphalet's heirs. Feb. 9, 1832, Eliphalet Smith bought from Deodat Smith about 160 acres of the Andrew Henderson patent in what is now Old Forge Township. His heirs sold these lands to Erastus, son of Deodat Smith. Eliphalet Smith was married to Jerusha Dolph, born June 16, 1780, died Feb. 19, 1852. They are buried in Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa. The will of Eliphalet Smith was made in Lackawanna Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., June 21, 1840, and was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 29, 1840, and refers to his wife as living. It names the following

Washington, and five daughters, and lived at Hop Bottom, Pa.; 2, Mary, born in Nov., 1798, died Feb. 20, 1833, (Gardner Cemetery), married to George, son of John and Affa (Baldwin) Jenkins-Harding, (Family No. 992—Harding), two of whose children were: Martha, married to ——— Bramhall, and Mary, married to James Bunnell; 3, Harry, born Jan. 17, 1803, died April 14, 1838, (Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa.); 4, Lucretia, born Dec. 30, 1807, died Feb. 18, 1840, married to James, born April 3, 1806, died Dec. 27, 1883, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Davis) Knapp, (Family No. 988—Knapp).

II. (6). David, son of Stephen and Amy (Sherman) Gardner, born June 28, 1720, was married, Oct. 1, 1744, to Jemima, daughter of Thomas Gustin. The name of David Gardner, of New London Co., Conn., appears frequently in the Connecticut Colonial Records. He was appointed Justice of the Peace for New London Co. in 1754-5 and was a Deputy from New London Co. to the General Assembly of Connecticut in 1758-59-60. In Oct., 1755, David Gardner and Colonel Christopher Avery were ordered by the General Assembly "To build new carriages with wooden wheels for the cannon now belonging to the battery at New London, and to mount the cannon thereon." In Sept., 1756, David Gardner was ordered by the General Assembly to lay a new platform for the cannon now belonging to the battery at New London, (Bib.-254.) The children of David and Jemima (Gustin) Gardner were: 1, Amy, born March 16, 1745, married to Nathaniel, born March 26, 1742, son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Little) Otis, (Family No. 1010—Otis); 2, Sarah, born Feb. 13, 1751, married to Ezekiel Chapel; 3, David, Jr., born April 20, 1753, married (1) to Dennis Holmes, married (2) to ——— Lathrop, married (3) to Olive Metcalf;

Larrish property, Eighth street, Wyoming, Pa., married to Catharine B. Peck, died in Wyoming, Pa., and buried in Cayuga Co., N. Y.; 2, A. G. (Anson G.), married to Mary Ann Pierson, died in Newark, N. J.; 3, Tracey E., married to Maria T. Rosencrans, lived and died in New York State; 4, Asa D., a tanner and currier, at Carbondale, Pa., married to Polly Griffin, whose children were: (1), Thomas Griffin, married to Helen E. Tralles, for many years station agent, Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, Carbondale, Pa.; (2), Jerusha, married to John H., son of William Bowers of Carbondale, Pa. Mrs. Polly (Griffin) Smith was married (2) to Thomas Orchard, Master Car Builder, Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, Carbondale, Pa.; 5, John M., born Jan. 20, 1821, died May 6, 1884, not married. (Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa.); 6, Lucina, probably oldest daughter, married to Joseph, son of John and Mary (Heron) Gardner (Family No. 988—Gardner), who lived at Hopbottom, Pa., had three sons, Eliphalet, John and Washington, and five daughters; 7, Mary, born Sept. 29, 1803, died June 24, 1841, (Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa.), married to George Oyster, who was married (2) to Catharine Stiles. Two of the children of George and Mary (Smith) Oyster were: (1), Martha (Oyster) Clum, and (2), Matilda, married to Joseph, born March 24, 1819, died Dec. 24, 1893, (Forty Fort Cemetery), son of William and Mary (Hawk) Mitchell. Mrs. Matilda (Oyster) Mitchell died (1919) at West Wyoming, Pa.; 8, Miranda, married to Dr. Lambkin, lived in New York State. Eliphalet Smith gave his "rifle gun" to John M. Smith and his "musket gun" to Asa D. Smith. Dr. Lambkin was a Methodist preacher in 1842 and a classmate of Rev. George C. Thomson, (Family No. 5).

II. (2). Deodat, son of Thomas and Mary (Green) Smith, was born in Sept., 1774, and died Jan. 31, 1834. He was an extensive owner of real estate in Lackawanna, now Old Forge Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., and was for many years a Justice of the Peace. He was married to Rachel, born Oct. 2, 1776, died Feb. 12, 1848, daughter of William and Esther (Pettebone) Allsworth, (born in June, 1747, died May 1, 1833, daughter of Noah and Huldah (Williams) Pettebone) (Family No. 988—Pettebone).

William Allsworth came to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Amenia, Dutchess Co., N. Y. (Bib.-1.), and April 4, 1788, with Oliver Pettebone, bought 375 acres of land in Capouse (Providence), Pa., from William Hurlburt, a cooper, of Kingston, Pa., and Louise, his wife, which William Hurlburt described as lands "drawn by my father, Captain Joseph Hurlburt, of New London, Conn., and to me by his last will and testament."

The will of Deodat Smith was made in Pittston, May 31, 1832, was probated April 30, 1834, and names his wife, Rachel, and the following children, excepting William A.: 1, William A., born Sept. 10, 1800, died Jan. 4, 1801, (Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa.); 2, Thomas, living with his wife, Mary, in Abington, Pa., May 6, 1856; 3, Erastus, born 1807, died 1877, married (1), April 12, 1829, to Matilda Howard, married (2) to Armina ———. Will made July 30, 1873, probated Aug. 6, 1877, names his wife, Armina, and all of the following children who attained maturity: (1), Miles G., born 1830, died 1891, married to Anna Barnes, born 1833, died 1902, (Marcy Cemetery); (2), Esther, born 1833, died 1834, (Marcy Cemetery); (3), Susan, born 1835, died 1853, (Marcy Cemetery); (4), Julia M. (Smith) Miles; (5), Erastus M., born March 10, 1839, married (1) to Elizabeth Ann Choal, married (2) to Mary Jones; (6), Thomas, born 1841, died 1858, (Marcy Cemetery); (7), Huldah A., married to L. K. Drake; (8), Louise E., married to Charles H. Dorr; 4, Adelia Ann, married to Lewis, born Aug. 29, 1806, son of Samuel and Susannah (Phillips) Miller, (Family No. 1009—Miller); 5, Hannah, married to Davis Dean; 6, Benjamin, not married in 1856; 6, George Washington, whose wife's name was Marion. Deodat Smith, his wife and many of their descendants are buried in Marcy Cemetery, Duryea, Pa.

In Elder Davis Dimock's Diary under date of Dec. 12, 1821, he wrote: "Cosin Eliphalet Smith came to see me." Perhaps this is a reference to Eliphalet, son of Thomas and Mary (Green) Smith. If Elder Davis Dimock, son of David and Sarah (Green) Dimock and Eliphalet, son of Thomas and Mary (Green) Smith, were cousins their mothers were probably sisters. (See sketch of David Dimock family in Jenkins family, Family No. 988.)

4, Jemima, born Dec. 26, 1755, married to George Holmes; 5, Anstis, born in 1758, married to John Way; 6, Isaac, born Nov. 30, 1761, married (1) to Martha Rogers, married (2) to Esther Palmer.

II. (12). Jonathan, son of Stephen and Amy (Sherman) Gardner, born April 18, 1724, was a member of the Susquehanna Company of Hartford, Conn., in 1753, when he paid an assessment of two dollars to S. Gray. His name also appears on the Indian deed granting Wyoming lands, July 11, 1754. He was married (1) to Mary, daughter of Samson Haughton, who died Feb. 29, 1760, and their children were: 1, Amy, born about 1754, married to Jedediah Lathrop; 2, Mary, born about 1756, married to Elisha Avery; 3, Jonathan, Jr., born Dec. 2, 1758, married to Jerusha Hyde Stark; 4, Lucy, born about 1760, married to George Bentley. He was married, Jan. 7, 1774, to Ruth, born Dec., 1754, died March 28, 1833, daughter of Wyllis Pierson. March 1, 1791, for a consideration of $285, they conveyed title to these lands back to Parshall Terry. Henry Breese then removed to the vicinity of Horseheads, N. Y. The children of Henry and Ruth (Pierson) Breese were: 1, Mary, born Oct. 31,

Henry Breese served in the Company of Captain Henry Luce, 2d Battalion, N. J., and also in Colonel Israel Shreeve's command in the Major General Sullivan expedition in 1779. (Bib.-52.)

III. (9). Captain Samuel, son of John and Dorothy (Riggs) Breese, was born in Somerset Co., N. J., then Hunterdon, April 17, 1758, and died at New Troy, now Wyoming, Pa., July 21, 1837. He was married (1) at Basking Ridge, N. J., by the Rev. Samuel Kennedy, Feb. 23, 1780, to Hannah, born Feb. 15, 1760, died April 9, 1817, daughter of Wyllis Pierson. He was married (2), in Kingston Township, Luzerne Co., Pa., Jan. 10, 1822, by the Rev. Mr. Gildersleeve, to Mrs. Catharine Shafer, born March 23, 1773, died May 10, 1845, widow of John Shafer, born 1765, died June 8, 1819, (Forty Fort Cemetery) (Family No. 43—Shafer).

Captain Samuel Breese served on several tours in the New Jersey Militia in the War of the American Revolution. He was called out in 1776 and served one tour previous to the Battle of Long Island. He served one tour at the Battle of Long Island, in Aug., 1776, one tour in New Jersey in Dec., 1776, one tour when General Burgoyne was taken in Oct., 1777, one tour at the Battle of Spanktown, which he was in, one tour when General Lee was taken at Basking Ridge, one tour at Elizabeth Town Point and one tour at Pluckemin. He served under Colonels Winds and Frelinghuysen, Captains Andrew Kilpatrick, Gaman McCoy and others. In the year 1780–81 he was under Pomeroy, Forage Master at Morristown, N. J., for four months. (Bib.-52.) Jan. 9, 1834, the name of Samuel Breese was placed on the Pension Roll of Soldiers of the Revolutionary Army, and he was granted an allowance of $80 annually from March 4, 1831, based on service in the New Jersey Continental Line. (Bib.-52.)

Prior to 1790, and probably in June, 1789, Captain Samuel Breese removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., from Somerset Co., N. J. He lived, for a short time, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and July 15, 1789, (Bib.-281) with his brother, Henry, bought from Parshall Terry three lots of land in Kingston Township. These were Meadow Lots No. 19, 52 acres, in the Second Division, Back Lot No. 19, in the Third Division, 102 acres, and Lot No. 3 in the Fourth Division, 170 acres. March 1, 1791, Henry and Samuel Breese conveyed these lands back to Parshall Terry. Samuel Breese lived on the Terry lands for a short time, but, May 10, 1798, he bought five acres of Lot No. 23, in the Third Division, from Benjamin Smith. The deed describes this land, "Beginning on lands of Joseph Tuttle on the big road that leads from Forty Fort to Tuttle's Mills, then down Tuttle's line until it comes to a ditch known by the name of Old Tommie's Ditch, thence up said ditch so as to make 10 rods in width from said Tuttle's line to the big road, thence to the place of beginning on said road." This Lot 23 was the second lot below the Stone Bridge in front of the residence of Richard B. Reilay (the Dennison homestead), in upper Forty Fort Borough, Pa. This property became the home of Captain Samuel Breese and in a log house on this lot some of his children were born. April 29, 1800, Captain Breese bought from Solomon and Catharine (Shales) Chapin (Family No. 1216—Chapin), Lot 27, Third Division, Kingston. This lot he sold, Dec. 29, 1801, to James Atherton. April 7, 1802, he bought from Joseph and Salome Swetland (Family No. 3—Swetland) "All that parcel of land I now live on in Kingston Township, part of Lot 34, Third Division." This land was situated at the corner of what is now Eighth street and Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., and is thus described, "Beginning in the line of the Great Road near the burying ground, (Wyoming Cemeteries—Family No. 986), being the east corner of the lot, thence northwest on the line of said lot to the west bank of Abraham's Creek, thence down the bank of said creek to the lands of David Perkins, thence southeast on lands of David Perkins and George Brown until it intersects the line of said road, and thence to the beginning." The same deed conveyed to Captain Breese title to about 170 acres of Lot 35. Eighth street, Wyoming, Pa., now a busy thoroughfare, lying between Lots 34 and 35, was laid out, two rods wide from Lot No. 35 and one rod wide from Lot 34. By this purchase Captain Breese acquired title to the land on both sides of what was then a narrow lane or road, which was variously described as the "Road from New Troy to Carpenter's Mills,"

"Road from New Troy to Northmoreland," "Road leading from the Main Road through Kingston Township to Carpenter's Mills," etc. The portions of Lot 35 to which he acquired title extended about 55 rods wide from what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa., to a line near the Stone Bridge in front of the West Wyoming Town Hall, together with some portions of the lot lying on the mountains, north of what is now Shoemaker avenue.

Captain Samuel and Hannah (Pierson) Breese established their home in the house which was long known as the "Captain Breese house," the "Red House," etc., and which stood on the high ground above Abraham's Creek on the property owned by the late James M. Schooley. John, son of Elnathan Corey, owned this property prior to 1790, and Elnathan Corey had bought it from Asahel and Aholiab Buck prior to the battle of Wyoming, July 3, 1778. John Rosencrans owned it and occupied it from 1791 to 1800, and during his occupancy it was a regular preaching place of the pioneer preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. (Bib.-96, pp. 21, 949.) It was the residence of Joseph, son of Luke Swetland, 1800-1802. (See Family No. 3-Swetland.)

May 23, 1809, Samuel Breese bought from Azor Sturdevant* and Fear, his wife, part of Lot 34, in the Third Division of lots, described as "Beginning at Isaac Shoemaker's upper floom, running down his mill race to a spring run, thence up the run to the road, thence up the road to the big bridge, so called, thence down the middle of the creek to the first mentioned floom." It was on these lands that Jacob Bedford had established his fulling mill. (Family No. 946, Abraham's Creek Industries.) In 1811 Samuel Breese and his son, Lot, were both assessed as clothiers and the former appears to have retained an interest in the fulling mill throughout his life. His will was made Sept. 20, 1836, and was probated July 25, 1837. The children of Captain Samuel and Hannah (Pierson) Breese were: 1, Wyllis, born March 18, 1781, died Oct. 17, 1853, married to Polly Quick; 2, Daniel, born May 11, 1783, died May 19, 1864, married to Abigail Love, (Family No. 1001-1041-Love); 3, Mary, born May 23, 1785, died Dec. 21, 1871, married, July 20, 1801, to Samuel La France, (Family No. 1001-La France); 4, Lot, born Jan. 8, 1788, (see later); 5, Ezra, born June 13, 1790, (see later); 6, Elizabeth, born March 24, 1793, died Oct. 22, 1871, married to James, son of Colonel John and Bethia (Harris) Jenkins, (Family No. 988-Jenkins); 7, John, born Aug. 28, 1795, died March 12, 1879, (see later); 8, Henry, born Dec. 21, 1797, died Oct. 21, 1875, married, April 1, 1824, by Samuel Thomas, Esq., to Sarah, daughter of Abraham and Jane (La Bar) Johnsten, (Family No. 1016-La Bar, No. 1216-Johnsten). He was a distiller in 1820-21 and an inn keeper in Kingston Township in 1833. They had a son, Sterling, born July 5, 1826, died Dec. 23, 1826, (Forty Fort Cemetery), and several daughters, and removed to Toulon, Stark Co., Ill., in 1836; 9, Samuel, born Oct. 6, 1802, (see later). The average age of the children of Samuel and Hannah (Pierson) Breese was 79 years.

IV. (4). Captain Lot Breese, son of Captain Samuel and Hannah (Pierson) Breese, was born in Somerset Co., N. J., Jan. 8, 1788, and died at Wyoming, Pa., May 1, 1868. He was married to Falla, born March 7, 1794, died Nov. 23, 1877, daughter of Colonel John and Bethiah (Harris) Jenkins. (Jenkins family later.) Lot Breese was assessed as a clothier in Kingston Township in 1811 and was doubtless associated with his father in the operation of the fulling mill established by Jacob Bedford on Abraham's Creek. (See Fulling Mills in Sketch of Family No. 946.) Nov. 27, 1812, Lot Breese announced in The Gleaner that he had built a new mill about half a mile below the old one. The new mill stood on or near the site on what is now Eighth street, West Wyoming, Pa., which was later occupied by the Jonathan Mooers-Ezra Breese foundry. It appears that about 1813 he built a hotel on the corner of what is now Eighth street and Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, and on the site later occupied

*Azor Sturdevant, who owned and operated the Jacob Bedford fulling mill in Kingston Township, which was one of the earliest in the Wyoming Valley, was a son of James Sturdevant of Braintrim, Luzerne Co., Pa., and probably a grandson of Samuel Sturdevant, born 1740, died April 19, 1828, also of Braintrim. The will of Samuel Sturdevant, Jr., made in Braintrim, Jan. 30, 1847, to which a codicil was added Feb. 8, 1847, and which was probated at Tunkhannock, Pa., Feb. 1, 1848, names his children as follows: Charles, Peter, Clarissa, Maria, John, Benjamin, Liverius, Dunning, Ebenezer, Eunice, married to Nathan Osborne. He was born Sept. 16, 1773, and died March 4, 1847. His wife was a daughter of Ebenezer Skinner. The will of James Sturdevant was made in Braintrim, Oct. 20, 1804, and was probated at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 5, 1806. It names his wife, Rachel, his son Marshall, not 20 years of age, and his son Azor. April 5, 1796, with Abijah and Noah Sturdevant, probably his brothers, Azor Sturdevant sold to Asa Stevens and Joel Downing a lot called 27 in the town of Braintrim on the west side of the Susquehanna River opposite Sugar Island, land set out for the heirs of Detchick Hewitt. (See Family No. 993-Hewitt.) Azor Sturdevant was in Berkshire, Delaware Co., Ohio, in July, 1806. In 1804 Noah Sturdevant was a blacksmith in Kingston Township.

by the Laycock Hotel. In 1814-16 he was assessed as an inn keeper in Kingston Township. The original school house in Wyoming stood on this site as late as April, 1801, when Joseph Swetland and others petitioned the Quarter Sessions Court that viewers be appointed to lay out a road to begin at or near the school house, standing on the road which leads from the home of Benjamin Carpenter, Esq., to the main road in Kingston Township, and from said school house on a straight line to the Susquehanna River. Lot Breese doubtless moved the school house to a lot now part of the Steuben Jenkins homestead. He owned the corner lot, April 22, 1818, when he sold it to Colonel Harris Jenkins, who in 1817, and for a number of years afterwards, was assessed as an innkeeper. Colonel Harris Jenkins sold the property, Dec. 18, 1828, to James Jenkins. Lot Breese and his family subsequently removed to Exeter Township, when he and his sister-in-law, Rachel Jenkins, bought the Colonel Jenkins homestead, and lived there for many years on a farm. He later returned to Wyoming, Pa., and built the brick house on Wyoming avenue in which he lived the remainder of his life. He was a captain, for a time, in the Luzerne County Militia and was also a Justice of the Peace. He died at Wyoming, Pa., May 1, 1868. His wife died there Nov. 23, 1877. They are buried in Forty Fort Cemetery. Their children were: 1, Steuben, born Aug. 10, 1812, died Aug. 5, 1813; 2, Freeman, born April 3, 1814, died Jan. 17, 1851, married, Dec. 14, 1837, to Margaret Ann, born 1817, died 1901, daughter of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps, (see Family No. 988—Sharps) whose children were: (1), Martha Elizabeth, born 1841, died Oct. 23, 1908; (2), Mary M., born April 27, 1846, died May 10, 1847, and (3), Sarah A., born 1848, died 1896; 3, Sarah Maria, born Dec. 29, 1815, died April 22, 1857, married, Oct. 23, 1834, to William, born Feb. 20, 1810, died Oct. 12, 1850, son of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps, (see Family No. 988—Sharps); 4, Elizabeth, born Dec. 31, 1817, died Feb. 23, 1882, married, Dec. 7, 1837, to Peter, born Oct. 2, 1814, died April 26, 1897 son of John and Martha (Welch) Sharps, (see Family No. 988—Sharps); 5, Lydia, born April 19, 1820, died May 13, 1892, married to Albert, born March 23, 1817, died Feb. 12, 1900, son of William and Christina (Winters) Polen;*

*William Polen was born, probably in Greenwich, Sussex, now Warren Co., N. J., April 5, 1779, and was married to Christina, born Dec. 28, 1782, died Jan. 13, 1856, daughter of Peter and Margaret Winters, (Winters family later). They removed to the Wyoming Valley, Pa., where he was assessed in Wilkes-Barre in 1807, and, about 1816, became residents of Kingston Township. His name appears on the tax list for Kingston in 1817 with the statement that he had come to Kingston since the last assessment. Feb. 20, 1826, he bought from Jacob Sharps (Family No. 988—Sharps), 30 acres of Lot 5, Exeter, adjoining lands of James Jenkins, Dyer (Obadiah) Smith and the heirs of Thomas Jenkins, and lying 21 perches wide on the "road leading up the river," (the Tunkhannock road). This farm lies north of the Tunkhannock road and near the present western line of West Pittston, and is a part of the tract bought by George Taylor from Ezekill Goble. (Family No. 1055—Taylor.) William Polen died June 27, 1859, and, with his wife, is buried in the Jenkins-Harding Cemetery, West Pittston, Pa. The children of William and Christina (Winters) Polen were: 1, Elizabeth, born (probably) Dec. 24, 1800, baptised by pastor of First Reformed Church of Easton, Pa., March 15, 1803, birth date in record, Dec. 24, 1802, doubtless an error, (Bib.-22) probably died early; 2, John, born July 22, 1802, baptised same date as Elizabeth, March 15, 1803, not married, died Aug. 24, 1822, aged 20 years and 20 days. (Forty Fort, Pa., Cemetery.) Peter Winters, grandfather, and Catharine Winters were sponsors for Elizabeth and John Polen; 3, Peter, born Sept. 27, 1804, (see later); 4, Henry, born Feb. 13, 1807, (see later); 5, William, born Dec. 1, 1809; 6, Mary, born April 12, 1812, married to Isaac Barber, lived in Bradford Co., Pa.; 7, Winters, was a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, born Jan. 4, 1815, died in 1873, married (1) to Delecta Dunston, born 1818, died 1847, married (2), Oct. 5, 1847, to Elizabeth Bowers, born 1827, died 1899, (West Pittston, Pa., Cemetery); 8, Albert, born March 20, 1817, (see later); 9, Eleanor, born Aug. 29, 1819, died March 4, 1855, married to Kern, son of Benjamin and Maria (Kern) Crissman, (Family No. 1216—Kern); 10, David B., owned the present site of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Wyoming and operated a blacksmith shop there, also owned an interest in the Crouse property, as later known, on the opposite side of what is now Wyoming avenue, Wyoming, Pa. He was married (1) to Sarah L. Brown, born Sept. 22, 1826, died April 6, 1881, and was married (2) to Letitia ———. He and his first wife are buried in the Wyoming, Pa., Cemetery. He was born Nov. 4, 1821, and died July 11, 1894. His son, John L. Polen, born Sept. 20, 1852, died Oct. 3, 1891; 11, Edith, born Feb. 2, 1824, married to Thomas Watts, lived in Bradford Co., Pa.

This property, having a frontage of about 108 perches on the Susquehanna River, adjoined, on the east, lands of Thomas Jenkins, and included what is now known as the Jenkins-Harding Cemetery. Jabez Jenkins reserved "out of said land so much there of as is enclosed or intended to be enclosed for a burying ground." Mary Ann Gardner and Ruth Jenkins signed the deed as witnesses. April 3, 1832, Peter Polen and his wife, Catharine, sold to Catharine Chapin, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Solomon Chapin, 40 acres of this tract, adjoining lands of Harris Jenkins, Henry Kern and Peter Polen. Jan. 2, 1837, Peter Polen sold to Elam Stockbridge of Springfield, Hamden Co., Mass., 91 perches of this land.
